18 Thou[h] shewest loving-kindness unto thousands, and recompensest the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them: The Great, the[i] Mighty God, the LORD of hosts,[k] is his name,

19 Great[l] in counsel, and mighty in work: [3] for thine[m] eyes are open upon all the ways of the sons of men; to[n] give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings:)

20 Which hast set signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, even unto this day, and in Israel, and amongst other men: and hast made thee a name,[p] as at this day;

21 And hast brought forth thy people Israel, out of the land of Egypt, with signs, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, and with a stretched-out arm, and with great terror;

22 And hast given them this land, which thou didst swear[r] to their fathers to give them, a land[t] flowing with milk and honey;

23 And they came in, and possessed it; but[u] they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy law: they have done nothing of all that thou commandedst them to do; therefore[w] thou hast caused all this evil to come upon them.

24 Behold the [5] mounts, they are come unto the city to take it: and the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans that fight against it, because of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence: and what thou hast spoken is come to pass; and, behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said unto me, O Lord GOD, Buy thee the field for money, and take witnesses; [6] for the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.

26 Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, saying,

27 Behold, I am the LORD, the God[c] of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the LORD, Behold,[d] I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he shall take it.

29 And the Chaldeans, that fight against this city, shall come and set fire[g] on this city, and burn it, with the houses upon whose roofs[a] they have offered incense unto Baal, and poured out drink-offerings unto other gods, to provoke me to anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Judah, have only done evil before[e] me from their youth: for the children of Israel have only provoked me[d] to anger with the work of their hands, saith the LORD.

31 For this city hath been to me as [1] a provocation of mine anger, and of my fury, from the day that they built it, even unto this day, that I should remove[f] it from before my face;

32 Because of all the evil of the children of Israel, and of the children of Judah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, they,[j] their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 And they have turned unto me the [4] back,[o] and not the face: though I taught them, rising up early and teaching them, yet they have not hearkened to receive instruction.

34 But they set their abominations in the house[q] which is called by my name, to defile it.

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through the fire unto Molech,[r] which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind, that they should do this abomination, to cause Judah to sin.

36 And now therefore thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning this city, whereof ye say, It[v] shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence;

37 Behold, I[x] will gather them out of all countries whither I have driven them in mine anger, and in my fury, and in great wrath; and I will bring them again unto this place, and I will cause them to dwell[y] safely:

38 And[z] they shall be my people, and I will be their God;

39 And I will give them one[a] heart, and one way, that they may fear me [7] for ever, for the good of them, and of their children after them:

40 And I will make[b] an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from [8] them to do them good; but I will put my fear in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will rejoice[c] over them to do them good, and I will plant[f] them in this land [9] assuredly with my whole heart, and with my whole soul.

42 For thus saith the LORD, Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, so [b] will I bring upon them all the good that I have promised them.

43 And [c] fields shall be bought in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast; it is given into the hand of the Chaldeans.

44 Men shall buy fields for money, and subscribe evidences,[d] and seal them, and take witnesses in [e] the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the valley, and in the cities of the south: for I will cause their captivity to return,[h] saith the LORD.

CHAP. XXXIII.

MOREOVER, the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah the second time, while he was yet shut up [i] in the court of the prison, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD, the maker thereof, [j] the LORD that formed it, to establish it; [1] The LORD is his [k] name;

3 Call [l] unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and [2] mighty things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, concerning the houses of this city, and concerning the houses of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts,[q] and by the sword;

5 They come to fight with the Chaldeans, but [s] it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have slain in mine anger, and in my fury, and for all whose wickedness I have hid my face from this city.

6 Behold, I [u] will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance [v] of peace and truth.

7 And I will cause the captivity of Judah, and the captivity of Israel, to return, and will build them as [x] at the first.

8 And I will cleanse [y] them from all their iniquity, whereby they have sinned against me; and I will pardon [a] all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned, and whereby they have transgressed against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name of joy, a praise [c] and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that I do unto them: and they shall [e] fear and tremble for all the goodness, and for all the prosperity, that I procure unto it.

10 Thus saith the LORD, Again there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall be desolate without man and without beast, even in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast,)

11 The voice [h] of joy, and the voice of gladness; the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: the voice of them that shall say, Praise [a] the LORD of hosts: for the LORD is good; for his mercy endureth for ever: and of them that shall bring the sacrifice of praise into the house of the LORD. For I will cause to return the captivity of the land, as at the first, saith the LORD.

12 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Again in this place, which is desolate without man and without beast, and in all the cities thereof, shall be a habitation of shepherds causing their flocks [f] to lie down.

13 In the cities of the mountains, [g] in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the south, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah, shall the flocks pass again under the hands of him that telleth them, saith the LORD.

14 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will perform that good thing which I have promised unto the house of Israel and to the house of Judah.

15 In those days, and at that time, will I cause the Branch [m] of righteousness to grow up unto David; and he shall execute judgment and righteousness [n] in the land.

16 In [o] those days shall Judah be saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely: and this is the name wherewith she shall be called, [3] The LORD our [p] righteousness.

17 For thus saith the LORD, [4] David shall never [r] want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel;

18 Neither shall the priests the Levites want a man before me to offer [t] burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do sacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the LORD, If [w] ye can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, and that there should not be day and night in their season;

21 Then may also my covenant [z] be broken with David my servant, that he should not have a son to reign upon his throne; and with the Levites the priests, my ministers.

22 As the host of heaven [b] cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured; so [d] will I multiply the seed of David my servant, and the Levites that minister unto me.

23 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what this people have spoken, saying, The two [f] families which the LORD hath chosen, he hath even cast them off? thus they have despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the LORD, If my [g] covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth;

26 Then will I cast away the seed of Jacob, and David my servant, so that I will not take any of his seed to be rulers over the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: for [a] I will cause their captivity to return, and have mercy on them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, when [c] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth [2] of his dominion, and all the people, fought against Jerusalem, and against all the [c] ities thereof, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, Go and speak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him; Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I [e] will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and delivered into his hand; and thine eyes shall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, and [5] he shall speak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babylon.

4 Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah; Thus saith the LORD of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword;

5 But thou shalt die in peace: and with the burnings [j] of thy fathers, the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burn odours for thee; and they will lament [l] thee, saying, Ah, lord! for I have pronounced the word, saith the LORD.

6 Then Jeremiah the prophet spake all these words unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem.

7 When the king of Babylon's army fought against Jerusalem and against all the cities of Judah that were left, against Lachish, and against Azekah: for [n] these defenced cities remained of the cities of Judah.

8 This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jerusalem, to proclaim liberty [p] unto them;

9 That [7] every man should let his manservant, and every man his maid-servant, being an Hebrew or an Hebrewess, go free; that none should serve himself of them, to wit, of a Jew his [r] brother.

10 Now, when all the princes, and all the people which had entered into the covenant, heard that every one should let his man-servant, and every one his maid-servant, go free, that none should serve themselves of them any more; then they obeyed, and let them go.

11 But afterwards they turned, and caused the servants and the handmaids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into subjection for servants and for handmaids

12 Therefore the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

13 Thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondmen, saying,

14 At [b] the end of seven years, let ye go every man his brother an Hebrew, which hath [1] been sold unto thee; and when he hath served thee six years, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers hearkened not unto me, neither inclined their ear.

15 And ye were [3] now turned, and had done right in my sight, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbour: and ye had made a covenant [d] before me in [4] the house which is called by my name:

16 But ye turned, and polluted my [f] name, and caused every man his servant, and every man his handmaid, whom he had set at liberty at their pleasure, to return, and brought them into subjection, [g] to be unto you for servants and for handmaids.

17 Therefore thus saith the LORD; Ye have not hearkened unto me, in proclaiming liberty, every one to his brother: and every man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaim [h] a liberty for you, saith the LORD, to [i] the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine; and I will make you [6] to be removed [k] into all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 And I will give the men that have transgressed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant which they had made before me, [m] when they cut the calf in twain, and passed between the parts thereof,

19 The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jerusalem, the eunuchs, and the priests, and all the people of the land, which passed between the parts of the calf;

20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seek their life: and their dead [o] bodies shall be for meat unto the fowls of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah and his princes, will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army which [t] are gone up from you.

22 Behold, I will command, saith the LORD, and cause them to return to this city; and [t] they shall fight against it, and take [u] it, and burn it with fire: and I will make the cities of Judah a desolation without [v] an inhabitant.

to the house of the LORD, into one of the chambers,[a] and give them wine to drink.

3 Then I took Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, the son of Habaziniah, and his brethren, and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites;

4 And I brought them into the house of the LORD, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan, the son of Igdaliah, a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maaseiah, the son of Shallum,[c] the keeper [d] of the [1] door:

5 And I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups; and I said unto them, Drink ye wine:

6 But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, commanded us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye nor your sons for ever:

7 Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any: but all your days ye shall dwell in tents; [f] that ye may live many days in the land where ye be strangers.[h]

8 Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, nor our daughters;

9 Nor to build houses for us to dwell in; neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor seed:

10 But we have dwelt [k] in tents, and have obeyed, and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us.

11 But it came to pass, when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came up into the land, that we said, Come, and let us go to Jerusalem for fear of the army of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the army of the Syrians: so we dwell at Jerusalem.

12 Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Go and tell the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Will ye not receive instruction [r] to hearken to my words? saith the LORD.

14 The words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, that he commanded his sons not to drink wine, are performed; for unto this day they drink none, but obey their father's commandment: notwithstanding [u] I have spoken unto you, rising early and speaking, but ye hearkened not unto me.

15 I [w] have sent also unto you all my servants the prophets, [x] rising up early and sending them, saying, Return [y] ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to serve them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I have given to you and to your fathers; but [a] ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened unto me

16 Because the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab have performed the commandment of their father, which he commanded them; but this people hath not hearkened unto me:

17 Therefore thus saith the LORD God of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, all the evil that I have pronounced against them: [b] because I have spoken unto them, but they have not heard; and I have called unto them, but they have not answered.

18 And Jeremiah said unto the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Because [e] ye have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according unto all that he hath commanded you;

19 Therefore thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, [2] Jonadab the son of Rechab shall not want a man to stand [g] before me for ever.

CHAP. XXXVI.

AND it came to pass, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, that this word came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, saying,

2 Take thee a roll [i] of a book, and write [j] therein all the words that I have spoken unto thee against Israel, and against Judah, and against all the nations,[l] from the day I spake unto thee, from the days of Josiah, even unto this day.

3 It may be [m] that the house of Judah will hear all the evil which I purpose to do unto them; that they may return [n] every man from his evil way, that I may forgive [o] their iniquity and their sin.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch, [p] the son of Neriah: and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the LORD, which he had spoken unto him, upon a roll [q] of a book.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut up: I cannot go into the house of the LORD:

6 Therefore go thou, and read [s] in the roll, which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of the LORD, in the ears of the people, in the LORD's house upon the fasting-day: [t] and also thou shalt read them in the ears of all Judah that come out of their cities.

7 It [v] may be [3] they will present their supplication before the LORD, and will return every one from his evil way: for great [z] is the anger and the fury that the LORD hath pronounced against this people.

8 And Baruch the son of Neriah did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the LORD in [b] the LORD's house.

9 And it came to pass, in the fifth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a fast [a] before the LORD to all the people in Jerusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Judah unto Jerusalem.

10 Then [d] read Baruch in the book the words of Jeremiah in the house of the LORD, in the chamber of Gemariah the son of Shaphan the scribe, in the higher court, at the [2] entry [f] of the new gate of the LORD's house, in the ears of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, had heard out of the book all the words of the LORD,

12 Then he went down into the king's house, into the scribe's chamber, and, lo, all the princes sat there, even Elishama the scribe, and Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the son of Achbor, and Gemariah the son of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared unto them all the words that he had heard, when Baruch read the book in the ears of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, unto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roll wherein thou hast read in the ears of the people, and come. So Baruch the son of Neriah took the roll in his hand, and came unto them.

15 And they said unto him, Sit down now, and read it in our ears. So Baruch read it in their ears.

16 Now it came to pass, when they had heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and said unto Baruch, We will surely tell the king of all these words.

17 And they asked Baruch, saying, Tell us now, How didst thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced [l] all these words unto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book.

19 Then said the princes unto Baruch, Go hide [m] thee, thou and Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 And they went in to the king into the court, but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Elishama the scribe, and told all the words in the ears of the king.

21 So the king sent Jehudi to fetch the roll; and he took it out of Elishama the scribe's chamber: and Jehudi read it [p] in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes which stood beside the king.

22 Now the king sat in the winter-house, [r] in the ninth month: and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him.

23 And it came to pass, that when Jehudi had read three or four leaves, he cut it [t] with the pen-knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth until all the roll was consumed in the fire that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their [b] garments, neither the king, nor any of his servants that heard all these words.

25 Nevertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah, had made intercession [c] to the king that he would not burn the roll; but he [e] would not hear them.

26 But the king commanded Jerahmeel the son of [1] Hammelech, and Seraiah the son of Azriel, and Shelemiah the son of Abdeel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Jeremiah the prophet: but [g] the LORD hid them.

27 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, (after that the king had burnt the roll, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah,) saying,

28 Take thee again another roll, and write in it all the former words [h] that were in the first roll, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Jehoiakim king of Judah, Thus saith the LORD, Thou hast burnt this roll, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, The king of Babylon shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall cause to cease from thence man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the LORD of Jehoiakim king of Judah, He shall have none to sit upon the throne of David; and his [i] dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will [3] punish him, and his seed, and his servants, for their iniquity; and I [j] will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and upon the men of Judah, all the evil that I have pronounced against them: but [k] they hearkened not.

32 Then took Jeremiah another roll, and gave it to Baruch the scribe, the son of Neriah; who wrote therein, from the mouth of Jeremiah, all the words of the book which Jehoiakim king of Judah had burnt in the fire: and there were added besides unto them many [4] like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

AND king Zedekiah, [n] the son of Josiah, reigned instead of Coniah [o] the son of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah.

2 But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, did hearken unto the words of the LORD, which he [5] spake by the prophet Jeremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the [q] son of Maaseiah the priest, to the prophet Jeremiah, saying, Pray now unto the LORD our God for us.

4 Now Jeremiah came in and went out among the people; for they had not put him into prison.

5 Then [u] Pharaoh's army was come forth ut of Egypt: and when the Chaldeans that besieged Jerusalem heard tidings of them, they departed [a] from Jerusalem.

6 Then came the word of the LORD unto the prophet Jeremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Judah, that sent [e] you unto me to inquire of me; Behold, Pharaoh's army, which is come forth to help you, shall return to Egypt into their own land.

8 And [g] the Chaldeans shall come again, and fight against this city, and take it, and burn it with fire.

9 Thus saith the LORD, Deceive [i] not yourselves,[1] saying, The Chaldeans shall surely depart from us: for they shall not depart.

10 For [j] though ye had smitten the whole army of the Chaldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded[2] men among them, yet [k] should they rise up every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire.

11 And it came to pass, that when the army of the Chaldeans was [3] broken up from Jerusalem for fear of Pharaoh's army, 12 Then Jeremiah went forth out of Jerusalem to go into the land of Benjamin, to separate [4] himself thence in the midst of the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin, a captain of the ward was there, whose name was Irijah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah; and he took Jeremiah the prophet, saying, Thou fallest away to the Chaldeans.

14 Then said Jeremiah, It is [6] false; [n] I fall not away to the Chaldeans. But he hearkened not to him: so Irijah took Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were wroth with Jeremiah, and smote [o] him, and put him in prison in the house of Jonathan the scribe; for they had made that the prison.

16 When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, [7] and into the cabins,[8] and Jeremiah had remained there many days;

17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and took him out; and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the LORD? And Jeremiah said, There is: for, said he, thou shalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon.

18 Moreover, Jeremiah said unto king Zedekiah, What [s] have I offended against thee, or against thy servants, or against this people, that ye have put me in prison?

19 Where [t] are now your prophets which prophesied unto you, saying, The king of Babylon shall not [u] come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore hear now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my supplication, I pray thee, be [11] accepted before thee; that thou cause me not to return to the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should commit Jeremiah into the court [b] of the prison, and that they should give him daily a piece of [c] bread out of the bakers' street, until all the bread in the city were spent.[d] Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

THEN Shephatiah the son of Mattan, and Gedaliah the son of Pashur, and [f] Jucal the son of Shelemiah, and [h] Pashur the son of Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had spoken unto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD, He that remaineth in this city shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Chaldeans shall live; for he shall have his life for a prey, and shall live.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This city shall surely be given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the princes said unto the king, We beseech thee, let this man be put to death; [l] for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of war that remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such words unto them: for this man seeketh not the welfare [5] of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, he is in your hand: for the king is not he that can do any thing against you.

6 Then [m] took they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the son of [7] Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let down Jeremiah with cords. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire: so Jeremiah sunk in the mire.

7 Now when Ebed-melech [p] the Ethiopian, one of the eunuchs which was in the king's house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon, (the king then sitting in the gate of Benjamin,)

8 Ebed-melech went forth out of the king's house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 My lord the king, these men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they have cast into the dungeon; and he is [9] like to die for hunger in the place where he is; for there is no more bread [r] in the city.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, saying, Take from hence thirty men [10] with thee, and take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon, before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went into the house of the king under the treasury, and took thence old cast clouts, and old rotten rags, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the Ethiopian said unto Jeremiah, Put now these old cast clouts and rotten rags under thine armholes, under the cords. And Jeremiah did so.

13 So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him up out of the dungeon: and Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

14 Then Zedekiah the king sent, and took Jeremiah the prophet unto him into the [2] third entry that is in the house of the LORD: and the king said unto Jeremiah, I will ask thee a thing; hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah said unto Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not surely put me to death? and if I give thee counsel, wilt thou not hearken unto me?

16 So the king sware secretly unto Jeremiah, saying, As [d] the LORD, liveth, that made [e] us this soul, I will not put thee to death, neither will I give thee into the hand of these men that seek thy life.

17 Then said Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus saith the LORD, the God of [f] hosts, the God of Israel, [h] If thou wilt assuredly go forth [i] unto the king of Babylon's princes, [j] then thy soul shall live, and this city shall not be burnt with fire; and thou shalt live, and thine house:

18 But if thou wilt not go forth to the king of Babylon's princes, then shall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they shall burn it with fire, and thou [k] shalt not escape out of their hand.

19 And Zedekiah the king said unto Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews that are fallen to the Chaldeans, lest they deliver me into their hand, and they mock [n] me.

20 But Jeremiah said, They shall not deliver thee. Obey, [o] I beseech thee, the voice of the LORD, which I speak unto thee: so it shall be well unto thee, and thy soul [p] shall live.

21 But if thou refuse [q] to go forth, this is the word that the LORD hath shewed me:

22 And, behold, all the women that are left in the king of Judah's house shall be brought forth to the king of Babylon's princes; and those women shall say, [5] Thy friends [t] have set thee on, and have prevailed against thee: thy feet are sunk in the mire, [u] and they are turned [v] away back.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wives and thy children [w] to the Chaldeans; and thou shalt not escape out of their hand, but shalt be [x] taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and thou shalt cause [7] this city to be burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah unto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes hear that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and say unto thee, Declare unto us now what thou hast said unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not put thee to death; also what the king said unto thee:

26 Then thou shalt say unto them, I presented my supplication before the king, that he would not cause me to return to Jonathan's house, [a] to die there.

27 Then came all the princes unto Jeremiah, and asked him: and he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded. So they [1] left off speaking with him: for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Jeremiah abode in the court of the prison until [b] the day that Jerusalem was taken: and he was there when Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

IN the [c] ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon and all his army against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the city was broken up.

3 And all the princes [g] of the king of Babylon came in, and sat in the middle gate, even Nergal-sharezar, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Nergal-sharezer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babylon.

4 And it came to pass, that when Zedekiah the king of Judah saw them, and all the men of war, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the king's garden, by the gate betwixt the two walls; and he went out the way of the plain.

5 But [l] the Chaldeans' army pursued after them, and overtook [m] Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him up to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to Riblah, in the land of Hamath, where [3] he gave judgment upon him.

6 Then the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babylon slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreover, [r] he put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him with [4] chains, to carry him to Babylon.

8 And the Chaldeans burnt the king's house, and the houses [s] of the people, with fire, and brake down the walls of Jerusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan, [6] the captain of the guard, carried away captive into Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and those that fell away, that fell to him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan, the captain of the guard, left of the poor of the people, which had nothing, in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards and fields [8] at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Bat-lon gave charge concerning [1] Jeremiah to Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard, saying,

12 Take him, and [2] look well to him, and do him no harm,[a] but do unto him even as he shall say unto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan, the captain of the guard, sent, and Nebushasban, Rab-saris,[c] and Nergal-sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babylon's princes, 14 Even they sent, and took Jeremiah out of the court [d] of the prison, and committed him unto Gedaliah [e] the son of Ahikam [f] the son of Shaphan, that he should carry him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah, while he was shut up in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Go and speak to Ebed-melech [i] the Ethiopian, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel; behold, I will [k] bring my words upon this city for evil, and not for good; and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliver thee in that [n] day, saith the LORD: and thou shalt not be given into the hand of the men [o] of whom thou art afraid.

18 For I will surely deliver thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life [p] shall be for a prey unto thee: because [q] thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the LORD.

CHAP. XL.

THE word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, after that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had let him [u] go from Ramath, when he had taken him, being bound in chains [4] among all that were carried away captive of Jerusalem and Judah, which were carried away captive unto Babylon.

2 And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah and [v] said unto him, The LORD thy God hath pronounced this evil upon this place.

3 Now the LORD hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: [w] because ye have sinned against the LORD, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you.

4 And now, behold, I loose thee this day from the chains which [5] were upon thine hand. If [y] it seem good unto thee to come with me into Babylon, come, and I will look [7] well unto thee: but if it seem ill unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 Now, while he was not yet gone back, he said, Go back also to [z] Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon hath made governor over all the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people; or go wheresoever it seemeth convenient unto thee to go. So the captain of the guard gave him victuals and a reward, and let him go.

6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah son of Ahikam, to Mizpah,[b] and dwelt with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, even they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam governor in the land, and had committed unto him men, and women, and children, and of the poor [g] of the land, of them that were not carried away captive to Babylon:

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mispah, even Ishmael [h] the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan [j] and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth, and the sons of Ephai the Netophathite,[l] and Jezaniah the son of a Maachathite,[m] they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, sware unto them, and to their men, saying, Fear not to serve the Chaldeans: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah, to [3] serve the Chaldeans which will come unto us: but ye, gather [r] ye wine, and summer-fruits, and oil, and pu them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that ye have taken.

11 Likewise, when all the Jews that were in Moab,[s] and among the Ammonites,[t] and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan;

12 Even all the Jews returned out of all places whither they were driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah, unto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer-fruits very much.

13 Moreover, Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah,

14 And said unto him, Dost thou certainly know that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent [z] Ishmael the son of Nethaniah to [6] slay thee? But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam believed them not.

15 Then Johanan the son of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it: wherefore should he slay thee, that all the Jews which are gathered unto thee should be scattered, and the remnant in Judah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the son of Ahikam said unto Johanan the son of Kareah, Thou shalt not do this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

CHAP. XLI.

NOW it came to pass in the seventh month, that Ishmael [b] the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the seed royal, and the princes of the king, even ten men, with him, came unto Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, o Mizpah; and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and the ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land.

3 Ishmael also slew all the Jews that were with him, even with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of war.

4 And it came to pass, the second day after he had slain Gedaliah, and no man knew [c] it,

5 That there came certain from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, even fourscore men, having their beards shaven, [d] and their clothes rent, and having cut themselves, with offerings [f] and incense in their hand, to bring them to the house of the LORD.

6 And Ishmael the son of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, [1] weeping all along as he went: and it came to pass, as he met them, he said unto them, Come to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam.

7 And it was so, when they came into the midst of the city, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the midst of the pit, he, and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them that said unto Ishmael, Slay us not; for we have treasures [j] in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oil, and of honey. So he forbare, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast all the dead bodies of the men, whom he had slain [3] because of Gedaliah, was it which Asa the [n] king had made for fear of Baasha king of Israel: and Ishmael the son of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slain.

10 Then Ishmael carried away captive all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, [q] even [r] the king's daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had committed to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam: and Ishmael the son of Nethaniah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the [u] Ammonites.

11 But when Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, heard of the evil [x] that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters [a] that are in Gibeon.

13 Now it came to pass, that when all the people which were with Ishmael saw Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad.

14 So all the people that Ishmael had carried away captive from Mizpah cast about, and returned, and went unto Johanan the son of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the son of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then took Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, from Mizpah, (after that he had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam,) even mighty men of war, and the women, and the children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought again from Gibeon:

17 And they departed, and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, [e] which is by Bethlehem, to go to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Chaldeans: for they were afraid of them, because Ishmael the son of Nethaniah had slain Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, whom [g] the king of Babylon made governor in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

THEN all the captains [h] of the forces, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and Jezaniah the son of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least even to the greatest, came near,

2 And said unto Jeremiah the prophet, Let, we beseech thee, our supplication be [2] accepted before thee, and pray [i] for us unto the LORD thy God, even for all this remnant; (for we are left but a few [k] of many, as thine eyes do behold us;)

3 That [l] the LORD thy God may shew us the way [m] wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do.

4 Then Jeremiah the prophet said unto them, I have heard you; behold I will pray [o] unto the LORD your God according to your words; and it shall come to pass, that whatsoever [p] thing the LORD shall answer you, I will declare it unto you; I will keep nothing back [s] from you.

5 Then they said to Jeremiah, The LORD [t] be a true and faithful witness between us; if we do not even according to all things for the which the LORD thy God shall send thee to us.

6 Whether it be good, or whether it be evil, we will [v] obey the voice of the LORD our God, to whom we send thee; [w] that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the LORD our God.

7 And it came to pass, after ten days, that the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah.

8 Then called he Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people, from the least even to the greatest,

9 And said unto them, Thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, unto whom ye sent me to present your supplication before him;

10 If ye will still abide in this land, then will I build [d] you, and not pull you down; and I will plant you, and not pluck you up; for I repent [e] me of the evil that I have done unto you.

11 Be not afraid [f] of the king of Babylon, of whom ye are afraid; be not afraid of him, saith the LORD: for I [h] am with you to save you, and to deliver you from his hand.

12 And [j] I will shew mercies unto you, that he may have mercy upon you, and cause you to return to your own land.

13 But if ye say, We will not [k] dwell in this land, neither obey the voice of the LORD your God,

14 Saying, No; but we will go into the land of Egypt, where [l] we shall see no war, nor hear the sound of a trumpet, nor have hunger of bread; and there will we dwell:

15 And now, therefore, hear the word of the LORD, ye remnant of Judah; Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, If ye wholly set your faces to enter into Egypt, [n] and go to sojourn there;

16 Then [o] it shall come to pass, that the sword, which [p] ye feared, shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, whereof ye were afraid, [2] shall follow close after you there in Egypt; and there ye shall die.

17 So shall [3] it be with all the men that set their faces to go into Egypt, to sojourn there; they [t] shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: and none of them shall remain or escape from the evil that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, As [v] mine anger and my fury hath been [w] poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem; so shall my fury be poured forth upon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt: and [x] ye shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach; and ye shall see this place no more.

19 The LORD hath said concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah, Go ye not into Egypt: know certainly that I have [4] admonished you this day.

20 For ye [5] dissembled [b] in your [c] hearts, when ye sent me unto the LORD your God, saying, Pray [d] for us unto the LORD our God; and according unto all that the LORD our God shall say, so declare unto us, and we will do it.

21 And now I have this day [a] declared it to you; but ye have not obeyed the voice of the LORD your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me unto you.

22 Now, therefore, know [b] certainly that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the [c] place whither ye desire [1] to go, and to sojourn.

CHAP. XLIII.

AND it came to pass, that when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking unto all the people all the words of the LORD their God, for which the LORD their God had sent him to them, even all these words,

2 Then [g] spake Azariah the son of Hoshaiah, and Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the proud [i] men, saying unto Jeremiah, Thou speakest falsely: the LORD our God hath not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to sojourn there:

3 But Baruch the son of Neriah setteth thee on against us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captives into Babylon.

4 So Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, obeyed not the voice of the LORD, to dwell in the land of Judah;

5 But Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, took all the remnant [m] of Judah, that were returned from all nations whither they had been driven, to dwell in the land of Judah;

6 Even men, and women, and children, and the king's daughters, [q] and every person that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had left [r] with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch the son of Neriah.

7 So [s] they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the LORD. Thus came they even to Tahpanhes. [u]

8 Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and hide them in the clay in the brick-kiln, which is at the entry of Pharaoh's house in Tahpanhes, in the sight of the men of Judah;

10 And say unto them, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my servant, [y] and will set his throne upon these stones that I have hid: and he shall spread his royal pavilion over them.

11 And when he cometh, he shall smite [z] the land of Egypt, and deliver such [a] as are for death, to death; and such as are for captivity, to captivity; and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods [c] of Egypt; and he shall burn them, and carry them away captives and he shall array himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment; and he shall go forth from thence in peace.

13 He shall break also the [1] images of Beth-shemesh, [2] that is in the land of Egypt; and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burn with fire.

CHAP. XLIV.

THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews which dwell in the land of Egypt, which dwell at [c] Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, [d] and at [e] Noph, and in the country of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Ye have seen all the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, and upon all the cities of Judah; and, behold, this day they are a desolation, [f] and no man dwelleth therein;

3 Because [h] of their wickedness which they have committed, to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incense, and to serve other gods, whom [k] they knew not, neither they, you, nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent [l] unto you all my servants the prophets, rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh, do not this abominable [m] thing that I hate.

5 But [n] they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense unto other gods.

6 Wherefore my fury [q] and mine anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: and they are wasted and desolate, as at this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the LORD, the God of hosts, the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great evil against your [t] souls, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling, out [6] of Judah, to leave you none to remain;

8 In that ye provoke [u] me unto wrath with the works of your hands, burning incense unto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither ye be gone to dwell, that ye might cut yourselves off, and that ye might be a curse and a reproach among all the nations of the earth?

9 Have [v] ye forgotten the [8] wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the kings of Judah, and the wickedness of their wives, and your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem?

10 They are not [9] humbled even unto this day, neither have they feared, [w] nor walked in my law, nor in my statutes, that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face [z] against you for evil, and to cut off all Judah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Judah, that [a] have set their faces to go into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed, and fall in the land of Egypt; they shall even be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die, from the least even [b] unto the greatest, by the sword and by the famine; and they shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach.

13 For I will punish them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have punished Jerusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence:

14 So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone [f] into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall escape or remain that they should return into the land of Judah, to the which they [3] have a desire to return to dwell there; for none shall return but such [i] as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wives [j] had burnt incense unto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, answered Jeremiah, saying,

16 As for the word which thou hast spoken unto us in the name of the LORD, we [o] will not hearken unto thee.

17 But we will certainly do whatsoever thing goeth forth out of our own [p] mouth, to burn incense unto the [4] queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, as we have done, we, [r] and our fathers, our kings, and our princes, in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem: for then [s] had we plenty of [5] victuals, and were well, and saw no evil.

18 But since we left off to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, we have wanted all things, and have been consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incense to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worship her, and pour out drink-offerings unto her without our [7] men?

20 Then Jeremiah said unto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that answer, saying,

21 The incense that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the streets of Jerusalem, ye, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD remember them, and came it not into his mind?

22 So that the LORD could no longer bear, [x] because of the evil of your doings, and because of the abominations which ye have committed, therefore [y] is your land a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse, without an inhabitant, as at [z] this day.

23 Because you have burnt incense, [a] and because ye have sinned against the LORD, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, nor walked in his law, [c] nor in his [d] statutes, nor in his testimonies; [e] therefore [g] this evil is happened unto you, as at this day.

24 Moreover, Jeremiah said unto all the people, and to all the women, Hear the word of the LORD, all Judah that [j] are in the land of Egypt;

25 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wives have both spoken [l] with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will surely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her: ye will surely accomplish [n] your vows, and surely perform your vows.

26 Therefore hear ye the word of the LORD, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt; Behold, I have sworn [p] by my great name, saith the LORD, that [q] my name shall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord GOD liveth.

27 Behold, I will watch over them for evil, [t] and not for good; and all the men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt shall be consumed [v] by the sword and by the famine, until there be an end of them.

28 Yet [z] a small number that escape the sword shall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah; and all the remnant of Judah, that are gone into the land of Egypt to sojourn there, shall know whose words shall stand, [3] mine, [z] or their's.

29 And this shall be a sign unto you, saith the LORD, that I will punish you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for evil:

30 Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will [e] give Pharaoh-hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seek his life, as I gave Zedekiah [e] king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon his enemy, and that sought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

THE word that Jeremiah the prophet spake unto Baruch [i] the son of Neriah, when he had written these words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD, the God of Israel, unto thee, O Baruch;

3 Thou didst say, Woe is me now! [l] for the LORD hath added grief to my sorrow; I fainted [m] in my sighing, and I find [n] no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say unto him, The LORD saith thus, Behold, that which I have built will I break down, [b] and that which I have planted I will pluck up, even this whole land.

5 And seekest thou great things for thyself? seek them not: [f] for, behold, I will bring evil [h] upon all flesh, saith the LORD; but thy life will I give unto thee for a prey [i] in all places whither thou goest.

CHAP. XLVI.

THE word of the LORD which came to Jeremiah the prophet against the [k] Gentiles;

2 Against Egypt, against [m] the army of Pharaoh-necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemish, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon smote in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah.

3 Order [o] ye the buckler and shield, and draw near to battle.

4 Harness the horses; and get up, ye horsemen, and stand forth with your helmets; furbish the spears, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore have I seen them dismayed and turned away back? and their mighty ones [r] are [1] beaten down, and are fled [2] apace, and look not back: for [s] fear was round about, saith the LORD.

6 Let not the swift [u] flee away, nor the mighty man escape; they shall stumble, [w] and fall toward the north by the river Euphrates.

7 Who is this that cometh up as a [y] flood, whose waters are moved as the rivers?

8 Egypt riseth up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers; and he saith, I [a] will go up, and will cover the earth; I will destroy the city and the inhabitants thereof.

9 Come up, ye horses; and rage, ye chariots; and let the mighty men come forth; [4] the Ethiopians and [5] the Libyans, that handle the shield; and the Lydians, that handle and bend the [b] bow.

10 For this is the day [d] of the Lord GOD of hosts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adversaries: and the sword [f] shall devour, and it shall be satiate and made drunk with their blood; for the Lord GOD of hosts hath a [g] sacrifice in the north country by the river Euphrates.

11 Go up into Gilead, and take [h] balm, O virgin, [j] the daughter of Egypt: in vain shalt thou use many medicines; for [6] thou shalt not [k] be cured.

12 The nations have heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the mighty man hath stumbled against the mighty, and they are fallen both together.

13 The word that the LORD spake to Jeremiah the prophet, how Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon should [o] come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Declare ye in Egypt, and publish in Migdol, and publish in Noph, and in Tahpanhes: say ye, Stand fast, and prepare thee; for the sword shall devour round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men swept away? they stood not, because [b] the LORD did drive them.

16 He [3] made many to fall, yea, [c] one fell upon another: and they said, Arise, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity, from the oppressing sword.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noise; he hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I live, saith the King, whose name is The LORD of hosts, Surely as Tabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the sea, so shall he come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, furnish [5] thyself to go into [h] captivity: for Noph shall be waste and desolate without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a very fair [i] heifer, but destruction cometh; it cometh out of the north. [j]

21 Also her hired men are in the midst of her like [7] fatted bullocks; for they also are turned back, and are fled away together: they did not stand, because the day [m] of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their visitation.

22 The voice thereof shall go like a serpent; for they shall march with an army, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut down her forest, saith the LORD, though it cannot be searched; because they are more than the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded; she shall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north.

25 The LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, saith, Behold, I will punish [11] the multitude of No, [r] and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings; even Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him:

26 And [t] I will deliver them into the hand of those that seek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his servants: and afterwards it shall be inhabited, as in the days of old, saith the LORD.

27 But fear not thou, [u] O my servant Jacob, and be not dismayed, O Israel: for, behold, I will save thee from afar off, and thy seed from the land of their captivity; and Jacob shall return, and be in rest and at ease, and none shall make him afraid.

28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my servant, saith the LORD; for I am with thee: for I will make a full end of all the nations whither I have driven thee; but I will not make a full end of thee, but correct thee in measure; yet [a] will I not [1] leave thee wholly unpunished.

CHAP. XLVII.

THE word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet against the Philistines, [c] before that Pharaoh smote [2] Gaza. [d]

2 Thus saith the LORD, Behold, waters rise up out of the north, [f] and shall be an overflowing flood, and [4] shall overflow the land, and all that is therein; the city, and them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howl.

3 At the noise [g] of the stamping of the hoofs of his strong horses, at the rushing of his chariots, and at the rumbling of his wheels, the fathers shall not look back to their children for feebleness of hands;

4 Because of the day that cometh to spoil all the Philistines, and to cut off from Tyrus and Zidon every helper that remaineth; for the LORD will spoil the Philistines, the remnant of the [6] country of Caphtor. [k]

5 Baldness is come upon Gaza; [l] Ashkelon is cut off with the remnant of their valley: how long wilt thou cut thyself?

6 O thou sword [n] of the LORD, how long will it be ere thou be quiet? [8] Put up thyself into the scabbard, rest, and be still.

7 How [9] can it be quiet, seeing the LORD hath given it a charge [o] against Ashkelon, and against the sea-shore? there hath he appointed [p] it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

AGAINST Moab [q] thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Woe unto Nebo! for it is spoiled; Kiriathaim is confounded and taken; [10] Misgab is confounded and dismayed.

2 There shall be no more praise of Moab: in Heshbon [r] they have devised evil against it; come, and let us cut it off from being a nation: also thou shalt [12] be cut down, O madmen; the sword [13] shall pursue thee.

3 A voice of crying shall be from Horonaim, spoiling and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed; her little ones have caused a cry to be heard.

5 For in the going up of Luhith [14] continual weeping shall go up; for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of destruction.

6 Flee, [v] save your lives, and be [15] like the heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted [w] in thy works, and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken; and Chemosh [x] shall go forth into captivity, with his priests [y] and his princes together.

8 And the spoiler shall come upon every city, and no city shall escape; the valley also shall perish, and the plain shall be destroyed, as the LORD hath spoken.

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.
10 Cursed [b] be he that doeth the work of the LORD [1] deceitfully, and cursed be he that keepeth back his sword from blood.
11 Moab hath been at ease from his youth, and he hath settled [c] on his lees, and hath not been emptied from vessel to vessel, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste [3] remained in him, and his scent is not changed.
12 Therefore, behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will send unto him wanderers, that shall cause him to wander, and shall empty his vessels, and break their bottles.
13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el [d] their confidence.
14 How say ye, We are mighty and strong men for the war?
15 Moab is spoiled, and gone up out of her cities, and [4] his chosen young [e] men are gone down to the slaughter, saith the King, whose name [f] is The LORD of hosts.
16 The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction hasteth fast.
17 All ye that are about him bemoan him; and all ye that know his name, say, How [g] is the strong staff broken, and the beautiful rod!
18 Thou daughter [h] that dost inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory, and sit in thirst; for the spoiler of Moab shall come upon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.
19 O [6] inhabitant of Aroer, [i] stand by the way, and espy; ask him that fleeth, and her that escapeth, and say, What is done?
20 Moab is confounded; for it is broken down: howl and cry; tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is spoiled,
21 And judgment is come upon the plain country; upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephaath,
22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon Beth-diblathaim,
23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Beth-gamul, and upon Beth-meon,
24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near.
25 The horn [n] of Moab is cut off, and his arm [p] is broken, saith the LORD.
26 Make ye him drunken; [q] for he magnified himself against the LORD: [r] Moab also shall wallow in his vomit, and he also [t] shall be in derision.
27 For was not Israel [u] a derision unto thee? was he found among thieves? for since thou spakest of him, thou [10] skippedst for joy.
28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rock, and be like the dove that maketh her nest in the sides of the hole's mouth.
29 We have heard the pride [v] of Moab, (he is exceeding proud,) his loftiness, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtiness of his heart.
30 I know his wrath, saith the LORD: but it shall not be so; his [2] lies shall not so effect it.
31 Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab; mine heart shall mourn for the men of Kir-heres.
32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer; thy plants are gone over the sea, they reach even to the sea of Jazer: the spoiler is fallen upon thy summer-fruits, and upon thy vintage.
33 And joy and gladness is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab; and I have caused wine to fail from the wine-presses: none shall tread with shouting; their shouting shall be no shouting.
34 From the cry of Heshbon even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz, have they uttered their voice, from Zoar even unto Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old; for the waters also of Nimrim shall be [5] desolate.
35 Moreover, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the LORD, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.
36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart shall sound like pipes for the men of Kir-heres: because the riches that he hath gotten is perished.
37 For every head shall be bald, [j] and every beard [7] clipt: upon all the hands shall be cuttings, and upon the [k] loins sackcloth.
38 There shall be lamentation generally upon all the house-tops of Moab, and in the streets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a vessel [l] wherein is no pleasure, saith the LORD.
39 They shall howl, saying, How is it broken down! how hath Moab turned the back [8] with shame! so shall Moab be a derision and a dismaying to all them about him.
40 For thus saith the LORD, Behold, he shall fly as an eagle, [m] and shall spread his wings [o] over Moab.
41 Kerioth [9] is taken, and the strong holds are surprised, and the mighty men's hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman [s] in her pangs.
42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because [v] he hath magnified himself against the LORD.
43 Fear, [w] and the pit, and the snare, shall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab saith the LORD.

44 He that fleeth from the fear shall fall into the pit; and he that getteth up out of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year [b] of their visitation, saith the LORD.

45 They that fled stood under the shadow of Heshbon, because of the force: but a fire shall come forth out of Heshbon, and a flame from the midst of Sihon, and shall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous [1] ones.

46 Woe be unto thee, O Moab! the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sons are taken captives, [2] and thy daughters captives.

47 Yet [c] will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, saith the LORD. Thus far is the judgment of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

CONCERNING [3] the [g] Ammonites, thus saith the LORD, Hath Israel no sons? hath he no heir? why then doth [4] their king inherit Gad, and his people dwell in his cities? [j]

2 Therefore, behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will cause an alarm of war to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites; and it shall be a desolate heap, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel be heir unto them that were his heirs, saith the LORD.

3 Howl, O Heshbon; for Ai is spoiled: cry, ye daughters of Rabbah, gird you with sackcloth; lament, and run to and fro by the hedges: for [5] their king shall go into captivity, and his priests and his princes together.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the valleys, thy [6] flowing valley, O backsliding daughter? that trusted [p] in her treasures, saying, Who [q] shall come unto me?

5 Behold, I will bring a fear upon thee, saith the Lord GOD of hosts, from all those that be about thee; and ye shall be driven out every man right forth; and none shall gather up him that wandereth.

6 And afterward [u] I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, saith the LORD.

7 Concerning Edom, [w] thus saith the LORD of hosts, Is wisdom [x] no more in Teman? is counsel [y] perished from the prudent? is their wisdom vanished?

8 Flee ye, [9] turn back, dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan; [z] for I will bring the calamity of Esau upon him, the time that I will visit him.

9 If grape-gatherers come to thee, would they not leave some gleaning grapes? if thieves by night, they will destroy [10] till they have enough.

10 But I have made Esau bare, [c] I have uncovered his secret places, and he shall not be able to hide himself: his seed is spoiled, and his brethren, and his neighbours, and he is [a] not.

11 Leave thy fatherless children, I will preserve them alive; and let thy widows trust in me.

12 For thus saith the LORD, Behold, they whose judgment was not to drink of the cup have assuredly drunken; and art thou he that shall altogether go unpunished? thou shalt not go unpunished, but thou shalt surely drink of it.

13 For I have sworn [c] by myself, saith the LORD, that Bozrah [d] shall become a desolation, a reproach, a waste, and a curse; and all the cities thereof shall be perpetual wastes.

14 I have heard a rumour [f] from the LORD, and an ambassador is sent unto the heathen, saying, Gather ye together, and come against her, and rise up to the battle.

15 For lo, I will make thee small among the heathen, and despised [h] among men.

16 Thy terribleness [i] hath deceived thee, and the pride of thine heart, O thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, that holdest the height of the hill: though [k] thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith the LORD.

17 Also Edom shall be a desolation; every one that goeth by it shall be astonished, [l] and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof.

18 As [m] in the overthrow of Sodom [n] and Gomorrah, and the neighbour cities thereof, saith the LORD, no man shall abide there, neither shall a son of man dwell in it.

19 Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan [o] against the habitation of the strong: but I will suddenly make him run away from her; and who is a chosen man, that I may appoint over her? for who [r] is like me? and who will appoint [7] me the time? and who [s] is that shepherd that will stand before me?

20 Therefore hear the counsel [t] of the LORD, that he hath taken against Edom; and his purposes, that he hath purposed against the inhabitants of Teman: [v] Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out; surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moved at the noise of their fall; at the cry, the noise thereof was heard in the [8] Red Sea.

22 Behold, he shall come up and fly as the eagle, and spread his wings over Bozrah: and at that day shall the heart of the mighty men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.

23 Concerning Damascus. [a b] Hamath is confounded, and Arpad; for they have heard evil tidings; they are [11] faint-hearted: there is sorrow [12] on the sea; it can not be quiet.

24 Damascus is waxed feeble, and turn

CHAP. L.

THE word that the LORD spake against Babylon, [a] and against the land of the Chaldeans, [1] by Jeremiah the prophet.

2 Declare ye among the nations, and publish, and [2] set up a standard; publish, and conceal not: say, Babylon is taken, Bel [d] is confounded, Merodach is broken in pieces; her idols are confounded, her images are broken in pieces.

3 For out of the north there cometh up a nation against her, which shall make her land desolate, and none shall dwell therein: they shall remove, they shall depart, both man and beast.

4 In [f] those days, and in that time, saith the LORD, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Judah together, [h] going and weeping: [i] they shall go, and seek [j] the LORD their God.

5 They shall ask the way to Zion [k] with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let us join [l] ourselves to the LORD in a perpetual [m] covenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 My people have been lost [n] sheep; their shepherds have caused them to go astray, they have turned them away on the mountains: they have [o] gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their [5] resting-place. [r]

7 All that found them have devoured them: [s] and their adversaries said, We offend [t] not, because [u] they have sinned against the LORD, the habitation [v] of justice; even the LORD, the hope [w] of their fathers.

8 Remove [x] out of the midst of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be as the he-goats before the flocks.

9 For, lo, I will raise, and cause to come up against Babylon, an assembly of great nations from the north country: and they shall set themselves in array against her; from thence she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a mighty [7] expert man; none shall return in vain.

10 And Chaldea shall be a spoil: all that spoil her shall be satisfied, saith the LORD.

11 Because ye were glad, because ye rejoiced, O ye destroyers of mine heritage; because ye are grown [8] fat as the heifer at grass, and [9] bellow as bulls;

12 Your mother shall be sore confounded; she that bare you shall be ashamed: behold, the hindermost of the nations shall be a wilderness, a dry land, and a desert.

13 Because of the wrath [a] of the LORD it shall not be inhabited, but it shall be wholly [b] desolate: every one that goeth by Babylon shall be astonished, and hiss at all her plagues.

14 Put yourselves in array against Babylon round about: all ye that bend the bow shoot at her, spare no arrows; for she hath sinned against the LORD.

Digitized by Google

15 Shout against her round about; she hath given [b] her hand: her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down; for it is the vengeance [c] of the LORD: take vengeance upon her; as [d] she hath done, do unto her.

16 Cut off the sower from Babylon, and him that handleth the [1] sickle in the time of harvest: for fear of the oppressing sword they shall turn every one to his people, and they shall flee every one to his own land.

17 Israel is a scattered sheep, the lions have driven him away; first [f] the king of Assyria hath devoured him, and last this [g] Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will punish the king of Babylon and his land, as I have [i] punished the king of Assyria.

19 And [j] I will bring Israel again to his habitation, and he shall feed on Carmel [l] and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied upon mount Ephraim and [m] Gilead.

20 In those days, and in that time, saith the LORD, the iniquity of Israel shall be sought [o] for, and [p] there shall be none; and the sins of Judah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I [q] reserve.

21 Go up against the land of [4] Merathaim, even against it, and against the inhabitants of [5] Pekod: [u] waste and utterly destroy after them, saith the LORD, and do according to all [v] that I have commanded thee.

22 A sound [z] of battle is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer [z] of the whole earth cut [a]sunder and broken! how is Babylon become a desolation among the nations!

24 I have laid a snare [b] for thee, and thou art also taken, O Babylon, and [c] thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the LORD.

25 The LORD hath opened his armoury, and hath brought forth the weapons [d] of his indignation: for this is the work of the Lord GOD of hosts in the land of the Chaldeans.

26 Come against her from the [6] utmost border, open her storehouses; [7] cast her up as heaps, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Slay all her bullocks; [g] let them go down to the slaughter: woe unto them! for their day is come, the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that flee and escape out of the land of Babylon, to declare in Zion the vengeance [k] of the LORD our God, the vengeance of his temple. [l]

29 Call together the archers against Babylon: all ye that bend the bow, camp against it round about: let none thereof escape: recompense [a] her according to her work; according to all that she hath done do unto her: for she hath been proud against the LORD, against the Holy One of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of war shall be cut off in that day, saith the LORD.

31 Behold, I am against thee, O [2] thou most proud, saith the Lord GOD of hosts: for thy day is come, the time that I will visit thee.

32 And [2] the most proud shall [e] stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire [h] in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him.

33 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, The children of Israel and the children of Judah were oppressed together; and all that took them captives held them fast; they refused to let them go.

34 Their Redeemer is strong; [k] the LORD of hosts is his name; he shall thoroughly plead [m] their cause, that he may give rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 A sword is upon the Chaldeans, saith the LORD, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her princes, and upon her wise [8] men.

36 A sword is upon the [3] liars; [s] and they shall dote: [t] a sword is upon her mighty men; and they shall be dismayed.

37 A sword is upon their horses, and upon their chariots, and upon all the mingled [w] people that are in the midst of her; and they shall become as women: [y] a sword is upon her treasures; and they shall be robbed.

38 A drought is upon her waters; and they shall be dried [a] up: for it is the land of graven images, and they are mad upon their idols.

39 Therefore the wild beasts of the desert, with the wild beasts of the islands, shall dwell there, and the owls shall dwell therein: and it shall be no more inhabited for ever: [c] neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation.

40 As God overthrew [f] Sodom and Gomorrah, and the neighbour cities thereof, saith the LORD; so shall no man abide there, neither shall any son of man dwell therein.

41 Behold, a people shall come from the north, [h] and a great nation, and many [i] kings shall be raised up from the coasts of the earth.

42 They shall hold the bow and the lance; they are cruel, [j] and will not shew mercy: their voice shall roar like the sea, and they shall ride upon horses, every one put in array, like a man to the battle, against thee, O daughter of Babylon.

43 The king of Babylon hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble; anguish [a] took hold of him, and pangs as of a woman in travail.

44 Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan unto the habitation of the strong; but I will make them suddenly run away from her: and who is a chosen man, that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will [2] appoint me the time? and who [c] is that shepherd that will stand before me?

45 Therefore hear ye the counsel of the LORD that he hath taken against Babylon, and his purposes [f] that he hath purposed against the land of the Chaldeans; Surely the least of the flock shall draw them out; surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noise of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard [i] among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

THUS saith the LORD, Behold, I will raise up against Babylon, and against them that dwell in the [6] midst of them that rise up against me, a destroying [n] wind;

2 And will send unto Babylon [o] fanners, that shall fan her, and shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her round about.

3 Against him that bendeth let the archer bend his bow, and against him that lifteth himself up in his brigandine: and spare ye not her young men; destroy ye utterly all her host.

4 Thus the slain shall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thrust through [t] in her streets.

5 For Israel [u] hath not been [v] forsaken, nor Judah [w] of his God, of the LORD of hosts; though [x] their land was filled with sin against the Holy One of Israel.

6 Flee [z] out of the midst of Babylon, and deliver every man his soul; be not cut off in her iniquity; for this is the time of the LORD's vengeance; he will render unto her a recompense. [a]

7 Babylon hath been a golden cup [b] in the LORD's hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken [c] of her wine; therefore the nations are [d] mad.

8 Babylon is suddenly [e] fallen and destroyed: howl [f] for her; take balm for her pain, if so be she may be healed.

9 We would have healed Babylon, but she is not [g] healed: forsake her, and let us go every one into his own country; for her judgment reacheth unto heaven, and is lifted up even to the skies.

10 The LORD hath brought forth [i] our righteousness: come, and let us declare in [k] Zion the work of the LORD our God.

11 Make [9] bright [l] the arrows; gather the shields: the LORD hath raised up the spirit of the kings of the Medes: for his device is against Babylon, to destroy it; because [b] it is the vengeance of the LORD, the vengeance of his temple.

12 Set up the standard upon the walls of Babylon, make the watch strong; set up the watchmen, prepare the ambushes: [1] for the LORD hath both devised and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babylon.

13 O thou that dwellest upon many waters, [d] abundant in treasures, thine end is come, and the measure of thy [e] covetousness.

14 The LORD of hosts hath sworn [2] by himself, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men as with caterpillars; [5] and they shall [4] lift up a shout against thee.

15 He [h] hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched [j] out the heaven by his understanding. [k]

16 When [l] he uttereth his voice, there is a [5] multitude of waters in the heavens, and he [m] causeth the vapours to ascend from the ends of the earth: he maketh lightnings with rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

17 Every man [7] is brutish by his knowledge; [p] every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath [q] in them.

18 They are vanity, the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

19 The Portion [r] of Jacob is not like them; for he is the former of all things; and Israel is the rod [s] of his inheritance. The LORD of hosts is his name.

20 Thou art my battle-axe and weapons of war: for [8] with thee will I break in pieces [y] the nations; and with thee will I destroy kingdoms;

21 And with thee will I break in pieces the horse and his rider; and with thee will I break in pieces the chariot and his rider;

22 With thee also will I break in pieces man and woman; and with thee will I break in pieces old and young; and with thee will I break in pieces the young man and the maid;

23 I will also break in pieces with thee the shepherd and his flock; and with thee will I break in pieces the husbandman and his yoke of oxen; and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers.

24 And I will render [h] unto Babylon, and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea, all their evil that they have done in Zion in your sight saith the LORD.

25 Behold, I am against thee, O destroying mountain, [j] saith the LORD, which destroyest all the earth; and I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and roll thee down [m] from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain.

26 And they shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foun dations; but [a] thou shalt be [1] desolate for ever, saith the LORD.

27 Set ye up a standard in the land, blow the trumpet among the nations, prepare the nations against her, call together against her the kingdoms of Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz; appoint a captain against her; cause her horses to come up as the rough caterpillars.[c]

28 Prepare against her the nations, with the kings of the Medes, [d] the captains thereof, and all the rulers thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for every purpose of the LORD shall be performed against Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a desolation without an inhabitant.

30 The mighty men of Babylon have forborne to fight, they have remained in their holds: their might hath failed; they became [h] as women: they have burnt their dwelling-places; her bars [i] are broken.

31 One post shall run to meet another, and one messenger to meet another, to shew the king of Babylon that his city is taken at one end, 32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reeds they have burnt with fire, [j] and the men of war are affrighted.

33 For thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, The daughter of Babylon is like a threshing-floor,[5] it is time to thresh [l] her: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest [m] shall come.

34 Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon hath devoured me, he hath [o] crushed me, he hath made me an empty [7] vessel, he hath swallowed me up like a dragon, he hath filled his belly with my delicates, he hath cast me out.

35 The [7] violence done to me and to my [8] flesh, be upon Babylon, [r] shall the inhabitant [9] of Zion say; and, My blood upon the inhabitants of Chaldea, shall Jerusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will plead thy cause, and take vengeance for thee; and I will dry up her sea, and make her springs dry.

37 And Babylon shall become heaps, a dwelling-place for dragons, an astonishment and an hissing without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roar together like lions: they shall [10] yell as lions' whelps.

39 In their heat I will make their feasts, and I will make them drunken, [z] that they may rejoice, and sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, saith the LORD.

40 I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, like rams with he-goats.

41 How is Sheshach taken! and how is the praise of the whole earth [a] surprised! how is Babylon become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The sea [b] is come up upon Babylon: she is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are a desolation, a dry land, and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth any son of man pass thereby.

44 And I will punish Bel in Babylon, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he hath swallowed up: and the nations shall not flow together any more unto him; yea, the wall [c] of Babylon shall fall.

45 My people, go ye out [f] of the midst of her, and deliver ye every man his soul from the fierce anger of the LORD.

46 And [2] lest your heart faint, and ye fear for the rumour [g] that shall be heard in the land: a rumour shall both come one year, and after that in another year shall come a rumour, and violence in the land, ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore, behold, the days come, that I will [3] do judgment upon the graven images of Babylon: and her whole land shall be confounded, and all her slain shall fall in the midst of her.

48 Then the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, shall sing [j] for Babylon: for the spoilers shall come unto her from the north, [k] saith the LORD.

49 As [4] Babylon hath caused the slain of Israel to fall, so at Babylon shall fall slain of all the [6] earth.

50 Ye that have escaped [n] the sword, go away, stand not still: remember the LORD afar off, and let Jerusalem [p] come into your mind.

51 We are confounded; because we have heard reproach: shame hath covered our faces; for strangers [r] are come into the sanctuaries of the LORD's house.

52 Wherefore, behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will do judgment upon her graven images: [t] and through all her land the wounded [u] shall groan.

53 Though Babylon should mount [v] up to heaven, and though she should fortify the height of her strength, yet from me shall spoilers come unto her, saith the LORD.

54 A sound [w] of a cry cometh from Babylon, and great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans:

55 Because the LORD hath spoiled Babylon, and destroyed out of her the great voice; when her waves do roar like great waters, a noise of their voice is uttered:

56 Because the spoiler is come upon her, even upon Babylon, and her mighty men are taken; every one of their [y] bows is broken: for the LORD God of recompenses shall surely requite.[z]

57 And I will make drunk [b] her princes, and her wise men, her captains, and her rulers, and her mighty men: and they shall sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, saith the King [a] whose name is The LORD of hosts.

58 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, The broad [1] walls of Babylon shall be utterly broken,[2] and her high gates shall be burnt with fire; and the people shall labour in vain,[b] and the folk in the fire, and they shall be weary.

59 The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah the son of Neriah, the son of Maaseiah, when he went [3] with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign. And this Seraiah was a [4] quiet prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that should come upon Babylon, even all these words that are written against Babylon.

61 And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, When thou comest to Babylon, and shalt see, and shalt read all these words;

62 Then shalt thou say, O LORD, thou hast spoken against this place, to cut it off, that none shall remain in it, neither man nor beast, but that it shall be [10] desolate for ever.

63 And it shall be, when thou hast made an end of reading this book, that thou shalt bind a stone [g] to it, and cast it into the midst of Euphrates.

64 And thou shalt say, Thus shall Babylon sink, and shall not rise from the evil that I will bring upon her, and they shall be weary.[h] Thus far are the words of Jeremiah.

CHAP. LII.

ZEDEKIAH [i] was one and twenty years old when he [11] began to reign; and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: his mother's name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiachim had done.

3 For through the anger of the LORD it came to pass in Jerusalem and Judah, till he had cast them out from his presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

4 And [m] it came to pass, in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army, against Jerusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

5 So the city was besieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

6 And in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was sore in the city, so that there was no bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden; (now the Chaldeans were by the city round about;) and they went by the way of the plain.

8 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued after the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho; and all his army was scattered from him.

9 Then [c] they took the king, and carried him up unto the king of Babylon to Riblah, in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgment upon him.

10 And the king of Babylon slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then [d] he [5] put out the eyes of Zedekiah: and the king of Babylon bound him in [6] chains, and carried him to Babylon, and put him in [7] prison till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fifth [e] month, in the tenth day of the month, (which was the nineteenth [f] year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon,) came Nebuzar-adan, [8] captain of the guard, which [9] served the king of Babylon, into Jerusalem,

13 And burnt the house of the LORD, and the king's house; and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the houses of the great men, burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Chaldeans, that were with the captain of the guard, brake down all the walls of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the city, and those that fell away that fell to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard left certain of the poor [j] of the land, for vine-dressers and for husbandmen.

17 Also [k] the pillars of brass that were in the house of the LORD, and the bases, and the brazen sea that was in the house of the LORD, the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the brass of them to Babylon.

18 The [l] caldrons also, and the [12] shovels, and the snuffers, and the [13] bowls, and the spoons, and all the vessels of brass, wherewith they ministered, took they away.

19 And the basins, and the [14] fire-pans, and the bowls, and the caldrons, and the candlesticks, and the spoons, and the cups; that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of silver in silver, took the captain of the guard away.

20 The two pillars, one sea, and twelve brazen bulls that were under the bases, which king Solomon had made in the house of the LORD: [15] the brass of all these vessels was without weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and a [1] fillet of twelve cubits did compass it; and the thickness thereof was four fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter [b] of brass was upon it; and the height of one chapiter was five cubits, with net-work and pomegranates upon the chapiters round about, all of brass: the second pillar also and the pomegranates were like unto these.

23 And there were ninety and six pomegranates on a side; and all the pomegranates upon the net-work were an hundred round about.

24 And the captain of the guard took Seraiah [c] the chief priest, and [d] Zephaniah the second priest, and the three keepers of the [3] door:

25 He took also out of the city an eunuch, which had the charge of the men of war; and seven men of them that [4] were near the king's person, which were found in the city; and the [5] principal scribe of the host, who mustered the people of the land; and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the midst of the city.

26 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard took them, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babylon smote them, and put them to death in Riblah, in the land of Hamath. Thus Judah was carried away captive out [j] of his own land.

CHAP. I.

HOW doth the city sit solitary, [a] that was full of people! how is she become as a widow! [c] she that was great among the nations, and princess [d] among the provinces, how is she become tributary!

2 She weepeth sore in the night, and her tears are on her cheeks; among all her lovers [e] she hath none to comfort her: all her friends have dealt treacherously with her, they are become her enemies.

3 Judah is gone into captivity, because of affliction, and [3] because of great servitude; she dwelleth [h] among the heathen, she findeth no rest: all her persecutors overtook her between the straits.

4 The ways of Zion do mourn, because none come to the solemn feasts: all her gates are desolate; her priests sigh, her virgins are afflicted, and she is in bitterness.

5 Her adversaries are the chief, [k] her enemies prosper; for the LORD hath afflicted her for the multitude of her transgressions: [m] her children are gone into captivity before the enemy

7 Jerusalem remembered in the days of her affliction, and of her miseries, all her [1] pleasant things that she had in the days of old, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her: the adversaries saw her, and did mock [f] at her sabbaths.

12 Is [2] it nothing to you, all ye that pass by? [3] behold, and see if there be any [e] sorrow like unto my sorrow, which is done unto me, wherewith the LORD hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger.

13 From above hath he sent fire into my bones, and it prevaileth against them: he hath spread a net [g] for my feet; he hath turned me back; he hath made me desolate and faint all the day.

14 The yoke [j] of my transgressions is bound by his hand; they are wreathed, and come up upon my neck; he hath made my strength to fall; the LORD hath delivered me into their hands, from whom [l] I am not able to rise up.

15 The LORD hath trodden under foot all my mighty men in the midst of me; he hath called an assembly against me to crush my young men: the LORD [m] hath trodden [6] the virgin, the daughter of Judah, as in a wine-press.

16 For [n] these things I weep: mine eye, mine eye runneth down with water, because the comforter that should [7] relieve my soul is far [p] from me; my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed.

17 Zion spreadeth forth [r] her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the LORD hath commanded concerning Jacob, that his adversaries should be round about [s] him: Jerusalem is as a menstruous woman among them.

18 The LORD is righteous; [u] for I have rebelled against his [10] commandment: hear, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captivity.

19 I called for my lovers, but [w] they deceived me; my priests and mine elders gave up the ghost in the city, while they sought their meat to relieve their souls.

20 Behold, O LORD, for I am in distress; my bowels are troubled: mine heart is turned within me; for [a] I have grievously rebelled: abroad the sword bereaveth, [b] at home there is as death.

21 They have heard that I sigh; there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble; they are glad that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day [d] that thou hast [12] called, and they shall be like unto me.

22 Let [e] all their wickedness come before thee; and do unto them as [f] thou hast done unto me for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many, and my heart is [g] faint.

CHAP. II.

HOW hath the LORD covered the daughter of Zion with a cloud [h] in his anger, and cast down from heaven unto the earth the beauty [a] of Israel, and remembered not his footstool [b] in the day of his anger!

2 The LORD hath swallowed up all the habitations of Jacob, and hath not [d] pitied: he hath thrown down in his wrath the strong holds of the daughters of Judah: he hath [4] brought them down to the ground: [f] he hath polluted the kingdom and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce anger all the horn of Israel: he hath drawn back his [h] right hand from before the enemy, and he burned against Jacob like a flaming [i] fire, which devoureth round about.

4 He hath bent his bow like an [k] enemy: he stood with his right hand as an adversary, and slew all [5] that were pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his fury like fire.

5 The LORD was as an enemy; he hath swallowed up Israel, he hath swallowed up all her palaces; he hath destroyed his strong holds, and hath increased in the daughter of Judah mourning and lamentation.

6 And he hath violently taken away [o] his tabernacle, [8] as if it were of a garden; he hath destroyed his places of the assembly: the LORD hath caused the solemn [q] feasts and sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised, in the indignation of his anger, the king and the priest.

7 The LORD hath cast off his altar, he hath abhorred [t] his sanctuary, he hath given [9] up into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces; they have made a noise [v] in the house of the LORD, as in the day of a solemn feast.

8 The LORD hath purposed to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion; he hath stretched out a line, [x] he hath not withdrawn his hand from [11] destroying: therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament; they languished together.

9 Her gates are sunk into the ground; he hath destroyed and broken her [y] bars: her king [z] and her princes are among the Gentiles: the law is no more; her prophets also find no vision from the LORD.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit [c] upon the ground, and keep silence: they have cast up dust upon their heads; they have girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgins of Jerusalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes do fail with tears, my bowels are troubled, my liver is poured upon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people; because the children and the sucklings [13] swoon in the streets of the city.

12 They say to their mothers, Where is corn and wine? when they swooned as the wounded in the streets of the city when their soul was poured out into their mothers' bosom

13 What thing shall I take to witness for thee? what thing shall I liken to thee, O daughter of Jerusalem? what shall I equal to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter of Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea; who can heal thee?

14 Thy prophets [d] have seen vain and foolish things for thee; and they have not discovered [e] thine iniquity, to turn away thy captivity; but have seen for thee false burdens, and causes of banishment.

15 All that pass [1] by clap their hands at thee: they hiss and wag their head at the daughter of Jerusalem, saying, Is this the city that men call The Perfection of beauty, The joy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies have opened their mouth [i] against thee: they hiss and gnash the teeth: they say, We have swallowed her up: certainly this is the day that we looked for; we have found, we have seen it.

17 The LORD hath done that which he had devised; [k] he hath fulfilled his word that he had commanded in the days of old: he hath thrown down, and hath not pitied: and [m] he hath caused thine enemy to rejoice over thee; he hath set up the horn of thine adversaries.

18 Their heart cried unto the LORD, O wall of the daughter of Zion, let [6] tears run down like a river day and night: give thyself no rest; let not the apple of thine eyes cease.

19 Arise, cry out in the night; in the beginning of the watches pour out [r] thine heart like water before the face of the LORD: lift up thy hands toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger [u] in the top of every street.

20 Behold, O LORD, and consider to whom thou hast done this. Shall the women eat their fruit, [x] and children [9] of a span long? shall the priest and the prophet be slain in the sanctuary of the LORD?

21 The [z] young and the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword; thou hast slain them in the day of thy anger; thou hast killed, and not pitied.

22 Thou hast called, as in a solemn day, my terrors round about; [c] so that in the day of the LORD's anger none escaped nor remained: those that I have swaddled and brought up [d] hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAP. III.

I AM the man that hath seen affliction by the rod of his wrath.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkness, [h] but not into light.

3 Surely against me is he turned; he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh [j] and my skin hath he made old; he hath broken [k] my bones.

7 He hath hedged [b] me about, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chain heavy.

8 Also when I cry [c] and shout, he shutteth out my prayer.

9 He hath enclosed my ways with hewn stone: he hath made my paths crooked.

10 He was unto me as a bear [f] lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 He hath turned aside my ways, and pulled [g] me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, and set me as a mark [h] for the arrow.

13 He hath caused the [2] arrows of his quiver to enter into my reins.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song [j] all the day.

15 He hath filled me with [3] bitterness, he hath made me drunken with wormwood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with gravel-stones, [l] he hath [4] covered me with ashes.

17 And thou hast removed my soul far off from peace: I forgat [5] prosperity.

18 And I said, [n] My strength and my hope is perished from the LORD:

19 [6] Remembering mine affliction and my misery, the wormwood [p] and the gall.

20 My soul hath them still in remembrance, and is [7] humbled in me.

21 This I [8] recall to my mind, therefore [7] have I hope.

22 It is [t] of the LORD's mercies that we are not consumed, because [t] his compassions fail not.

23 They are new every morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The LORD is my portion, [v] saith my soul; therefore will I hope [w] in him.

25 The LORD is good unto them that wait [y] for him, to the soul that seeketh him.

26 It is good that a man should both hope and quietly wait for the salvation of the LORD.

27 It is good for a man that he bear the yoke [a] in his youth.

28 He sitteth alone [b] and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it upon him.

29 He putteth his mouth in the dust, if so be there may be hope.

30 He [c] giveth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproach.

31 For [f] the LORD will not cast off for ever:

32 But though [g] he cause grief, yet will he have compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doth not afflict [10] willingly, [i] nor grieve the children of men.

37 Who is he that saith, and it cometh to pass, when the LORD commandeth it not?
38 Out of the mouth of the Most High proceedeth not evil [b] and good?
39 Wherefore [c] doth a living man [3] complain, a man for the punishment of his sins?
40 Let us search [e] and try our ways, and turn again to the LORD.
41 Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens.
42 We have transgressed [f] and have rebelled: thou hast not pardoned.
43 Thou hast covered with anger, and persecuted us: thou hast slain, [h] thou hast not pitied.
44 Thou hast covered thyself with a cloud, that our prayer should not pass through.
45 Thou hast made us as the off-scouring and refuse in the midst of the people.
46 All our enemies have opened their mouths against us.

48 Mine eye runneth down with rivers of water for the destruction of the daughter of my people.
49 Mine eye trickleth down, and ceaseth not, without any intermission, 50 Till the LORD look down, [o] and behold from heaven.
51 Mine eye affecteth [7] mine heart, because [8] of all the daughters of my city.
52 Mine enemies chased me sore, like a bird, without cause.
53 They have cut off my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone [q] upon me.
54 Waters [s] flowed over mine head; then I said, I am cut off.
55 I called [u] upon thy name, O LORD, out of the low dungeon.
56 Thou hast heard my voice; hide not thine ear at my breathing, at my cry.
57 Thou drewest near in the day that I called upon thee: thou saidst, Fear [x] not.
58 O LORD, thou hast pleaded the causes [y] of my soul; thou hast redeemed my life.
59 O LORD, thou hast seen my wrong; judge [z] thou my cause.
60 Thou hast seen all their vengeance, and all their imaginations [b] against me.
61 Thou hast heard their reproach, O LORD, and all their imaginations against me;
62 The lips of those that rose up against me, and their device against me all the day.
63 Behold their sitting down, and their rising up; I am their music.

CHAP. IV.

HOW is the gold become dim; how is the most fine gold changed! the [a] stones of the sanctuary are poured out in the top of every street.
2 The precious sons of Zion, comparable to fine gold, [d] how are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter!
3 Even the [4] sea-monsters draw out the breast, they give suck to their young ones: the daughter of my people is become cruel, like the ostriches [g] in the wilderness.
4 The tongue of the sucking child cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirst; the young children ask bread, and [i] no man breaketh it unto them.
5 They that did feed delicately are desolate in the streets; they that were brought up in scarlet embrace [j] dunghills.
6 For the [5] punishment of the iniquity of the daughter of my people is greater than the punishment of the sin of Sodom, that was overthrown as in a [l] moment, and no hands stayed on her.
7 Her Nazarites were purer than snow, they were whiter than milk, they were more ruddy in body than rubies, their polishing was of sapphire:
8 Their visage is [6] blacker [n] than a coal; they are not known in the streets: their skin [p] cleaveth to their bones; it is withered, it is become like a stick.
9 They that be slain with the sword are better than they that be slain with hunger: for these [9] pine away, stricken through for want of the fruits of the field.
10 The hands of the pitiful [r] women have sodden their own children, they were their meat [t] in the destruction of the daughter of my people.
11 The LORD hath accomplished his fury; he hath poured out [v] his fierce anger, and hath kindled [w] a fire in Zion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof.
12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world, would not have believed that the adversary and the enemy should have entered into the gates of Jerusalem.
13 For [a] the sins of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that [c] have shed the blood of the just in the midst of her,
14 They have wandered as blind men in the streets, they [d] have polluted themselves with blood, [10] so that [e] men could not touch their garments.
15 They cried unto them, Depart [11] ye; it is unclean; depart, depart, touch not: when they fled away and wandered, they said among the heathen, They shall no more sojourn there.

they respected not the persons of the priests, they favoured not the elders.

18 They hunt our steps, that we cannot go in our streets: our end is near, our days are fulfilled; for our end [d] is come.

19 Our persecutors are swifter [e] than the eagles of the heaven: they pursued us upon the mountains, they laid wait for us in the wilderness.

20 The breath of our nostrils, the anointed of the LORD, was taken [g] in their pits, of whom we said, Under his shadow we shall live among the heathen.

21 Rejoice [h] and be glad, O daughter of Edom, that dwellest in the land of Uz: the cup also [i] shall pass through unto thee; thou shalt be drunken, and shalt make thyself naked.

22 The [3] punishment of thine iniquity is accomplished, [j] O daughter of Zion; he will no more carry thee away into captivity: he will visit thine iniquity, O daughter of Edom; [l] he will [5] discover thy sins.

REMEMBER, [m] O LORD, what is come upon us: consider, and behold our reproach.

2 Our inheritance [o] is turned to strangers, our houses to aliens.

CHAP. I.

NOW it came to pass in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I was among the [1] captives by the river of Chebar, [b] that the heavens were opened, [c] and I saw visions [d] of God.

2 In the fifth day of the month, (which was the fifth year of king [f] Jehoiachin's captivity,)

3 The word of the LORD came expressly unto [3] Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar; and the hand [g] of the LORD was there upon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a whirlwind came out of the north, a great cloud, and a fire [4] infolding itself, and a brightness was about it, and out of the midst thereof, as the colour of amber, out of the midst of the fire.

5 Also out of the midst thereof came the likeness of four [h] living creatures. And this [a] was their appearance; they had the likeness of a man.

6 And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings.

7 And their feet were [2] straight feet; and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calf's foot; and they sparkled [e] like the colour of burnished brass.

8 And they had the hands of a man under their wings on their four sides; and they four had their faces and their wings.

9 Their wings were joined one to another; they turned not when they went; they went every one straight forward.

10 As for the likeness of their faces, they four had the face of a man, and the face of a lion on the right side; and they four had the face of an ox on the left side; they four also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: and their wings were [5] stretched upward; two wings of every one were joined one to another, and two covered [n] their bodies.

12 And they went every one straight forward: whither the spirit was to go, they went; and they turned not when they went.
13 As for the likeness of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps: it went [e] up and down among the living creatures; and the fire was bright, and out of the fire went forth lightning.
14 And the living creatures ran [f] and returned as the appearance of a flash of lightning.
15 Now, as I beheld the living creatures, behold, one wheel upon the earth by the living creatures, with his four faces.
16 The appearance of the wheels and their work was like unto the colour of a beryl; and they four had one likeness: and their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel in the middle of a wheel.
17 When they went, they went upon their four sides; and they returned not when they went.
18 As for their rings, they were so high [l] that they were dreadful; and their rings [1] were full of eyes [m] round about them four.
19 And when the living creatures went, the wheels went by them; and when the living creatures were lift up from the earth, the wheels were lift up.
20 Whithersoever [o] the spirit was to go, they went, thither was their spirit to go; and the wheels were lifted up over against them: for the spirit of [4] the living creatures was in the wheels.
21 When those went, these went; and when those stood, these stood; and when those were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up over against them: for the spirit of [4] the living creature was in the wheels.
22 And the likeness of the firmament upon the heads of the living creature was as the color of the terrible [v] crystal, stretched forth over their heads above.
23 And under the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: every one had two, which covered on this side, and every one had two, which covered on that side, their bodies.
24 And when they went, I heard the noise of their wings, like [x] the noise of great waters, as the voice [y] of the Almighty, the voice of speech, as the noise of an host: [b] when they stood, they let down their wings.
25 And there was a voice from the firmament that was over their heads, when they stood, and had let down their wings

26 And above the firmament that was over their heads was the likeness of a throne, [b] as [c] the appearance of a sapphire-stone: and upon the likeness of the throne was the likeness as the appearance of a man above upon [d] it.
27 And I saw as the colour of amber, as the appearance of fire round about within it; from the appearance of his loins even upward, and from the appearance of his loins even downward, I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and it had brightness round about.
28 As the appearance of the bow [i] that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness round about. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory [h] of the LORD. And when I saw it, I fell [i] upon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

AND he said unto me, Son of man, stand [j] upon thy feet, and I will speak unto thee.
2 And [k] the spirit entered into me when he spake unto me, and set me upon my feet, that I heard him that spake unto me.
3 And he said unto me, Son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious [2] nation that hath rebelled against me: they and their fathers [n] have transgressed against me, even unto this very day.
4 For they are [3] impudent children, and stiff-hearted: I do send [p] thee unto them; and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD.
5 And they, whether [q] they will hear, or whether they will forbear: (for they are a rebellious house,) yet [r] shall know that there hath been a prophet among them.
6 And thou, son of man, be [s] not afraid of them, neither be afraid of their words, though [5] briers and thorns [t] be with thee, and thou dost dwell among scorpions: be not afraid [u] of their words, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they be a rebellious house.
7 And thou shalt speak my words unto them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear; for they are most [6] rebellious
8 But thou, son of man, hear what I say unto thee; Be not thou [w] rebellious like that rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eat [z] that I give thee.
9 And when I looked, behold, an hand [a] was sent unto me; and, lo, a [c] roll of a book was therein;
10 And he spread it before me; and it was written within and without; and there was written therein lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

MOREOVER, he said unto me, Son of man, eat that thou findest: eat this [a] roll, and go speak unto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he caused me to eat that roll.

3 And he said unto me, Son of man, cause thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roll that I give thee. Then did I eat it; and [d] it was in my mouth as honey [e] for sweetness.

4 And he said unto me, Son of man, go, get thee unto the house of Israel, and speak with my words unto them.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of [2] a strange speech, and of an hard language, but to the house of Israel:

6 Not to many people [2] of a strange speech, and of an hard language, whose words thou canst not understand: surely, [3] had [i] I sent thee to them, they would have hearkened unto thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not hearken unto thee; for [j] they will not hearken unto me: for all the house of Israel are [4] impudent and hard-hearted.

8 Behold, I have made thy face strong against their faces, and thy forehead strong against their foreheads.

9 As an adamant, harder than [l] flint, have I made thy forehead: fear them not, neither be dismayed at their [m] looks, though they be a rebellious house.

10 Moreover, he said unto me, Son of man, all my words that I shall speak unto thee receive [n] in thine heart, and hear with thine ears.

11 And go, get thee to them of the captivity, unto thy people, and speak unto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear.

12 Then the spirit [p] took me up, and I heard behind me a voice of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the LORD from his place.

13 I heard also the noise of the wings of the living creatures that [6] touched one another, and the noise of the wheels over against them, and a noise of a great rushing.

14 So [s] the spirit lifted me up, and took me away, and I went [7] in bitterness, in the [8] heat of my spirit: but the hand [t] of the LORD was strong upon me.

15 Then I came to them of the captivity at Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river of Chebar, and I sat [v] where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days.

16 And it came to pass, at the end of seven days, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

17 Son of man, I have made thee a watchman [w] unto the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me.

18 When I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; and thou [b] givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his [c] iniquity: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity: but thou [f] hast delivered thy soul.

20 Again, when [g] a righteous man doth turn from his [1] righteousness, and commit iniquity, and I lay [k] a stumbling-block before him, he shall die: because thou hast not given him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteousness which he hath done shall not be remembered; but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Nevertheless, if thou warn the righteous man, that the righteous sin not, and he doth not sin, he shall surely live, because he is warned: [k] also thou hast delivered thy soul.

22 And the hand of the LORD was there upon me; and he said unto me, Arise, go forth into the plain, and I will there talk with thee.

23 Then I arose, and went forth into the plain; and, behold, the glory of the LORD stood there, as the glory which I saw by the river of Chebar: and I fell on my face

24 Then the spirit entered into me, and set me upon my feet, and spake with me, and said unto me, Go, shut thyself within thine house.

25 But thou, O son of man, behold, they shall put bands upon thee, and shall bind thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them:

26 And I will make thy tongue [o] cleave to the roof of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not [q] be to them [5] a reprover; [r] for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I speak with thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the LORD God, He that heareth, let him hear; and he that forbeareth, let him forbear: for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. IV.

THOU also, son of man, take thee a tile, and lay it before thee, and pourtray upon it the city, even Jerusalem:

2 And lay siege [u] against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it; set the camp also against it, and set battering-rams [9] against it round about.

3 Moreover, take thou unto thee [10] an iron pan, and set it for a wall of iron between thee and the city; and set thy face against it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it. This shall be a sign [x] to the house of Israel

4 Lie thou also upon thy left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Israel upon it: according to the number of the days that thou shalt lie upon it thou shalt bear their iniquity.

5 For I have laid upon thee the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days, three hundred and ninety [b] days: so shalt thou bear [c] the iniquity of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, lie again on thy right side, and thou shalt bear the iniquity of the house of Judah forty days: I have appointed thee [2] each day for a year.

7 Therefore thou shalt set thy face toward the siege of Jerusalem, and thine arm shall be uncovered, and thou shalt prophesy against it.

8 And, behold, I will lay bands [f] upon thee, and thou shalt not turn thee from [3] one side to another, till thou hast ended the days of thy siege.

9 Take thou also unto thee wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentiles, and millet, and [4] fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof, according to the number of the days that thou shalt lie upon thy side; three hundred and ninety days shalt thou eat thereof.

10 And thy meat which thou shalt eat shall be by weight, twenty shekels a-day: from time to time shalt thou eat it.

11 Thou shalt drink also water by measure, the sixth part of an hin: from time to time shalt thou drink.

12 And thou shalt eat it as barley-cakes, and thou shalt bake it with dung that cometh out of man, in their sight.

13 And the LORD said, Even [k] thus shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will drive them.

14 Then said I, Ah Lord GOD! behold, my soul hath not been polluted; [m] for from my youth up, even till now, have I not eaten of that [o] which dieth of itself, or is torn in pieces; neither came there abominable [r] flesh into my mouth.

15 Then he said unto me, Lo, I have given thee cow's dung for man's dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover he said unto me, Son of man, behold, I will break the staff [v] of bread in Jerusalem; and [w] they shall eat bread by weight, and with care; and they shall drink water by measure, and with astonishment:

17 That they may want bread and water, and be astonied one with another, and consume [y] away for their iniquity.

CHAP. V.

AND thou, son of man, take thee a sharp knife, take thee a barber's razor, and cause it to pass upon thine head, and upon thy beard; then take the balances to weigh, and divide the hair.

2 Thou shalt burn with fire a third part in the midst of the city, when the days of the siege [a] are fulfilled; and thou shalt take a third part, and smite about it with a knife; and a third part thou shalt scatter in the wind: and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a [d] few in number, and bind them in thy [1] skirts.

4 Then take [e] of them again, and cast them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire; for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord GOD, This is Jerusalem: I have set it in the midst of the nations and countries that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed [g] my judgments into wickedness more than the nations, and my statutes more [h] than the countries that are round about her; for they have [i] refused my judgments and my statutes, they have not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because ye multiplied more than the nations that are round about you, and have not walked in my statutes, neither have kept my judgments, neither have done according to the judgments of the nations that are round about you;

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold I, even I, am against thee, and will execute judgments in the midst of thee, in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will do in thee that [j] which I have not done, and whereunto I will not do any more the like; because of all thine abominations.

10 Therefore the fathers shall eat [l] the sons in the midst of thee, and the sons shall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter [n] into all the winds.

11 Wherefore, as I live, saith the Lord GOD, Surely, because thou hast defiled my sanctuary [p] with all thy [q] detestable things, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also diminish [s] thee; neither shall mine eye spare, neither will I have any pity.[t]

12 A third [u] part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the midst of thee; and a third part shall fall by the sword round about thee; and I will scatter [x] a third part into all the winds; and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, [z] and I will cause my fury to rest [a] upon them, and I will be comforted: [b] and they shall know that I the LORD have spoken it in my zeal, when I have accomplished my fury in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee [a] waste, and a reproach among the nations that are round about thee, in the sight of all that pass by.

15 So it shall be a reproach [d] and a taunt, an instruction and an astonishment, unto the nations that are round about thee, when I shall execute judgments in thee, in anger and in fury, and in furious [e] rebukes. I the LORD have spoken it.

16 When [f] I shall send upon them the evil arrows of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will increase the famine upon you, and will break your staff of bread.

17 So will I send upon you famine, and evil [h] beasts, and they shall bereave thee, and pestilence [i] and blood shall pass through thee; and I will bring the sword upon thee. I the LORD have spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set [k] thy face towards the mountains [l] of Israel; and prophesy against them,

3 And say, Ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD; Thus saith the Lord GOD to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Behold I, even I, will bring a sword upon you, and I will destroy your high [n] places;

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your [3] images shall be broken; and I will cast down your slain men before your idols.

5 And I will [4] lay the dead carcasses of the children of Israel before their idols; and I will scatter your bones [q] round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling-places the cities shall be laid waste, and the high places shall be desolate; that your altars may be laid waste and made desolate, and your idols may be broken and cease, and your [6] images may be cut down, and your works may be abolished.

7 And the slain shall fall in the midst of you; and [s] ye shall know that I am the LORD.

8 Yet will I leave a remnant, [t] that ye may have some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when ye shall be scattered through the countries.

9 And they that escape of you shall remember [u] me among the nations, whither they shall be carried captives, because I am broken [w] with their whorish [x] heart, which hath departed from me, and with their eyes, [z] which go a whoring after their idols: and they shall loathe [a] themselves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the LORD, and that I have not said in vain that I would do this evil unto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Smite [b] with thine hand, and stamp with thy foot, and say, Alas, for all the evil abominations of the house of Israel! for [c] they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is far off shall die of the pestilence; and he that is near shall fall by the sword; and he that remaineth and is besieged shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my fury upon them.

13 Then shall ye know that I am the LORD, when their slain men shall be among their idols round about their altars, upon [g] every high hill, in all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak, the place where they did offer sweet savour to all their idols.

14 So will I stretch out [j] my hand upon them, and make the land desolate, yea, more [1] desolate than the wilderness towards Diblath, in all their habitations; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. VII.

MOREOVER, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Also, thou son of man, thus saith the Lord GOD unto the land of Israel, An end, [m] the end is come upon the four corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come upon thee, and I will send mine anger upon thee, and will judge thee according to thy ways, and will [2] recompense upon thee all thine abominations.

4 And [o] mine eye shall not spare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will recompense [p] thy ways upon thee, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee; and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

5 Thus saith the Lord GOD, An evil, an only evil, behold, is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come: it watcheth [5] for thee; behold, it is come.

7 The morning is come unto thee, O thou that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day [r] of trouble is near, and not the sounding [6] again of the mountains.

8 Now will I shortly pour out my fury upon thee, and accomplish mine anger upon thee; and I will judge thee according to thy ways, and will recompense thee for all thine abominations.

9 And mine eyes shall not spare, neither will I have pity: I will recompense [7] thee according to thy ways, [v] and thine abominations that are in the midst of thee; and ye shall know that I [y] am the LORD that smiteth.

10 Behold the day, behold, it is come; the morning is gone forth; the rod hath blossomed; pride [b] hath budded.

11 Violence [c] is risen up into a rod of wickedness: none of them shall remain, nor of their [8] multitude, nor of any of theirs; [9] neither shall there be wailing for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth near: let not the buyer rejoice, nor the seller mourn; for wrath is upon all the multitude thereof.

13 For the seller shall not return to that which is sold, [2] although they were yet alive: for the vision is touching the whole multitude thereof, which shall not return; neither [a] shall any strengthen himself [3] in the [4] iniquity of his life.

14 They have blown the trumpet, even to make all ready; but none goeth to the battle: for my wrath is upon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword [e] is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: he that is in the field shall die with the sword, and he that is in the city, famine and pestilence shall devour him.

16 But they that escape of them shall escape, and shall be on the mountains like doves of the valleys, all of them mourning, every one for his iniquity.

17 All hands shall be feeble, and all knees shall [5] be weak as water.

18 They [k] shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and horror shall cover them; and shame shall be upon all faces, and baldness upon all their heads.

19 They shall cast their silver in the streets, and their gold shall be [6] removed: their silver [n] and their gold shall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the LORD: they shall not satisfy their souls, neither fill their bowels; because [7] it is the stumbling-block [o] of their iniquity.

20 As for the beauty of his ornament, he set it in majesty; but they made [p] the images of their abominations, and of their detestable things therein: therefore have I [8] set it far from them.

21 And I will give it into the hands of the strangers for a prey, and to the wicked of the earth for a spoil: and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turn also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the [9] robbers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 Make a chain; for [t] the land is full of bloody crimes, the city is full of violence.

24 Wherefore I will bring the worst of the heathen, [w] and they shall possess their houses: I will also make the pomp of the strong to cease, and [10] their holy places [x] shall be defiled.

25 Destruction [11] cometh; and they shall seek peace, and there shall be none.

26 Mischief [z] shall come upon mischief, and rumour shall be upon rumour; then shall they seek a vision of the prophet: but the [b] law shall perish from the priest, and counsel from the ancients.

27 The king shall mourn, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people of the land shall be troubled: I will do unto them after their way, and [1] according to their deserts will I judge them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. VIII.

AND it came to pass in the sixth year, in the sixth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I sat in mine house, and the elders [b] of Judah sat before me, that the [c] hand of the Lord GOD fell there upon me.

2 Then I beheld, and, lo, [d] a likeness as the appearance of fire: from the appearance of his loins, even downward, fire, and from his loins, even upward, as the appearance of brightness, as the colour of [f] amber.

3 And he put forth the form of an [g] hand, and took me by a lock of mine head; and the spirit lift me up between the earth and the heaven, and [h] brought me in the visions of God to Jerusalem, to the door of the inner gate that looketh toward the north, where [i] was the seat of the image of jealousy, which provoketh [j] to jealousy.

4 And, behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, according to the vision that I saw [l] in the plain.

5 Then said he unto me, Son of man, lift up thine eyes now the way towards the north. [m] So I lift up mine eyes the way toward the north, and behold, northward at the gate of the altar, this image of jealousy in the entry.

6 He said, furthermore, unto me, Son of man, seest thou what they do? even the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here, [q] that I should go far off from [r] my sanctuary? But turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And he brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, behold, a hole in the wall.

8 Then said he unto me, Son of man, dig now in the wall: and when I had digged in the wall, behold, a door.

9 And he said unto me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations [s] that they do here.

10 So I went in [u] and saw; and, behold, every [v] form of creeping things, and abominable beasts, and all the idols of the house of Israel, pourtrayed upon the wall round about.

11 And there stood before them seventy men of the ancients [y] of the house of Israel, and in the midst of them stood Jaazaniah the son of Shaphan, with every man his censer [a] in his hand; and a thick cloud of incense went up.

12 Then said he unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen what the ancients of the house of Israel do in the dark, [c] every man in the chambers of his imagery? for they say, The [d] LORD seeth us not; the LORD hath forsaken the earth

13 He said also unto me, Turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they do.

14 Then he brought me to the door of the gate of the LORD's house which was towards the north; and, behold, there sat women weeping for Tammuz.

15 Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen this, O son of man? Turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater [a] abominations than these.

16 And he brought me into the inner court of the LORD's house; and, behold, at the door of the temple of the LORD, between [c] the porch and the altar, were about five [e] and twenty men, with their backs toward [g] the temple of the LORD, and their faces towards the east; and they worshipped the sun [i] towards the east.

17 Then he said unto me, Hast thou seen this, O son of man? [3] Is it a light thing to the house of Judah that they commit the abominations which they commit here? for they have filled the land with violence, and have returned to provoke me to anger; and, lo, they put the branch to their nose.

18 Therefore will I also deal in fury: mine eye shall not spare, [j] neither will I have pity; and though [l] they cry in mine ears with a loud voice, yet will I not hear them.

CHAP. IX.

HE cried also in mine ears with a loud voice, saying, Cause them that have charge over the city to draw near, even every man with his destroying weapon in his hand.

2 And, behold, six men came from the way of the higher gate, which [6] lieth toward the north, and every man a [7] slaughter-weapon in his hand; and one man among them was clothed [q] with linen, with a writer's ink-horn [9] by his side: and they went in, and stood beside the brazen altar.

3 And the glory [s] of the God of Israel was gone up from the cherub, whereupon he was, to the threshold of the house: and he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writer's ink-horn by his side;

4 And the LORD said unto him, Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and [10] set a mark upon [u] the foreheads of the men that [w] sigh, and that cry, for all the abominations that be done in the midst thereof.

5 And to the others he said in mine hearing, [12] Go ye after him through the city, and smite; [z] let not your eyes spare, neither have ye pity:

6 Slay [13] utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women, but [z] come not near any man upon whom is the mark; and begin [a] at my sanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men which were before the house.

7 And he said unto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain; go ye forth. And they went forth, and slew in the city.

8 And it came to pass, while they were slaying them, and I was left, that I fell upon my face, and cried, and said, Ah, Lord GOD! wilt thou destroy all the residue [b] of Israel in thy pouring out of thy fury upon Jerusalem?

9 Then said he unto me, The iniquity of the house of Israel and Judah is exceeding great, [d] and the land is [1] full of blood, [f] and the city full of [2] perverseness; for they say, The LORD hath forsaken the earth, and the LORD seeth [h] not.

10 And as for me also, mine eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity; but I will recompense their way upon their head.

11 And, behold the man clothed with linen, which had the ink-horn by his side, reported [4] the matter, saying, I have done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

THEN I looked, and, behold, in the firmament [k] that was above the head of the Cherubims there appeared over them as it were a sapphire-stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne.

2 And he spake unto the man [m] clothed with linen, and said, Go in between the wheels, even under the cherub, and fill thine [5] hand with coals [n] of fire from between the cherubims, and scatter [o] them over the city. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the cherubims stood on the right side of the house when the man went in; and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory [p] of the LORD [8] went up from the cherub, and stood over the threshold of the house; and the house was filled [r] with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the LORD's glory.

5 And the sound [t] of the cherubims' wings was heard even to the utter court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

6 And it came to pass, that when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from between the wheels, from between [v] the cherubims; then he went in, and stood beside the wheels.

7 And one cherub [11] stretched forth his hand from between the cherubims unto the fire that was between the cherubims, and took thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen; who took it, and went out.

8 And [y] there appeared in the cherubims the form of a man's hand under their wings.

9 And when I looked, behold, [b] he four wheels by the cherubims, one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub: and the appearance of the wheels was as the colour of a beryl-stone.

10 And as for their appearances, they four had one likeness, as if a wheel had been in the midst of a wheel.

11 When they went, they went upon their four sides; they turned not as they went, but to the place whither the head looked they followed it; they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole [2] body, and their backs, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheels were full of eyes round about, even the wheels that they four had.

13 As for the wheels,[3] it was cried unto them in my hearing, O wheel!

14 And [g] every one had four faces: the first face was the face of a cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

15 And the cherubims were lifted up. This is the living creature [h] that I saw by the river of Chebar.

16 And when the cherubims went, the wheels went by them; and when the cherubims lift up their wings, to mount up from the earth, the same wheels also turned not from beside them.

17 When they stood, these stood; and when they were lifted up, these lift up themselves also: for the spirit of [4] the living creature was in them.

18 Then the glory of the LORD departed from off the threshold of the house, and stood [p] over the cherubims.

19 And the cherubims lift up their wings, and mounted up from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheels also were besides them; and every one stood at the door of the east gate of the LORD's house; and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.

20 This is the living creature that I saw under the God of Israel by the river of Chebar; and I knew that they were the cherubims.

21 Every one had four faces apiece, and every one four wings; and the likeness of the hands of a man was under their wings.

22 And the likeness of their faces was the same faces which I saw by the river of Chebar, their appearances and themselves: they went every one straight forward.

2 Then said he unto me, Son of man, these are the men that devise [a] mischief, and give wicked counsel, in this city;

3 Which say, It is not [1] near; [b] let us build houses: this city is the [c] caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, O son of man.

5 And the Spirit of the LORD fell upon me, and said unto me, Speak; [d] Thus saith the LORD, Thus have ye said, O house of Israel: for I know [e] the things that come into your mind, every one of them.

6 Ye have multiplied your slain [f] in this city, and ye have filled the streets thereof with the slain.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Your slain, whom ye have laid in the midst of it, they are the flesh, and this city is the caldron; but I will bring you forth out of the midst of it.

8 Ye have feared the sword; and I will bring a sword upon you, saith the Lord GOD.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, and deliver you into the hands of strangers, [i] and will execute judgments among [j] you.

10 Ye shall fall [k] by the sword: I will judge you in the border [l] of Israel; and ye shall know [m] that I am the LORD.

11 This city shall not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the midst thereof; but I will judge you in the border of Israel:

12 And ye shall know that I am the LORD: [5] for ye have not [n] walked in my statutes, neither [o] executed my judgments, but have done [q] after the manners of the heathen that are round about you.

13 And it came to pass, when I prophesied, that Pelatiah, [r] the son of Benaiah, died: then [s] fell I down upon my face, and cried with a loud voice, and said, Ah Lord GOD! wilt thou make a full end of the remnant of Israel?

14 Again the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

15 Son of man, thy brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel wholly, are they unto whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, Get ye far from the LORD; unto us is this land given in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Although [t] I have cast them far off among the heathen, and although I have scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them as a little [v] sanctuary in the countries where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, I [y] will even gather you from the people, and assemble you out of the countries where ye have been scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, [a] and they shall take away all the detestable things thereof, and all the abominations thereof, from thence.

19 And I will give them one [c] heart, and I will put a new [e] spirit within you; and I will take the stony [f] heart out of their flesh, and will give them an heart of flesh; [g]

20 That [h] they may walk in my statutes, and keep [i] mine ordinances, and do them: and [k] they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But as for them [m] whose heart walketh after the heart of their detestable things and their abominations, I will recompense [n] their way upon their own heads, saith the Lord GOD.

22 Then did the cherubims lift [p] up their wings, and the wheels besides them; and the glory of the God of Israel was over them above.

23 And the glory of the LORD went up from the midst of the city, and stood upon the mountain [t] which is on the east side of the city.

24 Afterwards the spirit took [u] me up, and brought me in vision by the Spirit of God into Chaldea, to them of the captivity: so the vision that I had seen went up from me.

25 Then I spake unto them of the captivity all [w] the things that the LORD had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

THE word of the LORD also came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a rebellious [x] house, which have [y] eyes to see, and see not; they have ears to hear, and hear not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore, thou son of man, prepare thee [3] stuff for removing, and remove by day in their sight; and thou shalt remove from thy place to another place in their sight; it may be [a] they will consider, though they be a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuff by day in their sight, as stuff for removing: and thou shalt go forth at even in their sight as [5] they that go forth into captivity.

5 Dig [6] thou through the wall in their sight, and carry out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou bear it upon thy shoulders, and carry it forth in the twilight: thou shalt cover thy face, that thou see not the ground; for I have set thee for a sign [e] unto the house of Israel.

7 And I did so as I was commanded: I brought forth my stuff by day, as stuff for captivity, and in the even I digged through [7] the wall with mine hand; I brought it forth in the twilight, and I bare it upon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the LORD unto me, saying,

9 Son of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said unto thee, What [a] doest thou?

10 Say [b] thou unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, This burden [d] concerneth the prince in Jerusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your sign: like as I have done, so shall it be done unto them: they shall [1] remove, and go [j] into captivity.

12 And the prince [l] that is among them shall bear upon his shoulder in the twilight, and shall go forth; they shall dig through the wall to carry out thereby: he shall cover his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net [o] also will I spread upon him, and he shall be taken [q] in my snare: and I will bring him to Babylon, to the land of the Chaldeans; yet shall he not see it, though he shall die [r] there.

14 And I will scatter [s] toward every wind all that are about him to help him, and all his bands; and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countries.

16 But [v] I will leave [2] a few men of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen whither they come; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

17 Moreover, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

18 Son of man, eat [z] thy bread with quaking, and drink thy water with trembling and with carefulness;

19 And say unto the people of the land Thus saith the Lord GOD of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with carefulness, and drink their water with astonishment, that her land may be [b] desolate from [4] all that is therein, because of the violence [c] of all them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited shall be laid waste, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

21 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

22 Son of man, what is that proverb that ye have in the land of Israel, saying, The days [d] are prolonged, and every vision faileth?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord GOD, I will make this proverb to cease, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Israel; but say unto them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every vision.

24 For there shall be no more any vain vision nor flattering divination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the LORD: I will speak and the word that I shall speak [a] shall come to pass; it shall be no more prolonged: for in your days, O rebellious house, will I say the word, and will perform it, saith the Lord GOD.

26 Again, the word of the LORD came to me, saying,

27 Son of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth is for many days [c] to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are far off.

28 Therefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, There shall none of my words be prolonged any more; but the word which I have spoken shall be [f] done, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XIII.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel, that prophesy, and say thou unto them that [1] prophesy out of their own [i] hearts, Hear ye the word of the LORD;

3 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Woe unto the foolish prophets, that [2] follow their own spirit, and [3] have seen nothing!

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes in the deserts.

5 Ye have not gone up into the [5] gaps, [j] neither [6] made up the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand [l] in the battle in the day [m] of the LORD.

6 They have seen vanity [n] and lying divination, saying, The LORD saith, and the LORD hath not sent them: and they have made others to hope that they would confirm the word.

7 Have ye not seen a vain vision, and have ye not spoken a lying divination, whereas ye say, The LORD saith it; albeit [q] I have not spoken?

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because ye have spoken vanity, and seen lies, [r] therefore, behold, I am against you, saith the Lord GOD.

9 And mine hand shall be upon the prophets that see vanity, and that divine lies: they [s] shall not be in the [8] assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing [t] of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land [v] of Israel; and ye shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

10 Because, even because they have seduced my people, saying, Peace, [w] and there was no peace; and one built up a wall, [11] and, lo, others daubed [z] it with untempered mortar:

11 Say unto them which daub it with untempered mortar, that it shall fall: there [b] shall be an overflowing shower; and ye, O great hail-stones, shall fall; and a stormy wind shall rent it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said unto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye have daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, I will even rent it with a stormy wind in my fury; and there shall be an overflowing shower in mine anger, and great hail-stones, [b] in my fury, to consume it.

14 So will I break down the wall that ye have daubed with untempered mortar, and bring it down to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discovered, and it shall fall, [d] and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof: and ye shall know [e] that I am the LORD.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that have daubed it with untempered mortar; and will say unto you, The wall is no more, neither they that daubed it;

16 To wit, the prophets of Israel, which prophesy [g] concerning Jerusalem, and which see visions of peace for her, [h] and there is no peace, saith the Lord GOD.

17 Likewise, thou son of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesy out of their own heart, and prophesy thou against them.

18 And say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Woe to the women that sew pillows to all arm-holes, [4] and make kerchiefs upon the head of every stature, to hunt souls. Will ye hunt [k] the souls of my people, and will ye save the souls alive that come unto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for [o] handfuls of barley, and for pieces of bread, to slay the souls that should not die, and to save the souls alive that should not live, by your lying to my people that hear [p] your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I am against your pillows, wherewith ye there hunt the souls [7] to make them fly; and I will tear them from your arms, and will let the souls go, even the souls that ye hunt to make them fly.

21 Your kerchiefs also will I tear, and deliver my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hand to be hunted; and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

22 Because with lies ye have made the heart of the righteous sad, whom I have not made sad, and [u] strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not return from his wicked way, [9] by promising [10] him life;

23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanity, [x] nor divine divinations: for I will deliver my people [y] out of your hand; and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

their face: should I [a] be inquired of at all by them?

4 Therefore speak unto them, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Every man of the house of Israel that setteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to the prophet, I the LORD will answer him that cometh according [c] to the multitude of his idols;

5 That I may take the house of Israel in their own heart, because they are all estranged from me through their idols.

6 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Repent, and turn yourselves [1] from your idols; and turn away your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which separateth himself from me, and setteth up his idols in his heart, and putteth the stumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to a prophet to inquire of him concerning me; I the LORD will answer him by myself.

8 And [j] I will set my face against that man, and will make him a sign [k] and a proverb, and I will cut him off [n] from the midst of my people; and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

9 And if the prophet be deceived when he hath spoken a thing, I [o] the LORD have deceived that prophet; and I will stretch out my hand upon him, and will destroy him from the midst of my people Israel.

10 And they shall bear the punishment of their iniquity: the punishment of the prophet shall be even as the punishment of him that seeketh unto him;

11 That the house of Israel may go no more astray [s] from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions; but that [t] they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord GOD.

12 The word of the LORD came again to me, saying,

13 Son of man, when the land sinneth against me by trespassing grievously, then will I stretch out mine hand upon it, and will break the staff [v] of the bread thereof, and will send famine upon it, and will cut off man and beast from it:

14 Though [w] these three men, [z] Noah, Daniel, [y] and Job, [z] were in it, they should deliver but their own souls by their righteousness, [a] saith the Lord GOD.

15 If I cause noisome beasts [b] to pass through the land, and they [5] spoil it, so that it be desolate, that no man may pass through because of the beasts:

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, What is the [r] vine-tree more than any tree, or than a branch which is among the trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any work? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast [u] into the fire for fuel; the fire devoureth both the ends of it, and the midst of it is burned. [3] Is it meet for any work?

5 Behold, when it was whole it was meet [4] for no work: how much less shall it be meet yet for any work when the fire hath devoured it, and it is burned?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, As the vine-tree among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire for fuel, so will I give the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them; they shall go out from one fire, and another [c] fire shall devour them; and [d] ye shall know that I am the LORD, when I set my face against them.

8 And I will make the land desolate, because they have [7] committed a trespass, saith the Lord GOD.

2 Son of man, cause [a] Jerusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord GOD unto Jerusalem, Thy [1] birth and thy nativity is of the land of Canaan; thy father [b] was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite

4 And as for thy nativity, in the day thou [c] wast born, thy navel was not cut, neither wast thou washed in the water [3] to supple thee: thou wast not salted at all, nor swaddled at all.

5 None eye pitied thee, to do any of these unto thee, to have compassion upon thee; but thou wast cast out in the open field, to the loathing of thy person, in the day that thou wast born.

6 And when I passed by thee, and saw thee [5] polluted in thine own blood, I said unto thee when thou wast in thy blood, Live; [e] yea, I said unto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Live.

7 I have [7] caused thee to multiply [g] as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou art come to [8] excellent ornaments: thy breasts [i] are fashioned, and thine hair is grown, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold, thy time was the time of love; and I spread [j] my skirt over thee, and covered thy nakedness: yea, I sware unto thee, and entered into a covenant [l] with thee, saith the Lord GOD, and thou becamest [m] mine.

9 Then washed I thee with [n] water: yea, I thoroughly washed away thy [10] blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oil.

10 I clothed thee also with broidered work, and shod thee with badgers' skin, and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I covered thee with silk.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thine hands, and a chain on thy neck.

12 And I put a jewel on thy [11] forehead, and ear-rings in thine ears, and a beautiful crown upon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou decked with gold and silver; and thy raiment [t] was of fine linen, and silk, and broidered work: thou didst eat [v] fine flour, and honey, and oil; and thou wast exceeding beautiful, [w] and thou didst prosper into a kingdom.

14 And thy renown went forth [x] among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect [y] through my [z] comeliness, which I had put upon thee, saith the Lord GOD.

15 But [a] thou didst trust in thine own beauty, and playedst the harlot [b] because of thy renown, and pouredst out thy fornications on every one that passed by; his it was.

16 And of thy garments thou didst take, and deckedst [c] thy high places with divers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon:

18 And tookest thy broidered garments, and coveredst them: and thou hast set mine oil and mine incense before them.

19 My meat also which I gave thee, fine flour, and oil, and honey, wherewith I fed thee, thou hast even set it before them for a [4] sweet savour: and thus it was, saith the Lord GOD.

20 Moreover, thou hast taken thy sons and [d] thy daughters, whom thou hast borne unto me, and these hast thou sacrificed unto them to [6] be devoured. Is this of thy whoredoms a small matter, 21 That thou hast slain [f] my children, and delivered them to cause them to pass through the fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and thy whoredoms thou hast not remembered the days of thy youth, [h] when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And it came to pass, after all thy wickedness, (woe, woe unto thee! saith the Lord GOD,)

24 That thou hast also built unto thee an eminent [9] place, and hast [k] made thee an high place in every street.

25 Thou hast built thy high place at every head [o] of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred, and hast opened thy feet to every one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredoms.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians [p] thy neighbours, great of flesh; and hast increased thy whoredoms, to provoke me to anger.

27 Behold, therefore, I have stretched out my hand over thee, and have diminished thine [q] ordinary food, and delivered thee unto the will of them, that [r] hate thee, the [12] daughters of the [s] Philistines, which are ashamed of thy lewd way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, [u] because thou wast unsatiable; yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast, moreover, multiplied thy fornication in the land of Canaan unto Chaldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weak is thine heart, saith the Lord GOD, seeing thou doest all these things, the work of an imperious [c] whorish woman;

31 In [13] that thou buildest thine eminent place in the head of every [d] way, and makest thine high place in every street; and hast not been as an harlot, in that thou scornest hire;

32 But as a wife that committeth adultery, which taketh strangers instead of her husband!

33 They give gifts to all whores; but thou [a] givest thy gifts to all thy lovers, and hirest [1] them, that they may come unto thee on every side for thy whoredom.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy whoredoms, whereas none followeth thee to commit whoredoms: and in that thou givest a reward, and no reward is given unto thee; therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, hear [d] the word of the LORD:

36 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because thy filthiness was poured out, and thy nakedness discovered [f] through thy whoredoms with thy lovers, and with all the idols of thy abominations, and by the blood [h] of thy children, which thou didst give unto them;

37 Behold, therefore, [i] I will gather all thy lovers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated; I will even gather them round about against thee, and will discover thy nakedness unto them, that they may see all thy nakedness.

38 And I will judge thee, [4] as women that break wedlock, [m] and shed blood, [n] are judged: and I will give thee blood in fury [q] and jealousy.

39 And I will also give thee into their hand, and they shall throw down thine eminent place, [r] and shall break down thy high places: they shall strip [s] thee also of thy clothes, and shall take [5] thy fair jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring up a company against [u] thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they shall burn [v] thine houses with fire, and execute judgments upon thee in the sight [z] of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou also shalt give no hire any more.

42 So will I make my fury towards thee to rest, and my jealousy shall depart from thee, and I will be quiet, and will be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not [y] remembered the days of thy youth, but hast fretted me in all these things; behold, therefore, I also will recompense [a] thy way upon thine head, saith the Lord GOD; and thou shalt not commit this lewdness above all thine abominations.

44 Behold, every one that useth proverbs shall use this proverb against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mother's daughter, that loatheth her husband and her children; and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which loathed their husbands and their children: your mother was an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, she and her daughters that dwell at thy left hand: and thy [2] younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom [b] and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their ways, nor done after their abominations, but as if [3] that were a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more [c] than they in all thy ways.

48 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, Sodom [e] thy sister hath not done, she nor her daughters, as thou hast done, thou and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom, pride, fulness [g] of bread, and abundance of idleness, was in her, and in her daughters, neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy.

50 And they were haughty, [j] and committed abomination before me: therefore I took them away [k] as I saw good.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed half of thy sins; but thou hast multiplied thine abominations more than they, and hast justified [l] thy sisters in all thine abominations which thou hast done.

52 Thou [o] also, which hast judged thy sisters, bear [p] thine own shame, for thy sins that thou hast committed more abominable than they: they are more righteous than thou; yea, be thou confounded also, and bear thy shame, in that thou hast justified thy sisters.

53 When I shall bring again [t] their captivity, the captivity of Sodom and her daughters, and the captivity of Samaria and her daughters, then will I bring again the captivity of thy captives in the midst of them;

54 That thou mayest bear thine own shame, and mayest be confounded [w] in all that thou hast done, in that thou art a comfort unto them.

55 When thy sisters, Sodom and her daughters, shall return to their former estate, and Samaria and her daughters shall return to their former estate, then thou and thy daughters shall return to your former estate.

56 For thy sister Sodom was not [6] mentioned [z] by thy mouth in the day of thy [7] pride, 57 Before thy wickedness was discovered, as at the time [b] of thy reproach of the daughters of [8] Syria, and all that are round about her, the daughters of the Philistines, which [9] despise [e] thee round about.

58 Thou hast borne [10] thy lewdness and thine abominations, saith the LORD.

59 For thus saith the Lord GOD, I will even deal with thee as [d] thou hast done, which hast despised the oath in breaking the covenant, [e]

CHAP. XVII.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, put forth a riddle, and speak a parable unto the house of Israel;

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, A great eagle [p] with great wings, long-winged, full of feathers, which had [3] divers colours, came unto Lebanon, and took the highest [q] branch of the cedar:

4 He cropped off the top of his young twigs, and carried it into a land of traffic; he set it in a city of merchants.

5 He took also of the seed of the land, and [4] planted it in a fruitful [e] field; he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow [t] tree;

6 And it grew, and became a spreading vine of low [v] stature, whose branches turned toward him, and the roots thereof were under him: so it became a vine, and brought forth branches, and shot forth sprigs.

7 There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers; and, behold, this vine did bend [x] her roots towards him, and shot forth her branches toward him, that he might water it by the furrows of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good [5] soil by great waters, that it might bring forth branches, and that it might bear fruit, that it might be a goodly vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull up the roots thereof, and cut off the fruit [b] thereof, that it wither? it shall wither in all the leaves of her spring, even without great power, or many people to pluck it up by the roots thereof.

10 Yea, behold, being planted, shall it prosper? shall it not utterly wither [c] when the east wind [f] toucheth it? it shall wither in the furrows where it grew.

11 Moreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

12 Say now to the rebellious [h] house, Know ye not what these things mean? tell them, Behold, the king of Babylon is come to Jerusalem and hath taken [i] the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babylon;

13 And hath taken of the king's seed, and made a covenant with him, and hath [1] taken an oath [c] of him: he hath also taken the mighty of the land:

14 That the kingdom might be [d] base, that it might not lift itself up, [2] but that by keeping of his covenant it might stand.

15 But [i] he rebelled against him, in sending his ambassadors into [j] Egypt, that they might give him horses and much people. Shall [m] he prosper? shall he escape that doeth such things? or shall he break the covenant, and be delivered?

16 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, surely in the place where the king dwelleth that made him king, whose oath he despised, and whose covenant he brake, even with him, in the midst of Babylon, he shall [n] die.

17 Neither [o] shall Pharaoh, with his mighty army and great company, make for him in the war, by casting up mounts, and building forts, to cut off many persons:

18 Seeing he despised the oath by breaking the covenant, when, lo, he had given his hand, [r] and hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, As I live, surely mine oath that he hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken, even it will I recompense upon his own head.

20 And I will spread my net [u] upon him, and he shall be taken in my snare; and I will bring him to Babylon, and will plead with him there for his trespass that he hath trespassed against me.

21 And all his fugitives with all his bands shall fall by the sword, and they that remain shall be scattered [w] towards all winds; and ye shall know that I the LORD have spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord GOD, I will also take of the highest [y] branch of the high cedar, and will set it; I will crop off from the top of his young twigs a tender [z] one, and will plant it upon an high mountain [a] and eminent:

23 In the mountain of the height of Israel will I plant it; and it shall bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a goodly cedar: and under it shall dwell all fowl [c] of every wing; in the shadow of the branches thereof shall they dwell.

24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the LORD have brought [d] down the high tree, have exalted the low tree, have dried up the green [g] tree, and have made the dry tree to flourish: I the LORD have spoken, and have done it.

fathers [a] have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge?

3 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel.

4 Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth it shall die.[d]

5 But if a man be just, and do [1] that which is lawful and right,

6 And [f] hath not eaten upon the mountains, neither hath lift up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbour's wife, neither hath come near to [j] a menstruous woman,

7 And hath not oppressed [k] any, but hath restored to the debtor his [l] pledge, hath spoiled none by violence, hath given his bread to the hungry, [o] and hath covered the naked with a garment;

8 He that hath not given forth upon usury, [q] neither hath taken any increase, that hath withdrawn his hand from iniquity, hath executed true [r] judgment between man and man,

9 Hath walked [t] in my statutes, and hath kept my judgments, to deal truly; he is just, he shall surely live, saith the Lord GOD.

10 If he beget a son that is a [2] robber, a [u] shedder of blood, and that doeth [3] the like to any one of these things,

11 And that doeth not any of those duties, but even hath eaten upon the mountains, and defiled his neighbour's wife,

12 Hath oppressed the poor and needy, hath spoiled by violence, hath not restored the pledge, and hath lift up his eyes to the idols, hath committed abomination,

13 Hath given forth upon usury, and hath aken increase: shall he then live? he shall not live: he hath done all these abominations; he shall surely die, his blood [4] shall be [v] upon him.

14 Now, lo, if he beget a son that seeth all his father's sins which he hath done, and considereth,[x] and doeth not such like,

15 That hath not eaten upon the mountains, neither hath lift up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, hath not defiled his neighbour's wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, hath not [b] withholden the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

17 That hath taken off his hand from the poor, that hath not received usury nor increase, hath executed my judgments, hath walked in my statutes; he shall not die for the iniquity of his father, he shall surely live.

18 As for his father, because he cruelly oppressed, spoiled his brother by violence, and did that which is not good among his people, lo, even he shall die in [e] his iniquity.

19 Yet say ye, Why? doth not [b] the son bear the iniquity of the father? When the son hath done that which is lawful and right, and hath kept all my statutes, and hath done them, he shall surely live.

20 The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son [c] shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son; the righteousness [c] of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness [g] of the wicked shall be upon him

21 But if the wicked will turn [h] from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep [i] all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

22 All [m] his transgressions that he hath committed, they shall not be [n] mentioned unto him: in his righteousness that he hath done he shall live.

23 Have I [p] any pleasure at all that the wicked should die? saith the Lord GOD; and not that he should return from his ways, and live?

24 But when the righteous turneth [s] away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and doeth according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he live? All his righteousness that he hath done shall not be mentioned: in his trespass that he hath trespassed and in his sin that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the LORD is not equal. Hear now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal? are not your ways unequal?

26 When a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and dieth in them; for his iniquity that he hath done, shall he die.

27 Again, when the wicked man turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive.

28 Because he considereth, [w] and turneth away from all his transgressions that he hath committed, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the LORD [y] is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my ways equal? are not your ways unequal?

30 Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his ways, saith the Lord GOD. Repent, [z] and turn [6] yourselves from all your transgressions; so iniquity shall not be your ruin.

31 Cast away [a] from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart [b] and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord GOD: wherefore turn [6] yourselves, and live ye.

CHAP. XIX.

MOREOVER, take thou up a lamentation [a] for the princes of Israel,

2 And say, What is thy mother? A lioness: she lay down among lions, she nourished her whelps among young lions.

3 And she brought up one of her whelps: it [d] became a young lion, and it learned to catch the prey; it devoured men.

4 The nations also heard of him; he was taken in their pit, and they brought him with chains unto the land of Egypt.

5 Now, when she saw that she had waited, and her hope was lost, then she took another of her whelps, and made him a young lion.

6 And he went up and down among the lions, he became a young lion, and learned to catch the prey, and devoured men.

7 And he knew their [3] desolate palaces, and he laid waste their cities; and the land was desolate, and the fulness thereof, by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the nations set against him on every side from the provinces, and spread their net over him: he was taken in their pit. [k]

9 And they put him in ward in chains, [4] and brought him to the king of Babylon; they brought him into holds, that his voice should no more be heard upon the mountains of Israel.

10 Thy mother is like a vine [n] in thy blood, [b] planted by the waters: she [o] was fruitful, and full of branches, by reason of many waters.

11 And she had strong rods for the sceptres of them that bare rule, and her stature was exalted among the thick branches, and she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked up in fury, she was cast down to the ground, and the east wind [t] dried up her fruit; her strong rods were broken and withered, the fire consumed them.

13 And now she is planted in the wilderness, in a dry [v] and thirsty ground.

14 And fire [x] is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath devoured [y] her fruit, so that she hath no [a] strong rod to be a sceptre to rule. This is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

AND it came to pass in the seventh year, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, that certain of the [c] elders of Israel came to inquire of the LORD, and sat before me.

3 Son of man, speak unto the elders of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Are ye come to inquire of me? As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will not [g] be inquired of by you

4 Wilt thou [1] judge them, son of man? wilt thou judge them? cause them to know [b] the abominations of their fathers;

5 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, In the day when I [c] chose Israel, and [2] lifted up mine hand unto the seed of the house of Jacob, and made myself known unto them in [e] the land of Egypt, when I lifted up mine hand unto them, saying, I am the LORD your God;

6 In the day that I lifted up mine hand unto them, to bring [f] them forth of the land of Egypt into a land that I had espied for them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory [g] of all lands;

7 Then said I [h] unto them, Cast ye away every man the abominations of his eyes, and defile not yourselves with the idols of Egypt: I am the LORD your God.

8 But [i] they rebelled against me, and would not hearken unto me: they did not every man cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idols of Egypt: then I said, I will [j] pour out my fury upon them, to accomplish my anger against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But [l] I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, in whose sight [m] I made myself known unto them, in bringing them forth out of the land of Egypt.

10 Wherefore I caused them to go forth [p] out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness:

11 And I gave them [q] my statutes, and shewed [6] them my judgments, which [r] if a man do, he shall even live in them.

12 Moreover also, I gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign [s] between me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD that sanctify them.

13 But the house of Israel [u] rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they despised my judgments, which if a man do, he shall even live in them; and my [w] sabbaths they greatly polluted: then I said, I would pour out my fury upon them in the wilderness, [z] to consume them.

14 But I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet also I lifted up my hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would [b] not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands;

16 Because they despised [d] my judgments, and walked not in my statutes, but polluted my sabbaths: for their heart [e] went after their idols.

17 Nevertheless [f] mine eye spared them from destroying them, neither did I make an end of them in the wilderness.

B. C. 594.

18 But I said [a] unto their children in the wilderness, Walk ye not in the statutes of your fathers, [c] neither observe their judgments, nor defile yourselves with their idols.

19 I [d] am the LORD your God; [e] walk in my statutes, and keep my judgments, and do them;

20 And hallow [h] my sabbaths; and they shall be a sign between me and you, that ye may know that I am the LORD your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children [j] rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, neither kept my judgments to do them, which if a man do, he shall even live in them; they [l] polluted my sabbaths: then I said, I would pour out my fury upon them, to accomplish my anger against them in the wilderness.

22 Nevertheless [n] I withdrew mine hand, and wrought for my name's [q] sake, that it should not be polluted in the sight of the heathen, in whose sight [s] I brought them forth.

23 I lifted up mine hand unto them also in the wilderness, that [u] I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countries;

24 Because they had not executed my judgments, but had despised my statutes, and had polluted my sabbaths, and their eyes [x] were after their fathers' idols.

25 Wherefore [y] I gave them also statutes that were not good, and judgments whereby they should not live:

26 And I polluted them in their [a] own gifts, in that they caused to pass through the fire all [d] that openeth the womb, that I might make them desolate, to the end that they might know that I am the LORD.

27 Therefore, son of man, speak unto the house of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Yet in this your fathers have blasphemed [f] me, in that they have [3] committed a trespass against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they saw every high [j] hill, and all the thick trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented the provocation [l] of their offering: there also they made their sweet savour, [n] and poured out there their drink-offerings.

29 Then I [5] said unto them, What is the high place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof is called Bamah unto this day.

30 Wherefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Are ye polluted after the manner of your fathers? [q] and commit ye whoredom after their abominations?

31 For when ye offer your gifts, when ye make your sons to pass through the fire, ye pollute yourselves with all your idols, even unto this day; [b] and shall I be inquired of by you, O house of Israel? As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will not be inquired of by you.

32 And that which cometh [f] into your mind shall not [g] be at all, that ye say, We will be as the heathen, as the families of the countries, to serve wood and stone.

33 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, surely [i] with a mighty hand, and with a stretched-out arm, and with fury poured out, will I rule over you;

34 And I will bring you out [k] from the people, and will gather you out of the countries wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched-out arm, and with fury poured out;

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness [m] of the people, and there will I plead [o] with you face to face. [p]

36 Like as I pleaded [r] with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord GOD.

37 And I will cause you to pass [t] under the rod, and I will bring you [1] into the bond of the covenant:

38 And I will purge out [v] from among you the rebels, and them that transgress against me: I will bring them forth out of the country where they sojourn, and they shall not [w] enter into the land of Israel; and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord GOD, Go [z] ye, serve ye every one his idols, and hereafter also, if ye will not hearken [b] unto me: [c] but pollute ye my holy name no more with your gifts, and with your idols.

40 For in mine holy mountain, [e] in the mountain of the height of Israel, saith the Lord GOD, there shall all the house of Israel, all of them in the land, serve me: there will I accept [f] them, and there will I require your offerings, and the [2] first-fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept you with your [4] sweet savour, [h] when I bring you out [i] from the people and gather you out of the countries wherein ye have been scattered; and I will be sanctified [k] in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know [m] that I am the LORD, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the country for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And [o] there shall ye remember your ways, and all your doings, wherein ye have been defiled; and ye shall [p] loathe yourselves in your own sight, for all your evils that ye have committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the LORD, when I have wrought with you for my name's sake, [r] not [s] according to 48 And all flesh shall see that I the LORD have kindled it: it shall not be quenched. [g]

CHAP. XXI.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face toward Jerusalem, and drop [h] thy word toward the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I am against thee, and will draw forth my sword out of his sheath, and will cut off from thee [i] the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword [k] go forth out of his sheath against all flesh from the south to the north;

5 That all flesh may know that I the LORD have drawn forth my sword out of his sheath: it shall not return [l] any more.

6 Sigh, [m] therefore, thou son of man, with the breaking of thy loins; and with bitterness sigh before their eyes.

7 And it shall be, when they say unto thee, Wherefore sighest thou? that thou shalt answer, For the tidings, [n] because it cometh: and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be feeble, and every spirit shall faint, and all knees shall [12] be weak as water: behold, it cometh, and shall be brought to pass, saith the Lord GOD.

8 Again, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

9 Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the LORD; Say, A sword, [r] a sword is sharpened, and also furbished:

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter: it is furbished that it may glitter: should we then make mirth? it [13] contemneth the rod of my son, as every tree.

11 And he hath given it to be furbished, that it may be handled: this sword is sharpened, and it is furbished, to give it into the hand of the [v] slayer.

13 Because [2] it is a trial, [c] and what if the sword contemn even the rod? it shall be no more, saith the Lord GOD.

14 Thou, therefore, son of man, prophesy, and smite [3] thine hands together, and let the sword be doubled the third time, the sword of the slain: it is the sword of the great men that are slain, which entereth into their privy chambers.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and I will cause my fury to rest: I the LORD have said it.

18 The word of the LORD came unto me again, saying,

19 Also, thou son of man, appoint thee two ways, that the sword of the king of Babylon may come: both twain shall come forth out of one land; and choose thou a place, choose it at the head of the way to the city.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath [j] of the Ammonites, and to Judah in Jerusalem the defenced.

21 For the king of Babylon stood at the parting [7] of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination: he made his [8] arrows bright, he consulted with images, [9] he looked in the liver.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Jerusalem, to appoint [10] captains, to open the mouth in the slaughter, to lift up the voice with shouting, to appoint battering rams against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fort.

23 And it shall be unto them as a false divination in their sight, [11] to them that have sworn oaths: but he will call to remembrance [o] the iniquity, that they may be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because ye have made your iniquity [p] to be remembered, in that your transgressions are discovered, so that in all [q] your doings your sins do appear; because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou, profane [s] wicked prince of Israel, whose day [t] is come, when iniquity shall have an end;

26 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Remove the diadem, and take off the crown; this shall not be the same: exalt [u] him that is low, and abase him that is high.

27 I [14] will overturn, overturn, overturn it; and it shall be no more, until he [a] come whose right it is; and I will give it him.

28 And thou, son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD concerning the Ammonites, and concerning their reproach; even say thou, The sword, the sword is drawn; for the slaughter it is furbished, to consume because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see vanity unto thee, whiles they divine a lie unto thee, to bring thee upon the necks of them that are slain, of the wicked, whose day is come, when their iniquity shall have an end.

30 Shall [3] I cause it to return into his sheath? I will judge thee in the place where thou wast created, in the land of thy nativity.

31 And I will pour out mine indignation upon thee; I will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of [4] brutish men, and skilful to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be for fuel to the fire; thy blood shall be in the midst of the land; thou shalt be no more remembered; for I the LORD have spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

MOREOVER, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Now, thou son of man, wilt [6] thou judge, wilt thou judge the [8] bloody city? yea, thou shalt [9] shew her all her abominations.

3 Then say thou, Thus saith the Lord GOD, The city sheddeth blood in the midst of it, that her time may come; and maketh idols against herself to defile herself.

4 Thou art become guilty in thy [h] blood that thou hast shed; and hast defiled thyself in thine idols, which thou hast made; and thou hast caused thy days to draw near, and art come even unto thy years: therefore have I made thee a reproach unto the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Those that be near, and those that be far from thee, shall mock thee, which art infamous [11] and much vexed.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel, every one were in thee to their [12] power to shed blood

7 In thee have they set light by father and mother; in the midst of thee have they dealt by [13] oppression with the stranger; in thee have they vexed the fatherless and widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast profaned my sabbaths.

9 In thee [n] are men [14] that carry tales to shed blood; and in thee they eat upon the mountains; in the midst of thee they commit lewdness;

10 In thee have they discovered their fathers' nakedness; in thee have they humbled her that was set apart for pollution.

11 And [1] one hath committed abomination with his neighbour's wife; and [1] another hath [2] lewdly defiled his daughter-in-law; and another in thee hath humbled his sister, his father's daughter.

12 In thee have they taken gifts to shed blood; thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greatly gained of thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten [b] me, saith the Lord GOD.

13 Behold, therefore, I have smitten mine hand at thy dishonest gain which thou hast made, and at thy blood which hath been in the midst of thee.

14 Can [c] thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the days that I shall deal with thee? I the LORD have spoken it, and will do it.

15 And I will scatter [d] thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countries, and will consume [e] thy filthiness out of thee.

16 And thou shalt [5] take thine inheritance in thyself in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

17 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, the house of Israel is to me become dross: [f] all they are brass, and tin, and iron, and lead, in the midst of the furnace; they are even the [7] dross [g] of silver.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because ye are all become dross, behold, therefore, I will gather you into the midst of Jerusalem.

20 As [10] they gather silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin, into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire upon it, to melt it; so [i] will I gather you in mine anger and in my fury, and I will leave you there, and melt you.

21 Yea, I will gather you, and blow upon you in the fire of my wrath, and ye shall be melted in the midst thereof.

22 As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall ye be melted in the midst thereof; and ye shall know that I the LORD have poured out [j] my fury upon you.

23 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

24 Son of man, say unto her, Thou art the land that is not cleansed, nor rained upon in the day of indignation.

25 There is a conspiracy [k] of her prophets in the midst thereof, like a roaring lion ravening the prey: they have devoured souls; [l] they have taken [m] the treasure and precious things; they have made her many widows in the midst thereof.

26 Her priests [o] have [15] violated my law, and have profaned mine holy things: they have put no difference [p] between the holy and profane, neither have they shewed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.

27 Her princes in the midst thereof are like wolves ravening the prey, to shed blood, and to destroy souls, to get dishonest gain.

28 And her prophets have daubed them with untempered mortar, seeing vanity, [b] and divining lies unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord GOD, when the LORD hath not spoken.

29 The people [c] of the land have used oppression, [2] and exercised robbery, and have vexed the poor and needy; yea, they have [c] oppressed the stranger [3] wrongfully.

30 And I sought [f] for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it; but I found [g] none.

31 Therefore have I poured out mine indignation upon them; I have consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own way [i] have I recompensed upon their heads, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXIII.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, there were two [j] women, the daughters of one mother;

3 And [l] they committed whoredoms in Egypt; they committed whoredoms in their youth: [m] there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginity.

4 And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister; and they were mine, and they bare sons and daughters. Thus were their names, Samaria [7] is Aholah, and Jerusalem [8] Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot when she was mine; and she doted on her lovers, on the Assyrians [n] her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blue, captains and rulers, all of them desirable young men, horsemen riding upon horses.

7 Thus she [9] committed her whoredoms with them, with all them that were the [10] chosen men of Assyria, and with all on whom she doted: with all their idols she defiled herself.

8 Neither left she her whoredoms brought from Egypt: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginity, and poured their whoredom upon her.

9 Wherefore I have delivered her into the hand [s] of her lovers, into the hand of the Assyrians, upon whom she doted.

10 These discovered her nakedness; they took her sons and her daughters, and slew her with the sword; and she became [11] famous among women; for they had executed judgment upon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, she [12] was more [u] corrupt in her inordinate love than she, and in her whoredoms more than [1] her sister in her whoredoms.

12 She doted upon the Assyrians [a] her neighbours, captains and rulers clothed most gorgeously, horsemen riding upon horses, all of them desirable young men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, that they took both one way;

14 And that she increased her whoredoms: for when she saw men pourtrayed upon [d] the wall, the images of the Chaldeans pourtrayed with vermilion,

15 Girded with girdles upon their loins, exceeding in dyed attire upon their heads, all of them princes to look to, after the manner of the Babylonians of Chaldea, the land of their nativity:

16 And,[4] as soon as she saw [h] them with her eyes, she doted upon them, and sent messengers unto them into Chaldea.

17 And the [5] Babylonians came to her into the bed of love, and they defiled her with their whoredom; and she was polluted with them, and her mind was alienated [6] from them.

18 So she discovered her whoredoms, and discovered her nakedness: then my mind was alienated [k] from her, like as my mind was alienated from her sister.

19 Yet she multiplied her whoredoms, in calling to remembrance the days of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted upon their paramours, whose flesh is as the flesh of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thus thou calledst to remembrance the lewdness of thy youth, in bruising thy teats by the Egyptians for the paps of thy youth.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I [o] will raise up thy lovers against thee, from whom [p] thy mind is alienated, and I will bring them against thee on every [q] side;

23 The Babylonians, and all the Chaldeans, Pekod, [r] and Shoa, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: all of them desirable young men, captains and rulers, great lords and renowned, all of them riding upon horses.

24 And they shall come against thee with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with an assembly of people, which shall set against thee buckler, and shield, and helmet, round about: and I will set judgment before them, and they shall judge thee according to their judgments.

25 And I will set my jealousy against thee, and they shall deal furiously [t] with thee: they shall take away thy nose and thine ears; and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall take thy sons and thy daughters; and thy residue shall be devoured by the fire

26 They [a] shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy [2] fair jewels.

27 Thus will I make thy lewdness to cease [d] from thee, and thy whoredom brought [e] from the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them whom thou hatest, into the hand of them from whom [f] thy mind is alienated:

29 And they shall deal with thee hatefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leave thee naked and bare; and the nakedness [g] of thy whoredoms shall be [h] discovered, both thy lewdness and thy whoredoms.

30 I will do these things unto thee, because [i] thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idols.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister; therefore will I give her cup into [l] thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Thou shalt drink of thy sister's cup deep and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorn [p] and had in derision; it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with drunkenness and sorrow, with the cup of astonishment and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt even drink [r] it, and suck it out, and thou shalt break the sherds thereof, and pluck off thine own breasts: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because thou hast forgotten [v] me, and [w] cast me behind thy back, therefore bear thou also thy lewdness and thy whoredoms.

36 The LORD said moreover unto me, Son of man, wilt thou [8] judge Aholah and Aholibah? yea, declare [x] unto them their abominations;

37 That they have committed adultery, and blood [y] is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery; and have also caused [a] their sons, whom they bare unto me, to pass for them through the fire, to devour them.

38 Moreover, this they have done unto me: they have defiled my sanctuary [c] in the same day, and have profaned my sabbaths.

39 For when they had slain their children to their idols, then they came the same day into my sanctuary to profane it; and, lo, thus have they done in the midst of [d] mine house.

40 And, furthermore, that ye have sent for men [10] to come from far, unto whom [e] a messenger was sent, and, lo, they came, for whom thou didst wash thyself, paintedst [h] thine eyes, and deckedst thyself with ornaments,

41 And sattest upon a [1] stately [b] bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense [c] and mine oil.

42 And a voice of a multitude being at ease was with her: and with the men of the [3] common sort were brought [4] Sabeans from the wilderness, which put bracelets upon their hands, and beautiful crowns upon their heads.

43 Then said I unto her that was old in adulteries, Will they now commit whoredoms [5] with her, and she with them?

44 Yet they went in unto her, as they go in unto a woman that [i] playeth the harlot; so went they unto Aholah and unto Aholibah, the lewd women.

45 And the righteous [k] men they shall judge them after the manner of adulteresses, and after the manner of women that shed blood; because they are adulteresses, and blood is in their hands.

46 For thus saith the Lord GOD, I [m] will bring up a company upon them, and will give them [6] to be removed [n] and [o] spoiled.

47 And the company shall stone them with stones, and [7] despatch them with their swords; they shall slay [q] their sons and their daughters, and burn up their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause lewdness to cease out [s] of the land, that [t] all women may be taught not to do after your lewdness.

49 And they shall recompense your lewdness upon you, and ye shall bear the [u] sins of your idols: and ye shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXIV.

AGAIN, in the ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day; the king of Babylon set himself against Jerusalem this same [z] day.

3 And utter a parable unto the rebellious house, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Set on a pot, [b] set it on, and also pour water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, the thigh, and the shoulder; fill it with the choice bones.

5 Take the choice of the flock, and burn [9] also the bones under it, and make it boil well, and let them seethe the bones of it therein.

6 Wherefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Woe to the bloody city, to the pot whose scum [f] is therein, and whose scum is not gone out of it! bring it out piece by piece; let no lot [g] fall upon it.

7 For her blood is in the midst of her; she set it upon the top of a rock; she poured it not upon the ground [a] to cover it with dust;

8 That it might cause [b] fury to come up to take vengeance; I have set her blood upon the top of a rock, that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Woe to the bloody [c] city! I will even make the pile of fire great.

10 Heap on [f] wood, kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and spice it well, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty upon the coals thereof, that the brass of it may be hot, and may burn, and that [h] the filthiness of it may be molten in it, that the scum of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied [i] herself with lies, and her great scum went not forth out of her: her scum shall be in the fire.

13 In thy filthiness is lewdness: because I have purged thee, and thou wast not [j] purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthiness any more, till I have caused my fury to rest [l] upon thee.

14 I the LORD have spoken it; it shall come to pass, and I will do it; I will [n] not go back, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy ways, and according to thy doings, shall they judge thee, saith the Lord GOD.

15 Also the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

16 Son of man, behold, I [o] take away from thee the desire of thine eyes with a stroke: yet neither shalt thou [p] mourn nor weep, neither shall thy tears [3] run down.

17 Forbear [4] to cry, make [q] no mourning for the dead, bind [r] the tire of thine head upon thee, and put on thy shoes upon thy feet, and cover not thy [5] lips, and eat not the bread of men.

18 So I spake unto the people in the morning; and at even [t] my wife died: and I did in the morning as I was commanded.

19 And the people said unto me, Wilt thou not tell us what these things are to us, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

21 Speak unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord GOD, behold, I will profane [u] my sanctuary, the excellency [v] of your strength, the desire [w] of your eyes, and that [10] which your soul pitieth; and your sons and your daughters whom ye have left shall fall [y] by the sword.

22 And ye shall do as I have done: ye shall not [z] cover your lips, nor eat [a] the bread of men.

23 And your tires shall be upon your heads, and your shoes upon your feet: ye shall not mourn [b] nor weep; but ye shall pine [c] away for your iniquities, and mourn one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is unto you a sign: according to all that he hath done shall ye do; and when [c] this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

25 Also, thou son of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their strength, [d] the joy of their glory, the desire of their eyes, and [1] that whereupon they set their minds, their sons and their daughters,

26 That he that escapeth in that day shall come unto thee, to cause thee to hear it with thine ears?

27 In that day [g] shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speak, and be no more dumb: and thou shalt be a sign unto them: and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXV.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, [k] and prophesy against them;

3 And say unto the Ammonites, Hear the word of the Lord GOD; thus saith the Lord GOD; Because [m] thou saidst, Aha, against my sanctuary, when it was profaned; and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate; and against the house of Judah, when they went into captivity:

4 Behold, therefore, I will deliver thee to the [2] men of the east for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drink thy milk.

5 And I will make Rabbah a stable for camels, and the Ammonites a couching-place for flocks; and [s] ye shall know that I am the LORD.

6 For thus saith the Lord GOD, Because thou hast clapped thine [6] hands, and stamped with the [7] feet, and rejoiced in heart [8] with all thy despite against the land of Israel;

7 Behold, therefore, I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee for [9] a spoil to the heathen; and I will cut thee off from the people, and I will cause thee to perish out of the countries: I will destroy thee; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

8 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because that Moab [x] and Seir do say, Behold, the house of Judah is like unto all the heathen;

9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side [11] of Moab from the cities, from his cities which are on his frontiers, the glory of the country, Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim,

10 Unto the men of the east [12] with the Ammonites, and will give them in possession, that the Ammonites may not be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute judgments upon

Moab; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

12 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because that Edom [a] hath dealt against the house of Judah by [2] taking vengeance, and hath greatly offended, and revenged himself upon them:

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, I will also stretch out mine hand upon Edom, and will cut off man and beast from it: and I will make it desolate from Teman; and they [4] of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will lay my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Israel; and they shall do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to my fury; and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord GOD.

15 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because the Philistines have dealt by revenge, and have taken vengeance with a despiteful heart, to destroy it [6] for the old hatred;

16 Therefore, thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand upon the Philistines, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the [7] sea-coast.

17 And I will execute great [8] vengeance upon them with furious rebukes; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall lay my vengeance upon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

AND it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, because that [t] Tyrus hath said against Jerusalem, Aha, [h] she is broken that was the gates of the people; she is turned unto me; I shall be replenished, now she is laid waste:

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I [m] am against thee, O Tyrus, and will cause many nations to come up against thee, as the sea [n] causeth his waves to come up.

4 And they shall destroy the walls of Tyrus, and break down her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rock.

5 It shall be a place for the spreading of nets in [p] the midst of the sea: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD; and it shall become a spoil to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field shall be slain by the sword; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

7 For thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will bring upon Tyrus Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, a king [r] of kings, from the north, with horses, and with chariots, and with horsemen, and companies, and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field; and he shall make a [t] fort against thee, and [1] cast a mount against thee, and lift up the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of war against thy walls, and with his axes he shall break down thy towers.

10 By reason of the abundance of his horses their dust shall cover thee: thy walls shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheels, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into thy gates, [3] as men enter into a city wherein is made a breach.

11 With the hoofs of his horses shall he tread down all thy streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and thy strong garrisons shall go down [b] to the ground.

12 And they shall make a spoil of thy riches, and make a prey of thy merchandise; and they shall break down thy walls, and destroy thy pleasant [5] houses: and they shall lay thy stones, and thy timber, and thy dust, in the midst of the water.

13 And [c] I will cause the noise of thy songs to cease; and the sound of thy harps shall be no more heard.

14 And I will make thee like the top of a rock; thou shalt be a place to spread nets upon; thou shalt be built no more: for I [d] the LORD have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.

15 Thus saith the Lord GOD to Tyrus, Shall not the isles shake at the sound [e] of thy fall when the wounded cry, when the slaughter is made in the midst of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come down from their thrones, and lay away [f] their robes, and put off their broidered garments: they shall clothe themselves with [9] trembling; they shall sit upon the ground, [i] and shall tremble [j] at every moment, and be [k] astonished at thee.

17 And they shall take up a lamentation [l] for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed that was inhabited [10] of seafaring men, the renowned city, which wast strong in the sea, she and her inhabitants, which cause their terror to be on all that haunt it!

18 Now shall the isles [o] tremble in the day of thy fall; yea, the isles that are in the sea shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord GOD, When I shall make thee a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited; when I shall bring up the deep upon thee, and great waters shall cover thee;

20 When I shall bring thee down with them that descend [q] into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, in places desolate of old, with them that go down to the pit, that thou be not inhabited; and I shall set glory in the land of the living;

21 I [s] will make thee [11] a terror, and thou shalt be no more: though [u] thou be sought for, yet shalt thou never be found again, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXVII.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Now, thou son of man, take up a lamentation [a] for Tyrus;

3 And say unto Tyrus, O thou that art situate at the entry of the sea, which art a merchant [c] of the people for many isles, Thus saith the Lord GOD, O Tyrus, thou hast said, I am [4] of perfect beauty.

4 Thy borders are in the [5] midst of the seas, thy builders have perfected thy beauty.

5 They have [6] made all thy ship boards of fir-trees of Senir: [f] they have taken cedars from Lebanon to make masts for thee.

6 Of the oaks [h] of Bashan have they made thine oars;[7] the [8] company of the Ashurites have made thy benches of ivory, brought out of the isles of Chittim.[i]

7 Fine linen, with broidered work from Egypt, was that which thou spreadest forth to be thy sail; [11] blue and purple from the isles of Elishah was that which covered thee.

8 The inhabitants of Zidon and Arvad were thy mariners: thy wise men, O Tyrus, that were in thee were thy pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal, [k] and the wise men thereof, were in thee thy [12] calkers: all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupy thy merchandise.

10 They of Persia, [n] and of Lud, and of Phut, were in thine army thy men of war: [o] they hanged the shield and helmet in thee; they set forth thy comeliness.

11 The men of Arvad, with thine army, were upon thy walls round about, and the Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields upon thy walls round about; they have made thy beauty perfect.

12 Tarshish [p] was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of all kind of riches: with silver, iron, tin, and lead, they traded in thy fairs.

13 Javan, [q] Tubal, and Meshech, they were thy merchants: they traded the [s] persons of men and vessels of brass in thy [16] market.

14 They of the house of [u] Togarmah traded in thy fairs with horses, and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants; many isles were the merchandise of thine hand: they brought thee for a present horns of ivory [x] and ebony.

16 Syria was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of [17] the wares of thy making: they occupied in thy fairs with emeralds, purple, and broidered work, and fine linen, and coral, and [z] agate.

17 Judah, and the land of Israel, they were thy merchants: they [a] traded in thy market wheat of Minnith [b] and Pannag, and honey, and oil, and [18] balm.[c]

20 Dedan [b] was thy merchant in [2] precious clothes for chariots.

21 Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar, [d] they [3] occupied with thee in lambs, and rams, and goats; in these were they thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba [e] and Raamah, they were thy merchants: they occupied in thy fairs with chief of all spices, and with all precious stones, and gold.

23 Haran, [g] and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Ashur, and Chilmad, were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in [9] all sorts of things, in blue [10] clothes, and broidered work, and in chests of rich apparel, bound with cords, and made of cedar, among thy merchandise.

25 The ships [j] of Tarshish did sing of thee in thy market; and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the midst of the seas.

26 Thy rowers have brought thee into great waters: the east wind [l] hath broken thee in the [13] midst of the seas.

27 Thy riches, [m] and thy fairs, thy merchandise, thy mariners, and thy pilots, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of war, that are in thee, [14] and in all thy company, which is in the midst of thee, shall fall into the midst of the seas in the day of thy ruin.

28 The [15] suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

29 And all that handle the oar, the mariners, and all the pilots of the sea, shall come down from their ships, they shall stand upon the land;

30 And shall cause their voice to be heard against thee, and shall cry [r] bitterly, and shall cast up dust upon their heads, they shall wallow themselves in the ashes:[t]

31 And they shall make themselves utterly bald [v] for thee, and gird them with sackcloth, [w] and they shall weep for thee with bitterness of heart and bitter wailing.

32 And in their wailing they shall take up a lamentation for thee, and lament over thee, saying, What city is like Tyrus, like the destroyed in the midst of the sea?

33 When thy wares went forth out of the seas, thou filledst many people; thou didst enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude [y] of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 In the time when thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise, and all thy company in the midst of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the isles shall be astonished at thee, and their kings shall be sore afraid, they shall be troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hiss[b] at thee; thou shalt be [1] a terror,[c] and [2] never shalt be any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, say unto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because thine heart is lifted up,[f] and thou hast said, I am a god, I sit in the seat of God, in the [3] midst of the seas; yet [g] thou art a man, and not God, though thou set thine heart [h] as the heart of God:

3 Behold, thou art wiser [i] than [k] Daniel; there is no secret that they can hide from thee:

4 With thy wisdom and with thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures:

5 By [5] thy great wisdom, and by thy traffic, hast thou increased [l] thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of [m] thy riches:

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because thou hast set thine heart as the heart of God;

7 Behold, therefore, I will bring strangers upon thee, the terrible [p] of the nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness.

8 They shall bring thee down to the pit, and thou shalt die the deaths of them that are slain in the midst of the seas.

9 Wilt thou yet say [t] before him that slayeth thee, I am God? but thou shalt be a man, and no god, in the hand of him that [6] slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the deaths of the uncircumcised [v] by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD.

11 Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

12 Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Thou sealest up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in [z] beauty.

13 Thou hast been in Eden the garden of GOD; every precious stone was thy covering, the [8] sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the [9] beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the [10] emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed [d] cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy mountain [e] of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till [e] iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God; and I will destroy thee, O covering Cherub,[d] from the midst of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty; thou hast corrupted [e] thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities, by the iniquity of thy traffic; [f] therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midst of thee, it shall devour thee; and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be [4] a terror, and never shalt thou be any more.

20 Again the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

21 Son of man, set thy face against Zidon,[n] and prophesy against it,

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold,[o] I am against thee, O Zidon; and I will be glorified [q] in the midst of thee: and they shall know [r] that I am the LORD, when I shall have executed judgments in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her [s] pestilence, and blood into her streets; and the wounded shall be judged in the midst of her by the sword upon her on every side; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

24 And there shall be no more a pricking brier [u] unto the house of Israel, nor any grieving thorn of all that are round about them that despised them; and they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

25 Thus saith the Lord GOD, When I shall have gathered [w] the house of Israel from the people among whom they are scattered and shall be sanctified [x] in them in the sight of the heathen, then [y] shall they dwell in their land that I have given to my servant [a] Jacob.

26 And they shall dwell [7] safely therein, and shall build [b] houses, and plant vineyards; yea, they shall dwell with confidence, when I have executed judgments upon all those that [11] despise [c] them round about them; and they shall know that I am the LORD their GOD.

CHAP. XXIX.

3 Speak, and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I am against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon [b] that lieth in the midst of his rivers, which hath said, My river is mine own, [c] and I have made it for myself.

4 But I will put hooks [d] in thy jaws, and I will cause the fish of thy rivers to stick unto thy scales: and I will bring thee up out of the midst of thy rivers, and all the fish of thy rivers shall stick unto thy scales.

5 And I will leave thee thrown into the wilderness, thee and all the fish of thy rivers: thou shalt fall upon the [1] open fields; thou [g] shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: I have given thee for meat to the beasts [h] of the field and to the fowls of the heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the LORD, because they have been a staff of reed [i] to the house of Israel.

7 When [j] they took hold of thee by thy hand, thou didst break, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned upon thee thou brakest, and madest all their loins to be at a [3] stand.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will bring a sword upon thee, and cut off man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate and waste; and they shall know that I am the LORD: because he hath [m] said, The river is mine, and I have made it.

10 Behold, therefore, I am against thee, and against thy rivers, [n] and I will make the land of Egypt [4] utterly waste and desolate, from [5] the tower of [6] Syene [p] even unto the border of Ethiopia.

11 No [7] foot of man shall pass through it, nor foot of beast shall pass through it, neither shall it be inhabited forty years.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities among the cities that are laid waste shall be desolate forty years: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

13 Yet [t] thus saith the Lord GOD, At the end of forty years will I gather the Egyptians from the people whither they were scattered:

14 And I will bring again the captivity of Egypt, and I will cause them to return into the land of Pathros, into the land of their [11] habitation; and [w] they shall be there a [12] base kingdom.

15 It shall be the basest of the kingdoms; neither shall it exalt itself any more above the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule over the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of [a] the house of Israel, which bringeth their iniquity to remembrance, when they shall look after them; but they shall know that I am the Lord GOD.

17 And it came to pass in the seven and twentieth year, in the first month, in the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, Nebuchadrezzar [e] king of Babylon caused his army to serve [f] a great service against Tyrus: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was peeled: yet had he no wages, nor his army, for Tyrus, for the service that he had served against it:

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon; and he shall take her multitude, and take [2] her spoil, and take her prey; and it shall be the wages for his army.

20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his [3] labour wherewith he served against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord GOD.

21 In that day will I cause the horn [k] of the house of Israel to bud forth, and I will give thee the opening of the mouth in the midst of them; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXX.

THE word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Howl ye, Woe worth the day!

3 For [o] the day is near, even the day of the LORD is near, a cloudy day; it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come upon Egypt, and great [7] pain shall be in Ethiopia, when the slain shall fall in Egypt, and they shall take away her multitude, and her foundations shall be broken down.

5 Ethiopia, and [8] Libya, and Lydia, and all the mingled [r] people, and Chub, and the [9] men of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the LORD, They also that uphold [s] Egypt shall fall; and the pride of her power shall come down: from the [10] tower of Syene [u] shall they fall in it by the sword, saith the Lord GOD.

7 And they shall be desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know [v] that I am the LORD, when I have set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be [13] destroyed.

9 In that day shall messengers [x] go forth from me in ships, to make the careless [y] Ethiopians afraid, and great pains shall come upon them, as in the day of Egypt: for, lo, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord GOD, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand [a] of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon.

11 He and his people with him, the terrible [d] of the nations, shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slain.

12 And [e] I will make the rivers [1] dry, and sell the land into the hand of the wicked; and I will make the land waste, and [2] all that is therein, by the hand of strangers: I the LORD have spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord GOD, I will also destroy their idols, [h] and I will cause their images to cease out of Noph; and there shall be no more a prince [j] of the land of Egypt: and I will put a fear in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros [l] desolate, and will set fire in [4] Zoan, [m] and will execute judgments in No.

15 And I will pour my fury upon Sin, [7] the strength of Egypt; and I will cut off the multitude of No. [o]

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall have great pain, and No shall be rent asunder, and Noph shall have distresses daily.

17 The young men of [9] Aven and of Phibeseth [11] shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captivity.

18 At Tehaphnehes [q] also the day shall be [12] darkened, when I shall break there the yokes of Egypt; and the pomp of her strength shall cease in her: as for her, a cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.

19 Thus will I execute judgments in Egypt; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

20 And it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first month, in the seventh day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

21 Son of man, I have broken [t] the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and, lo, it shall not be bound up [u] to be healed, to put a roller to bind it, to make it strong to hold the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will break [x] his arms, the strong, [y] and that which was broken; and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.

24 And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and put my sword in his hand: but I will break Pharaoh's arms, and he shall groan before him with the groans of a deadly-wounded man.

25 But I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, [c] and the arms of Pharaoh shall fall down; and they shall know

CHAP. XXXI.

AND it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the third month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, speak unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude; Whom [i] art thou like in thy greatness?

3 Behold, the Assyrian was a cedar [k] in Lebanon [3] with fair branches, and with a shadowy shroud, and of an high stature, and his top was among the thick boughs.

4 The waters [5] made him great, the [6] deep set him up on high with her rivers [n] running round about his plants, and sent out her little [8] rivers unto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches became long, because of the multitude of waters, when [10] he shot forth.

6 All the fowls [p] of heaven made their nests in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their young, and under his shadow dwelt all great nations.

7 Thus was he fair in his greatness, in the length of his branches: for his root was by great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden [r] of God could not hide him: the fir-trees were not like his boughs, and the chesnut-trees were not like his branches; not any tree in the garden of God was like unto him in his beauty.

9 I have made him fair [s] by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Because thou hast lifted up thyself [v] in height, and he hath shot up his top among the thick boughs, and his [w] heart is lifted up in his height;

11 I have, therefore, delivered him into the hand of the mighty one of the heathen; [13] he shall surely deal with him: I have driven him out for his wickedness. [z]

12 And strangers, the terrible [a] of the nations, have cut him off, and have left him: upon the mountains [b] and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the rivers of the land; and all the people of the earth are gone down from his shadow, and have left him.

13 Upon [d] his ruin shall all the fowls of the heaven remain, and all the beasts of the field shall be upon his branches:

14 To the end [a] that none of all the trees by the waters exalt themselves for their height, neither shoot up their top among the thick boughs, neither their trees [3] stand up in their height, all that drink water: for [c] they are all delivered unto death, to the nether parts of the earth, in the midst of the children of men, with [d] them that go down to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord GOD, In the day when he went down to the grave I caused a mourning. [e] I covered the deep for him, and I restrained the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed; and I caused Lebanon to [5] mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted for him.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him [j] down to hell with them that descend into the pit: and all the trees of Eden, the choice and best of Lebanon, all that drink water, shall be comforted [l] in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went down into hell with him, unto them that be slain with the sword; and they that were his arm, that dwelt [n] under his shadow in the midst of the heathen.

18 To whom [o] art thou thus like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Eden? yet shalt thou be brought down with the trees of Eden unto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt lie in the midst of the uncircumcised [p] with them that be slain by the sword. This is Pharaoh, and all his multitude, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXXII.

AND it came to pass in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, in the first day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, take up a [t] lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say unto him, Thou art like a young lion [v] of the nations, and thou art as a [7] whale in the seas; and thou camest forth with thy rivers, and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and fouledst [x] their rivers.

3 Thus saith the Lord GOD, I will therefore, spread [z] out my net over thee with a company of many people; and they shall bring thee up in my net.

4 Then [a] will I leave thee upon the land, I will cast thee forth upon the open field, and [b] will cause all the fowls of the heaven to remain upon thee, and I will fill the beasts of the whole earth with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh upon the mountains, and fill the valleys with thy height.

6 I will also water with thy blood [8] the land [9] wherein thou swimmest, even to the mountains; and the rivers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall [10] put thee out, I [g] will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light.

8 All the [1] bright lights of heaven will I make [2] dark over thee, and set darkness [b] upon thy land, saith the Lord GOD.

9 I will also [4] vex the hearts of many people, when I shall bring the destruction among the nations, into the countries which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people [e] amazed at thee, and their kings shall be horribly afraid for thee, when I shall brandish my sword [f] before them; and they shall tremble at every moment, every man for his own life, in the day of thy fall.

11 For [h] thus saith the Lord GOD, The sword of the king of Babylon shall come upon thee.

12 By the swords [i] of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall, the terrible of the nations, all of them; and [k] they shall spoil the pomp of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be destroyed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from beside the great waters; [m] neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofs of beasts trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deep, and cause their rivers to run like oil, saith the Lord GOD.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the country shall be [6] destitute of that whereof it was full, when I shall smite all them that dwell therein, then shall they know [q] that I am the LORD.

16 This [r] is the lamentation [s] wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her; they shall lament for her, even for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord GOD.

17 It came to pass also in the twelfth year, in the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

18 Son of man, wail [u] for the multitude of Egypt, and cast [w] them down, even her, and the daughters of the famous nations, unto the nether parts of the earth, with them that go down into the pit.

19 Whom dost thou pass in beauty? go [y] down, and be thou laid with the uncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the midst of them that are slain by the sword; [8] she is delivered to the sword: draw her and all her multitudes.

21 The strong [c] among the mighty shall speak to him out of the midst of hell [d] with them that help him: they are gone down, they lie uncircumcised, slain by the sword.

22 Ashur is there, and all her company: his graves are about him; all of them slain, fallen by the sword:

23 Whose graves are set in the [f] sides of the pit, and her company is round about her grave: all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which [h] caused terror [11] in the land of the living

24 There is Elam [a] and all her multitude round about her grave; all of them slain, fallen by the sword, which are gone down uncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused their terror in the land of the living; yet have they borne their shame [d] with them that go down to the pit.

25 They have set her a bed in the midst of the slain with all her multitudes; her graves are round about him; all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword: though their terror [e] was caused in the land of the living, yet have they borne their shame with them that go down to the pit: he is put in the midst of them that be slain.

26 There is Meshech, [i] Tubal, and all her multitude: her graves are round about him; all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword, though they caused their terror in the land of the living.

27 And [l] they shall not lie with the mighty that are fallen of the uncircumcised, which are gone down to hell with [1] their weapons of war; and they have laid their swords under their heads; but their iniquities [n] shall be upon their bones, though they were the terror of the mighty in the land of the living.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the midst of the uncircumcised, and shalt lie with them that are slain with the sword.

29 There is Edom, [r] her kings, and all her princes, which with their might are laid [2] by them that were slain by the sword: they shall lie with the uncircumcised, and with them that go down to the pit.

30 There be the princes of the [t] north, all of them, and all the Zidonians, [u] which are gone down with the slain; with their terror they are ashamed of their might; and they lie uncircumcised with them that be slain by the sword, and bear their shame with them that go down to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and shall be comforted [y] over all his multitude, even Pharaoh and all his army slain by the sword, saith the Lord GOD.

32 For I have caused my [z] terror in the land of the living; and he shall be laid in the midst of the uncircumcised with them that are slain with the sword, even Pharaoh, and all his multitude, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XXXIII.

AGAIN the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, speak to the children of thy people, and say unto them, [4] When I bring [c] the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts, and set him for their watchman: [g]

3 If, when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people;

4 Then [5] whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet, and taketh not warning: if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head.

5 He heard [b] the sound of the trumpet, and took not warning, his blood [c] shall be upon him: but he that taketh warning shall deliver his soul.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.

7 So thou, O son of man, I have set thee [f] a watchman unto the house of Israel; therefore [g] thou shalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn [h] them from me.

8 When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou [j] shalt surely die; if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; [k] but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die [m] in his iniquity; but thou [o] hast delivered thy soul.

10 Therefore, O thou son of man, speak unto the house of Israel, Thus ye speak, saying, If our transgressions and our sins be upon us, and we pine [p] away in them, how [q] should we then live?

11 Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I [s] have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live; turn ye, turn ye, from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

12 Therefore, thou son of man, say unto the children of thy people, The righteousness [v] of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his transgression: as for the wickedness of the wicked, he [w] shall not fall thereby in the day that he turneth from his wickedness; neither shall the righteous be able to live for his righteousness [x] in the day that he sinneth.

13 When I shall say to the righteous, that he shall surely live; if he trust to his own [a] righteousness, and commit iniquity, all his righteousness shall not be remembered; but for his iniquity that he hath committed, he shall die for it.

14 Again, when I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; if [b] he turn from his sin, and do [3] that which is lawful and right;

15 If the [c] wicked restore the pledge, give again [d] that he hath robbed, walk in the statutes [f] of life, without committing iniquity: he shall surely live, he shall not die.

16 None [h] of his sins that he hath committed, shall be mentioned unto him: he hath done that which is lawful and right; he shall surely live.

17 Yet the children of thy people say,

The way of the LORD is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal.

18 When the righteous turneth [a] from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall even die thereby.

19 But if the wicked turn from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby.

20 Yet [c] ye say, The way of the LORD is not equal. O ye house of Israel, I will judge you every one [d] after his ways.

21 And it came to pass in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, that [e] one that had escaped out of Jerusalem came unto me, saying, The city is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the LORD was upon me in the evening, afore he that was escaped came, and had opened my mouth, until he came to me in the morning, and my mouth was opened, and I was no more dumb.

23 Then the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

24 Son of man, they that inhabit those wastes of the land of Israel speak, saying, Abraham [l] was one, and he inherited the land: but we are many; the land is given us for inheritance.

25 Wherefore say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Ye eat with the blood, and lift up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood: and shall ye [q] possess the land?

26 Ye stand upon your sword, ye work abomination, and ye defile every one his neighbour's wife: and shall ye possess the land?

27 Say thou thus unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD; As I live, surely they that are in the wastes shall fall by the sword, and him that is in the open field will I give to the beasts to [2] be devoured, and they that be in the forts and in the caves shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land [3] most desolate, [t] and the pomp of her strength shall cease; and the mountains [u] of Israel shall be desolate, that none shall pass through.

29 Then shall they know that I am the LORD, when I have laid the land most desolate because of all their abominations which they have committed.

30 Also, thou son of man, the children of thy people still are talking [4] against thee by the walls and in the doors of the houses, and speak one to another, every one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and hear what is the word that cometh forth from the LORD.

31 And they come [y] unto thee [6] as the people cometh, and [7] they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for [z] with their mouth they [8] shew much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness.

32 And, lo, thou art unto them as a [9] very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not.

33 And when this cometh to pass, (lo, it will come,) then [b] shall they know that a prophet hath been among them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD unto the shepherds, Woe [f] be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves! should not the shepherds feed the flocks?

3 Ye [g] eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill [h] them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock.

4 The [i] diseased have ye not strengthened, neither have ye healed that which was sick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye sought [j] that which was lost; but with force [k] and with cruelty have ye ruled them.

5 And [m] they were scattered, [1] because [n] there is no shepherd: and they became meat [o] to all the beasts of the field when they were scattered.

6 My sheep wandered [p] through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was scattered [r] upon all the face of the earth, and none did search or seek after them.

7 Therefore, ye shepherds, hear the word of the LORD;

8 As I live, saith the Lord GOD, surely because my flock became a prey, and my flock became meat to every beast of the field, because there was no shepherd, neither did my shepherds search for my flock, but the shepherds fed [s] themselves, and fed not my flock:

9 Therefore, O ye shepherds, hear the word of the LORD;

10 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I am against the shepherds; and I will require [v] my flock at their hand, and cause them to cease [w] from feeding the flock; neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more: for I will deliver my flock from their mouth, that they may not be meat for them.

11 For thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek [x] them out.

12 [5] As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered; so will I seek out my sheep, and will deliver them out of all places where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark [a] day.

13 And [b] I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Israel by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I [a] will feed them in good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there [c] shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel.

15 I will feed [d] my flock, and I will cause them to lie down, saith the Lord GOD.

16 I will seek [e] that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick: but I will destroy [f] the fat and the strong; I will feed them with judgment. [h]

17 And as for you, O my flock, thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I judge between [3] cattle and cattle, between [i] the rams and the [4] he-goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing unto you to have eaten up the good pasture, but ye must tread down [l] with your feet the residue of your pastures? and to have drunk of the deep waters, but ye must foul the residue with your feet?

19 And as for my flock, they eat that which ye have trodden with your feet; and they drink that which ye have fouled with your feet.

20 Therefore, thus saith the Lord GOD unto them, Behold I, even I, will judge between the fat cattle and between the lean cattle.

21 Because ye have thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the [p] diseased with your horns, till ye have scattered them abroad;

22 Therefore will I save my flock, and they shall no more be a prey; and I will judge between cattle and cattle.

23 And I will set up one [s] Shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant David; he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepherd.

24 And I [u] the LORD will be their God, and my servant David a prince [v] among them; I the LORD have spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the evil beasts [x] to cease out of the land; and they shall dwell safely [y] in the wilderness, and sleep in the woods.

26 And I will make them, [a] and the [b] places round about my hill, a blessing; and I will cause the shower to come down in his season: there shall be showers of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shall yield her fruit, and the earth shall yield her increase, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the LORD, when I have broken the bands of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hand of those that served themselves of them.

CHAP. XXXV.

MOREOVER, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against mount Seir, [j] and prophesy [k] against it,

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, O mount Seir, I am against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee [5] most desolate

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD.

5 Because thou hast had a [6] perpetual hatred, and hast [7] shed the blood of the children of Israel by the [8] force of the sword in the time of their calamity, in the time that their iniquity had an [m] end:

6 Therefore, [n] as I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: sith [o] thou hast not hated blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir [9] most desolate, and cut off from it him [q] that passeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountains [r] with his slain men: in thy hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers shall they fall that are slain with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolations, and thy cities [t] shall not return; and ye shall know that I am the LORD.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countries, shall be mine, and we will possess it, [10] whereas the LORD [w] was there:

11 Therefore, as I live, saith the Lord GOD, I will even do according [z] to thine anger, and according to thine envy, which thou hast used out of thy hatred against them; and I will make myself known amongst them, when I have judged thee.

12 And thou shalt know that I am the LORD, and that I have heard [c] all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountains of Israel, saying, They are laid desolate, they are given us [d] to [11] consume.

13 Thus with your mouth ye have [12] boasted against me, and have multiplied [e] your words against me: I have heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord GOD, When the [b] whole earth rejoiceth, I will make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst rejoice at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Se'ir, and all Idumea, even all of it; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXVI.

ALSO, thou son of man, prophesy unto the mountains of Israel, and say, Ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD.

2 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because the enemy had said against you, Aha, even the ancient high [f] places are ours in [g] possession;

3 Therefore prophesy and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, [2] Because they have made you desolate, and swallowed you up on every side, that ye might be a possession unto the residue of the heathen, and ye are taken [3] up [i] in the lips of talkers, and are an infamy of the people:

4 Therefore, ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord GOD: Thus saith the Lord GOD to the mountains and to the hills, to the [4] rivers and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes and to the cities that are forsaken, which became a prey [l] and derision [m] to the residue of the heathen that are round about;

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Surely in the fire [n] of my jealousy have I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea [p] which have appointed [q] my land into their possession with the joy of all their heart, with despiteful minds, to cast it out for a prey.

6 Prophesy, therefore, concerning the land of Israel, and say unto the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I have spoken in my jealousy and in my fury, because ye have borne the [u] shame of the heathen.

7 Therefore, thus saith the Lord GOD, I have lifted [w] up mine hand, Surely the heathen that are about you, they shall bear their shame.

8 But ye, O mountains [x] of Israel, ye shall shoot forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people of Israel; for they are at hand to come.

9 For, behold, I am for you, and I will turn unto [a] you and ye shall be tilled and sown.

10 And I will multiply men upon you, all the house of Israel, even all of it: and the cities shall be inhabited, and the [d] wastes shall be builded:

11 And [f] I will multiply upon you man and beast; and they shall increase and bring fruit; and I will settle you after your old estates, and will do better [i] unto you than at your beginnings; and ye shall know [a] that I am the LORD.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walk upon you, even my people Israel; and [e] they shall possess thee, and thou shalt be their inheritance, and thou shalt no more henceforth bereave them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because they say unto you, Thou land devourest up [d] men, and hast bereaved thy nations;

14 Therefore thou shalt devour men no more, neither [1] bereave thy nations any more, saith the Lord GOD.

15 Neither will I cause men to hear in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou bear the reproach [e] of the people any more, neither shalt thou cause the nations to fall any more, saith the Lord GOD.

16 Moreover, the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

17 Son of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their own land, they defiled [k] it by their own way, and by their doings: their way was before me as the uncleanness [j] of a removed woman.

18 Wherefore I poured my fury upon them for the blood [k] that they had shed upon the land; and for their idols wherewith they had polluted it:

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countries: according to their way, and according to their doings, I judged them.

20 And when they entered unto the heathen, whither they went, they [o] profaned my holy name, when they said to them, These are the people of the LORD, and are gone forth out of his land.

21 But I had pity for mine holy [r] name, which the house of Israel had profaned among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord GOD, I do not this for your [s] sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine [t] holy name's sake, which ye have profaned among the heathen whither ye went.

23 And [v] I will sanctify my great name which was profaned among the heathen, which ye have profaned in the midst of them; and the heathen shall know that I am the LORD, saith the Lord GOD, when I shall be sanctified in you [y] before their [5] eyes.

24 For [z] I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your own land.

25 Then [b] will I sprinkle clean [c] water upon you, and ye shall be clean: from all your filthiness, [e] and from all your idols, will I cleanse you.

26 A new heart [g] also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you; and I will take away the stony [h] heart out of your flesh, and I will give you an heart of flesh [j]

27 And I will put my Spirit [a] within you, and cause you to walk [c] in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments, and do them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; and ye shall be my people, [e] and I will be your God.

29 I will also save [f] you from all your uncleannesses; and I will call [g] for the corn, and will increase it, and lay no famine upon you.

30 And I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increase of the field, that ye shall receive no more reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember [i] your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and shall loathe [j] yourselves in your own sight, for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Not [l] for your sakes do I this, saith the Lord GOD, be it known unto you: be ashamed and confounded for your own ways, O house of Israel.

33 Thus saith the Lord GOD, In the day that I shall have cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will also cause you to dwell [p] in the cities, and the wastes shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay desolate in the sight of all that passed by.

35 And they shall say, This land that was desolate is become like the garden of Eden; [q] and the waste, and desolate, and ruined cities, are become fenced, and are inhabited.

36 Then the heathen, that are left round about you, shall know that I the LORD build the ruined places, and plant that that was desolate: I the LORD have spoken it and I will do [t] it.

37 Thus saith the Lord GOD, I will yet for this be inquired of [u] by the house of Israel [v] to do it for them; I will increase them with men like a flock.

38 As the [2] holy flock, as the flock of Jerusalem in her solemn feasts, so shall the waste cities be filled with flocks of men; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXVII.

THE hand of the LORD was upon me, and carried me out in the Spirit [x] of the LORD, and set me down in the midst of the valley which was full of bones,

2 And caused me to pass by them round about: and, behold, there were very many in the open [3] valley; and, lo, they were very dry.

3 And he said unto me, Son of man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord GOD, thou [z] knowest.

4 Again he said unto me, Prophesy upon these bones, and say unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the word of the LORD.

5 Thus saith the Lord GOD unto these bones, Behold, I will cause [b] breath to enter into you, and ye shall live:

6 And I will lay sinews upon you, and will bring up flesh upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and ye shall live; and ye shall [d] know that I am the LORD.

7 So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied there was a [n] noise, and, behold, a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinews and the flesh came up upon them, and the skin covered them above; but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he unto me, Prophesy unto the [1] wind, prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lord GOD, [k] Come from the four winds, O breath, and breathe upon these slain, that they may live.

10 So I prophesied, as he commanded me, and the breath came [m] into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army.

11 Then he said unto me, Son of man, these bones are the whole [n] house of Israel: behold they say, [o] Our bones are dried, and our hope is lost; we are cut off for our parts.

12 Therefore [q] prophesy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, O my people, I [r] will open your graves, and cause you to come up out of your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And ye shall know that I am the LORD, when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your graves, 14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and ye shall live; and I shall place you in your own land: then shall ye know that I the LORD have spoken it, and performed it, saith the LORD.

15 The word of the LORD came again unto me, saying,

16 Moreover, thou son of man, take thee one stick, and write upon it. For Judah, and for the children of Israel [w] his companions: then take another stick, and write upon it, For Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, and for all the house of Israel his companions:

17 And join them one to another into one stick; and they shall become one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speak unto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew us what thou meanest by these?

19 Say [y] unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will take the stick of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the stick of Judah, and make them one stick, and they shall be one in mine hand.

20 And the sticks whereon thou writest shall be in thine hand before their eyes.

21 And say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land:

22 And [b] I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms, any more at all;

23 Neither [f] shall they defile themselves any more with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions: but I [h] will save them out of all their dwelling-places wherein they have sinned, and will cleanse [i] them: so [j] shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And David [k] my servant shall be king over them: and they all shall have [l] one shepherd: they shall also walk [m] in my judgments, and observe [o] my statutes, and do them.

25 And they shall dwell in the land that I have given unto Jacob my servant, wherein your fathers have dwelt; and they shall dwell therein, even they and their children, and their children's children, for ever; [p] and my servant David shall be their prince for ever.[q]

26 Moreover, I will make a covenant of peace [s] with them; it shall be an everlasting covenant [t] with them: and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary [u] in the midst of them for evermore.

27 My tabernacle [v] also shall be with them; yea, I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 And the heathen shall know that I the LORD do sanctify Israel, when my sanctuary shall be in the midst of them for evermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

AND the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

2 Son of man, set thy face against [y] Gog, the land of Magog, [5] the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesy against him,

3 And say, Thus [a] saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I am against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal:

4 And I will turn thee back, and put [b] hooks into thy jaws, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine army, horses and horsemen, all of them clothed [c] with all sorts of armour, even a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords.

5 Persia, Ethiopia, and [7] Libya with them; all of them with shield and helmet:

6 Gomer, [e] and all his bands; the house of Togarmah [f] of the north quarters, and all his bands; and many people with thee.

7 Be thou prepared, [h] and prepare for thyself thou, and all thy company that are assembled unto thee, and be thou a guard unto them.

8 After many days thou shalt be visited. [n] in the latter years thou shalt come into the land that is brought back from the sword, and is gathered out of many people, against the mountains [c] of Israel, which have been always waste: but it is brought forth [d] out of the nations, and they shall dwell safely all [e] of them.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come like a storm; thou shalt be like a cloud to cover the land, thou and all thy bands, [g] and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord GOD, It shall also come to pass, that at the same time shall things come into thy mind, and thou shalt [1] think an evil thought:

11 And thou shalt say, I will go up to the land of unwalled villages; I will go to them [n] that are at rest, that dwell [2] safely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates,

12 To [3] take a spoil, and to take a prey; to turn thine hand upon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and upon the people that are gathered out of the nations, which have gotten cattle and goods, that dwell in the [4] midst of the land.

13 Sheba, and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish, with all the young [r] lions thereof, shall say unto thee, Art thou come to take a spoil? hast thou gathered thy company to take a prey? to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, to take a great spoil?

14 Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say unto Gog, Thus saith the Lord GOD, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safely, [w] shalt thou not know [x] it.

15 And thou shalt come from thy place out of the north parts, thou, and many people with thee, all of them riding upon horses, a great company, and a mighty army:

16 And thou shalt come up against my people of Israel as a cloud to cover the land; it shall be in the latter days, and I will bring thee against my land, that [z] the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Art thou he of whom I have spoken in old time [6] by my servants the prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those days many years that I would bring thee against them?

18 And it shall come to pass at the same time, when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord GOD, that my fury shall come up in my face.

19 For in my jealousy, [d] and in the fire of my wrath, have I spoken, Surely in that day [g] there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel;

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowls of the heaven, and the beasts of the field, and all creeping things that creep upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the face of the earth, shall shake at my presence; and the mountains shall be thrown down, and the [2] steep places shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.

21 And I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountains, saith the Lord GOD: every man's sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will plead against him with pestilence and with blood; and I will rain upon him, and upon his bands, and upon the many people that are with him, an overflowing rain, and great hail-stones, [c] fire and brimstone.

23 Thus will I magnify myself, and sanctify myself; and I will be known in the eyes of many nations; and they shall know that I am the LORD.

CHAP. XXXIX.

THEREFORE, thou son of man, prophesy against Gog, [d] and say, Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I am against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal:

2 And I will turn thee back, and [6] leave but the sixth part of thee, and will cause thee to come up from the [8] north parts, and will bring thee upon the mountains of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bow out of thy left hand, and will cause thine arrows to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall upon the mountains of Israel, thou, and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: I will give thee unto the ravenous birds [e] of every [11] sort, and to the beasts of the field, to [12] be devoured.

5 Thou shalt fall upon the [14] open field; for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire [i] on Magog, and among them that dwell [15] carelessly in the isles; [j] and they shall know that I am the LORD.

7 So will I make my holy name known in the midst of my people Israel; and I will not let them pollute my holy name [l] any more; and the heathen shall know that I am the LORD, the Holy One in Israel.

8 Behold, it [m] is come, and it is done, saith the Lord GOD; this is the day whereof I have spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel shall go forth, and shall set on fire and burn the weapons, both the shields and the bucklers, the bows and the arrows, and the [16] hand-staves and the spears, and they shall [17] burn [r] them with fire seven years,

10 So that they shall take no wood out of the field, neither cut down any out of the forests; for they shall burn the weapons with fire: and they shall spoil [t] those that spoiled them, and rob those that robbed them, saith the Lord GOD.

11 And it shall come to pass at that day, that I will give unto Gog a place there of graves in Israel, the valley of the passengers on the east of the sea; and it shall stop the noses [1] of the passengers: and there shall they bury Gog, and all his multitude; and they shall call it, The valley of [3] Hamon-gog.

12 And seven months shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse [a] the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall bury them; and it shall be to them a renown, the day that I [b] shall be glorified, saith the Lord GOD.

14 And they shall sever out men [4] of continual employment, passing through the land to bury with the passengers those that remain upon the face of the earth, to cleanse it: after the end of seven months shall they search.

15 And the passengers that pass through the land, when any seeth a man's bone, then shall he [5] set up a sign by it, till the buriers have buried it in the valley of Hamon-gog.

16 And also the name of the city shall be [7] Hamonah. Thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou son of man, thus saith the Lord GOD, Speak [9] unto every feathered fowl, [e] and to every beast of the field, Assemble yourselves, and come, gather yourselves on every side to my [10] sacrifice [f] that I do sacrifice for you, even a great sacrifice upon the mountains of Israel, that ye may eat flesh, and drink blood.

18 Ye shall eat the flesh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams, of lambs, and of [13] goats, of bullocks, all of them fatlings of [h] Bashan.

19 And ye shall eat fat till ye be full, and drink blood till ye be drunken, of my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you.

20 Thus ye shall be filled at my table with horses [k] and chariots, with mighty men, and with all men of war, saith the Lord GOD.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid [n] upon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall [o] know that I am the LORD their God from that day and forward.

23 And the heathen shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquity: [p] because they trespassed against me, therefore hid [q] I my face from them, and gave them into the hand [s] of their enemies; so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their uncleanness, and according to their transgressions, have I done unto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD,

Now [a] will I bring again the captivity of Jacob, and have mercy upon the [c] whole house of Israel, and will be jealous for my holy name;

26 After [e] that they have borne their shame, and all their trespasses, whereby they have trespassed against me, [f] when they dwelt safely in their land, and none made them afraid.

27 When I have brought them again from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations;

28 Then shall they know that I am the LORD their God,[2] which caused them to be led into captivity among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their own land, and have left none [g] of them any more there.

29 Neither [h] will I hide my face any more from them: for [i] I have poured out my Spirit upon the house of Israel, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XL.

IN the five and twentieth year of our captivity, in the beginning of the year, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city [l] was smitten, in the self-same day the hand of the LORD was upon me, and brought me thither.

2 In the visions [m] of God brought he me into the land of Israel, and set me upon a very high [n] mountain,[6] by which was as the frame of a city on the south.

3 And he brought me thither, and, behold, there was a man, whose [q] appearance was like the appearance of brass, with a line of flax in his hand, and a measuring-reed; and he stood in the gate.

4 And the man said unto me, Son of man, behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, and set thine heart upon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent that I might shew them unto thee art thou brought hither: declare [r] all that thou seest to the house of Israel.

5 And, behold, a wall on the outside of the house round about, and in the man's hand a measuring-reed of six cubits long, by the cubit; and an hand-breadth; so he measured the breadth of the building one reed, and the height one reed.

6 Then came he unto the gate [10] which looketh toward the east, and went up the stairs thereof, and measured the threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad, and the other threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad; and between the little chambers were five cubits, and the threshold of the gate, by the porch of the gate within, was one reed.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within, one reed.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits; and the posts [b] thereof, two cubits; and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the little chambers [d] of the gate eastward were three on this side, and three on that side; they three were of one measure: and the posts had one measure on this side and on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits.

12 The [1] space also before the little chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side; and the little chambers were six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, door against door.

14 He made also posts of threescore cubits, even unto the post of the [j] court round about the gate.

15 And from the face of the gate of the entrance, unto the face of the porch of the inner gate, were fifty cubits.

16 And there were [3] narrow [k] windows to the little chambers, and to their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the [4] arches; and windows were round about inward: [5] and upon each post were palm-trees.

17 Then brought he me into the outward [o] court, and, lo, there were [p] chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about: thirty [r] chambers were upon the pavement.

18 And the pavement by the side of the gates, over against the length of the gates, was the lower pavement.

19 Then he measured the breadth, from the fore-front of the lower gate unto the fore-front of the inner court [7] without, an hundred cubits eastward and northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that [8] looked toward the north, he measured the length thereof, and the breadth thereof.

21 And the little chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side; and the posts thereof, and the [9] arches thereof, were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

22 And their windows, and their arches, and their palm-trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the east; and they went up unto it by seven steps; and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court was over against the gate toward the north, and toward the east; and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that he brought me toward the south, and, behold, a gate toward the south: and he measured the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, according to these measures.

25 And there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windows: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

26 And there were seven steps to go up to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palm-trees, one on this side, and another on that side, upon the posts thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the south: and he measured from gate to gate toward the south an hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me to the inner court by the south gate: and he measured the south gate according to these measures;

29 And the little chambers [d] thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, according to these measures: and there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about: it was [f] fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits [3] broad:

31 And the arches thereof were toward the utter court; and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof: and the going up to it had eight steps.

32 And he brought me into the inner court toward the east; and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the little chambers thereof, and the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, were according to these measures; and there were windows therein, and in the arches thereof round about: it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the outward court; and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof, on this side and on that side: and the going up to it had eight steps.

35 And he brought me to the [l] north gate, and measured it according to these measures;

36 The little chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and the windows to it round about: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

37 And the posts thereof were toward the utter court; and palm-trees were upon the posts thereof on this side, and on that side; and the going up to it had eight steps.

38 And the chambers, and the entries thereof, were by the posts of the gates, where they washed the burnt-offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to slay thereon the burnt-offering, [a] and the [b] sin-offering, and the trespass-offering.[c]

40 And at the side without, [1] as one goeth up to the entry of the north gate, were two tables; and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifices.

42 And the four tables were of hewn stone for the burnt-offering, of a cubit and an half long, and a cubit and an half broad, and one cubit high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt-offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were [2] hooks, an hand-broad, fastened round about: and upon the tables was the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers [e] in the inner court, which was at the side of the north gate; and their prospect was toward the south; one at the side of the east gate, having the prospect toward the north.

45 And he said unto me, This chamber, whose prospect is toward the south, [g] is for the priests, the keepers [h] of the charge [4] of the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the north is for the priests, the keepers of the charge of the altar: [i] these are the sons of Zadok,[j] among the sons of Levi, which come near to the LORD to minister unto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, and an hundred cubits broad, four-square, and the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured each post of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.

49 The length [k] of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits: and he brought me by the steps whereby they went up to it; and there were pillars [m] by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

AFTERWARD he brought me to the temple, and measured [n] the posts, six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the [5] door was ten cubits; and the sides of the door were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side; and he measured the length thereof, forty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits.

door six cubits, and the breadth of the door seven cubits.

4 So [a] he measured the length thereof, twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits, before the temple; and he said unto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After he measured the wall of the house six cubits; and the breadth of every side-chamber four cubits, round about the house on every side.

6 And the [d] side-chambers were three, one [2] over another, and [3] thirty in order; and they entered into the wall, which was of the house for the side-chambers round about, that they might [4] have hold, but they had not hold in the wall of the house.

7 And [6] there was [e] an enlarging and a winding about still upward to the side-chambers; for the winding about of the house went still upward round about the house: therefore the breadth of the house was still upward, and so increased from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst.

8 I saw also the height of the house round about: the foundations of the side-chambers were a full reed [i] of six great cubits.

9 The thickness of the wall, which was for the side-chamber without, was five cubits; and that which was left was the place of the side-chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the wideness of twenty cubits round about the house on every side.

11 And the doors of the side-chambers were toward the place that was left, one door toward the north, and another door toward the south: and the breadth of the place that was left was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate [m] place, at the end toward the west, was seventy cubits broad; and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length thereof ninety cubits.

13 So he measured the house, an hundred cubits long; and the separate place, and the building, with the walls thereof, an hundred cubits long;

14 Also the breadth of the face of the house, and of the separate place toward the east, an hundred cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the building over against the separate place which was behind it, and the [7] galleries thereof on the one side, and on the other side, an hundred cubits, with the inner temple, and the porches of the court;

16 The door-posts, and the narrow windows, [q] and the galleries round about on their three stories, over against the door, ceiled [10] with wood round about, and [11] from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were covered;

CHAP. XLII.

THEN he brought me forth into the utter court, the way toward the north, and he brought me into the [n] chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the north.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits was the north door, and the breadth was fifty cubits.

3 Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement which was for the utter court, was gallery [o] against gallery in three stories.

4 And before the chambers was a [p] walk of ten cubits breadth inward, a way of one cubit: and their doors toward the north.

5 Now, the upper chambers were shorter: for the galleries [8] were higher than these, [9] than the lower, and than the middlemost of the building.

6 For they were in three stories, but had not pillars as the pillars of the courts therefore the building was straitened more than the lowest and the middlemost from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over against the chambers, towards the utter court on the fore-part of the chambers, the length thereof was fifty cubits.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court was fifty cubits: and, lo, before the temple were an hundred cubits:

9 And from [1] under these chambers was the [3] entry on the east side, as [4] one goeth into them from the utter court.

10 The chambers were in the thickness of the wall of the court toward the east, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And the way [h] before them was like the appearance of the chambers which were toward the north, as long as they, and as broad as they; and all their goings out were both according to their fashions, and according to their doors.

12 And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the south was a door in the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the east, as one entereth into them.

13 Then said he unto me, The north chambers and the south chambers, which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, where [q] the priests that approach unto the LORD shall eat the most holy things: there shall they [r] lay the most holy things, and the [s] meat-offering, and the [t] sin-offering, and the trespass-offering; [u] for the place is holy.

14 When [w] the priests enter therein, then shall they not go out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister; for they are holy; and shall put on other garments, [y] and shall approach to those things which are for the people.

15 Now, when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the east, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the east [7] side with the measuring-reed, five hundred reeds, with the measuring-reed round about.

17 He measured the north side five hundred reeds, with the measuring-reed round about.

18 He measured the south side five hundren reeds, with the measuring-reed.

19 He turned about to the west side, and measured five hundred reeds, with the measuring-reed.

20 He measured it by the four [e] sides: it had a wall [d] round about five hundred reeds [9] long, and five hundred broad, to make a separation [f] between the sanctuary and the profane place.

AFTERWARD he brought me to the gate, even the gate [a] that looketh toward the east:

2 And, behold, the glory [b] of the God of Israel came from the way of the east, and his voice [c] was like a noise of many waters: and the earth shined [d] with his glory.

3 And it was according to the appearance of the vision which I saw, even according to the vision [e] that I saw when I came to [2] destroy [f] the city; and the visions were like the vision that I saw [g] by the river Chebar; and I fell upon my face.

4 And the glory of the LORD came into the house, by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east.

5 So the spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court; and, behold, the glory [i] of the LORD filled the house.

6 And I heard him speaking unto me out of the house; and the man [j] stood by me.

7 And he said unto me, Son of man, the place of my throne, [k] and the place [l] of the soles of my feet, where I will dwell [m] in the midst of the children of Israel for ever, and my holy name, shall the house of Israel no more defile, [n] neither they, nor their kings, by their whoredom, nor by the carcasses of [o] their kings in their high places;

8 In their setting [p] of their threshold by my thresholds, and their post by my posts, [5] and the wall between me and them; they have even defiled my holy name by their abominations that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in mine anger.

9 Now let them put away [v] their whoredom, and the carcasses of their kings, far from me, and [x] I will dwell in the midst of them for ever.

10 Thou son of man, shew the house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities; and let them measure the [6] pattern.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shew them the form [z] of the house, and the fashion thereof, and the goings-out thereof, and the comings-in thereof, and all the forms thereof, and all the ordinances [a] thereof; and all the forms thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keep the whole form thereof, and all [b] the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the law of the house; Upon the top of the mountain, the whole limit thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the law of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the altar after the cubits: The cubit is a cubit and an hand-breadth; even the [8] bottom shall be a cubit; and the breadth a cubit and the border thereof by the [9] edge thereof round about shall be a span: and this shall be the higher place of the altar

14 And from the bottom upon the ground even to the lower settle shall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit; and from the lesser settle even to the greater settle shall be four cubits, and the breadth one cubit.

15 So [1] the altar shall be four cubits; and from [2] the altar and upward shall be four horns.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubits long, twelve broad, square in the four squares thereof.

17 And the settle shall be fourteen cubits long, and fourteen broad in the four squares thereof; and the border about it shall be half a cubit; and the bottom thereof shall be a cubit about; and his stairs [d] shall look toward the east.

18 And he said unto me, Son of man, thus saith the Lord GOD, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it, to offer burnt-offerings thereon, and to sprinkle [e] blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the [i] priests the Levites that be of the seed of Zadok, which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord GOD, a young bullock [k] for a sin-offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the settle, and upon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse and purge it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullock also of the sin-offering, and he shall burn it in the appointed place of the house, without [p] the sanctuary.

22 And on the second day thou shalt offer a kid of the goats without blemish for a sin-offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullock.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullock without blemish, and a ram out of the flock without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the LORD, and the priests shall cast [u] salt upon them, and they shall offer them up for a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

25 Seven [v] days shalt thou prepare every day a goat for a sin-offering: they shall also prepare a young bullock, and a ram out of the flock, without blemish.

26 Seven days shall they purge the altar, and purify it; and they shall [6] consecrate [z] themselves.

27 And when these days are [b] expired, it shall be, that upon the eighth day, and so forward, the priests shall make your burnt-offerings upon the altar, and your peace [8] offerings; and I will accept [c] you, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XLIV.

THEN he brought me back the way of the gate of the outward sanctuary [d] which looketh toward the east, and it was shut.

2 Then said the LORD unto me, This gate shall be shut, it shall not be opened, and no man shall enter in by it; because the LORD, the God of Israel, hath entered in by it, therefore it shall be shut.

3 It is for the prince; the prince he shall sit in it to eat bread before [a] the LORD; he shall enter by the way [b] of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 Then brought he me the way of the north gate before the house: and I looked, and, [c] behold, the glory of the LORD filled the house of the LORD; and I fell upon my face.

5 And the LORD said unto me, Son of man, [3] mark well, and behold [e] with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, all that I say unto thee concerning all the ordinances of the house of the LORD, and all the laws thereof; and mark well [f] the entering in [h] of the house, with every going forth of the sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the [j] rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord GOD, O ye house of Israel, let it suffice [l] you of all your abominations,

7 In that ye have brought [m] into my sanctuary [4] strangers [n] uncircumcised [o] in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my sanctuary, to pollute it, even my house, when ye offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and they have broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 And ye have not kept [q] the charge of mine holy things: but ye have set keepers of my [5] charge in my sanctuary for yourselves.

9 Thus saith the Lord GOD, No stranger uncircumcised [r] in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 And the Levites that are gone [s] away far from me, when Israel [t] went astray, which went astray away from me after their idols; they shall even bear their iniquity.

11 Yet they shall be ministers in my sanctuary, having charge at the gates [w] of the house, and ministering to the house: they shall slay [x] the burnt-offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them [y] to minister unto them.

12 Because they ministered unto them before their idols, and [7] caused [a] the house of Israel to fall into iniquity; therefore have I lift up mine hand against them, saith the Lord GOD, and they shall bear their iniquity.

13 And they shall not come near unto me, to do the office of a priest unto me, nor to come near to any of my holy things, in the most holy place; but they shall bear their shame, and their abomi-nations which they have committed:

14 But I will make them keepers of the charge of the house, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the priests the Levites, the sons of Zadok, that kept [c] the charge of my sanctuary when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come near to me to minister unto me, and [c] they shall stand before me to offer unto me the fat [g] and the blood, [h] saith the Lord GOD:

16 They [i] shall enter into my sanctuary, and they shall come near to my table to minister unto me, and they shall keep my charge.

17 And it shall come to pass, that, when they enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with [m] linen garments; and no wool shall come upon them whiles they minister in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall have linen bonnets upon their heads, and shall have linen breeches upon their loins; they shall not gird themselves [5] with any thing that causeth sweat.

19 And when they go forth into the utter court, even into the utter court to the people, they shall put off [p] their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments; and they shall not sanctify the people with their [q] garments.

20 Neither [r] shall they shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long; they shall only poll their heads.

21 Neither shall any priest drink [u] wine, when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their wives a widow, or her that is [7] put away: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow [8] that had a priest before.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause men to discern between the unclean and the clean.

24 And in controversy [z] they shall stand in judgment; and they shall judge it according to my judgments: and they shall keep my laws [y] and my statutes in all mine assemblies; and they shall hallow my [a] sabbaths.

25 And they shall come at no dead [b] person to defile themselves: but for father, or for mother, or for son, or for daughter, for brother, or for sister that hath had no husband, they may defile themselves.

26 And after [c] he is cleansed they shall reckon unto him seven days.

27 And in the day that he goeth into the sanctuary, unto the inner court, to minister in the sanctuary, he shall [c] offer his sin-offering, saith the Lord GOD.

28 And it shall be unto them for an inheritance: I [e] am their inheritance: and ye shall give them no possession in Israel; I am their possession.

29 They [a] shall eat the meat-offering, and the sin-offering, and the trespass-offering; and [b] every [1] dedicated thing in Israel shall be theirs.

30 And the [2] first of all the [d] first-fruits of all things, and every oblation of all, of every sort of your oblations, shall be the priest's: ye shall also give unto the priest the first of your dough, [f] that he may cause the blessing [i] to rest in thine house.

31 The priest shall not eat of any thing that is dead of itself, [k] or torn, whether it be fowl or beast.

CHAP. XLV.

MOREOVER, when ye [3] shall [l] divide by lot the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the LORD, [4] an holy portion [n] of the land: the length shall be the length of five and twenty thousand reeds, and the breadth shall be ten thousand. This shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the sanctuary five [o] hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, square round about; and fifty cubits round about for the [6] suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and [r] in it shall be the sanctuary and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion [t] of the land shall be for the priests the ministers of the sanctuary, which shall come near to minister unto the LORD; and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the sanctuary.

5 And the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall also the Levites, the ministers [v] of the house, have for themselves, for a possession for twenty chambers. [w]

6 And ye shall appoint the possession of the city five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long, over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And [x] a portion shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the city, before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the city, from the west side westward, and from the east side eastward; and the length shall be over against one of the portions, from the west border unto the east border.

8 In the land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes [d] shall no more oppress my people; and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel according [f] to their tribes.

fice you, O princes of Israel: [a] remove violence and spoil, and execute [b] judgment and justice, take away your [1] exactions [c] from my people, saith the Lord GOD.

10 Ye shall have just [c] balances, and a just ephah, and a just bath.

11 The ephah and the bath shall be of one measure, that the bath may contain the tenth part of an homer, and the ephah the tenth part of an homer: the measure thereof shall be after the homer.

12 And the shekel [e] shall be twenty gerahs; twenty shekels, five and twenty shekels, fifteen shekels shall be your maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer; the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of wheat, and ye shall give the sixth part of an ephah of an homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of oil, the bath of oil, ye shall offer the tenth part of a bath out of the cor, which is an homer of ten baths; for ten baths are an homer:

15 And one [2] lamb out of the flock, out of two hundred, out of the fat pastures of Israel, for a meat-offering, and for a burnt-offering, and for [3] peace-offerings, to make reconciliation [l] for them, saith the Lord GOD.

16 All the people of the land shall [4] give this [n] oblation [5] for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the prince's part to give [p] burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and drink-offerings, in the feasts; and in the new moons, and in the sabbaths, in all solemnities of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sin-offering, and the meat-offering, and the burnt-offering, and the [7] peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 Thus saith the Lord GOD, In the first month, in the first day of the month, thou shalt take a young bullock, without blemish, and cleanse the sanctuary: [q]

19 And the priest shall take of the [r] blood of the sin-offering, and put it upon the posts of the house, and upon the four corners of the settle of the altar, and upon the posts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And so thou shalt do the seventh day of the month for every one that erreth, [t] and for him that is simple: so shall ye reconcile the house.

21 In [v] the first month, in the fourteenth day of the month, ye shall have the passover, a feast of seven days; [w] unleavened bread shall be eaten.

22 And upon that day shall the prince prepare for himself, and for all the people of the land, a bullock [x] for a sin-offering.

23 And seven days of the feast he shall prepare a burnt-offering to the LORD, seven oullocks and seven rams without blemish, daily the seven days; and a kid [z] of the goats daily for a sin-offering.

24 And he shall prepare a [a] meat-offering

25 In the seventh month, in the [d] fifteenth day of the month, shall he do the like in the feast of the seven [f] days, according to the sin-offering, according to the burnt-offering, and according to the meat-offering, and according to the oil.

CHAP. XLVI.

THUS saith the Lord GOD, The gate of the inner court that looketh toward the east shall be shut the six working days; but on the sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moon it shall be opened.

2 And the prince [h] shall enter by the way [i] of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the priests shall prepare [j] his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate; then he shall go forth; but the gate shall not be shut until the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the door [k] of this gate before the LORD, in the sabbaths, and in the new moons.

4 And the burnt-offering that the [m] prince shall offer unto the LORD in the sabbath-day shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the [o] meat-offering shall be an ephah for a ram, and the meat-offering for the lambs [6] as he shall be able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moon it shall be a young bullock without blemish, and six lambs, and a ram: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat-offering, an ephah for a bullock, and an ephah for a ram; and for the lambs according as his hand shall attain unto, and an hin of oil to an ephah.

8 And [s] when the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the LORD in the solemn feasts, [u] he that entereth in by the way of the north gate to worship shall go out by the way of the south gate; and he that entereth by the way of the south gate shall go forth by the way of the north gate: he shall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but shall go forth over against it.

10 And the prince in the midst of them, when they go in, shall go in; and when they go forth, shall go forth:

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities, the [y] meat-offering shall be an ephah to a bullock, and an ephah to a ram, and to the lambs as he is able to give, and an hin of oil to an ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall prepare a voluntary burnt-offering or peace-offerings voluntarily unto the LORD, one shall then open him the gate [a] that looketh toward the east, and he shall prepare his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings as he did on the sabbath-day; then he shall go forth; and after his going forth one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily [d] prepare a burnt-offering unto the LORD of a lamb [1] of the first year without blemish; thou shalt prepare it [2] every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat-offering for it every morning, the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of an hin of oil, to temper with the fine flour; a meat-offering continually, by a perpetual ordinance, unto the LORD.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meat-offering, and the oil, every morning, for a continual burnt-offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord GOD, If the prince give a gift unto any of his sons, the inheritance thereof shall be his sons'; it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shall be his to the year [f] of liberty; after it shall return to the prince: but his inheritance shall be his sons' for them.

18 Moreover, the prince shall not [h] take of the people's inheritance by oppression, to thrust them out of their possession: but he shall give his sons inheritance out of his own possession; that my people be not scattered [i] every man from his possession.

19 After he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the priests, which look toward the north: and, behold, there was a place on the two sides westward.

20 Then said he unto me, This is the place where the priests shall boil [m] the trespass-offering and the sin-offering, where they shall bake [n] the meat-offering; that they bear them not out into the utter court, to sanctify [p] the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the utter court, and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and, behold, [8] in every corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courts [9] joined of forty cubits long, and thirty broad: these four [10] corners were of one measure.

23 And there was a new building round about in them, round about them four, and it was made with boiling-places under the rows round about.

24 Then said he unto me, These [v] are the places of them that boil, where the ministers of the house shall boil the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

AFTERWARD he brought me again unto the door of the house; and, behold, waters [b] issued out from under [c] the threshold of the house eastward: for the fore-front of the house stood toward the east, and the waters came down from under, from the right side of the house, at the south side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out of the way of the gate northward, and led me about the way without unto the utter gate by the way that looketh eastward; and, behold, there ran out waters on the right side.

3 And when the man [e] that had the line in his hand went forth eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters; [3] the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters; the waters were to the knees. Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loins.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand; and it was a river that I could not pass over: for the waters were risen, waters to [4] swim in, a river [g] that could not be passed over.

6 And he said unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen this? Then he brought me, and caused me to return to the brink of the river.

7 Now when I had returned, behold, at the [5] bank of the river were very many trees [j] on the one side and on the other.

8 Then said he unto me, These waters issue out toward the east country, and go down into [k] the [6] desert, and go into the sea: which being brought forth into the sea, the waters shall be healed.

9 And it shall come to pass, that every thing that liveth, [l] which moveth, whithersoever the [7] rivers shall come, shall live: and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall be healed; [o] and every thing shall live whither the river cometh.

10 And it shall come to pass, that the fishers [q] shall stand upon it from En-gedi even unto En-eglaim; they shall be a place to spread forth nets; their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of the great [r] sea, exceeding [s] many.

11 But the miry places thereof and the marishes thereof [11] shall not be healed; they shall be given to salt.[t]

12 And by the river upon the [u] bank thereof, on this side and on that side, shall [12] grow all trees for meat, whose leaf [w] shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof be consumed: it shall bring forth [13] new fruit according to his months, because their waters they issued out of the sanctuary; and the fruit [a] thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for [1] medicine.

13 Thus saith the Lord GOD, This shall be the border whereby ye shall inherit the land, according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph [b] shall have two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another; concerning the which I [2] lifted up mine hand to give it unto your fathers; and this land shall fall unto you for inheritance.[c]

15 And this shall be the border of the land toward the north side, from the great sea, the way of Hethlon, [e] as men go to Zedad; [f]

16 Hamath, Berothah, [g] Sibraim, which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath; [3] Hazar-hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall be Hazar-enan, [h] the border of Damascus, and the north northward, and the border of Hamath. And this is the north side.

18 And the east side ye shall measure from [4] Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, from the border unto the east sea. And this is the east side.

19 And the south side southward, from Tamar even to the waters of [5] strife [i] in Kadesh, the [7] river to the great sea. And this is the south side [8] southward.

20 The west side also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath. This is the west side.

21 So shall ye divide this land unto you according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And it shall come to pass, that ye shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the strangers [l] that sojourn among you, which shall beget children among you; and they [m] shall be unto you as born in the country among the children of Israel; they shall have inheritance with you among the tribes of Israel.

23 And it shall come to pass, that in what tribe the stranger sojourneth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord GOD.

CHAP. XLVIII.

NOW these are the names of the tribes. From [r] the north end to the coast of the way of Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar-enan, the border of Damascus northward, to the coast of Hamath, (for these are his sides east and west,)[10] a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh, from the east side unto the west side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the east side even unto the west side, a portion for Judah.

8 And by the border of Judah, from the east side unto the west side, shall be the offering [d] which they shall offer of five and twenty thousand reeds in breadth, and in length as one of the other parts, from the east side unto the west side: and the sanctuary shall be in the midst of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer unto the LORD shall be of five and twenty thousand in length, and of ten thousand in breadth.

10 And for them, even for the priests, shall be this holy oblation; toward the north five and twenty thousand in length, and toward the west ten thousand in breadth, and toward the east ten thousand in breadth, and toward the south five and twenty thousand in length: and the sanctuary of the LORD shall be in the midst thereof.

11 It [6] shall be for the priests [j] that are sanctified of the sons of Zadok, which have kept my [9] charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as [k] the Levites went astray.

12 And this oblation of the land that is offered shall be unto them a thing most holy, by the border of the Levites.

13 And over against the border of the priests the Levites shall have five and twenty thousand in length, and ten thousand in breadth: all the length shall be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither exchange, [n] nor alienate the firstfruits [o] of the land: for it is holy unto the LORD.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth, over against the five and twenty [p] thousand, shall be a [q] profane place for the city, for dwelling, and for suburbs; and the city shall be [10] in the midst thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof; the north side four thousand and five hundred, and the south side four thousand and five hundred, and on the east side four thousand and five hundred, and the west side four thousand and five hundred.

17 And the suburbs of the city shall be toward the north two hundred and fifty, and toward the south two hundred and fifty, and toward the east two hundred and fifty, and toward the west two hundred and fifty.

The Book of DANIEL.

CHAP. I.

IN the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah came [a] Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon unto Jerusalem, and besieged it.

2 And the LORD gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god; and he brought the vessels into the treasure-house of his god.

3 And the king spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children [c] of Israel, and of the king's seed, and of the princes;

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well-favoured, and skilful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat, and of the wine [1] which he drank; so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king.

6 Now among these were of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah;

7 Unto whom the prince of the eunuchs gave names: for he gave unto Daniel the name of Belteshazzar; [b] and to Hananiah, of Shadrach; and to Mishael, of Meshach; and to Azariah, of Abed-nego.

8 But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion [d] of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.

9 Now God had brought Daniel into favour [e] and tender love with the prince of the eunuchs.

10 And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse [2] liking than the children which are of your [3] sort? then shall ye make me endanger my head to the king.

11 Then said Daniel to [4] Melzar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give [5] us pulse to [6] eat, and water to drink.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the king's meat; and as thou seest, deal with thy servants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten days.

15 And at the end of ten days their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh that all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat.

16 Thus Melzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drink, and gave them pulse.

17 As for these four children, God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom: and [8] Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams.

18 Now, at the end of the days that the king had said he should bring them in, then the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nebuchadnezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And [h] in all matters of wisdom [11] and understanding, that the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers that were in all his realm.

21 And Daniel continued [i] even unto the first year of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

AND in the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreams, wherewith [j] his spirit was troubled, and his sleep brake from him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the magicians, and the astrologers, and the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans, for to shew the king his dreams. So they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said unto them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dream.

4 Then spake the Chaldeans to the king in Syriac, O king, live [m] for ever: tell thy servants the dream, and we will shew the interpretation.

5 The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me: if ye will not make known unto me the dream, with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be [1] cut in pieces, [a] and your houses [b] shall be made a dunghill:

6 But [c] if ye shew the dream, and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of me gifts, and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dream and the interpretation thereof.

7 They answered again, and said, Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will shew the interpretation of it.

8 The king answered and said, I know of certainty that ye would [7] gain the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not make known unto me the dream, there is but one decree for you; for ye have prepared lying and corrupt words to speak before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, and I [d] shall know that ye can shew me the interpretation thereof.

10 The Chaldeans answered before the king, and said, There is not a man upon the earth that can shew the king's matter; therefore there is no king, lord, nor ruler, that asked such things at any magician, or astrologer, or Chaldean.

11 And it is a rare thing that the king requireth: and there is none other that can shew it before the king except [e] the gods, whose dwelling [f] is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angry and very furious, and commanded to destroy all [g] the wise men of Babylon.

13 And the decree went forth that the wise men should be slain; and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be slain.

14 Then Daniel [8] answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the [10] captain of the king's guard, which was gone forth to slay the wise men of Babylon:

15 He answered and said to Arioch the king's captain, Why is the decree so hasty from the king? Then Arioch made the thing known to Daniel.

16 Then Daniel went in, and desired of the king that he would give him time, and that he would shew the king the interpretation.

17 Then Daniel went to his house, and made the thing known to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, his companions;

18 That [k] they would desire mercies [12] of the God of heaven concerning this secret, that [13] Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

19 Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a night vision. [l] Then Daniel blessed the God of heaven.

20 Daniel answered and said, [n] Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever; for wisdom [o] and might are his:

21 And he changeth the times [p] and the seasons: he [q] removeth kings, and setteth up kings: he [r] giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding.

22 He revealeth [b] the deep and secret things: he knoweth [c] what is in the darkness, and the light [f] dwelleth with him.

23 I thank thee, and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, who hast given me wisdom and might, and hast made known unto me now what we desired of thee: for thou hast now made known unto us the king's matter.

24 Therefore Daniel went in unto Arioch, whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babylon: he went and said thus unto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babylon: bring me in before the king, and I will shew unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought in Daniel before the king in haste, and said thus unto him,[1] I have found a man of the captives [2] of Judah that will make known unto the king the interpretation.

26 The king answered, and said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, cannot [l] the wise men, the astrologers, the magicians, the soothsayers, shew unto the king;

28 But [m] there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and [4] maketh known to the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall be in the latter days. Thy dream, and the visions of thy head upon thy bed, are these;

29 (As for thee, O king, thy thoughts came [7] into thy mind upon thy bed, what should come to pass hereafter; and [o] he that revealeth secrets maketh known to thee what shall come to pass:

30 But as for me, this secret is not revealed to me for any wisdom [q] that I have more than any living, but for [9] their sakes that shall make known the interpretation to the king, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thy heart;)

31 Thou, O king,[11] sawest, and, behold, a great image. This great image, whose brightness was excellent, stood before thee, and the form thereof was terrible.

32 This image's head was of fine gold, his breast and his arms of silver, his belly and his [13] thighs of brass, 33 His legs of iron, his feet part of iron, and part of clay.

34 Thou sawest till that a stone was cut out [14] without [r] hands, which smote the image upon his feet that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver, and the gold, broken to pieces together, and became like the [t] chaff of the summer threshing-floors; and the wind carried them away, that no [u] place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image became a great mountain,[c] and filled [d] the whole earth.

36 This is the dream; and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king.

37 Thou, O king, art a king [g] of kings: for [h] the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And wheresoever the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowls of the heaven, hath he given [i] into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. Thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall arise another kingdom inferior [j] to thee, and another third kingdom of brass, which [k] shall bear rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all these, shall it break in pieces and bruise.

41 And whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potter's clay and part of iron; the kingdom shall be divided, but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, forasmuch as thou sawest the iron mixed with miry clay.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron and part of clay; so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly [3] broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men; but they shall not cleave [5] one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay.

44 And in [6] the days of these kings shall the God [n] of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed: and the [8] kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break [p] in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever.

45 Forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out of the mountain [10] without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass [12] hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure.

46 Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and worshipped Daniel, and commanded that they should offer an oblation and sweet odours unto him.

47 The king answered unto Daniel, and said, Of a truth it is, that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest reveal this secret.

48 Then the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many great [s] gifts, and made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief of the governors [u] over all the wise men of Babylon.

49 Then Daniel requested of the king, and [a] he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, over the affairs of the province of Babylon: but Daniel sat [b] in the gate of the king.

CHAP. III.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR the king made [c] an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof six cubits: he set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon.

2 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king sent to gather together the princes, the governors, and the captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

3 Then the princes, the governors and captains, the judges, the treasurers, the counsellors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, were gathered together unto the dedication of the image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up; and they stood before the image that Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

4 Then an herald cried [2] aloud, To you it [3] is commanded, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That at what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, [5] dulcimer, and all kinds of music, ye fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king hath set up:

6 And whoso [n] falleth not down and worshippeth, shall the same hour be cast into the midst of a burning fiery [o] furnace.

7 Therefore at that time, when all the people heard the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and all kinds of music, all the people, the nations, and the languages, fell down and worshipped the golden image that Nebuchadnezzar the king had set up.

8 Wherefore at that time certain Chaldeans came near and accused the Jews.

9 They spake and said to the king Nebuchadnezzar, O king, live [p] for ever.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that every man that shall hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of music, shall fall down and worship the golden image;

11 And whoso falleth not down and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace.

12 There are certain Jews, whom thou hast set [r] over the affairs of the province of Babylon, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego; these men, O king, [12] have not regarded [s] thee; they serve not thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up.

13 Then Nebuchadnezzar, in his [v] rage and fury, commanded to bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego. Then they brought these men before the king.

14 Nebuchadnezzar spake, and said unto them, Is it [1] true, O Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, do not ye serve my gods, nor worship the golden image which I have set up?

15 Now, if ye be ready, that at what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of music, ye fall down [d] and worship the image which I have made, well; [e] but if ye worship not, ye shall be cast the same hour into the midst of a fiery furnace: and [f] who is that God that shall deliver you out of my hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, answered and said to the king, O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not careful [g] to answer thee in this matter.

17 If it be so, our God, whom [h] we serve, is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace; and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, [i] be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not serve [k] thy gods, nor worship thy golden image which thou hast set up.

19 Then was Nebuchadnezzar [4] full of fury, [l] and the form of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego: therefore he spake, and commanded [m] that they should heat the furnace one seven times more than it was wont to be heated.

20 And he commanded the [6] most mighty men that were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego: and to cast them into the burning fiery furnace.

21 Then these men were bound in their [7] coats, their hosen, and their [8] hats, and their other garments, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.

22 Therefore because the king's [9] commandment was urgent, and the furnace exceeding hot, the [10] flame of the fire slew those [q] men that took up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, fell down bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.

24 Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was astonied, and rose up in haste, and spake and said unto his [11] counsellors, Did not we cast three men bound into the midst of the fire? They answered and said unto the king, True, O king.

25 He answered and said, Lo, I see four men loose, walking [t] in the midst of the fire, and [13] they have no hurt; and the form of the fourth is like the Son [u] of God.

26 Then Nebuchadnezzar came near to the [14] mouth of the burning fiery furnace, and spake, and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, ye [a] servants of the most high [b] God, come forth, and come hither. Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, came forth of the midst of the fire.

27 And the princes, governors, and captains, and the king's counsellors, being gathered together, saw these men, upon whose bodies the fire had [d] no power, nor was an hair of their head singed, neither were their coats changed, nor the smell of fire had passed on them.

28 Then Nebuchadnezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, who hath sent his angel, [g] and delivered his servants that trusted [h] in him, and have changed the king's word, and yielded their [i] bodies, that they might not serve nor worship any god except their own God.

30 Then the king [6] promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego, in the province of Babylon.

CHAP. IV.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR the king, unto [r] all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth; Peace [t] be multiplied unto you.

2 I [7] thought it good to shew the signs and wonders that the high [w] God hath wrought toward me.

3 How great are his signs! [y] and how mighty are his wonders! [a] his kingdom is an everlasting [b] kingdom, and his dominion [c] is from generation to generation.

4 I Nebuchadnezzar was at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace:

5 I saw a dream which made me afraid, and the thoughts upon my bed and the visions of my head troubled me.

6 Therefore made I a decree to bring in all the wise men of Babylon before me, that they might make known unto me the interpretation of the dream.

7 Then [f] came in the magicians, the astrologers, the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers: and I told the dream before them; but they did not make known unto me the interpretation thereof.

8 But at the last Daniel came in before me, (whose name [i] was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my God, and in whom is the spirit [j] of the holy Gods,) and before him I told the dream, saying,

9 O Belteshazzar, master of the magicians, because I know that the spirit of the holy Gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth [k] thee, tell me the visions of my

10 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed: I [1] saw, and, behold, a [c] tree in the midst of the earth, and the height thereof was great.

11 The tree grew, and was strong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the sight thereof to the end of all the earth.

12 The leaves thereof were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: the beasts [e] of the field had shadow [f] under it, and the fowls of the heaven dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh was fed of it.

13 I saw in the visions of my head upon my bed, and, behold, a watcher [j] and an holy [k] one came down from heaven.

14 He cried [2] aloud, and said thus, Hew [m] down the tree, and cut off his branches, shake off his leaves, and scatter his fruit: let the beasts get away from under it, and the fowls from his branches.

15 Nevertheless, leave the stump [o] of his roots in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass in the tender grass of the field; and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts in the grass of the earth.

16 Let his heart be changed [p] from man's, and let a beast's heart be given unto him; and let seven times [q] pass over him.

17 This matter is by the decree [s] of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones; to the intent that the living may know [u] that the Most High [v] ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever [x] he will, and setteth up over it the basest [z] of men.

18 This dream I king Nebuchadnezzar have seen. Now thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof; forasmuch [d] as all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known unto me the interpretation: but thou art able; for the spirit of the holy Gods is in thee.

19 Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) was astonied for one hour, and his thoughts troubled [e] him. The king spake and said, Belteshazzar, let not the dream, or the interpretation thereof, trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dream be to them [g] that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

20 The tree [h] that thou sawest, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached unto the heaven, and the sight thereof to all the earth;

21 Whose leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all; under which the beasts of the field dwelt, and upon whose branches the fowls of the heaven had their habitation:

and become strong: for thy greatness is grown, and reacheth unto heaven, and thy dominion [c] to the end of the earth.

23 And whereas [d] the king saw a watcher and an holy one coming down from heaven, and saying, Hew the tree down, and destroy it; yet leave the stump of the roots thereof in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass in the tender grass of the field; and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times pass over him;

24 This is the interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the Most High, which is come upon my lord the king:

25 That they shall drive [j] thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field, and they shall make thee to eat grass [l] as oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over thee, till thou know that the Most High [n] ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will.

26 And whereas they commanded to leave the stump of the tree roots; thy kingdom shall be sure unto thee, after that thou shalt have known that the heavens [p] do rule.

27 Wherefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable unto thee, and break off [r] thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by shewing mercy to the poor; if [s] it may be [3] a lengthening of thy tranquillity.

28 All this came upon the king Nebuchadnezzar.

29 At the end of twelve months he walked [4] in the palace of the kingdom of Babylon.

30 The king spake [t] and said, Is not this great Babylon that I have built for the house of the kingdom, by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty?

31 While [w] the word was in the king's mouth, there fell a voice from heaven, saying, O king Nebuchadnezzar, to thee it is spoken; The kingdom is departed from thee:

32 And [y] they shall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as oxen, and seven times shall pass over thee, until thou know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will.

33 The same hour was the thing fulfilled upon Nebuchadnezzar: and he was driven from men, and did eat grass as oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his hairs were grown like eagles' feathers, and his nails like birds' claws.

34 And at the end of the days I Nebuchadnezzar lift up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine understanding returned unto me; and I blessed the Most High; and I praised and honoured him [c] that liveth for ever,

CHAP. V.

BELSHAZZAR the king made a great feast [o] to a thousand of his lords, and drank wine before the thousand.

2 Belshazzar, whiles he tasted the wine, commanded to bring the golden and silver vessels [q] which his [1] father Nebuchadnezzar had [2] taken out of the temple which was in Jerusalem; that the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines, might drink therein.

3 Then they brought the golden vessels that were taken out of the temple of the house of God which was at Jerusalem; and the king and his princes, his wives and his concubines drank in them.

4 They drank wine and praised the gods of gold [u] and of silver, of brass, of iron, of wood, and of stone.

5 In the same hour [v] came forth fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaster of the wall of the king's palace; and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote.

6 Then [x] the king's [5] countenance [6] was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the [7] joints of his loins were loosed, and his knees [z] smote one against another.

7 The king cried [8] aloud to bring in the astrologers, [a] the Chaldeans, and the soothsayers. And the king spake, and said to the wise men of Babylon, Whosoever shall read this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with [9] scarlet, and have a chain of gold about his neck, and shall be the third [b] ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came in all the king's wise men: but they could not read the writing, nor make known to the king the interpretation thereof.

9 Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his [10] countenance was changed in him, and his lords were astonied

10 Now the queen, by reason of the words of the king and his lords, came into the banquet-house; and the queen spake and said, O king, live for ever: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed:

11 There [a] is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods: and, in the days of thy [2] father, light and understanding, and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him; whom the king Nebuchadnezzar thy father, [2] the king, I say, thy [2] father, made master of the magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans, and soothsayers;

12 Forasmuch as an excellent [d] spirit, and knowledge, and understanding, [3] interpreting of dreams, and shewing of hard sentences, and [4] dissolving of [5] doubts, were found in the same Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will shew the interpretation.

13 Then was Daniel brought in before the king. And the king spake and said unto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captivity of Judah, whom the king my [6] father brought out of Jewry?

14 I have even heard of thee, that the spirit of the gods is in thee, and that light, and understanding, and excellent wisdom, is found in thee.

15 And now the wise men, the astrologers, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing, and make known unto me the interpretation thereof: but they could not shew the interpretation of the thing:

16 And I have heard of thee that thou canst [7] make interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now, if thou canst read the writing, and make known to me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with scarlet, and have a chain of gold about thy neck, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered and said before the king, Let [t] thy gifts be to thyself, and give thy [10] rewards to another; yet I will read the writing [v] unto the king, and make known to him the interpretation.

18 O thou king, the most high God gave Nebuchadnezzar thy father a kingdom, and majesty, and glory, and honour:

19 And, for the majesty that he gave him, all [z] people, nations, and languages, trembled and feared before him: whom he would he slew, and whom he would he kept alive, and whom he would he set up, and whom he would he put down.

20 But when his heart was lifted up, and his mind hardened [11] in pride, he was [12] deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him:

21 And he was driven from the sons of men; and [1] his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses: they fed him with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven; till he knew that the most high God ruled in the kingdom of men, and that he appointeth over it whomsoever he will

22 And thou his son, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled [b] thine heart, though thou knewest all this;

23 But [c] hast lifted up thyself against the LORD of heaven; and they have brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy lords, thy wives and thy concubines, have drunk wine in them; and thou hast praised [e] the gods of silver and gold, of brass, iron, wood, and stone, which [f] see not, nor hear, nor know: and the God in whose hand thy breath [g] is, and whose are all thy ways, [h] hast thou not [i] glorified:

24 Then was the part of the hand sent from him; and this writing was written.

25 And this is the writing that was written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing: MENE; God hath numbered thy kingdom, and finished it.

27 TEKEL; Thou art weighed [j] in the balances, and art found wanting.[k]

28 PERES; Thy kingdom is divided, and given [l] to the Medes [m] and [n] Persians.

29 Then commanded Belshazzar, and they clothed Daniel with scarlet, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made a proclamation concerning him, that [o] he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.

30 In that night [p] was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slain.

31 And Darius [q] the Median took the kingdom, [8] being [9] about threescore and two years old.

CHAP. VI.

IT pleased Darius to set [r] over the kingdom an hundred and twenty [s] princes, which should be over the whole kingdom;

2 And over these, three presidents, of whom Daniel was first; that the princes might give accounts unto them, and the [u] king should have no damage.

3 Then this Daniel was preferred above the presidents and princes, because an excellent [w] spirit was in him; and the king thought to set him over the whole realm.

4 Then [x] the presidents and princes sought [y] to find occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom; but they could find none occasion nor fault; forasmuch as he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, We shall not find any occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the law of his God.

6 Then these presidents and princes assembled [13] together to the king, and said thus unto him, King Darius, live [a] for ever.

7 All the presidents of the kingdom, the governors, and the princes, the counsellors, and the captains, have consulted together [b] to establish a royal statute, and to make a firm [1] decree, that whosoever shall ask a petition of any god or man for thirty days, save of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, establish the decree, and sign the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law [d] of the Medes and Persians, which [2] altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius signed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel knew [g] that the writing was signed, he went into his house; and his windows being open in his chamber toward [h] Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees three [i] times a-day, and prayed, and gave thanks [j] before his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying and making supplication before his God.

12 Then they came near, [l] and spake before the king concerning the king's decree; Hast thou not signed a decree, that every man that shall ask a petition of any god or man within thirty days, save of thee, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions? The king answered and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth [p] not

13 Then answered they, and said before the king, That Daniel, which [s] is of the captivity of the children of Judah, regardeth [u] not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou hast signed, but maketh his petition three times a-day.

14 Then the king, when he heard these words, was sore displeased [x] with himself, and set his heart on Daniel to deliver him; and he laboured till the going down of the sun to deliver him.

15 Then these men assembled unto the king, and said unto the king, Know, O king, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, That no decree nor statute which the king establisheth may be changed.

16 Then the king commanded, and they brought [a] Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions. Now the king spake and said unto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou servest continually, he will deliver [b] thee.

17 And a stone [c] was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den; and the king sealed [e] it with his own signet, and with the signet of his lords, that the purpose might not be changed concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went to his palace, and passed the night fasting: neither were [7] instruments of music brought before him; and his sleep went from him.

19 Then the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste unto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel; and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, servant of the living God, is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever.

22 My God hath sent his angel, [c] and hath shut [e] the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocency [f] was found in me; and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den. So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because he believed in his God.

24 And the king commanded, and they brought those men [k] which had accused Daniel, and they cast them into the den of lions, them, their children [m] and their wives; and the lions had the mastery [n] of them, and brake all their bones in pieces or ever they came at the bottom of the den.

25 Then [o] king Darius wrote unto all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the earth; Peace be multiplied unto you.

26 I make a decree, That in every dominion of my kingdom men [q] tremble and fear before the God of Daniel; for [r] he is the living God, and steadfast for ever, and his kingdom [t] that which shall not be destroyed, and his dominion shall be even unto the end.

27 He delivereth [v] and rescueth, and he worketh signs [w] and wonders in heaven and in earth, who hath delivered Daniel from the [3] power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius, and in the reign of Cyrus [y] the Persian.

CHAP. VII.

IN the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel [4] had a dream, [z] and visions of his head upon his bed: then he wrote the dream, and told the sum of the [5] matters.

2 Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and, behold, the four winds of the heaven strove upon the great sea.

3 And four great beasts came [d] up from the sea, diverse one from another.

4 The first was like a lion, [f] and had eagles' [g] wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked, [6] and it was lifted up from the earth, and made stand upon the feet as a man, and a man's heart was given to it.

5 And, behold, another [h] beast, a second, like to a bear, and it raised up [1] itself on one side, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it between the teeth of it: and they said thus unto it, Arise, devour much flesh.

6 After this I beheld, and, lo, another, like a leopard, which had upon the back of it four wings of a fowl; the beast had also four [b] heads; and dominion was given to it.

7 After this I saw in the night visions, and, behold, a fourth [c] beast, dreadful and terrible, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with the feet of it: and it was diverse from all the beasts that were before it; and it had ten [e] horns.

8 I considered the horns, and, behold, there came up among them another little horn, [f] before whom there were three of the first horns plucked up by the roots: and, behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes of man, [g] and a mouth [h] speaking great things.

9 I beheld till the thrones were cast down, [i] and the Ancient [j] of days did sit, whose garment [k] was white [l] as snow, and the hair of his head like the pure wool: his throne [m] was like the fiery flame, and his wheels [n] as burning fire.

10 A fiery [o] stream issued and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood [p] before him: the judgment [q] was set, and the books were opened.

11 I beheld then, because of the voice of the great words which the horn spake; I beheld, even till the beast was slain, [r] and his body destroyed, and given to the burning flame.

12 As concerning the rest of the beasts, they had their dominion taken away: yet [4] their lives were prolonged for a season and time.

13 I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man [s] came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient [t] of days, and they brought him near before him.

14 And [u] there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting [v] dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not [w] be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was grieved in my spirit in [x] the midst of my [6] body, and the visions of my head troubled me.

16 I came near unto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this. So he told me, and made me know the interpretation of the things.

17 These great beasts, which are four, are four kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 But the saints of the [2] Most High shall take the kingdom, and possess the kingdom [a] for ever, even for ever and ever.

19 Then I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was diverse from all the [3] others, exceeding dreadful, whose teeth were of iron, and his nails of brass; which devoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with his feet;

20 And of the ten horns that were in his head, and of the other which came up, and before whom three fell; even of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that spake very great things, whose look was more stout than his fellows.

21 I beheld, and [d] the same horn made war with the saints, and prevailed against them;

22 Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the Most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom.

23 Thus he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom upon earth, which shall be diverse from all kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and break it in pieces.

24 And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings that shall arise: and another shall rise after them; and he shall be diverse from the first, and he shall subdue three kings.

25 And he shall speak great words against the Most High, and shall wear out the saints of the Most High, and think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hand, until a time and times and the dividing of time.

26 But the judgment shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and to destroy it unto the end.

27 And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all [5] dominions shall serve and obey him.

28 Hitherto is the end of the matter. As for me Daniel, my cogitations much troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

CHAP. VIII.

IN the third year of the reign of king Belshazzar a vision appeared unto me, even unto me Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision; (and it came to pass, when I saw, that I was at [7] Shushan, in the palace, which is in the province of Elam;) and I saw in a vision, and I was by the river of Ulai.

3 Then I lifted up mine eyes and saw, and, behold, there stood before the river a ram, which had two horns, and the two horns were high; but one was higher than the [7] other, and the higher came up last.

4 I saw the ram pushing westward, and northward, and southward; so that no beasts might stand before him, neither was there any that could deliver out of his hand; but he did according to his will [b] and became great.

5 And as I was considering, behold, an he-goat [c] came from the west, on the face of the whole earth, and [2] touched not the ground: and the goat had a [3] notable horn between his eyes.

6 And he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had seen standing before the river, and ran unto him in the fury of his power

7 And I saw him come close unto the ram, and he was moved with choler against him, and smote the ram, and brake his two horns; and there was no power in the ram to stand before him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped upon him: and there was none that could deliver the ram out of his hand.

8 Therefore the he-goat waxed very great: and when he was strong, the great horn was broken; and for it came up four [g] notable ones, toward the four winds of heaven.

9 And [i] out of one of them came forth a little horn which waxed exceeding great, toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the pleasant [j] land.

10 And it waxed great, even [6] to the host [k] of heaven; and it cast down [l] some of the host and of the stars to the ground, and stamped upon them.

11 Yea, he [m] magnified himself [6] even to the prince of the host, and [8] by him the daily [o] sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast down.

12 And [9] an host was given him against the daily sacrifice by reason of transgression, and it cast down the truth to the ground; and it practised, and prospered.

13 Then I heard one saint [q] speaking, and another saint said unto [10] that certain saint which spake, How long shall be the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, and the transgression [12] of desolation, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot?

14 And he said unto me, Unto two thousand and three hundred [13] days; then shall the sanctuary be [14] cleansed.

15 And it came to pass, when I, even I Daniel, had seen the vision, and sought for the meaning, then, behold, there stood before me as the appearance of a man.

16 And I heard a man's voice between the banks of Ulai, which called, and said, Gabriel, [v] make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came near where I stood; and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man; for at the time of the end shall be the vision.

18 Now, as he was speaking with me, I was in a deep sleep [a] on my face toward the ground: but he touched me, and [1] set me upright.

19 And he said, Behold, I will make thee know what shall be in the last end of the indignation: for at the time appointed [d] the end shall be.

20 The ram [e] which thou sawest having two horns are the kings of Media and Persia.

21 And the rough goat is the king of Grecia: and the great horn that is between his eyes is the first king.

22 Now that being broken, whereas four stood up for it, four kingdoms shall stand up out of the nation, but not in his power.

23 And in the latter time of their kingdom, when the transgressors are come [4] to the full, a king of fierce countenance, and understanding dark sentences, shall stand up.

24 And his power shall be mighty, [f] but not by his own power: and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper and practise, and [h] shall destroy the mighty and the [5] holy people.

25 And through his policy also he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand; and he shall magnify himself in his heart, and by [7] peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand up against the Prince of princes; but he shall be broken without hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning which was told is true: wherefore shut [n] thou up the vision; for it shall be for many days.

27 And I Daniel fainted, and was sick certain days: afterward I rose up, and did the king's business; and I was astonished at the vision, but none understood it.

2 In the first year of his reign, I Daniel understood by books the number of the years, whereof the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah [r] the prophet, that he would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem.

3 And [s] I set my face unto the Lord God, to seek by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and sackcloth, and ashes:

4 And I prayed unto the LORD my God, and made my confession, and said, O Lord, the great [t] and dreadful God, keeping [u] the covenant and mercy to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments;

thy precepts, and from thy judgments:

6 Neither [a] have we hearkened unto thy servants the prophets, which spake in thy name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, righteousness [2] belongeth unto thee; [b] but unto us confusion of faces, as at this day: to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and unto all Israel, that are near, and that are far off, through all the countries whither [c] thou hast driven them, because of their trespass that they have trespassed against thee.

8 O Lord, to us belongeth [d] confusion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against thee.

9 To the Lord our God [e] belong mercies and forgivenesses, though we have rebelled against him.

10 Neither have we obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in his laws which he set before us by his servants the prophets.

11 Yea, all [f] Israel have transgressed thy law, even by departing, that they might not obey thy voice; therefore the curse is poured upon us, and the oath that is written in the law of Moses the servant of God, because we have sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words, which he spake against us, and against our judges that judged us, by bringing upon us a great evil: for under the whole heaven hath not been done as hath been done upon Jerusalem.

13 As it is written [j] in the law of Moses, all this evil is come upon us: yet [11] made we not our prayer before the LORD our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and understand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the LORD watched upon the evil, and brought it upon us: for the LORD our God is righteous [m] in all his works which he doeth: for we obeyed not his voice.

15 And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people forth out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten [19] thee renown, as at this day; we have sinned, we have done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy fury be turned away from thy city Jerusalem, thy holy mountain: because for our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jerusalem and thy people are become a reproach to all that are about us.

17 Now, therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine upon thy sanctuary that is desolate, for the Lord's sake.

18 O my God, incline thine ear, and hear; open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the city [24] which is called by thy name:

20 And whiles I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the LORD my God for the holy mountain of my God;

21 Yea, whiles I was speaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly [3] swiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to [4] give thee skill and understanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the [5] commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee; for thou art [6] greatly beloved: therefore understand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seventy [g] weeks [h] are determined upon thy people, and upon thy holy city, to [7] finish the transgression, and to [8] make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting [i] righteousness, and to seal up the vision and [9] prophecy, and to anoint the Most Holy.

25 Know, therefore, and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to [10] restore and to build Jerusalem, unto the Messiah the Prince, shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks: the street shall [12] be built again, and the [13] wall, even [k] in [14] troublous times.

26 And after threescore and two weeks shall [l] Messiah be cut off, [15] but not for himself: and [16] the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war [17] desolations are determined.

27 And he shall confirm the [18] covenant with many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for [20] the overspreading of abominations he shall make it desolate, even until the consummation, and that determined, shall be poured upon the [21] desolate.

CHAP. X.

IN the third year of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was revealed unto Daniel, whose name was called Belteshazzar; and the thing was true, but the time appointed was [22] long: and he understood the thing, and had understanding of the vision.

2 In those days I Daniel was mourning three [23] full weeks.

3 I ate no [25] pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled.

4 And in the four and twentieth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, which is Hiddekel;

5 Then I lift up mine eyes, and looked, and, behold, [1] a certain man clothed in linen, whose loins were girded with fine gold of Uphaz.

6 His body [b] also was like the beryl, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as lamps of fire, and his arms and his feet like in colour to polished brass, and the voice of his words, like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me saw not the vision; but a great quaking fell upon them, so that they fled to hide themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my [3] comeliness was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no strength.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I in a deep sleep on my face, and my face toward the ground.

10 And, behold, an hand touched me, which [4] set me upon my knees and upon the palms of my hands:

11 And he said unto me, O Daniel, a man [5] greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak unto thee, and stand upright: [6] for unto thee am I now sent. And when he had spoken this word unto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he unto me, Fear not, Daniel; for from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to understand, and to chasten thyself before thy God, thy words were heard, [h] and I am come for thy words.

13 But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me one and twenty days: but, lo, Michael, [9] one of the chief princes, came to help me; and I remained there with the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to make thee understand what shall befall thy people in the latter [i] days: for [j] yet the vision is for many days.

15 And when he had spoken such words unto me, I set my face toward the ground, and I became dumb.

16 And, behold, one like the similitude of the sons of men touched [k] my lips: then I opened my mouth and spake, and said unto him that stood before me, O my lord, by the vision my sorrows are turned upon me, and I have retained no strength. [l]

17 For how can [13] the servant of this my lord talk with this my lord? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

CHAP. XI.

ALSO I, in the first [e] year of Darius the Mede, even I, stood to confirm and to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew [f] thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand up yet three kings in Persia; and the fourth shall be far richer than they all: and by his strength through his riches he shall stir up all against the realm of Grecia.

3 And a mighty king shall stand up, that shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his will.

4 And when he shall stand up, his kingdom [g] shall be broken, and shall be divided toward the four winds of heaven; and not to his posterity, nor according to his dominion which he ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked up, even for others besides those.

5 And the king of the south shall be strong, and one of his princes; and he shall be strong above him, and have dominion; his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of years they shall join [7] themselves together; for the king's daughter of the south shall come to the king of the north to make [8] an agreement: but she shall not retain the power of the arm; neither shall he stand, nor his arm: but she shall be given up, and they that brought her, and [10] he that begat her, and he that strengthened her in these times.

7 But out of a branch of her roots shall one stand up in his [11] estate, which shall come with an army, and shall enter into the fortress of the king of the north, and shall deal against them, and shall prevail:

8 And shall also carry captives into Egypt their gods, with their princes, and with [12] their precious vessels of silver and of gold; and he shall continue more years than the king of the north.

9 So the king of the south shall come into his kingdom, and shall return into his own land.

10 But his sons shall [14] be stirred up, and shall assemble a multitude of great forces and one shall certainly come, and overflow, [a] and pass through; then shall [1] he return, and be stirred up even to his fortress. [b]

11 And the king of the south shall be moved with choler, and shall come forth and fight with him, even with the king of the north: and he shall set forth a great multitude; but [c] the multitude shall be given into his hand.

12 And when he hath taken away the multitude, his heart shall be lifted up; and he shall cast down many ten thousands: but he shall not be strengthened by it.

13 For the king of the north shall return, and shall set forth a multitude greater than the former, and shall certainly come [4] after certain years with a great army and with much riches.

14 And in those times there shall many stand up against the king of the south: also the [5] robbers of thy people shall exalt themselves to establish the vision; but they shall fall. [d]

15 So the king of the north shall come, and cast up a mount, and take the [7] most fenced cities; and the arms of the south shall not withstand, neither [8] his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that cometh against him shall do according to his own will, and none shall stand before him; and he shall stand in the [9] glorious land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 He shall also set his face [e] to enter with the strength of his whole kingdom, and [10] upright ones with him; thus shall he do: and he shall give him the daughter of women, [11] corrupting her; but she shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turn his face unto the isles, and shall take many; but a prince for [13] h..s own behalf shall cause the [14] reproach offered by him to cease; without his own reproach he shall cause it to turn upon him.

19 Then he shall turn his face towards the fort of his own land: but he shall stumble and fall, and [i] not be found.

20 Then shall stand up in his [16] estate a [17] raiser of taxes in the glory of the kingdom: but within a few days he shall be destroyed, neither in [18] anger, nor in battle.

21 And in his [19] estate shall stand up a vile person, to whom they shall not give the honour of the kingdom: but he shall come in peaceably, and obtain the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And [l] with the arms of a flood shall they be overflown from before him, and shall be broken; yea, also the prince of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him he shall work deceitfully: [n] for he shall come up, and shall become strong with a small people.

24 He shall enter [2] peaceably even upon the fattest places of the province; and he shall do that which his fathers have not done, nor his fathers' fathers; he shall scatter among them the prey, and spoil, and riches; yea, and he shall [3] forecast his devices against the strong holds, even for a time.

25 And he shall stir up his power and his courage against the king of the south with a great army; and the king of the south shall be stirred up to battle with a very great and mighty army; but he shall not stand: for they shall forecast devices against him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of his meat shall destroy him, and his army shall overflow; and many shall fall down slain.

27 And both these kings' [6] hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall speak lies at one table; but it shall not prosper: [e] for yet the end shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he return into his land with great riches; and his heart shall be against the holy covenant; and he shall do exploits, and return to his own land.

29 At the time appointed he shall return, and come toward the south: but it shall not be as the former, or as the latter.

30 For the ships [f] of Chittim shall come against him; therefore he shall be grieved, and return, and have indignation against the holy covenant: so shall he do; [h] he shall even return, and have intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant.

31 And arms shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall place the abomination that [12] maketh desolate.

32 And such as do wickedly against the covenant shall he [15] corrupt by flatteries: but the people that do know their God shall be strong, and do exploits.

33 And they that understand among the people shall instruct many; yet they shall fall by the sword, and by flame, by captivity, and by spoil, many days.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little help: but many shall cleave to them with flatteries.

35 And some of them of understanding shall fall, to [j] try [20] them, and to purge, and to make them white, even to the time of the end: because, it is yet for a time appointed. [k]

36 And the king shall do according to his will; and [m] he shall exalt himself, and magnify himself above every god, and shall speak marvellous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the indignation be accomplished: for that that is determined [o] shall be done

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god: for he shall magnify himself above all.[c]

38 But [1] in his [2] estate shall he honour the God of [4] forces; and a god whom his fathers knew not shall he honour with gold, and silver, and with precious stones, and [5] pleasant things.

39 Thus shall he do in the [e] most strong holds with a strange god, whom he shall acknowledge and increase with glory: and he shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for [7] gain.

40 And at the time of the end shall the king of the south push at him: and the king of the north shall come against him like [g] a whirlwind, with chariots, and with horsemen, and with many ships; and he shall enter into the countries, and shall overflow and pass over.

41 He shall enter also into the [10] glorious [h] land, and many countries shall be overthrown; but these shall escape out of his hand, even [j] Edom, and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall [12] stretch forth his hand also upon the countries; and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt; and the Libyans and the Ethiopians shall be at his steps.

44 But tidings out of the east and out of the north shall trouble him: therefore he shall go forth with great fury to destroy, and utterly to make away many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious [13] holy mountain; yet [l] he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

CHAP XII.

CHAP. I.

THE word of the LORD that came unto Hosea, the son of Beeri, in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash, king of Israel.

2 The beginning of the word of the LORD by Hosea. And the LORD said to Hosea, Go, take [b] unto thee a wife of whoredoms, and children of whoredoms: for [c] the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the LORD.

3 So he went and took Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim; which conceived, and bare him a son.

4 And the LORD said unto him, Call his name Jezreel; for yet a little while, and I will [1] avenge the blood of [a] Jezreel upon the house of Jehu, and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Israel.

Digitized by Google

5 And it shall come to pass at that day, that I will break the bow of Israel in the valley of Jezreel.

6 And she conceived again, and bare a daughter. And God said unto him, Call her name [3] Lo-ruhamah: for [a] I will no [4] more have mercy upon the house of Israel; [5] but I will utterly take them away.

7 But I will have mercy upon the house of Judah, [b] and will save them by the LORD their [c] God, and will not save them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battle, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when she had weaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived, and bare a son.

9 Then said God, Call his name [7] Loammi: for ye are not my people, and I will not be your God.

10 Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor numbered: and [e] it shall come to pass, that [8] in the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not [g] my people, there it shall be said unto them, Ye are the sons [h] of the living God.

11 Then [j] shall the children of Judah and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come up out of the land: for great shall be the day of Jezreel.

CHAP. II.

SAY ye unto your brethren, [11] Ammi; and to your sisters, [13] Ruhamah.

2 Plead with your mother, plead; for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: let her therefore put away her whoredoms [l] out of her sight, and her adulteries from between her breasts;

3 Lest I strip [m] her naked, and set her as in the day that she was born, and make her as a wilderness, [o] and set her like a dry land, and slay her with thirst. [p]

4 And I will not have mercy upon her children; for they be the children of whoredoms.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot; [q] she that conceived them hath done shamefully: for she said, I will go after my lovers, that give [t] me my bread and my water, my wool and my flax, mine oil and my [14] drink.

6 Therefore, behold, I will hedge [u] up thy way with thorns, and make [15] a wall, that she shall not find her paths.

7 And she shall follow after her lovers, but she shall not overtake them; and she shall seek them, but shall not find them: then [w] shall she say, I will go and return to my first husband; for then was it better with me than now.

8 For she did not know that I gave her corn, and [16] wine, and oil, and multiplied her silver and gold, [17] which they prepared for Baal.

9 Therefore will I return, and take away my corn in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recover [1] my wool and my flax given to cover her nakedness.

10 And now will I discover her [2] lewdness in the sight of her lovers, and none shall deliver her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast-days, her new-moons, and her sabbaths, and all her solemn feasts.

12 And I will [6] destroy her vines and her fig-trees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my lovers have given me: and [d] I will make them a forest, and the beasts of the field shall eat them.

13 And I will visit upon her the days of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them, and she decked herself with her ear-rings and her jewels, and she went after her lovers, and forgat me, saith the LORD.

14 Therefore, behold, I will allure her, and [f] bring her into the wilderness, and speak [9] comfortably unto her.

15 And I will give her her vineyards from thence, and the valley [i] of Achor for a door of hope; and she shall sing there, as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Egypt.

16 And it shall be at that day, saith the LORD, that thou shalt call me [10] Ishi, and shalt call me no more [12] Baali.

17 For I will take away [k] the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall no more be remembered by their name.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven, and with the creeping things of the ground: and [n] I will break the bow, and the sword, and the battle out of the earth, and will make them to lie down safely.

19 And I will betroth [7] thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, [r] and in judgment, and in loving-kindness, and in mercies:

20 I will even betroth thee unto me in faithfulness; and thou shalt know the LORD.

21 And it shall come to pass in that day, I will hear, saith the LORD, I will hear the heavens, and they shall hear the earth;

22 And the earth shall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil; and they shall hear Jezreel.

23 And I will sow her unto me in the earth; and [v] I will have mercy upon her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art [x] my people; and they shall say, Thou art my God.

of the LORD toward the children of Israel, who look to other gods, and love flagons of [1] wine.

2 So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley, and an [3] half homer of barley:

4 For the children of Israel shall abide many days without [d] a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without [5] an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel return, and seek [g] the LORD their God, and David [h] their king; and shall fear the LORD and his goodness in the latter days.[i]

CHAP. IV.

HEAR the word of the LORD, ye children of Israel: for the LORD hath a controversy [j] with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge [k] of God, in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and [l] killing, and stealing, and committing adultery, they break out, and [8] blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore [m] shall the land mourn, and every one [n] that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven; yea, the fishes of the sea also shall be taken away.

4 Yet let no man strive, nor reprove another: for this people are as they that strive [p] with the priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the prophet also shall fall with thee in the night, and I will [11] destroy thy mother.

6 My people are [11] destroyed for [r] lack of knowledge: because thou hast rejected knowledge, I will also reject thee, that thou shalt be no priest to me: seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As [s] they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore [t] will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eat up the sin of my people, and they [14] set their heart [v] on their iniquity.

9 And there shall be, like people, like priest: and I will [15] punish them for their ways, and [16] reward them their doings.

10 For they shall eat, and not have enough: they shall commit whoredom, and shall not increase: because they have left off to take heed to the LORD.

11 Whoredom, [x] and wine, [y] and new wine, take away the heart.

12 My people ask counsel at their stocks, and their staff declareth unto them: for the spirit of whoredoms hath caused them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God.

13 They sacrifice upon the tops of the mountains, and burn incense upon the hills,

14 I [2] will not punish your daughters when they commit whoredom, nor your spouses when they commit adultery: for themselves are separated [b] with whores, and they sacrifice with harlots: therefore the people that doth not understand [c] shall [4] fall.

2 After two days will he revive us: in the third [h] day he will raise us up, and we shall live in his sight.

3 Then [i] shall we know, if we follow on [j] to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain,[k] as the latter and former rain unto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I do unto thee? O Judah, what shall I do unto thee? for your [9] goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the early dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore have I hewed them by the prophets; I have slain [p] them by the words of my mouth: [10] and thy judgments are as the light [r] that goeth forth.

6 For [s] I desired mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt-offerings.

7 But they, like [12] men, have transgressed the covenant: there have they dealt treacherously against me.

8 Gilead is a city of them that work iniquity, and is [13] polluted with blood.

9 And as troops of robbers wait for a man, so the company of priests murder in the way [15] by consent: for they commit [16] lewdness.

10 I have seen an horrible thing in the house of Israel: there is the whoredom [t] of Ephraim, Israel is defiled.

11 Also, O Judah, he hath set an harvest for thee, when I returned the captivity of my people.

CHAP. VII.

WHEN I would have healed Israel, then the iniquity of Ephraim was discovered, and the [18] wickedness of Samaria: for they commit falsehood; and the thief cometh in, and the troop of robbers [9] spoileth without:

2 And they [20] consider not in their hearts that I remember all their wickedness: now their [a] own doings have beset them about; they are before my face.

3 They make the king glad with their wickedness, and the princes with their lies.[b]

4 They are all adulterers,[c] as an oven heated by the baker,[2] who ceaseth from [4] raising after he hath kneaded the dough until it be leavened.

5 In the day of our king the princes have made him sick with [5] bottles of wine: he stretched out his hand with scorners.

6 For they have [6] made ready their heart like an oven, whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night; in the morning it burneth as a flaming fire.

7 They are all hot as an oven, and have devoured their judges: all their kings are fallen: [e] there is none among them that calleth unto me.

8 Ephraim, he hath mixed [f] himself among the people; Ephraim is a cake not turned.

9 Strangers have devoured his strength, and he knoweth it not; yea, gray hairs are [8] here and there upon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face; [l] and [m] they do not return to the LORD their God, nor seek him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a silly dove without heart: they [n] call to Egypt, they go to Assyria.

12 When they shall go, I will spread my net [o] upon them; I will bring them down as the fowls of the heaven; I will chastise [q] them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Woe unto them! for they have fled from me: [11] destruction unto them! because they have transgressed against me: though I have redeemed them, yet they have spoken lies against me.

14 And they have not cried unto me with their heart, when they howled upon their beds: they assemble themselves for corn and wine, and they rebel against me.

15 Though I [14] have bound and strengthened their arms, yet do they imagine mischief against me.

16 They return, but not to the Most High: they are like a deceitful bow: their princes shall fall by the sword for the rage of their tongue: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

SET [17] the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the house of the LORD, because they have transgressed my covenant, and trespassed against my law.

2 Israel shall cry unto me, My God, we know thee

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They have set up kings, [a] but not by me; they have made princes, and I knew it not: of their silver and their gold have they made them idols, that they may be cut off.

5 Thy calf, O Samaria, hath cast thee off; mine anger is kindled against them: how long will it be ere they attain to innocency?

6 For from Israel was it also: the workman made it; therefore it is not God: but the calf of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind: it hath no stalk;[3] the bud shall yield no meal, if so be it yield, the strangers shall swallow it up.

8 Israel is swallowed up: now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone up to Assyria, a wild ass alone by himself: Ephraim hath hired [4] lovers.

10 Yea, though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall [5] sorrow [6] a little for the burden of the king of princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sin, altars shall be unto him to sin.

12 I have written to him the great things of my law, but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 [7] They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it; but the LORD accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sins: they shall return to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his Maker, and buildeth temples; and Judah hath multiplied fenced cities: but I will send a fire upon his cities, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

REJOICE not, O Israel, for joy, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God; thou hast loved a reward upon [10] every corn-floor.

2 The floor and the [11] wine-press shall not feed them, and the new wine shall fail in her.

3 They shall not dwell in the LORD's land; but Ephraim shall return to Egypt[l] and [m] they shall eat unclean things in Assyria.

4 They shall not offer wine-offerings to the LORD, neither [o] shall they be pleasing unto him: their sacrifices shall be unto them as the bread of mourners; all that eat thereof shall be polluted: for their bread [q] for their soul shall not come into the house of the LORD.

5 What will ye do in the solemn day, and in the day of the feast of the LORD?

6 For, lo, they are gone because [16] of destruction: Egypt shall gather them up, Memphis shall bury them: [17] the [18] pleasant places for their silver, nettles shall possess them; thorns shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The days of visitation are come, the days of recompense are come; Israel shall know it: the prophet is a fool, the spiritual [1] man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity, and the great hatred.

8 The watchman [b] of Ephraim was with my God: but the prophet is a snare of a fowler in all his ways, and hatred [2] in the house of his God.

9 They have deeply corrupted themselves, as in the days of Gibeah: [c] therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sins.

10 I [d] found Israel like grapes in the wilderness; I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the fig-tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor [e] and separated themselves unto that shame; and their abominations were according as they loved. [f]

11 As for Ephraim, their glory shall flee away like a bird, from the birth, and from the womb, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring up their children, yet will I bereave them, that there shall not be a man left: yea, woe also to them when I depart [g] from them!

13 Ephraim, as I saw Tyrus, [h] is planted in a pleasant place: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderer.

14 Give them, O LORD: what wilt thou give? give them a [8] miscarrying womb and dry breasts.

15 All their wickedness is in [i] Gilgal; for there I hated them: for the wickedness of their doings I will drive them out of mine house, [j] I will love them no more: all their princes are revolters.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their root is dried up, they shall bear no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay even the [9] beloved fruit of their womb.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not hearken unto him: and they shall be wanderers [k] among the nations.

CHAP. X.

ISRAEL is [12] an empty vine, he bringeth forth fruit unto himself: according to the multitude of his fruit he hath increased [m] the altars; according to the goodness of his land they have made goodly [13] images.

2 Their [14] heart is divided; now shall they be found faulty: he shall [15] break down their altars, he shall spoil their images.

3 For now they shall say, We [p] have no king, because we feared not the LORD; what then should a king do to us?

4 They have spoken words, swearing falsely in making a covenant: thus judgment springeth up as hemlock in the furrows of the field.

it, for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also carried unto Assyria for a present to king Jareb: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.[a]

7 As for Samaria, her king is cut off as the foam upon the [1] water.

8 The high places also of Aven, the [b] sin of Israel shall be destroyed: the thorn and the thistle shall come upon their altars, and [d] they shall say to the mountains, Cover us; and to the hills, Fall on us.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the days of Gibeah; there they stood: the battle in Gibeah against the children of iniquity did not overtake them.

10 It is in my desire that I should chastise them; and the people shall be gathered against them, when [2] they shall bind themselves in their two furrows.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer that is taught, and loveth to tread out the corn; but I passed over upon [4] her fair neck: I will make Ephraim to ride; Judah shall plough, and Jacob shall break his clods.

12 Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness upon you.

13 Ye have ploughed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies; because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy fortresses shall be spoiled, as Shalman spoiled Beth-arbel in the day of battle: the mother was dashed in pieces upon her children.

15 So shall Beth-el do unto you because of [7] your great wickedness: in a morning shall the king of Israel be utterly cut off.

CHAP. XI.

WHEN Israel was a child, then I loved him, and [m] called my son out of Egypt.

2 As they called them, so they went from them: they sacrificed unto Baalim, and burnt incense to graven images.

3 I [n] taught Ephraim also to go, taking them by their arms; but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love: and I was to them as they that [12] take off the yoke on their jaws, and I laid meat unto them.

5 He shall not return into the land of Egypt, but the Assyrian shall be his king, because they refused to return.

6 And the sword shall abide on his cities, and shall consume his branches, and devour them, because of their own counsels

7 And my people are bent to backsliding from me: though they called them to the Most High,[14] none at all would exalt him.

9 I will not execute the fierceness of mine anger, I will not return to destroy Ephraim: for [c] I am God, and not man; the Holy One in the midst of thee; and I will not enter into the city.

10 They shall walk after the LORD, he shall roar like a lion: when he shall roar, then the children shall tremble from the west.

11 They shall tremble as a bird out of Egypt, and as a dove out of the land of Assyria: and I will place them in their houses, saith the LORD.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies,[e] and the house of Israel with deceit: but Judah yet ruleth with God, and is faithful with the [3] saints.

CHAP. XII.

EPHRAIM feedeth on wind, and followeth after the east wind: he daily increaseth lies and desolation; and they do make a covenant with the Assyrians, and oil [f] is carried into Egypt.

2 The LORD hath also a controversy with [g] Judah, and will [5] punish Jacob according to his ways; according [h] to his doings will he recompense him.

3 He [i] took his brother by the heel in the womb, and by his strength he [6] had power with [j] God:

4 Yea, he had power over the angel, and prevailed; he wept, and made supplication unto him: he found him in Beth-el, [k] and there he spake with us.

5 Even the LORD God of hosts: the LORD is his memorial.[l]

6 Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually.

7 He is [8] a merchant, the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loveth to [9] oppress.

8 And Ephraim said, Yet I am become rich,[o] I have found me out substance: in [10] all my labours they shall find none iniquity in me [11] that were sin

9 And I, that am the LORD thy God from the land of Egypt will yet make thee to dwell in tabernacles, as in the days of the solemn feasts.

10 I [p] have also spoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied visions, and used similitudes, by the [13] ministry of the prophets.

11 Is there iniquity in Gilead? surely they are vanity: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, [q] yea, their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the fields.

Syria, and Israel served for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheep.

13 And by a prophet the LORD brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a prophet was he preserved.

14 Ephraim provoked him to anger most [3] bitterly: therefore shall he leave his [4] blood upon him, and his reproach shall [b] his LORD return unto him.

CHAP. XIII.

WHEN Ephraim spake trembling, he exalted himself in Israel; but when he offended in Baal, he died.

2 And now they [6] sin more [c] and more, and have made them molten images of their silver, and idols according to their own understanding, all of it the work of the craftsmen: they say of them, Let the men [7] that sacrifice kiss [e] the calves.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the early dew it passeth away; as the chaff [f] that is driven with the whirlwind out of the floor, and as the smoke out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the LORD thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no god but me: for there is no saviour besides me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of [9] great drought. [h]

6 According to their pasture, so were they filled; they were filled, and their heart was exalted; therefore have they forgotten me.

7 Therefore I will be unto them as a lion: as a leopard by the way will I observe them:

8 I will meet them as a bear that is bereaved of her whelps, and will rend the caul of their heart, and there will I devour them like a lion: the [13] wild beast shall tear them.

9 O Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself; but in me [14] is thine help.

10 [17] I will be thy king: where is any other that may save thee in all thy cities: and thy judges, of whom thou saidst, Give me a king and princes?

11 I gave [j] thee a king in mine anger, and took him away [k] in my wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up; his sin is hid.

13 The sorrows of a travailing woman shall come upon him: he is an unwise son; for he should not stay [1] long in the place of the breaking forth of children.

14 I [a] will ransom them from the power [2] of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction: repentance shall be hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he be fruitful among his brethren, an east wind shall come, the wind of the LORD shall come up from the wilderness, and his spring shall become dry, and his fountain shall be dried up: he shall spoil the treasure of all [5] pleasant vessels.

16 Samaria [d] shall become desolate; for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword; their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ripped up.

CHAP. XIV.

O ISRAEL, return unto the LORD thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.

2 Take with you words, and turn to the LORD: say unto him, Take away all iniquity, and [8] receive us graciously: so will we render the [g] calves of our lips.

3 Assur shall not save us; we will not ride upon horses; neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy.

4 I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

5 I will be as the dew unto Israel: he shall [10] grow as the lily, and [11] cast forth his roots as Lebanon.

6 His branches shall [12] spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive-tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

7 They that dwell under his [i] shadow shall return; they shall revive as the corn, and [15] grow as the vine: the [16] scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

8 Ephraim shall say, What have I to do any more with idols? I have heard him, and observed him: I am like a green firtree. From me is thy fruit found.

9 Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know them? for the ways of the LORD are right, and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressors shall fall therein.

5 Awake, ye drunkards, and weep; and howl, all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine; for [c] it is cut off from your mouth.

6 For [d] a nation is come up upon my land, strong, and without number, whose teeth [f] are the teeth of a lion, and he hath the cheek teeth of a great lion.

7 He hath laid [h] my vine waste, and barked [2] my fig-tree: he hath made it clean bare, and cast it away; the branches thereof are made white.

8 Lament like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meat-offering and the drink-offering is cut off from the house of the LORD; the priests, the LORD's ministers, mourn.

10 The field is wasted, the land mourneth; for the corn is wasted: the new wine is [3] dried up, the oil languisheth.

11 Be ye ashamed, O ye husbandmen; howl, O ye vine-dressers, for the wheat and for the barley; because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried up, and the fig-tree [l] languisheth; the pomegranate-tree, the palm-tree also, and the apple-tree, even all the trees of the field, are withered: because [m] joy is withered away from the sons of men.

13 Gird [n] yourselves, and lament, ye priests; howl, ye ministers of the altar; come, lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meat-offering and the drink-offering is withholden from the house of your God.

14 Sanctify ye a fast, [o] call a [6] solemn assembly, gather the elders, and all the inhabitants of the land, into the house of the LORD your God, and cry unto the LORD,

15 Alas [t] for the day! for [u] the day of the LORD is at hand, and as a destruction from the Almighty shall it come.

16 Is not the meat cut off before your eyes, yea, joy [v] and gladness from the house of our God?

17 The [7] seed is rotten under their clods, the garners are laid desolate, the barns are broken down; for the corn is withered.

18 How do the beasts [y] groan! the herds of cattle are perplexed, because they have no pasture; yea, the flocks of sheep are made desolate.

19 O LORD, to thee will I cry: [a] for the fire [c] hath devoured the [8] pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field cry also [e] unto thee: for [f] the rivers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

CHAP. II

BLOW ye the [9] trumpet in Zion, and sound an alarm [i] in my holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for [a] the day of the LORD cometh, for it is nigh at hand:

2 A day of darkness, [b] and of gloominess, a day of clouds and of thick darkness, as the morning spread upon the mountains: a great people and a [c] strong; there hath not been ever the like, [g] neither shall be any more after it, even to the years of [1] many generations.

3 A fire devoureth before them; and behind them a flame burneth: the land is as the garden of Eden [i] before them, and behind [j] them a desolate wilderness; yea, and nothing shall escape them.

4 The appearance of them is as the appearance of horses; and as horsemen, so shall they run.

5 Like the noise of chariots on the tops of mountains shall they leap, like the noise of a flame of fire that devoureth the stubble, as a strong people set in battle array.

6 Before their face the people shall be much pained; all faces shall gather [4] blackness. [k]

7 They shall run like mighty men, they shall climb the wall like men of war; and they shall march every one on his ways, and they [4] shall not break their ranks:

8 Neither shall one thrust another, they shall walk every one in his path: and when they fall upon the [5] sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall run to and fro in the city; they shall run upon the wall; they shall climb up upon the houses; they shall enter in at the windows [p] like a thief. [q]

10 The earth [r] shall quake before them: the heavens shall tremble: the [s] sun and the moon shall be dark, and the stars shall with draw their shining;

11 And the LORD shall utter his voice before his army; for his camp is very great: for he is strong that executeth his word: for the day of the LORD is great and very terrible; and who [w] can abide it?

12 Therefore also now, saith the LORD, turn [x] ye even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning;

13 And rend [z] your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the LORD your God: for he [b] is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil.

14 Who [d] knoweth if he will return and repent, and leave a blessing behind him; even a [g] meat-offering, and a drink-offering, unto the LORD your God?

15 Blow [h] the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly:

the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroom go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her closet:

17 Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare [b] thy people, O LORD, and give not thine heritage to reproach, that the heathen should rule [1] over them: wherefore [d] should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the LORD be jealous [e] for his land, and pity [g] his people.

19 Yea, the LORD will answer and say unto his people, Behold, I will send you corn, and wine, and oil, and ye shall be satisfied therewith; and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen:

20 But I will remove far off from you the northern army, and will drive him into a land barren and desolate, with his face toward the east sea; and his hinder part towards the utmost sea: and his stink shall come up, and his ill savour shall come up, because he hath [2] done great things.

21 Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice: for the LORD [k] will do great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness do spring, for the tree beareth her fruit, the fig-tree and the vine do yield their strength.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice [l] in the LORD your God: for he hath given you [5] the former rain [6] moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the rain, the former rain, and the latter rain in the first month.

24 And the floors shall be full of wheat, and the fats shall overflow with wine and oil.

25 And I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten, the canker-worm, and the caterpillar, and the palmer-worm, my great army [n] which I sent among you.

26 And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the LORD your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you: and [o] my people shall never be ashamed.

27 And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the LORD your God, and none else: and my people shall never be ashamed.

28 And [q] it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit [r] upon all flesh; and your sons and your [t] daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions.

29 And also upon the servants [w] and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my Spirit.

30 And I will shew wonders [x] in the heavens and in the earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and the terrible day of the LORD come.

CHAP. III.

FOR, behold, in those days, and in that time, when I shall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem,

2 I [f] will also gather all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat, and will plead [h] with them there for my people and for my heritage Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they have cast lots [i] for my people; and have given a boy for a harlot, and sold a girl for wine, that they might drink.

4 Yea, and what have ye to do with me, O Tyre, and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestine? will ye render me a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I return your recompense upon your own head:

5 Because ye have taken [j] my silver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly [3] pleasant things:

6 The children also of Judah and the children of Jerusalem have ye sold unto the [4] Grecians, that ye might remove them far from their border.

7 Behold, I [m] will raise them out of the place whither ye have sold them, and will return your recompense upon your own head:

8 And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people far off: for the LORD hath spoken it.

9 Proclaim ye this among the Gentiles; [7] Prepare war, wake up the mighty men, let all the men of war draw near; let them come up:

10 Beat your plough-shares into swords, and your [8] pruning-hooks into spears: let the weak say, I am strong.

11 Assemble yourselves, and come, all ye heathen, and gather yourselves together round about: thither [9] cause thy mighty [p] ones to come down, O LORD.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley [s] of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to judge [u] all the heathen round about.

13 Put [v] ye in the sickle; for the harvest is ripe: come, get you down; for the press is full, the fats overflow; for the wickedness is great.

14 Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of [10] decision: for the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.

15 The sun and the moon shall be darkened, and the stars shall withdraw their shining.

16 The LORD also shall roar [a] out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem; and the heavens [c] and the earth shall shake: but [d] the LORD will be the [2] hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the LORD your God dwelling [e] in Zion, my holy mountain: then shall Jerusalem be [3] holy, and there shall no strangers [f] pass through her any more.

18 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the mountains [i] shall drop down new wine, and the hills shall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah shall [1] flow with waters, [b] and a fountain shall come forth of the house of the LORD, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall be a desolation, and Edom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the violence against the children of Judah, because they have shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Judah shall [4] dwell for ever, [g] and Jerusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse [h] their blood that I have not cleansed: [5] for the LORD [j] dwelleth in Zion.

AMOS.

CHAP. I.

THE words of Amos, who was among the herdmen [a] of Tekoa, [b] which he saw concerning Israel in the days [c] of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel, two years before the earthquake. [e]

2 And he said, The LORD will [f] roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem; and the habitations of the shepherds shall mourn, and the top of Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the LORD, For three transgressions of Damascus, [2] and for four, I will not [3] turn away the [i] punishment thereof; because [j] they have threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of iron:

4 But I will send a fire into the house of Hazael, which shall devour the palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will break [l] also the bar of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant from [5] the plain of Aven, and him that holdeth the sceptre from [6] the house of Eden: and the people of Syria shall go [m] into captivity unto Kir, saith the LORD.

6 Thus saith the LORD, For three transgressions of Gaza, [n] and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they [7] carried away captive the whole captivity, to deliver them up to Edom:

7 But [p] I will send a fire on the wall of Gaza, which shall devour the palaces thereof:

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the sceptre from Ashkelon; and I will turn mine hand against Ekron: and the remnant of the Philistines [q] shall perish, saith the Lord GOD.

9 Thus saith the LORD, For three transgressions of Tyrus, [s] and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they delivered up the whole captivity to Edom, and remembered not the [8] brotherly covenant:

10 But I will send a fire on the wall of Tyrus, which shall devour the palaces thereof.

11 Thus saith the LORD, For three transgressions of Edom, [d] and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and [1] did cast off all pity, and his anger did tear perpetually, [g] and kept his wrath for ever:

12 But I will send a fire upon Teman, which shall devour the palaces of Bozrah.

13 Thus saith the LORD, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, [h] and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof: because they have [4] ripped up [k] the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border:

14 But I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall devour the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battle, with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind:

15 And their king shall go into captivity, he and his princes together, saith the LORD.

CHAP. II.

THUS saith the LORD, For three transgressions of Moab, [o] and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because he burnt the bones of the king of Edom into lime;

2 But I will send a fire upon Moab, and it shall devour the palaces of Kirioth; and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet:

3 And I will cut off the judge from the midst thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the LORD.

4 Thus saith the LORD, For three transgressions of Judah, [r] and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they have despised the law of the LORD, and have not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to err, after the which their fathers have walked:

5 But I will send a fire upon Judah,

6 Thus saith the LORD, For three transgressions of Israel, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they sold the righteous for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes;

7 That pant after the dust of the earth on the head of the poor, and turn aside the way of the meek; and [d] a man and his father will go in unto the same maid,[1] to profane [e] my holy name.

8 And they lay themselves down upon clothes laid to pledge by every altar, and they drink the wine of [4] the condemned in the house of their god.

9 Yet destroyed I the Amorite [g] before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks; yet I destroyed his fruit from above, and his roots from beneath.

10 Also I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you forty years through the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised up of your sons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Israel? saith the LORD.

12 But ye gave the Nazarites wine to drink; and commanded the prophets, saying, Prophesy not.[k]

13 Behold,[8] I am pressed under you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty deliver [9] himself:

15 Neither shall he stand that handleth the bow; and he that is swift [p] of foot shall not deliver himself: neither shall he that rideth the horse deliver himself.

16 And he that is [10] courageous among the mighty shall flee away naked in that day, saith the LORD.

CHAP. III.

HEAR this word that the LORD hath spoken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You only [t] have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will punish [12] you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walk together, except they be [x] agreed?

4 Will a lion roar [z] in the forest, when he hath no prey? will a young lion [15] cry out of his den if he have taken nothing?

5 Can a bird fall in a snare [d] upon the earth where no gin is for him? shall one take up a snare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all?

6 Shall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people not [17] be afraid? f shall there be evil in a city,[18] and the LORD hath not done it?

9 Publish in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble yourselves upon the mountains of Samaria, and behold the great tumults in the midst thereof, and the [2] oppressed in the midst thereof.

10 For they know not [f] to do right, saith the LORD, who store up violence and [3] robbery in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, An adversary [h] there shall be even round about the land; and he shall bring down thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.

12 Thus saith the LORD, As the shepherd [5] taketh out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an ear; so [i] shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and [6] in Damascus in a couch.

13 Hear ye, and testify in the house of Jacob, saith the Lord GOD, the God of hosts, 14 That in the day that I shall [7] visit the transgressions of Israel upon him, I will also visit the altars of Beth-el; [j] and the horns of the altar shall be cut off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the [l] winter-house with the summer-house; [m] and the houses of ivory [n] shall perish, and the great houses shall have an end, saith the LORD.

CHAP. IV.

HEAR this word, ye kine [o] of Bashan, that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppress the poor, which crush the needy, which say to their masters, Bring, and let us drink.

2 The Lord GOD hath sworn by his holiness, [q] that, lo, the days shall come upon you, that he will take you away with hooks, [r] and your posterity with fish-hooks.

3 And ye shall go out at the [s] breaches, every cow at that which is before her; and ye shall [11] cast them into the palace, saith the LORD.

4 Come to Beth-el, [u] and transgress; at Gilgal [v] multiply transgression; and bring your sacrifices [w] every morning, and your tithes [y] after three [13] years;

5 And offer [14] a sacrifice of thanksgiving [a] with leaven, and proclaim and publish the free-offerings; [b] for [16] this liketh you, [c] O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord GOD.

6 And I also have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and want [e] of bread in all your places; yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

months to the harvest: and I caused it to rain upon one city, and caused it not to rain upon another city: one piece was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered unto one city, to drink water; but they were not satisfied: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

9 I have smitten you with blasting [b] and mildew, [2] when your gardens, and your vineyards, and your fig-trees, and your olive-trees increased, [3] the palmer-worm devoured them: yet [c] have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

10 I have sent among you the pestilence, after [d] the manner of Egypt: your young men have I slain with the sword, and [6] have taken away your horses; and I have made the stink of your camps to come up unto your nostrils: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

11 I have overthrown some of you, as God overthrew Sodom [j] and Gomorrah, and ye were as a firebrand [k] plucked out of the burning: yet have ye not returned unto me, saith the LORD.

12 Therefore thus will I do unto thee, O Israel: and because I will do this unto thee, prepare [m] to meet thy God, O Israel.

13 For, lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the [7] wind, and declareth unto man what is his [n] thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, The LORD, the God of hosts, is his name.

CHAP. V.

HEAR ye this word which I take up against you, even a lamentation, O house of Israel.

2 The [q] virgin of Israel is fallen; she shall no more rise: she is forsaken upon her land; there is none to raise her up.

3 For thus saith the Lord GOD, The city that went out by a thousand shall leave an hundred, and that which went forth by an hundred shall leave ten, to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the LORD unto the house of Israel, Seek [r] ye me, and ye shall live.

5 But seek not Beth-el,[t] nor enter into Gilgal, and pass not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall surely go into captivity, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seek the LORD, and ye shall live; lest he break out like fire in the house of Joseph, and devour it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 Ye who turn judgment to wormwood, and leave off righteousness in the earth,

8 Seek him that maketh the seven stars and Orion, and turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and maketh the day dark with night: that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: The LORD is his name:

9 That strengtheneth the [1] spoiled against the strong, so that the spoiled shall come against the fortress.

10 They hate [a] him that rebuketh in the gate, and they abhor him that speaketh uprightly.

11 Forasmuch, therefore, as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat; ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted [4] pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions and your mighty sins: they afflict the just, [e] they take a [5] bribe, [f] and they turn aside [g] the poor in the gate from their right.

13 Therefore the prudent shall keep silence [h] in that time; for it is an evil time.

14 Seek good,[i] and not evil, that ye may live; and so the LORD, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken.

15 Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgment in the gate: it [l] may be that the LORD God of hosts will be gracious unto the remnant of Joseph.

16 Therefore the LORD, the God of hosts, the Lord, saith thus, Wailing shall be in all streets; and they shall say in all the highways, Alas! alas! and they shall call the husbandman to mourning, and such [o] as are skilful of lamentation to wailing.

17 And in all vineyards shall be wailing: for I will pass through thee, saith the LORD.

18 Woe unto you that desire the day of the LORD! to what end is it for you? the [p] day of the LORD is darkness, and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the LORD be darkness, and not light? even very dark, and no brightness in it?

21 I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell [8] in your solemn assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt-offerings, and your meat-offerings, I [s] will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace[9]-offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs; for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.

24 But [u] let judgment [10] run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.

25 Have ye offered unto me [v] sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?

26 But ye have borne [11] the tabernacle of your Moloch and Chiun your images, the star of your god, which ye made to yourselves.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond [a] Damascus, saith the LORD, whose name is The God of hosts.

CHAP. VI.

WOE to them that [1] are at ease [b] in Zion, and trust in the mountain of Samaria, which are named [2] chief [c] of the nations, to whom the house of Israel came!

2 Pass ye unto Calneh, [d] and see; and from thence go ye to Hamath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philistines: be they better than these kingdoms? or their border greater than your border?

3 Ye that put far away [e] the evil day, and cause the [4] seat of violence to come near;

4 That lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch [5] themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall;

5 That [6] chant to the sound of the viol, [f] and invent to themselves instruments of music, like David; [g]

6 That drink [7] wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments; but they are not grieved for the affliction [8] of Joseph. [h]

7 Therefore now shall they go captive with the first that go captive, and the banquet of them that stretched themselves shall be removed.

8 The Lord GOD hath sworn by [i] himself, saith the LORD, the God of hosts, I abhor [k] the excellency [l] of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city, with all [9] that is therein.

9 And it shall come to pass, if there remain ten men in one house, that they shall die.

10 And a man's uncle shall take him up, and he that burneth him, to bring out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? and he shall say, No. Then shall he say, Hold [m] thy tongue; for [11] we may not make mention of the name of the LORD.

11 For, behold, the LORD commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, [13] and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses run upon the rock? will one plough there with oxen? for ye have turned judgment [z] into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into hemlock. [a]

13 Ye which rejoice in a thing of nought, which say, Have we not taken to us horns by our own strength?

14 But, behold, I will [d] raise up against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the LORD, the God of hosts; and they shall afflict you from the entering in of Hamath unto [e] the [16] river of the wilderness.

CHAP. VII.

THUS hath the Lord GOD shewed unto me, and, behold, he formed [17] grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth; and, lo, it was the latter growth after the king's mowings

2 And it came to pass, that when they had made an end of eating the grass of the land, then I said, O Lord GOD, forgive, I beseech thee; [c 2] by whom shall Jacob arise? for he is small. [d]

3 The LORD repented [f] for this: It shall not be, saith the LORD.

4 Thus hath the Lord GOD shewed unto me; and, behold, the Lord GOD called to contend by fire, [h] and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord GOD, cease, I beseech thee; by whom shall Jacob arise? for he is small.

6 And the LORD repented for this: This also shall not be, saith the Lord GOD.

7 Thus he shewed me; and, behold, the LORD stood upon a wall made by a plumb-line, with a plumb-line in his hand.

8 And the LORD said unto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A plumb-line. Then said the LORD, Behold, I will set a plumb-line [l] in the midst of my people Israel: I will not again pass by [m] them any more:

9 And the high places [o] of Isaac shall be desolate, and the sanctuaries of Israel shall be laid waste; and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword. [p]

10 Then Amaziah, the priest [r] of Bethel, sent to Jeroboam [s] king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the midst of the house of Israel; the land is not able to bear all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall surely be led away captive out of their own land.

12 Also Amaziah said unto Amos, O thou seer, go, flee thee away into the land of Judah, and there eat bread, and prophesy there:

13 But prophesy not again any more at Beth-el: for [w] it is the king's [10] chapel, and it is the [12] king's court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I [x] was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's son; but I was an herdman, [y] and a gatherer of [14] sycamore-fruit:

15 And the LORD took me [15] as I followed the flock, and the LORD said unto me, Go, prophesy unto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore hear thou the word of the LORD: Thou sayest, Prophesy not [b] against Israel, and drop [c] not thy word against the house of Isaac.

17 Therefore [e] thus saith the LORD; Thy wife shall be an harlot [f] in the city, and thy sons and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be divided by line; and thou shalt die in a polluted land: and Israel shall surely go into captivity forth of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

THUS hath the Lord GOD shewed unto me: and, behold, a basket of summer-fruit.

2 And he said, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of summer-fruit. Then said the LORD unto me, The end [b] is come upon my people of Israel; I [c] will not again pass by them any more.

3 And the songs [d] of the temple [1] shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord GOD: there [e] shall be many dead bodies in every place; they shall cast them forth with [2] silence.

4 Hear this, O ye that swallow [g] up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail,

5 Saying, When [h] will the [3] new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, [j] that we may [4] set forth wheat, making the ephah small, [k] and the shekel great, and [5] falsifying the balances [l] by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes; yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat?

7 The LORD hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will [m] never forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn [n] that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise up wholly as a flood; and it shall be cast out and drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord GOD, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, [p] and I will darken the earth in the clear day:

10 And I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation; and I will bring up [r] sackcloth upon all loins, and baldness upon every head; and I will make it as the [s] mourning of an only son, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord GOD, that I will send a famine in the land; not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but [u] of hearing the words of the LORD:

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east; they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the LORD, and shall not find it.

13 In that day shall the fair virgins and young men faint for [v] thirst.

14 They that swear [w] by the sin [x] of Samaria, and say, Thy god, O Dan, liveth; and, The [12] manner of Beer-sheba liveth; [z] even they shall fall, and never rise up again.

CHAP. IX.

I SAW the LORD standing upon the altar: and he said, Smite the [15] lintel of the door, that the posts may shake: and cut [16] them in the head, [c] all of them; and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them shall not flee away, and he that escapeth of them shall not be delivered.

2 Though [e] they dig into hell, thence shall mine hand take them; though they climb up to heaven, [a] thence will I bring them down:

3 And though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence; and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them;

4 And though they go into captivity before their enemies, thence [f] will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes upon them for evil, and not for good.

5 And the Lord GOD of hosts is he that toucheth the land, and it shall melt, [i] and all that dwelleth therein shall mourn: and it shall rise up wholly like a flood; and shall be drowned, as by the flood of Egypt.

6 It is he that buildeth his [6] stories in the heaven, and hath [7] founded his troop in the earth; he that calleth for the waters of the sea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth; The LORD is his name.

7 Are ye not as children of the Ethiopians unto me, O children of Israel? saith the LORD. Have not I brought up Israel out of the land of Egypt, and the Philistines [o] from Caphtor, and the Syrians from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord GOD are upon the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from off the face of the earth; saving that I will not [q] utterly destroy the house of Jacob, saith the LORD.

9 For, lo, I will command, and I will sift [8] the house of Israel among all nations, like as corn is sifted in a sieve, yet shall not the least [9] grain fall upon the earth.

10 All the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The evil shall not overtake nor prevent us.

11 In [t] that day will I raise up the tabernacle of David that is fallen, and close [10] up the breaches thereof: and I will raise up his ruins, and I will build it as in the days of old:

12 That they may possess the remnant of Edom, and of all the heathen, [11] which are called by my name, saith the LORD that doeth this.

13 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that [y] the ploughman shall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes him that [13] soweth seed; and [a] the mountains shall drop [14] sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt.

14 And [b] I will bring again the captivity of my people of Israel, and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof; they shall also make gardens, and eat the fruit of them.

15 And I will [d] plant them upon their land, and they shall no more be pulled up out of their land which I have given them, saith the LORD thy God

OBADIAH.

THE vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord GOD concerning Edom, [b] We have heard a rumour from the LORD, and an ambassador is sent among the heathen, Arise ye, and let us rise up against her in battle.

2 Behold, I have made thee small among the heathen: thou art greatly despised.

3 The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high; that saith [c] in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground?

4 Though [d] thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD.

5 If thieves came to thee, if robbers by night, (how art thou cut off!) would they not have stolen till they had enough? if the grape-gatherers came to thee, would they not leave [4] some grapes?

6 How are the things of Esau searched out! [g] how are his hid [h] things sought up!

7 All the men of thy confederacy have brought thee even to the border; the men [7] that were at peace with thee have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee; [9] they that eat thy bread have laid a wound under thee: there [j] is none understanding [10] in him.

8 Shall I not in that day, saith the LORD, even destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding out of the mount of Esau?

9 And thy mighty [l] men, O Teman, shall be dismayed, to the end that every one of the mount of Esau may be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy violence [n] against thy brother Jacob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 In the day that thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away captive [11] his forces, and foreigners entered into his gates, and cast lots [p] upon Jerusalem, even thou wast as one of them.

12 But [13] thou shouldest not have looked [a] on the day of thy brother in the day that he became a stranger; neither shouldest thou have rejoiced over the children of Judah in the day of their destruction; neither shouldest thou have [1] spoken proudly in the day of distress.

13 Thou shouldest not have entered into the gate of my people in the day of their calamity; yea, thou shouldest not have looked on their affliction in the day of their calamity, nor have laid hands on their substance [2] in the day of their calamity;

14 Neither shouldest thou have stood in the cross-way, to cut off those of his that did escape; neither shouldest thou have [3] delivered up those of his that did remain in the day of distress.

15 For [e] the day of the LORD is near upon all the heathen; as [f] thou hast done, it shall be done unto thee; thy reward shall return upon thine own head.

16 For as ye have drunk upon my holy mountain, so shall all the heathen drink continually, yea, they shall drink, and they shall [5] swallow down and they shall be as though they had not been.

17 But [i] upon mount Zion shall be [6] deliverance, and [8] there shall be holiness; and the house of Jacob shall possess their possessions.

18 And the house of Jacob shall be a fire, [k] and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau for stubble, and they shall kindle in them, and devour them; and there shall not be any remaiming of the house of Esau; for the LORD hath spoken it.

19 And they of the south shall possess the [m] mount of Esau; and they of the plain the Philistines; and they shall possess the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria; and Benjamin shall possess Gilead.

20 And the captivity of this host of the children of Israel shall possess that of the Canaanites, even unto Zarephath; and the captivity of Jerusalem, [12] which is in Sepharad, shall possess the cities [o] of the south.

21 And saviours [q] shall come upon mount Zion to judge the mount of Esau; and the kingdom [r] shall be the LORD's.

JONAH.

CHAP. I.

NOW the word of the LORD came unto Jonah [1] the [c] son of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, go to Nineveh, [d] that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up [e] before me.

3 But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish, from the presence [a] of the LORD, and went down to Joppa; [b] and he found a ship going to Tarshish; so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them unto Tarshish from the presence of the LORD.

4 But the LORD [2] sent out [f] a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship [1] was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and [c] cast forth the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them. But Jonah was gone down into the sides of the ship; and he lay and was fast asleep.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said unto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, call upon thy God, if so be that God will think upon us, that we perish not.

7 And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let us cast lots, [h] that we may know for whose cause this evil is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

8 Then said they unto him, Tell us, we pray thee, for whose cause this evil is upon us; What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And he said unto them, I am an Hebrew: and I fear [5] the LORD, the God of heaven, which [l] hath made the sea and the dry land.

10 Then were the men [6] exceedingly afraid, and said unto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the presence of the LORD, because he had told them.)

11 Then said they unto him, What shall we do unto thee, that the sea may be [7] calm unto us? (for the sea [8] wrought, and was tempestuous.)

12 And he said unto them, Take me up, and cast me forth into the sea; so shall the sea be calm unto you: for I know that for my [n] sake this great tempest is upon you.

13 Nevertheless, the men [10] rowed hard to bring it to the land; but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was tempestuous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried unto the LORD, and said, We beseech thee, O LORD, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this man's life, and [p] lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O LORD, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they took up Jonah, and cast him forth into the sea; and the sea ceased [11] from her raging.

16 Then [q] the men feared the LORD exceedingly, and [14] offered a sacrifice unto the LORD, and [15] made vows.

17 Now the LORD had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah. [r] And Jonah was in the [16] belly of the fish three days and three nights.

CHAP. II.

THEN Jonah prayed unto the LORD his God out of the fish's belly,

2 And said, I [t] cried [17] by reason of mine affliction unto the LORD, and he heard me; out [u] of the belly of [18] hell cried I, and thou heardest [w] my voice.

4 Then [d] I said, I am cast out of thy sight; yet I will look again toward [e] thy holy temple.

5 The waters compassed me about, [f] even to the soul: the depth closed me round about, the weeds were wrapped about my head.

6 I went down to the [3] bottoms of the mountains: the earth with her bars was about me for ever: yet [g] hast thou brought up my life from [4] corruption, O LORD my God.

7 When my soul fainted within me I remembered the LORD: and my prayer came [i] in unto thee, into thine holy temple.

8 They [j] that observe lying vanities forsake their own mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice [k] unto thee with the voice of thanksgiving; I will pay that that I have vowed. Salvation is of the LORD.

10 And [m] the LORD spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

AND the word of the LORD came unto Jonah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, go unto Nineveh, that great city, and preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee.

3 So Jonah arose, and went unto Nineveh, according to the word of the LORD. (Now Nineveh was an [9] exceeding great city of three days' journey.)

4 And Jonah began to enter into the city a day's journey; and he cried, and said, [o] Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown.

5 So the people of Nineveh believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them.

6 For word came unto the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he caused it to be proclaimed and [12] published through Nineveh, (by the decree of the king and his [13] nobles,) saying, Let neither man nor beast, herd nor flock, taste any thing; let them not feed, nor drink water.

8 But let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, [t] and cry mightily unto God: yea, let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell if God will turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, that we perish not?

10 And God saw [v] their works, that they turned [z] from their evil way; and God repented of the evil that he had said that he would do unto them; and he did it not.

CHAP. IV.

BUT it displeased Jonah exceedingly, and he was very angry.

2 And he prayed unto the LORD, and said, I pray thee, O LORD, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country? Therefore I fled before unto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repentest thee of the evil;

3 Therefore, now, O LORD, take, I beseech thee, my life from me; for [a] it is better for me to die than to live.

4 Then said the LORD,[5] Doest thou well to be angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the city, and sat on the east side of the city, and there made him a booth, and sat under it in the shadow, till he might see what would become of the city.

6 And the LORD God prepared a [8] gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a shadow over his head, to deliver him from his grief. So Jonah was [1] exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worm when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd that it withered.

8 And it came to pass, when the sun did arise, that God prepared a [2] vehement east wind; and the sun beat upon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wished in himself to die, and said, It is better for me to die than to live.

9 And God said to Jonah,[3] Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said,[4] I do well to be angry, even unto death.

10 Then said the LORD, Thou hast had [6] pity on the gourd, for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it grow; which [7] came up in a night, and perished in a night:

11 And should not I spare Nineveh, that great city, wherein are more than sixscore thousand persons that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand; and also much cattle?

MICAH.

CHAP. I.

THE word of the LORD that came to Micah [a] the Morasthite in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

2 Hear,[3] all ye people; hearken,[c] O earth, and [5] all that therein is: and let the Lord GOD be witness [d] against you, the LORD from his holy temple.

3 For, behold, the LORD cometh forth out of his place, and will come down, and tread upon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountains shall be molten under him, and the valleys shall be cleft, as wax before the fire, and as the waters that are poured down a [11] steep place.

5 For [e] the transgression of Jacob is all this, and for the sins of the house of Israel. What is the transgression of Jacob? is it not Samaria? and what are the high places of Judah? are they not Jerusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heap of the field, and as plantings of a vineyard: and I will pour down the stones thereof into the valley, and I will discover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof shall be beaten to pieces, and all the hires thereof shall be burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I lay desolate: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall return to the hire of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will wail and howl, I will go stripped and naked: I will make a wailing like the dragons, and mourning as the [1] owls.

9 For [2] her wound is incurable; for it is come [b] unto Judah; he is come unto the gate of my people, even to Jerusalem.

10 Declare ye it not at Gath, weep ye not at all: in the house of [4]Aphrah roll thyself in the dust.

11 Pass ye away,[6] thou [7] inhabitant of Saphir, having thy shame naked: the inhabitant of [8] Zaanan came not forth in the mourning of [9] Beth-ezel; he shall receive of you his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth [10] waited carefully for good; but evil came down from the LORD unto the gate of Jerusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, bind the chariot to the swift beast: she is the beginning of the sin to the daughter of Zion; for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou give presents to [12] Moresheth-gath: the houses of Achzib [13] shall be a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet I will bring an heir unto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah: [14] he shall come unto Adullam the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee bald, and poll thee for thy delicate [f] children; enlarge thy baldness as the eagle; for they are gone into captivity from thee.

2 And they covet fields, and take them by violence: and houses, and take them away: so they [1] oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the LORD, Behold, against this family do I devise an evil, from which ye shall not remove your necks; neither shall ye go haughtily: for [b] this time is evil.

4 In that day shall one take up a parable against you, and lament with a [4] doleful lamentation, and say, We be utterly spoiled; he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he removed it from me! turning [5] away he hath divided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt have none that shall cast a cord [c] by lot in the congregation of the LORD.

6 [7] Prophesy ye not, say they to them that prophesy: they shall not prophesy to them, that they shall not take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Jacob, is the Spirit of the LORD [8] straitened? are these [h] his doings? do not my words do good to him that walketh [9] uprightly? [i]

8 Even [11] of late my people is risen up as an enemy: ye pull off the robe [12] with the garment from them that pass by securely as men averse from war.

9 The [13] women of my people have ye cast out from their pleasant houses; from their children have ye taken away my glory for ever.

10 Arise ye, and depart; for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, [n] it shall destroy you, even with a sore destruction.

11 If a man, [15] walking in the spirit and falsehood do lie, saying, I will prophesy unto thee of wine, and of strong drink; he shall even be the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely assemble, O Jacob, all of thee; I will surely gather the remnant of Israel; I will put them together as the sheep of Bozrah, as the flock in the midst of their fold: they shall make great noise by reason of the multitude of men.

13 The breaker is come up before them; they have broken up, and have passed through the gate, and are gone out by it; and their king shall pass before them, and [16] the LORD on the head of them.

CHAP. III.

AND I said, Hear, I pray you, O heads of Jacob, and ye princes of the house of Israel; Is it not for you to know judgment?

2 Who hate the good, and love the evil; who pluck off their skin from off them, and their flesh from off their bones;

3 Who also eat the flesh of my people, and flay their skin from off them; and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then shall they cry unto the LORD, but [z] he will not hear them; he will even hide his face from them at that time, as they have behaved themselves ill in their doings.

5 Thus saith the LORD concerning the prophets [a] that make my people err, that bite with their teeth, and cry, Peace: and he that putteth not into their mouths, they even prepare war against him:

6 Therefore night shall be unto you, [2] that ye shall not have a vision; and it shall be dark unto you, [3] that ye shall not divine; and the sun shall go down over the prophets, and the day shall be dark over them.

7 Then shall the seers be ashamed, and the diviners confounded: yea, they shall all cover [c] their [6] lips; for [d] there is no answer of God.

8 But truly I am full of power [f] by the spirit of the LORD, and of judgment, and of might, to declare [g] unto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin.

9 Hear this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Jacob, and princes of the house of Israel, that abhor judgment, and pervert all equity.

10 They [j] build up Zion with [10] blood, and Jerusalem with iniquity.

11 The heads thereof judge for reward, and the priests thereof teach for [k] hire, and the prophets thereof divine for money; yet will they lean upon the LORD, and [14] say, Is [l] not the LORD among us? none evil can come upon us.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be ploughed as a field, and [m] Jerusalem shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of the forest.[o]

CHAP. IV.

BUT [p] in the last days it shall come to pass, that the mountain of the house of the LORD shall be established in the [q] top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and people shall flow unto it.

2 And many nations shall come, and say, Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and [r] he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths; for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

3 And he shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plough-shares, and their spears into [16] pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither [t] shall they learn war any more.

4 But [u] they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the LORD of hosts hath spoken it.

5 For all [v] people will walk every one in the name of his god, and we [w] will walk in the name of the LORD our God for ever and ever.

6 In that day, saith the LORD, will I assemble [a] her that halteth, [b] and I will gather [c] her that is driven out, and her that I have afflicted;

7 And I will make her that halted a remnant, and her that was cast far off a strong nation; and the LORD shall [c] reign over them in mount Zion from henceforth, even for ever.

8 And thou, O tower [g] of [2] the flock, the strong hold of the daughter of Zion, unto thee shall it come, even the first dominion; [h] the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Jerusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out aloud? is [i] there no king in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for pangs have taken thee as a woman in travail.

10 Be in pain, and labour to bring [j] forth, O daughter of Zion, like a woman in travail: for now shalt thou go forth out of the city, and thou shalt dwell in the field, and thou shalt go even to Babylon; there [k] shalt thou be delivered; there the LORD shall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now [l] also many nations are gathered against thee, that say, Let her be defiled, and let our eye look [m] upon Zion.

12 But they know not [n] the thoughts of the LORD, neither understand they his counsel: for he shall gather [q] them as the sheaves into the floor.

13 Arise, and thresh, [r] O daughter of Zion; for I will make thine horn iron, and I will make thy hoofs brass; [s] and thou shalt beat in pieces [t] many people; and I will consecrate their gain unto the LORD, and their substance unto the LORD of the whole earth.

CHAP. V.

NOW gather thyself in troops, O daughter of troops; he hath laid siege against us; they shall smite [v] the judge of Israel with a rod upon the cheek.

2 But [x] thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler [z] in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from [7] everlasting. [b]

3 Therefore will he give them up, until the time that she which travaileth hath brought forth; then the remnant of his brethren shall return unto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall stand and [8] feed in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God; and they shall abide: for now shall he be great unto the ends of the earth.

5 And this man shall be the [f] peace, when the Assyrians shall come into our land; and when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and eight [10] principal men.

6 And they shall [11] waste the land of Assyria with the sword, and the land of Nimrod [1] in the entrances thereof: thus shall he [d] deliver us from the Assyrian, when he cometh into our land, and when he treadeth within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Jacob shall be in the midst of many people, as a [f] dew from the LORD, as the showers upon the grass, that tarrieth not for man, nor waiteth for the sons of men.

8 And the remnant of Jacob shall be among the Gentiles in the midst of many people, as a lion among the beasts of the forest, as a young lion among the flocks of [3] sheep; who, if he go through, both treadeth down and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver.

9 Thine hand shall be lift up upon thine adversaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD, that I will cut off thy horses out of the midst of thee, and I will destroy thy chariots:

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and throw down all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off witchcrafts out of thine hand; and thou shalt have no more soothsayers; [o]

13 Thy graven images also [p] will I cut off, and thy [4] standing images out of the midst of thee; and thou shalt no more worship the work of thine hands.

14 And I will pluck up thy groves out of the midst of thee; so will I destroy thy [5] cities.

15 And I will execute vengeance [u] in anger and fury upon the heathen, such as they have not heard.

CHAP. VI.

HEAR ye now what the LORD saith; Arise, contend thou [6] before the mountains, [w] and let the hills hear thy voice.

2 Hear ye, O mountains, the LORD's controversy, and ye strong foundations of the earth: for [y] the LORD hath a controversy with his people, and he will plead with Israel.

3 O my people, what [a] have I done unto thee? and wherein have I wearied thee? testify against me.

4 For I brought [c] thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of servants; and I sent before thee Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak [d] king of Moab consulted, and what Baalam the son of Beor answered him from Shittim unto Gilgal; that ye may know the righteousness [e] of the LORD.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the LORD, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt-offerings, with calves [9] of a year old?

CHAP. I.

B. C. 713.

THE burden of Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum the Elkoshite.

2 God [2] is jealous,[a] and the LORD revengeth; [b] the LORD revengeth, and [3] is furious: the LORD will take vengeance on his adversaries, and he reserveth wrath for his enemies.

3 The LORD is slow to anger, and great in power, and will not at all acquit the wicked: the LORD hath his way in the whirlwind and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and maketh it dry, and drieth up all the rivers: Bashan languisheth, and Carmel, and the flower of Lebanon languisheth.

5 The mountains [c] quake at him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his presence, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 Who can stand before his indignation? and who can [10] abide in the fierceness of his anger? his fury is poured out like fire, and the rocks are thrown down by him.

7 The LORD is good, a [14] strong hold in the day of trouble; [d] and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But with an over-running flood he will make an utter end of the place thereof, and darkness shall pursue his enemies.

9 What do ye imagine against the LORD? he will make an utter end: affliction shall not rise up the second time.

10 For while [e] they be folden together as thorns, and while they are drunken as drunkards, they shall be devoured as stubble fully dry.

11 There is one come out of thee, that imagineth evil against the LORD, [19] a wicked counsellor.

12 Thus saith the LORD, [20] Though they be quiet, and likewise many, yet thus shall they be [21] cut down, when he shall pass through. Though I have afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now will I break his yoke from off thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the LORD hath given a commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graven image, and the molten image; I will make thy grave; for thou art vile.

15 Behold [h] upon the mountains the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace! O Judah, [23] keep thy solemn feasts, perform thy vows: for [24] the wicked shall no more pass through thee: he is utterly [i] cut off.

CHAP. II.

HE [1] that dasheth in pieces is come up before thy face: keep the munition, watch the way, make thy loins strong, fortify thy power mightily.

2 For the LORD hath turned away the excellency [4] of Jacob, as the excellency of Israel: for the emptiers have emptied them out, and marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are [5] in scarlet: the chariots shall be with [6] flaming torches in the day of his preparation, and the fir-trees shall be terribly shaken.

4 The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall justle one against another in the broad ways: [7] they shall seem like torches, they shall run like the lightnings.

5 He shall recount his [8] worthies: they shall stumble in their walk; they shall make haste to the wall thereof, and the defence [9] shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the rivers shall be opened, and the palace shall be [11] dissolved.

7 And [12] Huzzab shall be [13] led away captive, she shall be brought up, and her maids shall lead her as with the voice of doves, tabering upon their breasts.

8 But Nineveh is [15] of old like a pool of water; yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they cry; but none shall [16] look back.

9 Take ye the spoil of silver, take the spoil of gold; [17] for there is none end of the store and glory out of all the [18] pleasant furniture.

10 She is empty, f and void, and waste; and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and much pain is in all loins, and the faces of them all gather blackness.

11 Where is the dwelling of the lions, and the feeding-place of the young lions, where the lion, even the old lion, walked, and the lion's whelp, and none made them afraid?

12 The lion did tear in pieces enough for his whelps, and strangled for his lionesses, and filled his holes with prey, and his dens with ravin.

13 Behold, I am against thee, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will burn her chariots in the smoke, and the sword shall devour thy young lions; and I will cut off thy prey from the earth, and the voice of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

CHAP. III.

WOE [g] to the [22] bloody city! it is all full of lies and robbery; the prey departeth not;

2 The noise of a whip, and the noise of the rattling of the wheels, and of the prancing horses, and of the jumping chariots.

3 The horseman lifteth up both the [25] bright sword and the glittering spear: and there is a multitude of slain, and a great number of carcasses; and there is none end of their corpses; they stumble upon their corpses:

4 Because of the multitude of the whoredoms of the well-favoured harlot, the mistress of witchcrafts, that selleth nations through her whoredoms, and families through her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I am against thee, saith the LORD of hosts; and I will discover thy skirts upon thy face, and I will shew the nations thy nakedness, and the kingdoms thy shame.

6 And I will cast abominable filth upon thee, and make thee vile, and will set thee as a gazing-stock

7 And it shall come to pass, that all they that look upon thee shall flee from thee, and say, Nineveh is laid waste: who will bemoan her? whence shall I seek comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better than [2] populous No, that was situate among the rivers, that had the waters round about it, whose rampart was the sea, and her wall was from the sea.

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and it was infinite; Put and Lubim were [3] thy helpers.

10 Yet was she carried away, she went into captivity; her young children also were dashed [h] in pieces at the top of all the streets; and they cast lots [i] for her honourable men, and all her great men were bound in chains.

11 Thou also shalt be drunken: [k] thou shalt be hid; thou also shalt seek strength because of the enemy.

12 All thy strong holds shall be like fig-trees [a] with the first-ripe figs; if they be shaken, they shall even fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people in the midst of thee are women: [b] the gates of thy land shall be set wide open unto thine enemies: the fire shall devour thy bars.[c]

14 Draw the waters for the siege, fortify thy strong holds: go into clay, and tread the mortar, make strong the brick-kiln.

15 There shall the fire devour thee; the sword shall cut thee off, it shall eat thee up like the canker-worm: [d] make thyself many as the canker-worm, make thyself many as the locusts.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy merchants above the stars of heaven: the canker-worm [1] spoileth, and fleeth away.

17 Thy crowned are as the locusts, and thy captains as the great grasshoppers, which camp in the hedges in the cold day but when the sun ariseth they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.

18 Thy shepherds slumber, [e] O king of Assyria; [f] thy [4] nobles shall dwell in the dust; thy people is scattered [5] upon the mountains, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no [5] healing of thy bruise; thy wound is grievous; all that hear the bruit of thee shall clap the hands over thee: for upon whom [j] hath not thy wickedness passed continually?

HABAKKUK.

CHAP. I.

THE burden which Habakkuk the prophet did see.

2 O LORD, how long shall I cry, and thou [a] wilt not hear! even cry out unto thee of violence, and thou wilt not save!

3 Why dost thou shew me iniquity, and cause me to behold grievance? for spoiling and violence are before me: and there are that raise up strife and contention.

4 Therefore the law is slacked, and judgment doth never go forth: for the wicked doth compass about the righteous; therefore [4] wrong judgment proceedeth.

5 Behold ye among the heathen, and regard, and wonder marvellously: for [b] I will work a work in your days, which ye will not believe, though it be told you.

6 For, lo, I raise up the [c] Chaldeans, that bitter and hasty nation, which shall march through the [5] breadth of the land, to possess the dwelling-places that are not their's

7 They are terrible and dreadful: their [1] judgment and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter than the leopards, and are more [2] fierce than the evening wolves: and their horsemen shall spread themselves and their horsemen shall come from far, they shall fly as the eagle that hasteth to eat.

9 They shall come all for violence; their [3] faces shall sup up as the east wind, and they shall gather the captivity as the sand.

10 And they shall scoff at the kings, and the princes shall be a scorn unto them; they shall deride every strong hold; for they shall heap dust, and take it.

11 Then shall his mind change, and he shall pass over, and offend, imputing this his power unto his god.

12 Art thou not from everlasting, O LORD my God, mine Holy One? we shall not die. O LORD, thou hast ordained them for judgment; and, O mighty

[1] God, thou hast [2] established them for correction.

13 Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on [5] iniquity: wherefore lookest thou upon them that deal treacherously, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked devoureth the man that is more righteous than he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea, as the [8] creeping things, that have no ruler over them?

15 They take up all of them with the angle, they catch them in their net, and gather them in their [10] drag: therefore they rejoice and are glad.

16 Therefore [c] they sacrifice unto their net, and burn incense unto their drag; because by them their portion is fat, and their meat [12] plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore empty their net, and not spare continually to slay the nations?

CHAP. II.

I WILL stand upon my watch, and set me upon the [13] tower, and [d] will watch to see what he will say [14] unto me, and what I shall answer [15] when I am reproved.

2 And the LORD answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry.

4 Behold, his soul which is lifted up is not upright in him: but [e] the just shall live by his faith.

5 Yea [17] also, because he transgresseth by wine, he is a proud man, neither keepeth at home, who enlargeth his desire as hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and heapeth unto him all people:

6 Shall not all these take up a parable against him, and a taunting proverb against him, and say, [22] Woe to him that increaseth that which is not his! how long? and to him that ladeth himself with thick clay!

7 Shall they not rise up suddenly that shall bite thee, and awake that shall vex thee, and thou shalt be for booties unto them?

8 Because [h] thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoil thee; because of men's [25] blood, and for the violence of the land of the city, and of all that dwell therein.

9 Woe to him that [27] coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the [28] power of evil!

10 Thou hast consulted shame to thy house by cutting off many people, and hast sinned against thy soul.

11 For the stone shall cry out of the wall, and the [3] beam out of the timber shall [4] answer it.

12 Woe to him that buildeth a town with [6] blood, and establisheth a city by iniquity!

13 Behold, is it not of the LORD of hosts that the people shall labour in the very fire, and the people shall weary themselves [7] for very vanity?

14 For the earth shall be filled [9] with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea.

15 Woe unto him that giveth his neighbour drink, that putteth thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest look on their nakedness!

16 Thou art filled [11] with shame [b] for glory: drink thou also, and let thy foreskin be uncovered: the cup [c] of the LORD's right hand shall be turned unto thee, and shameful spewing shall be on thy glory.

17 For the violence of Lebanon shall cover thee, and the spoil of beasts, which made them afraid, because of men's blood, and for the violence of the land, of the city, and of all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the graven image, that the maker thereof hath graven it; the molten image, and a teacher of lies, that the [16] maker of his work trusteth therein, to make dumb idols?

19 Woe unto him that saith to the wood, Awake; to the dumb stone, Arise, it shall teach! Behold, it is laid over with gold and silver, and there is no breath at all in the midst of it.

20 But the LORD is in his holy temple; [f] let [18] all the earth keep silence before him.

CHAP. III.

A PRAYER of Habakkuk the prophet upon [19] Shigionoth.

2 O LORD, I have heard thy [20] speech, and was afraid: O LORD, [21] revive [g] thy work in the midst of the years, in the midst of the years make known; in wrath remember mercy.

3 God came from [23] Teman, and the Holy One from mount Paran. Selah. His glory covered the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise.

4 And his brightness was as the light; he had [24] horns coming out of his hand: and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning [26] coals went forth at his feet.

6 He stood and measured the earth; he beheld, and drove asunder the nations: and the everlasting mountains were scattered, the perpetual hills did bow: his ways [i] are everlasting.

7 I saw the tents of [29] Cushan [30] in affliction: and the curtains of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the LORD displeased against the rivers? was thine anger against the rivers?

ZEPHANIAH.

CHAP. I.

THE word of the LORD which came unto Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hizkiah, in the days of Josiah the son of Amon king of Judah.

2 I [1] will utterly consume all things from off [2] the land, saith the LORD.

3 I will consume man and beast; I will consume the fowls of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea; and the [3] stumbling-blocks with the wicked; and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the LORD.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and I will cut off [a] the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the priests;

5 And them that worship the host of heaven upon the house-tops; [d] and them [e] that worship and that swear [5] by the LORD, [f] and that swear by Malcham; [g]

6 And them that are turned [h] back from the LORD; and those that have not sought [i] the LORD, nor inquired for him.

7 Hold [l] thy peace at the presence of the Lord GOD; for [m] the day of the LORD is at hand: for the LORD hath prepared a sacrifice, he hath [6] bid his guests.[o]

8 And it shall come to pass in the day of the LORD's sacrifice, that I will punish [7] the princes, and the king's children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I punish all those that leap on the threshold, which fill their masters' houses with violence and deceit.

10 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD, that there shall be the noise of a cry from the fish-gate, and an howling from the second, and a great crashing from the hills.

11 Howl, ye inhabitants of Maktesh, for all the merchant-people are cut down; all they that bear silver are cut off.

12 And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Jerusalem with candles, and punish the men that are [4] settled [b] on their lees; that say [c] in their heart, The LORD will not do good, neither will he do evil.

13 Therefore their goods shall become a booty, and their houses a desolation: they shall also build houses, but not inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the LORD is near, [l] it is near, and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD: the mighty [k] man shall cry there bitterly.

15 That [n] day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness [p] and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness.

16 A day of the trumpet [q] and alarm against the fenced cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distress upon men, that they shall walk like blind [b] men, because they have sinned against the LORD: and their blood [c] shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 Neither [e] their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD's wrath; but the whole land shall be devoured [f] by the fire of his jealousy: for he shall make even a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

GATHER [g] yourselves together, yea, gather together, O nation not [4] desired;

2 Before the decree bring forth, before the day pass as the chaff, [i] before the fierce anger [j] of the LORD come upon you, before [k] the day of the LORD's anger come upon you.

3 Seek [l] ye the LORD, all ye meek of the earth, which have wrought his judgment; [m] seek righteousness, seek meekness: it may be [n] ye shall be hid in the day of the LORD's anger.

4 For Gaza [o] shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon a desolation: they shall drive out Ashdod at the noon-day, and Ekron shall be rooted up.

5 Woe unto the inhabitants of the sea-coast, the nation of the Cherethites! [q] the word of the LORD is against you; O Canaan, the land of the Philistines, I will even destroy thee, that there shall be no inhabitant.

6 And the sea-coast shall be dwellings and cottages for shepherds, and folds for flocks.

7 And the coast shall be for the [s] remnant of the house of Judah; they shall feed thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lie down in the evening; [9] for the LORD their God shall visit [u] them, and turn away [v] their captivity.

8 I have heard the reproach of Moab, and the revilings of the children of Ammon, whereby they have reproached my people, and magnified themselves against their border.

9 Therefore, as I live, saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab [z] shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and salt-pits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them.

10 This shall they have for their pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the people of the LORD of hosts.

11 The LORD will be terrible unto them: for he will [12] famish all the gods of the earth; and men shall worship him every one from his place, even all the isles of the heathen.

12 Ye Ethiopians [e] also, ye shall be slain by my sword.

13 And he will stretch out his hand against the north, and destroy Assyria; [d] and will make Nineveh a desolation, and dry like a wilderness.

14 And flocks shall lie down in the midst of her, all the beasts of the nations: both the [1] cormorant and the bittern shall lodge in the [2] upper lintels of it; their voice shall sing in the windows; desolation shall be in the thresholds: [3] for he shall uncover the cedar-work.

15 This is the rejoicing city that dwelt carelessly; that said [h] in her heart, I am, and there is none beside me. how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! every one that passeth by her shall hiss, and wag his hand.

CHAP. III.

WOE to [5] her that is filthy and polluted, to the oppressing city!

2 She obeyed not the voice; she received not [6] correction; she trusted not in the LORD; she drew not near to her God.

3 Her princes within her are roaring lions; her judges are evening wolves; they gnaw not the bones till the morrow.

4 Her prophets [p] are light and treacherous persons: her priests have polluted the sanctuary, they have done violence to the law.

5 The [r] just LORD is in the midst thereof; he will not do iniquity: [7] every morning doth he bring his judgment to light, he faileth not; but the unjust knoweth no shame.

6 I have cut off the nations: their towers [8] are desolate; I made their streets waste, that none passeth by: their cities are destroyed, so that there is no man, that there is none inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely [w] thou wilt fear me, thou wilt receive instruction: so their dwelling should not be cut off, howsoever I punished them: but they rose early, [x] and corrupted all their doings.

8 Therefore wait [y] ye upon me, saith the LORD, until the day that I rise up to the prey; for my determination is to gather the nations, [a] that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce anger: for all the earth [b] shall be devoured with the fire of my jealousy.

9 For then I will turn to the people a pure [10] language, that they may [c] all call upon the name of the LORD, to serve him with one [11] consent.

10 From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia [d] my suppliants, even the daughter of my dispersed, shall bring mine offering.

11 In that day shalt thou not be asham-

HAGGAI.

CHAP. I.

IN the second year [b] of Darius the king, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, came the word of the LORD, by [1] Haggai the prophet, unto Zerubbabel [c] the son of Shealtiel, [2] governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech, [d] the high-priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, This people say, The time is not come, the time that the LORD's house should be built.

3 Then came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet, saying,

4 Is [e] it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your ceiled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now, therefore, thus saith the LORD of hosts, [3] Consider [h] your ways.

6 Ye have sown [i] much, and bring in little; ye eat, [k] but ye have not enough; ye drink, but ye are not filled with drink; ye clothe you, but there is none warm; and he that earneth wages, earneth wages to put it into a bag [4] with holes.

7 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Consider your ways.

8 Go up to the mountain and bring wood, and build the house; and I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified, saith the LORD.

9 Ye looked [m] for much, and, lo, it came to little; and when ye brought it home, I did blow [6] upon it. Why? saith the LORD of hosts. Because of mine house that is waste, and ye run every man unto his own house.

10 Therefore [n] the heaven over you is stayed from dew, and the earth is stayed from her fruit.

12 Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of the LORD their God, and the words of Haggai the prophet, (as the LORD their God had sent him,) and the people did fear before the LORD.

13 Then spake Haggai, the LORD's messenger, [f] in the LORD's message unto the people, saying, I [g] am with you, saith the LORD.

14 And the LORD [j] stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and [l] they came, and did work in the house of the LORD of hosts, their God.

15 In the four and twentieth day of the sixth month, in the second year of Darius the king.

CHAP. II.

IN the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the LORD [5] by the prophet Haggai, saying,

2 Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

3 Who [o] is left among you that saw this house in her first glory? and how do ye see it now? is it not in your eyes in comparison of it as nothing?

4 Yet now be strong, O Zerubbabel, saith the LORD; and be strong, O Joshua son of Josedech, the high priest; and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the LORD, and work: for I am with you, saith the LORD of hosts.

5 According to the word that I covenanted with you when ye came out of Egypt, so my Spirit remaineth among you: fear ye not.

6 For thus saith the LORD of hosts, Yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land;

7 And I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come: and I will fill this house with glory, saith the LORD of hosts.

8 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the LORD of hosts.

9 The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the LORD of hosts: and in this place will I give peace, saith the LORD of hosts.

10 In the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD by Haggai the prophet, saying,

11 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Ask now the priests concerning the law, saying,

12 If one bear holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch bread, or pottage, or wine, or oil, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the priests answered and said, No.

13 Then said Haggai, If one that is unclean by a dead body touch any of these, shall it be unclean? And the priests answered and said, It shall be unclean.

14 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the LORD; and so is every work of their hands; and that which they offer there is unclean.

15 And now, I pray you, consider from this day and upward, from before a stone was laid upon a stone in the temple of the LORD.

16 Since those days were, when one came to an heap of twenty measures, there were but ten: when one came to the press-fat for to draw out fifty vessels out of the press, there were but twenty.

17 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with hail, in all the labours of your hands; yet ye turned not to me, saith the LORD.

18 Consider now from this day and upward, from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even from the day that the foundation of the LORD's temple was laid, consider it.

19 Is the seed yet in the barn? yea, as yet the vine, and the fig-tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive-tree, hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you.

20 And again the word of the LORD came unto Haggai in the four and twentieth day of the month, saying,

21 Speak to Zerubbabel, governor of Judah, saying, I will shake the heavens and the earth;

22 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms; and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen; and I will overthrow the chariots, and those that ride in them; and the horses and their riders shall come down, every one by the sword of his brother.

23 In that day, saith the LORD of hosts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my servant, the son of Shealtiel, saith the LORD, and will make thee as a signet: for I have chosen thee, saith the LORD of hosts.

ZECHARIAH.

CHAP. I.

IN the eighth month, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD unto Zechariah, the son of Barachiah, the son of Iddo the prophet, saying,

2 The LORD hath been [2] sore displeased [1] with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou unto them, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Turn ye unto me, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will turn unto you, saith the LORD of hosts.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, unto whom the former prophets have cried, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Turn ye now from your evil ways, and from your evil doings: but they did not hear, nor hearken unto me, saith the LORD.

5 Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live for ever?

6 But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not [1] take hold of your fathers? and they returned and said, Like as the LORD of hosts thought to do unto us, according to our ways, and according to our doings, so hath he dealt with us.

7 Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Sebat, in the second year of Darius, came the word of the LORD unto Zechariah, the son of Barachiah, the son of Iddo the prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and, behold, [a] a man riding upon a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle-trees that were in the bottom; and behind him were there [b] red horses, [1] speckled, and white.

9 Then said I, O my lord, what are these? And the angel that talked with me said unto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrtle-trees answered and said, [d] These are they whom the LORD hath sent to walk to and fro through the earth.

11 And they answered the angel of the LORD that stood among the myrtle-trees, and said, We have walked to and fro through the earth, and, behold, all the earth sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the angel of the LORD answered and said, O LORD of hosts, how [j] long wilt thou not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the cities of Judah, against which thou hast had indignation these [k] three-score and ten years?

13 And the LORD answered the angel that talked with me with good [n] words, and comfortable words.

14 So the angel that communed with me said unto me, Cry thou, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I am jealous [p] for Jerusalem and for Zion with a great jealousy.

15 And I am very sore displeased with the heathen that are at ease: for [s] I was but a little displeased, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the LORD, I am returned [u] to Jerusalem with mercies: my house shall be built in it, saith the LORD of hosts, and a line shall be stretched forth upon Jerusalem.

17 Cry yet, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, My cities through [3] prosperity shall yet be spread abroad; and [z] the LORD shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet choose [z] Jerusalem.

18 Then lift I up mine eyes, and saw, and, behold, four horns.

19 And I said unto the angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the horns which have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem.

20 And the LORD shewed me four carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to do? And he spake, saying, These are the horns which have scattered [d] Judah, so that no man did lift up his head: but these are come to fray them, to cast out the horns of the Gentiles, which lift up [h] their horn over the land of Judah to scatter it.

CHAP. II.

I LIFT up mine eyes again, and looked, and, behold, a man with a measuring-line [j] in his hand.

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said unto me, To measure [k] Jerusalem, to see what is the breadth thereof and what is the length thereof.

3 And, behold, the angel that talked with me went forth, and another angel went out to meet him,

4 And said unto him, Run, speak to this young man, saying, Jerusalem shall be inhabited [e] as towns without walls for the multitude of men and cattle therein.

5 For I, saith the LORD, will be unto her a wall [e] of fire round about, and will be the glory [f] in the midst of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth, and flee [g] from the land of the north, saith the LORD: for I [h] have spread you abroad as the four winds of the heaven, saith the LORD.

7 Deliver [i] thyself, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babylon.

8 For thus saith the LORD of hosts, After the glory hath he sent me unto the nations which spoiled you; for he that toucheth you [l] toucheth the apple of his eye.

9 For, behold, I will shake [m] mine hand upon them, and they shall be a spoil to their servants: and ye shall know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me.

10 Sing [o] and rejoice, O daughter of Zion: for, lo, I come, and I will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the LORD.

11 And many nations [q] shall be joined to the LORD in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell [r] in the midst of thee; and thou shalt know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto thee.

12 And the LORD shall inherit [t] Judah his portion in the holy land, and shall choose [v] Jerusalem again.

13 Be silent, O all flesh, before the LORD: for he is raised up out of [2] his holy habitation.

CHAP. III.

AND he shewed me Joshua [w] the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and [4] Satan [y] standing at his right hand to [5] resist him.

2 And the LORD said unto Satan, The LORD rebuke [a] thee, O Satan; even the LORD that hath chosen Jerusalem rebuke thee: is not this a brand [b] plucked out of the fire?

3 Now Joshua was clothed with [c] filthy garments, and stood before the angel.

4 And he answered and spake unto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And unto him he said, Behold, I [e] have caused thine iniquity to pass [f] from thee, and I will clothe thee with change [g] of raiment

5 And I said, Let them set a fair [i] mitre upon his head. So they set a fair mitre upon his head, and clothed him with garments. And the angel of the LORD stood by.

6 And the angel of the LORD protested unto Joshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, If thou wilt walk in my ways, and if thou wilt keep my [1] charge, then thou shalt also judge my house, and shalt also keep my courts; and I will give thee [5] places to walk among these that stand by.

8 Hear now, O Joshua the high priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they are men [6] wondered at; for, behold, I will bring forth my servant, The BRANCH.[c]

9 For, behold, the stone that I have laid before Joshua; upon one stone shall be seven[c] eyes: behold, I will engrave the graving thereof, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the LORD of hosts, shall ye call every man his neighbour under the vine and under the fig-tree.

CHAP. IV.

AND the angel that talked with me came again, and waked me, as a man that is wakened out of his sleep;

2 And said unto me, What seest thou? And I said, I have looked, and behold a candlestick all of gold, with [9] a bowl upon the top of it, and his seven lamps thereon, and [10] seven pipes to the seven lamps which were upon the top thereof;

3 And two olive-trees by it, one upon the right side of the bowl, and the other upon the left side thereof;

4 So I answered and spake to the angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my lord?

5 Then the angel that talked with me answered and said unto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my lord.

6 Then he answered and spake unto me, saying, This is the word of the LORD unto Zerubbabel, saying, Not [j] by might,[12] nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the LORD of hosts.

7 Who art thou, O great mountain? before Zerubbabel thou shalt become a plain: and he shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace, unto it.

8 Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundation [k] of this house, his hands shall also finish [l] it; and thou shalt know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of small things? [13] for they shall rejoice, and shall see the [14] plummet in the hand of Zerubbabel with those seven; they are the eyes of the LORD, which run to and fro through the whole earth.

11 Then answered I, and said unto him, What are these two olive-trees upon the right side of the candlestick, and upon the left side thereof?

12 And I answered again, and said unto him, What be these two olive-branches, which,[2] through the two golden pipes, empty [3] the [4] golden oil out of themselves?

13 And he answered me and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my lord.

14 Then said he, These [a] are the two anointed [7] ones, that stand [b] by the LORD of the whole earth.

CHAP. V.

THEN I turned, and lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold a flying roll.[d]

2 And he said unto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying roll; the length thereof is twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof ten cubits.

3 Then said he unto me, This is the curse that goeth forth over the face of the whole earth: for every one [8] that stealeth shall be cut off as on this side according to it; and every one that sweareth shall be cut off as on that side according to it.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the LORD of hosts, and it shall enter [f] into the house of the thief, and into the house of him that sweareth [g] falsely by my name: and it shall remain in the midst of his house, and [h] shall consume it with the timber thereof and the stones thereof.

5 Then the angel that talked with me went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is their resemblance through all the earth.

7 And, behold, there was lift up a talent [11] of lead: and this is a [i] woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah.

8 And he said, This is wickedness. And he cast it into the midst of the ephah; and he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I up mine eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings; (for they had wings like the wings of a stork;) and they lift up the ephah between the earth and the heaven.

10 Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the ephah?

11 And he said unto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar: [m] and it shall be established, and set there upon her own base.

CHAP. VI.

AND I turned, and lifted up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains; and the mountains were mountains of brass.

2 In the first chariot were red [n] horses, and in the second chariot black horses;

3 And in the third chariot white horses, and in the fourth chariot grisled and [15] bay horses

4 Then I answered and said unto the angel that talked with me, What are these, my lord?

5 And the angel answered and said unto me, These are the four [1] spirits of the heavens, which go forth [c] from standing [d] before the LORD of all the earth.

6 The black horses which are therein go forth into the north country: and the white go forth after them: and the grisled go forth toward the south country.

7 And the bay went forth, and sought to go, that they might walk [e] to and fro through the earth: and he said, Get ye hence, walk to and fro through the earth. So they walked to and fro through the earth.

8 Then cried he upon me, and spake unto me, saying, Behold, these that go toward the north country have [f] quieted my spirit in the north country.

9 And the word of the LORD came unto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captivity, even of Heldai, of Tobijah, and of Jedaiah, which are come from Babylon, and come thou the same day, and go into the house of Josiah the son of Zephaniah;

11 Then take silver and gold, and make crowns, [g] and set them upon the head of Joshua the son of Josedech, the high priest,

13 Even he shall build the temple of the LORD; and he [m] shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule upon his throne; and he shall be a priest [o] upon his throne: and the counsel of peace [q] shall be between them both.

14 And the crowns shall be to Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Jedaiah, and to Hen the son of Zephaniah, for a memorial [s] in the temple of the LORD.

15 And they that are far off [t] shall come and build in the temple of the LORD; and ye shall know that the LORD of hosts hath sent me unto you. And this shall come to pass, if ye will diligently [v] obey the voice of the LORD your God.

5 Speak unto all the people of the land, and to the priests, saying, When ye fasted and mourned in the fifth and seventh month, even those seventy years, [a] did ye at all fast unto me, [b] even to me?

6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drink, [2] did not ye eat for yourselves, and drink for yourselves?

7 [3] Should ye not hear the words which the LORD hath cried [4] by the former prophets, when Jerusalem was inhabited and in prosperity, and the cities thereof round about her, when men inhabited the south and the plain?

8 And the word of the LORD came unto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, [5] Execute true judgment, and shew mercy and compassion every man to his brother:

10 And oppress not the widow, nor the fatherless, the stranger, nor the poor, and let none of you imagine evil against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled [6] away the shoulder, and [7] stopped their ears that they should not hear.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant-stone, [h] lest they should hear the law, and the words which the LORD of hosts hath sent in his Spirit [8] by the former prophets: therefore [i] came a great wrath from the LORD of hosts.

13 Therefore it is come to pass, that, as he cried, and they would not hear; [l] so they cried, and I would not hear, saith the LORD of hosts:

14 But I scattered [n] them with a whirlwind among all the nations whom [p] they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed through nor returned; for they laid the [10] pleasant land [r] desolate.

CHAP. VIII.

AGAIN the word of the LORD of hosts came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I [u] was jealous for Zion with great jealousy, and I was jealous for her with great fury.

3 Thus saith the LORD, I am returned unto Zion, and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem; and Jerusalem shall be [w] called, A city of truth; and the mountain of the LORD [x] of hosts, The holy [y] mountain.

4 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, [z] There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the streets of Jerusalem, and every man with his staff in his hand for [11] very age.

5 And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof.

6 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, If it be marvellous [13] in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these days, should [a] it also be marvellous in mine eyes? saith the LORD of hosts.

7 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Behold, I [a] will save my people from the east country, and from the west [1] country;

8 And [b] I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Jerusalem; and [c] they shall be my people, and I will be their God, in [d] truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, Let your hands be strong, [e] ye that hear in these days these words by the mouth of the prophets, which were in the day [f] that the foundation of the house of the LORD of hosts was laid, that the temple might be built.

10 For before these days [2] there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast; neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in, because of the affliction: for [g] I set all men every one against his neighbour.

11 But now [j] I will not be unto the residue of this people as in the former days, saith the LORD of hosts.

12 For the seed shall be [3] prosperous; the vine shall give her fruit, and [k] the ground shall give her increase, and the heavens shall give their due; and I will cause the remnant of this people to possess all [l] these things.

13 And it shall come to pass, that [m] as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Judah, and house of Israel; so will I save you, and ye shall be a blessing: fear not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the LORD of hosts, [n] As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, saith the LORD of hosts, and I repented not:

15 So again have I thought in these days to do well unto Jerusalem, and to the house of Judah: fear ye not. [p]

16 These are the things that ye shall do, Speak [q] ye every man the truth to his neighbour; [5] execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates:

17 And let none of you imagine [t] evil in your hearts against his neighbour; and love no false oath: for all these are things that I hate, saith the LORD.

18 And the word of the LORD of hosts came unto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, The fast of the fourth [u] month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, [v] and the fast of the tenth, [w] shall be to the house of Judah joy [x] and gladness, and [8] cheerful feasts; therefore love the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, It shall yet come to pass, that there shall come people, and the inhabitants of many cities:

21 And the inhabitants of one city shall go to another, saying, Let [a] us go speedily [9] to [10] pray before the LORD, and to seek the LORD of hosts; I will go also.

22 Yea, many [b] people and strong nations shall come to seek the LORD of hosts in Jerusalem, and to pray before the LORD.

23 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, In those days it shall come to pass, that ten men shall take hold, out of all languages of the nations, even shall take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, saying, We will go with you; for we have heard that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

THE burden of the word of the LORD in the land of Hadrach, and [f] Damascus shall be the rest thereof: when the eyes of man, as of all the tribes of Israel, shall be toward the LORD.

2 And Hamath also shall border thereby; Tyrus, [h] and Zidon, though it be very wise.

3 And Tyrus did build herself a strong hold, and heaped up silver as the dust, and fine gold as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the LORD will cast her out, and he will smite her power in the sea; and she shall be devoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and fear; Gaza also shall see it, and be very sorrowful; and Ekron, for her expectation, shall be ashamed; and the king shall perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And a bastard shall dwell in Ashdod; and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his [4] blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth; but he that remaineth, even he, shall be for our God; and he shall be as a governor in Judah, and Ekron as a Jebusite.

8 And I will encamp [o] about mine house because of the army, because of him that passeth by, and because of him that returneth; and no oppressor shall pass through them any more: for now have I seen with mine eyes.

9 Rejoice [r] greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem: behold, thy King cometh unto thee; he [s] is just, and having [6] salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass.

10 And I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim, and the horse from Jerusalem, and the battle-bow shall be cut off: and he shall speak peace unto the heathen; and his dominion shall be from sea even to sea, and from the river even to the ends of the earth.

11 As for thee also, [7] by the blood of thy covenant I have sent forth thy prisoners [y] out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turn ye to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope: even to-day do I declare, that I will render double [z] unto thee;

13 When I have bent Judah for me, filled the bow with Ephraim, and raised up thy sons, O Zion, against thy sons, O Greece, and made thee as the sword of a mighty man.

14 And the LORD shall be seen over them, and his arrows [a] shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord GOD shall blow the trumpet, and shall go with whirlwinds [b] of the south.

15 The LORD of hosts shall defend them; and they shall devour, and subdue [1] with sling-stones; and they shall drink, and make a noise as through wine; and they shall [2] be filled like bowls, and as [d] the corners of the altar.

16 And the LORD their God shall save them in that day as the flock of his people: for [e] they shall be as the stones of a crown, lifted up as an ensign [f] upon his land.

17 For how great is his goodness, and how great is his beauty! corn shall make the young men [5] cheerful, and new wine the maids.

CHAP. X.

ASK ye of the LORD rain [g] in the time of the latter rain; so the LORD shall make bright [6] clouds, and give them showers of rain, to every one grass in the field.

2 For the [7] idols have spoken vanity, and the diviners have seen a lie, and have told false dreams; they comfort in vain: [j] therefore they went their way as a flock, they [8] were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

3 Mine anger was kindled against the shepherds, [k] and I [10] punished the goats: for the LORD of hosts hath visited his flock the house of Judah, and hath made them as his goodly horse [l] in the battle.

4 Out of him came forth the corner, [m] out of him the nail, [o] out of him the battle-bow, out of him every oppressor together.

5 And they shall be as mighty men, which tread down [p] their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battle: and they shall fight, because the LORD is with them, and [14] the riders on horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Judah, and I will save the house of Joseph, and I will bring them again to place them: for [r] I have mercy upon them; and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the LORD their God, and will hear them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be like a mighty man, and their heart shall [s] rejoice as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad; their heart shall rejoice in the LORD.

8 I will hiss for them, and gather them; for I have redeemed them: and they shall increase as they have increased.

9 And I will sow [v] them among the people: and they shall remember [w] me in far countries: and they shall live with their children, and turn again.

10 I will bring them again also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria; and I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, and [z] place shall not be found for them.

11 And he shall pass through the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waves in the sea, and all the deeps of the river shall dry up; and the pride of Assyria shall be brought down, and the sceptre of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the LORD; and they shall walk [c] up and down in his name, saith the LORD.

CHAP. XI.

OPEN thy doors, O Lebanon, that the fire may devour thy cedars.

2 Howl, fir-tree; for the cedar is fallen; because all the [3] mighty are spoiled: howl, O ye oaks of Bashan; for the [4] forest of the vintage is come down.

3 There is a voice of the howling of the shepherds; for their glory is spoiled: a voice of the roaring of young lions; for the pride of Jordan is spoiled.

4 Thus saith the LORD my God: [h] Feed the flock of the slaughter,

5 Whose possessors slay them and hold themselves not guilty; and they that sell them say, Blessed [i] be the LORD; for I am rich: and their own shepherds pity them not.

6 For I will no more pity the inhabitants of the land, saith the LORD: but, lo, I will deliver [9] the men every one into his neighbor's hand, and into the hand of his king; and they shall smite the land, and out of their hand I will not deliver them.

7 And I will feed the flock of slaughter, even [11] you, O poor [n] of the flock. And I took unto me two staves; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called [12] Bands: and I fed the flock.

8 Three shepherds also I cut off in one month; [q] and my soul [13] loatheth them, and their soul also abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die; and that that is to be cut off, let it be cut off; and let the rest eat every one the flesh of [15] another.

10 And I took my staff, even Beauty, and cut it asunder, that I might break my covenant which I had made with all the people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and [16] so the poor of the flock that waited upon me knew that it was the word of the LORD.

12 And I said unto them, If [17] ye think good, give me my price; and if not, forbear. So they weighed for my price thirty [t] pieces of silver.

13 And the LORD said unto me, Cast it unto the potter: [u] a goodly price that I was prized at of them. And I took the thirty pieces of silver, and cast them to the potter in the house of the LORD.

14 Then I cut asunder mine other staff, even [18] Bands, that I might break the brotherhood between Judah and Israel.

15 And the LORD said unto me, Take unto thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepherd:

16 For, lo, I will raise up a shepherd in the land, which shall not visit those that be [1] cut off, neither shall seek the young one, nor heal that that is broken, nor [2] feed that that standeth still; but he shall eat the flesh of the fat, and tear their claws in pieces.

17 Woe to the idol shepherd that leaveth [d] the flock! the sword shall be upon his arm, and upon his right eye: his arm shall be clean dried up, and his right eye shall be utterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

THE burden of the word of the LORD for Israel, saith the LORD, which stretcheth forth the heavens, and layeth the foundation of the earth, and formeth the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of [6] trembling unto all the people round about,[7] when they shall be in the siege both against Judah, and against Jerusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Jerusalem a burdensome stone [i] for all people: all that burden themselves with it shall be cut in pieces, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the LORD, I will smite every horse [k] with astonishment, and his rider with madness; and I will open mine eyes upon the house of Judah, and will smite every horse of the people with blindness.

5 And the governors of Judah shall say in their heart,[8] The inhabitants of Jerusalem shall be my strength in the LORD of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the governors of Judah like a hearth of fire among the wood, and like a torch of fire in a sheaf; and they shall devour all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Jerusalem shall be inhabited again in her own place, even in Jerusalem.

7 The LORD also shall save the tents of Judah first, that the glory of the house of David, and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem do not magnify themselves against Judah.

8 In that day shall the LORD defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and he that is [11] feeble [p] among them at that day shall be as David; and the house of David shall be as God,[q] as the angel of the LORD before them.

9 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will seek to destroy [r] all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

10 And [t] I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace [u] and of supplications; [v] and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn [w] for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his first-born.

CHAP. XIII.

IN that day there shall be a [f] fountain opened to the house of David, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, for sin and for uncleanness.[5]

2 And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the LORD of hosts, that I will cut off [g] the names of the idols out of the land, and they shall no more [h] be remembered; and also I will cause the prophets and the unclean spirit [j] to pass out of the land.

3 And it shall come to pass, that when any shall yet prophesy, then his father and his mother that begat him shall say unto him, Thou shalt not live; for thou speakest lies in the name of the LORD: and his father and his mother that begat him shall [l] thrust him through when he prophesieth.

4 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the prophets shall be ashamed every [m] one of his vision, when he hath prophesied; neither shall they wear a rough [9] garment to [10] deceive:

5 But he shall say, I am no prophet, I am an husbandman; for man taught me to keep cattle from my youth.

6 And one shall say unto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, and against the man that is my [n] fellow, saith the LORD of hosts: smite [o] the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered; and I will turn mine hand upon the little ones.

8 And it shall come to pass, that in all the land, saith the LORD, two parts therein shall be cut off, and die; but the third shall be left therein.

9 And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold [r] is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will hear them; I will say, It is my people; and they shall say, The LORD is my God.

CHAP. XIV.

BEHOLD, the day of the LORD cometh, and thy spoil shall be divided in the midst of thee.

women ravished; and half of the city shall go forth into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city.

3 Then shall the LORD go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battle.

4 And his feet shall stand in that day upon the mount of Olives, which is before Jerusalem on the east; and the mount of Olives shall cleave in the midst thereof toward the east and toward the west, and there shall be a very great valley: and half of the mountain shall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the south.

5 And ye shall flee to the valley of[3] the mountains; [4] for the valley of the mountains shall reach unto Azal: yea, ye shall flee, like as ye fled from before the earthquake [d] in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah; and [e] the LORD my God shall come, and all the saints with thee.

6 And it shall come to pass in that day, that [5] the light shall not be [6] clear, nor dark. [7]

7 But [8] it shall be one day, which shall be known to the LORD, not day, nor night: but it shall come to pass, that at evening time it shall be light.

8 And it shall be in that day, that living waters shall go out from Jerusalem; half of them toward the [9] former sea, and half of them toward the hinder sea: in summer and in winter shall it be.

9 And the LORD shall be king over all the earth: in that day shall there be one LORD, and his name one.

10 All the land shall be [12] turned as a plain, from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem: and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited [13] in her place, from Benjamin's gate unto the place of the first gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananeel unto the king's winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more [k] utter destruction; but Jerusalem shall [15] be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the LORD will smite all the people that have fought against Jerusalem; Their flesh shall consume away while they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their holes, and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth.

13 And it shall come to pass in that day, that a great tumult [a] from the LORD shall be among them; and they shall lay hold every one on the hand of his neighbour, and [b] his hand shall rise up against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And [1] Judah also shall fight [2] at Jerusalem; and the wealth [c] of all the heathen round about shall be gathered together, gold, and silver, and apparel, in great abundance.

15 And so shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the ass, and of all the beasts that shall be in these tents, as this plague.

16 And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left of all the nations which came against Jerusalem, shall even go [f] up from year to year to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacles. [g]

17 And [h] it shall be, that whoso will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jerusalem to worship the King, the LORD of hosts, even upon them shall be no rain.

18 And if the family of Egypt go not up, and come not, [10] that have no [i] rain, there shall be the plague wherewith the LORD will smite the heathen, that come not up to keep the feast of tabernacles.

19 This shall be the [11] punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not up to keep the feast of tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be upon the bells [14] of the horses, HOLINESS [j] UNTO THE LORD; and the pots in the LORD's house shall be like the bowls before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Jerusalem, and in Judah, shall be Holiness unto the LORD of hosts; and all they that sacrifice shall come and take of them, and seethe therein: and [l] in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite [m] in the house [n] of the LORD of hosts.

MALACHI

CHAP. I

THE burden of the word of the LORD to Israel [1] by Malachi.

2 I have loved [a] you, saith the LORD: yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? Was not Esau Jacob's brother? saith the LORD: yet I loved Jacob, [b]

3 And I hated Esau, and laid [c] his mountains and his heritage waste for the dragons of the wilderness.

4 Whereas Edom saith, We are impoverished, but we will return and build the desolate places; thus saith the LORD of hosts, They shall build, but I will throw down; and they shall call them, The border of wickedness, and, The people against whom the LORD hath indignation for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see, and ye shall say, The LORD will be magnified from [2] the border of Israel.

6 A son honoureth his father, and a servant his master: if [a] then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my fear? saith the LORD of hosts unto you, O priests, that despise my name. And ye say, Wherein [c] have we despised thy name?

7 Ye [1] offer polluted bread upon mine altar; and ye say, Wherein have we polluted thee? In that ye say, The [e] table of the LORD is contemptible.

8 And if [f] ye offer the blind [2] for sacrifice, is it not evil? and if ye offer the lame and sick, is it not evil? offer it now unto thy governor: will he be pleased with thee, or accept thy person? saith the LORD of hosts.

9 And now, I pray you, beseech [4] God that he will be gracious unto us: this hath been [5] by your means: will [k] he regard your persons? saith the LORD of hosts.

10 Who is there even among you that would shut the doors for nought? [l] neither do ye kindle fire on mine altar for nought. I have no pleasure in you, saith the LORD of hosts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For [n] from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same, my name shall be great among the Gentiles; [o] and in every [p] place incense [q] shall be offered unto my name, and a pure offering: [r] for my name shall be great among the heathen, saith the LORD of hosts.

12 But ye have profaned it, in that ye say, The table of the LORD is polluted; and the fruit thereof, even his meat, is contemptible.

13 Ye said also, Behold, what a weariness is it! [9] and ye have snuffed at it, saith the LORD of hosts: and ye brought that which was torn, and the lame, and the sick; thus ye brought an offering: should I accept this of your hand? saith the LORD.

14 But cursed be the deceiver, [10] which hath in his flock a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth unto the LORD a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the LORD of hosts, and my name is dreadful among the heathen.

CHAP. II.

AND now, O ye priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If [z] ye will not hear, and if ye will not lay it to heart, to give glory unto my name, saith the LORD of hosts, I will even send a curse upon you, and will curse your blessings; yea, I have cursed them already, because ye do not lay it to heart.

3 Behold, I will [16] corrupt your seed, and spread [17] dung upon your faces, even the dung of your solemn feasts, and [18] one shall take you away with it.

4 And ye shall know that I have sent this commandment unto you, that my covenant might be with Levi, saith the LORD of hosts.

5 My covenant [b] was with him of life and peace; and I gave them to him for the fear wherewith he feared me, and was afraid before my name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, [d] and did turn many away from iniquity.

7 For [j] the priests' lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth: for he is the [h] messenger of the LORD of hosts.

8 But ye are departed out of the way: ye [i] have caused many to [3] stumble at the law; ye have corrupted [j] the covenant of Levi, saith the LORD of hosts.

9 Therefore have I also made you contemptible and base before all the people, according as ye have not kept my ways, but [6] have been partial in the law.

10 Have [m] we not all one father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers?

11 Judah hath dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Jerusalem; for Judah hath profaned the holiness of the LORD which he [7] loved, [s] and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The LORD will cut off [t] the man that doeth this, [8] the master and the scholar, out of the tabernacles of Jacob, and him that offereth an offering unto the LORD of hosts.

13 And [u] this have ye done again, covering the altar of the LORD with tears, with weeping, and with crying out, insomuch that he regardeth not the offering any more, or receiveth it with good will at your hand.

14 Yet ye say, Wherefore? Because the LORD hath been witness between thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast dealt treacherously: yet is she thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant.

15 And did not he make one? [v] Yet had he the [11] residue of the spirit. And wherefore one? That he might seek a [12] godly seed. [w] Therefore take heed to your spirit, and let none deal [13] treacherously against the wife of his youth.

16 For [y] the LORD, the God of Israel, saith that [14] he hateth [15] putting away: for one covereth violence with his garment, saith the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, that ye deal not treacherously.

17 Ye have wearied [z] the LORD with your words: yet ye say, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye say, Every one that doeth evil is good in the sight of the LORD, and he delighteth in them; or, Where is the God of judgment?

CHAP. III.

B. C. 397.

BEHOLD, I [a] will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the LORD, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come [b] to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts.

2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who [c] shall stand when he appeareth? for he is like a refiner's [d] fire, and like fuller's soap.

3 And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver; and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer [e] unto the LORD an offering in righteousness.

4 Then shall the offerings of Judah and Jerusalem be pleasant unto the LORD, as in the days of old, and as in [4] former years.

5 And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, [l] and against false swearers, and against those that [6] oppress the hireling [m] in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the LORD of hosts.

6 For I am the LORD, I change not; therefore [p] ye sons of Jacob are not consumed.

7 Even from the days of your fathers ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept them. Return [q] unto me, and I will return unto you, saith the LORD of hosts. But [s] ye said, Wherein shall we return?

8 Will a man rob God? Yet ye have robbed me. But ye say, Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes [w] and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour [7] you out a blessing, that [z] there shall not be room enough to receive it.

11 And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not [8] destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the field, saith the LORD of hosts.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a delightsome land, saith the LORD of hosts.

13 Your words [b] have been stout against me, saith the LORD: yet ye say, What have we spoken so much against thee?

14 Ye have said, It is vain to serve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his [1] ordinance, and that we have walked [2] mournfully before the LORD of hosts?

15 And now we call the proud happy; yea, they that work wickedness are [3] set up; yea, they that tempt [f] God are even delivered.

16 Then they that feared the LORD spake [h] often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it: and a book [4] of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name.

17 And they shall be mine, [j] saith the LORD of hosts, in that day when I make up my [5] jewels; [k] and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him.

18 Then shall ye return, and [n] discern between the righteous and the wicked; between him that serveth God, and him that serveth him not.

CHAP. IV.

FOR, behold, the day [o] cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn [r] them up, saith the LORD of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.

2 But unto you [t] that fear my name shall the Sun [u] of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth, and grow [v] up as calves of the stall.

3 And ye shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the LORD of hosts.

4 Remember ye the law of Moses my servant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Israel, with the statutes and judgments.

5 Behold, I will send you Elijah [y] the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD:

6 And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

END OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

AN OUTLINE

OF THE HISTORY OF THE PERIOD INCLUDED FROM THE CLOSE OF THE CANON OF THE OLD TESTAMENT, UNTIL THE TIMES OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

THE exact period when the ast of the Old Testament writers lived, is nc agreed among biblical writers; who fix it variously, from 436 to 416, B. C. Our outline of the history of the period intervening between the Old and New Testament times, may properly commence any where between these dates. A very appropriate point may, therefore, be, the accession, to the throne of Persia, of Darius Nothus, son of Artaxerxes Longimanus, B. C. 423. In the eleventh year of his reign, Eliashib, who had filled the office of High Priest, according to some writers, thirty-four, and according to others, forty years, was removed by death, and was succeeded by his son Jehoiada, or Joiada. Manasseh, the son of this High Priest, it was, whom Nehemiah, the celebrated reformer of the Jews, compelled to retire to Samaria, in consequence of his refusal to separate from his idolatrous wife. It is not certain at what date Nehemiah died; but, after his death, Judea was added to the prefecture of Syria, and was entirely under the power of the governor of that province; sanctioned and protected by whom, the High Priest dictated and carried into effect such laws as he thought proper. Darius Nothus was succeeded, on the throne, by Artaxerxes Mnemon, B. C. 405. Joiada was succeeded in the office of High Priest, by Johanan or Jonathan; and, in the thirty-fourth year of the reign of Artaxerxes Mnemon, Jeshua, the brother of Johanan, who had been appointed, of Bagoses, the governor of Syria, to supersede him in the sacerdotal office, was slain by him in the inner court of the temple. This act led to the exaction of a fine of fifty drachms, for every lamb which should be offered in sacrifice; the amount of which has been estimated at between seven and eight thousand dollars per annum. This fine, however, did not continue to be paid after the death of the then reigning monarch; which occurred B.C. 359, for Bagoses was then removed from the government of the province; and his successor did not exact it. But the peace and rest, which the Jews enjoyed under Ochus, the successor of Artaxerxes, was of very short continuance. Soon after his accession to the throne, Phœnicia, with lesser Asia, and Syria, (of which it will be remembered Judea was a part) revolted; and, in the eighth year of his reign, he marched into Judea, besieged, and took Jericho, and carried away a large number of captives, whom he scattered, some in Egypt, and some along the shores of the Caspian Sea, in Hyrcania. In the eighteenth year of Ochus, died Johanan the High Priest, B. C. 341, after having filled the office about thirty-two years; and was succeeded by his son Jaddua, who held it twenty years. Three years after his investment with his official dignity, Ochus was poisoned by Bagoas the eunuch, who placed the king's youngest son Arsaces on the throne. He also, in about three years, met his death by the same means, and by the same man, and was succeeded by Darius Codomannus. Shortly afterwards, Bagoas, finding this monarch no more fit for his purposes than his predecessors, resolved also on his removal; but the king, having been advised of his designs, forced him to drink the poisoned draught he had prepared for his master; and thus Darius became easily and firmly settled in his kingdom

About this period, Alexander succeeded his father, Philip of Macedon, on the Grecian throne, at the age of twenty years, and procured his own appointment as general of the Grecian forces against the Persians. With a small army, consisting only of thirty thousand infantry and five thousand cavalry, he crossed the Hellespont, and passed into Asia, in 334 B. C. routed the army of Darius, though five times as numerous as his own, at the river Granicus; and speedily became master of Asia Minor The next year, Darius advanced to meet him, leading an army of six hundred thousand men; but, in consequence of his leading them into the narrow passes of Cilicia, near Issus, where there was not an opportunity for them to act, he was totally defeated by Alexander. This victory led to the reduction of all Phœnicia and Syria; and Alexander marched into Judea, to punish the Jews for supplying provisions to the Tyrians, and refusing them to him during the siege of Tyre. While he was rapidly approaching the capital, Jaddua the High Priest as well as the people generally besought God, by prayers, and sacrifices, to avert the impending danger. He was instructed, in a dream, to go and meet the conqueror in his sacred robes, attended by the priests in their proper habits, and by a large body of the people clothed in white; and he obeyed the instructions he received. He ordered the gates of the city to be thrown open, and advanced to meet the Grecian, to an eminence which commanded a view of the city and the temple. On beholding him, the king was impressed with emotions of reverence and awe; and approaching him, presented his salution with religious veneration. All were astonished; and Parmenio, the friend of Alexander, inquired the reason of such homage; he was answered that it was not offered to the priest, but to his God; and in grateful acknowledgment for a vision he had had at Dio in Macedonia; in which this very person, and in the same apparel, had appeared to him, promising him the empire of Persia. He then embraced the High Priest, entered the city, and offered sacrifices to God in the temple. Here Jaddua showed him the prophecies of Daniel which predicted the overthrow of the Persian monarchy by a Grecian king; and he departed to the completion of his conquests, with the confident assurance that himself was the person intended in them. At his departure he granted to the Jews, at the request of Jaddua, the free exercise of their religion; as, also, an exemption from the payment of tribute on every seventh year, in which according to their laws, their land was neither to be sown nor reaped. From Judea he invaded Egypt, which quickly submitted to his power; and he built the city of Alexandria where he settled multitudes of Jews, to whom he granted all the privileges of his Macedonian subjects. Darius made to him repeated overtures for peace; but refusing them all, he, in the year following, marched against him; and, at Arbela, in one decisive battle, defeated his vast army of 1,100,000 men, and Darius, forced now to flee for his life, was shortly after assassinated by Bessus. He had now completely subverted the Persian Empire, as Daniel predicted; and he next rapidly pushed his conquests from Euphrates to Indus, and from the Caspian to the Southern Ocean; and became master of the world in six short years, at the age of twenty-six. Six years afterwards he died at Babylon, either from intemperate drinking, or from the effects of poison, B. C. 323.

After the death of Alexander, and the extermination of his family, his empire was divided into four kingdoms, among his four remaining generals. In the first partition of the empire, Palestine with Cœle-Syria and Phœnicia had been given to Laomedon of Mitylene, one of Alexander's generals, and had also been confirmed to him; but, having been deprived of the two latter, by Ptolemy Lagus, (to whom, on the partition of Alexander's empire, Egypt and Lybia fell,) the Jews, urged by the High Priest, Onias, the son of Jaddua, refused to submit to Ptolemy, from a religious sense of the oath of allegiance they had taken to Laomedon. In consequence of this, Ptolemy marched into Judea, took Jerusalem, and carried away one hundred thousand of the Jews captives into Egypt, B. C. 320; but there he treated them so kindly, promoting them to stations of trust and profit, in consideration of their fidelity to their former conquerors, that multitudes of other Jews followed him to Egypt of their own accord. About the year B. C. 314, Ptolemy was deprived of Judea, Cœle-Syria, and Phœnicia, by Antigonus, but regained them, and immediately lost them again, by the defeat of Cilles, one of his generals, B. C. 312. They continued in the possession of Antigonus till his defeat and death, by the combined forces of Ptolemy, Cassander, Lysimachus, and Seleucus, at the battle of Ipsus, B. C. 301; after which, together with Lybia, A abia and Egypt, they were assigned to Ptolemy Not very long after the recovery of Judea by Ptolemy, died Simon the Just, in the ninth year from his investment with the Pontifical dignity, B. C. 292, and he was succeeded in office by his brother Eleazar. To Simon the Just is ascribed the completion of the Canon of the Old Testament. In the year B. C. 284, Ptolemy Philadelphus succeeded his father on the throne of Egypt, and the Jews found in him an equally generous protector. During his reign, and at his instance, was made the celebrated translation of the Old Testament into Greek, which has since been called the Septuagint. This was an event the most important to the interests of religion, and which tended more to the diffusion of correct scriptural knowledge, and the confirmation of the authenticity of the sacred Scriptures of the Old Testament which we possess, than any other which occurred, from the period of their completion to the commencement of the Christian era. Antiochus Theos, son of Antiochus Soter, succeeded his father on the throne of Syria, B. C. 261. He maintained a long, and sanguinary war with Ptolemy Philadelphus; and the belligerents, finally, agreed to settle their disputes by a treaty of marriage. Antiochus was to divorce his wife Laodice, and to marry Berenice, the daughter of Ptolemy. B. C. 249. But when Ptolemy died, which was about two years afterwards, Antiochus put away Berenice and recalled Laodice; and she, apprehending another change, procured his death by poison, slew Berenice, her son and all her Egyptian attendants, and placed Callinicus, her own son, on the throne. Ptolemy Euergetes succeeded his father on the throne of Egypt; and hastened, with a large force, to avenge the death of his sister Berenice; he slew Laodice, and subdued all Syria and Cilicia; and, returning, passed through Judea, and offered many sacrifices in Jerusalem, in acknowledgment to the God of Israel for his successes. Two years afterwards, Callinicus, in an attempt to recover his dominion from Ptolemy, was defeated; but Ptolemy hearing that Antiochus the brother of Callinicus was about to unite with Seleucus against him, came to an agreement with Callinicus, and concluded a peace for ten years. B C. 243. The Jews were, at this time, subject to Ptolemy, and Judea, was taxed annually, in the sum of twenty talents. Onias II. the High Priest through avarice resolved to withhold this tribute; and had thus nearly proved the ruin of his nation; but the danger was averted through the wisdom and judgment of his nephew Joseph. B. C. 226. Seleucus, while a prisoner in Parthia, was killed by a fall from his horse, and was succeeded by Seleucus Ceraunus B. C. 225; and he, being poisoned was, in about two years, succeeded by his brother Antiochus the Great. Not a great while after his accession, died Ptolemy Euergetes, king of Egypt, and was succeeded by his son Ptolemy Philopater; Antiochus, taking advantage of this event, seized upon Cœle-Syria, and after a truce, returned and defeated the Egyptian forces B. C. 218. In the spring of the year following, success was found on the side of Philopater; for having, at Raphia, defeated the numerous forces of Antiochus, he forced him to retreat to Antioch. On the retreat of Antiochus, the cities which he had taken by force, opened their gates joyfully to Ptolemy, offered him presents, and promised him allegiance. Having thus regained these provinces, he proceeded through them, and coming to Jerusalem, offered many victims, and made valuable presents to the temple. Here he expressed a desire to enter the most holy place, and being forbidden and prevented by Simon the High Priest, son of Onias II., he departed to Egypt, full of rage against the Jews. He deprived the Jews in Egypt of the privileges they had enjoyed, and assembled great numbers of them in Alexandria to be devoured by wild beasts; but they, instead of injuring the Jews, attacked and destroyed great numbers of the heathen spectators. Ptolemy made peace with Antiochus on very easy terms, that he might yield himself up, without restraint, to the indulgence of his appetites; but a rebellion broke out among his subjects, and he died, worn out with intemperance and debauchery, B. C. 204, and was succeeded by his infant son Ptolemy Epiphanes. This appearing to Antiochus a period favorable to his ambitious designs, proposed to Philip, king of Macedon, to divide the dominions of the king of Egypt between them; and marching, with a large army, into the provinces of Cœle-Syria and Palestine, easily subjected them to his power. But soon afterwards, when he was engaged in a war with Attalus, king of Pergamus, the Egyptians sent Scopas with an army into Cœle-Syria and Palestine; and so successful were his measures that he took several cities, reduced all Judea, and put a garrison in Jerusalem, B.C. 199. This, however, was a short triumph; for Antiochus, the following year, having desisted from his war with Attalus, directed his forces against Scopas, overthrew him near Paneas, and shut him up in Sidon, where he forced him and his men to surrender; and, speedily afterwards, he reacquired possession of Cœle-Syria. Among others, the Jews readily submitted to him, and rendered him services so important that he ordered their city to be repaired, and that those who were dispersed should return and inhabit it; and, in addition, he confirmed to them all the privileges which had been allowed to them by Alexander the Great. After this, he married his daughter Cleopatra to Ptolemy Epiphanes, and gave, as her portion, the provinces of Cœle-Syria, and Palestine, on condition, that the revenues derived from them should be equally divided between the two kings. Finding his daughter faithful to her husband's interests, he prepared a fleet of one hundred large ships of war, and two hundred smaller vessels, and subdued most of the maritime places on the coast of Asia, Thrace and Greece. Shortly afterwards, however, Acilius the Roman Consul, routed the army of Antiochus at Thermopylæ, and expelled him from Greece; Livius and Emilius vanquished his naval forces; and finally, Scipio, in a decisive battle, defeated him near Magnesia, at the foot of mount Sipylus in Asia, and condemned him to pay twelve thousand talents to defray the expenses of the war. B. C. 188. Ashamed, and dishonored, he retired to Antioch; and afterwards, having marched into his eastern provinces, he attempted, in order to raise the money promised to the Romans, to rob the temple of Jupiter at Elymais, and was slain by the inhabitants for his sacrilege.

Antiochus was succeeded on the throne of Syria by his son Seleucus Philopater, whose career was principally marked by his efforts to raise the tribute due to the Romans, by virtue of his father's treaty. Having learned from Simon, the governor of the temple at Jerusalem, that there were great treasures concealed there, he sent his treasurer Heliodorus to seize them: but a strange terror seized the Syrians just as they were on the point of entering the sacred building, and they became almost lifeless. Not long after this event, Seleucus finished his inglorious reign, being destroyed by the hand of the wicked Heliodorus. B. C. 176. Antiochus, the brother of Seleucus, had been detained at Rome as a hostage, and was at Athens on his return, when he heard of the death of his brother, and of the attempt of Heliodorus to seize the throne, and finding that a large party were in his interest, and determined to sustain him in his pretensions; and that another party was forming for Ptolemy Philopater, king of Egypt, and that both of them were agreed, 'not to give unto him the honor of the kingdom,' as the prophet Daniel had predicted—(Daniel, xi. 21.) He applied to Eumenes, king of Pegamus, and to Attalus, his brother; and, by flattering speeches, and large promises of friendship, prevailed with them to help him against the usurpation of Heliodorus. By their assistance, he overcame his adversary, and was then quietly placed upon the throne, and without further opposition, he peaceably obtained the kingdom, according to the prophecy just mentioned. On his accession he took the name of Epiphanes or Illustrious; but being, as Daniel had said of him, 'a vile person,' a character which historians most fully and unanimously agree that he sustained, he was by some called Epimanes or the Madman. As soon as he was in possession of the kingdom, he was pressed by the Romans to raise the heavy tribute which they had exacted of his father, and, to accomplish it, he deposed Onias, the pious and excellent high priest, and sold his office to his brother Jason for three hundred and sixty talents; and afterwards he deposed him, and sold the pontificate to his brother Menelaus for 660 talents. B. C. 172. The curators of young Ptolemy (Lennæus and Eulæus) had demanded for their master, the provinces of Cœle-Syria, Phœnicia and Palestine, which had been assigned as the dowry of his mother, but had not, it appears, ever been given up. Enraged at this demand, Antiochus repaired the fortifications of those provinces, and marched his army towards the frontiers of Egypt; and meeting the forces of Ptolemy between Mount Casius and Pelusium, they came to a battle in which Antiochus was victorious. B. C. 171. In the succeeding campaign, he was still more successful; he routed the Egyptians, took Pelusium, ascended as far as Memphis, and made himself master of all Egypt except Alexandria. Macron, the governor of Cyprus, revolted from Ptolemy, and delivered up that important Island of Antiochus; and the pusillanimous king of Egypt, after having done scarcely any thing for the defence of either himself or his people, fell, at last, into the hands of the conqueror. It cannot but confirm our faith in the inspiration of prophecy, to read in profane history the exact fulfilment of the predictions of Daniel, respecting these two kings. The prediction was, "That both these kings' hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall speak lies at one table;" and the profane historian tells us that they frequently ate and conversed together; but that, yet, each was intent on the ruin of the other. Antiochus professed to take on himself the direction of the kingdom of Egypt, merely for the interest of Ptolemy his nephew; but was, in reality, at the same time plotting his destruction: the latter, on the other hand, affected to confide in the good intentions of Antiochus, while he yet penetrated his purposes, and resolved on a breach at the first favorable opportunity.

During the stay of Antiochus in Egypt, an unfounded rumor of his death was circulated; upon which Jason, who had been ejected from the high priesthood, marched with a thousand men to recover it. He surprised Jerusalem, drove Menelaus into the castle, and put to death, by various means, all whom he conceived to be opposed to him. Information of these events was conveyed to Antiochus, who, supposing that the whole nation was in rebellion, hastened from Egypt to suppress it. He was told, that on receiving the information of his death, the inhabitants of Jerusalem had manifested their pleasure by public rejoicings, which so enraged him, that, having taken the city by storm, he slew forty thousand of its inhabitants, sold as many more for slaves robbed the temple of its treasures and furniture to the amount of eight hundred talents of gold, entered the most holy place, and sacrificed a sow on the altar of burnt-offerings, and caused the temple generally to be defiled by the sprinkling of the broth all over it. He then returned to Antioch, enriched with the spoils of Egypt and Judea; having, in the latter country, appointed Philip, a Phrygian, a man of cruel disposition, as Governor; and confirmed the abandoned Menelaus in the pontificate; and in Syria, given the government to Andronicus. B. C. 170. The Alexandrians, dissatisfied with Philometer for subjecting himself to the management of his treacherous uncle, deposed him; and made his brother Physcon king in his stead, B. C. 169. This afforded Antiochus a pretext for again taking arms: he accordingly pretended to design the restoration of the deposed monarch; but really hoped to subject Egypt wholly to himself. He met the Alexandrians, and overcame them in a naval engagement near Pelusium, entered the country with a powerful army, and marched towards Alexandria to besiege it. But its conquest was not a matter of so easy achievement as he had anticipated;—he was aware that he should be compelled to raise the siege, and therefore professedly restored the kingdom to Philometer, excepting only Pelusium, and returned to Antioch. His real schemes, however, were suspected by the two brothers, and they agreed to reign together jointly, in peace. This excited again his rage; and he invaded Egypt the fourth time, ravaged and subdued it as far as Memphis, and projected the siege of Alexandria. But the ambassadors of the Roman Senate, Caius Popilius Lænas, and others, arriving in Macedonian ships, commanded him, most peremptorily, as he valued their friendship, and would avoid their vengeance, to withdraw his forces from Alexandria. B. C. 168. Mad with vexation at this disappointment, he resolved to indulge his rage against Jerusalem; and, while marching through Palestine, he detached twenty thousand men under the command of Apollonius, with orders to destroy Jerusalem, and put to the sword all the men, and make slaves of all the women and children These commands were rigorously executed on a Sabbath day, when the people were assembled at public worship, so that very few escaped, and these owed their safety either to flight, or to concealment in caves. Having sacked the city, he set fire to it in several places, demolished the houses, and broke down the walls of the city, and, with the materials which composed them, built a fortress on Acra, an eminence which commanded the city and temple; that from that place, the garrison might sally forth, and slay such as still lived, and should dare to worship there. After his return to Antioch, he issued a decree for a universal conformity, throughout his dominions, to the religion of the Greeks and deputed Athenæus a Grecian idolater, to initiate the Jews in the idolatrous rites, and to punish with cruel deaths, such as should refuse. On his arrival at Jerusalem, aided by some of the nation who had apostatized from the religion of their fathers, Athenæus caused the sacrifices of the God of Israel to cease, suppressed all the other religious observances of the Jewish religion, defiled the temple so as to render it unfit for the worship of Jehovah, profaned their Sabbaths and festivals, forbade their children to be circumcised, burned every copy of the law which could be found, dedicated the temple to Jupiter Olympus, erected his statue on the altar of burnt-offerings, and put to death every one who refused conformity to the royal mandate. These oppressions gave occasion for the heroic and pious achievements of the Maccabees.

Mattathias, great-grandson of Asmonæus, from whom the family were surnamed Asmonæans, with his five sons, John, Simon, Judas, Eleazar, and Jonathan, retired from the persecution at Jerusalem to a town called Modin, the place of his nativity, in the tribe of Dan. Here, however, he was not suffered to remain in peace: Apelles, one of the officers of Antiochus, came to the place of his retreat, and endeavored to enforce on him the observance of the king's command. He called the people together, and addressing himself to Mattathias, endeavored to persuade him to embrace idolatry, promising him great riches and honors. But the good priest was superior alike to fear and to corruption:—he refused the overtures with indignation, slew the first Jew who attempted to approach the idolatrous altar, and then turning on Apelles and his attendants, with the assistance of his sons, despatched them also; and putting himself at the head of his family, and as many Jews as he could collect, he overthrew the altars and idols of heathenism, and retired to the mountains. Here, being joined by the Asideans, and numerous others who strictly adhered to the worship of God, his company assumed the appearance of a small army. He now came out of his concealment, and took the field; marched to city after city of Judea, destroyed the idolatrous altars, restored circumcision, cut off apostates, defeated the persecutors wherever he met them, and succeeded in re-establishing the worship of the God of Israel wherever he came. B.C. 167. His course, however, though illustrious, was short; for the next year he was gathered to his people, worn out with age and fatigue; and by his appointment, his son Judas, surnamed Maccabæus, succeeded to the command of the army. He more than filled the place of his venerable predecessor; for having, in succession, vanquished Apollonius, governor of Samaria, Seron, deputy governor of Cœle-Syria, Ptolemy, Macron, Nicanor, and Gorgias, three distinguished warriors, Timotheus and Bacchides, governors of the country beyond Jordan, and finally, Lysias himself, governor of all the country west of the Euphrates, he recovered the temple, repaired and purified it, restored the services of their public worship, appointed the feast of dedication to be kept annually, and repaired to Jerusalem, which had became little better than a heap of ruins. B. C. 165. Antiochus was at this time engaged in war with the Persians, who, together with the Armenians, had revolted from him. On his return from this expedition, when informed of the successes of the Jews under Judas Maccabæus, he threatened to destroy the whole nation, and make Jerusalem their common burial place. But the measure of his iniquity was now full, and the judgments of the Almighty overtook him:—while the impious threatening was yet on his lips, he was seized with an incurable internal disorder, which brought him to his grave. B C. 164. His successor in the kingdom was his son Antiochus Eupator, a child of nine years old, under the tuition of Lysias, who combined with the Idumeans and the neighboring nations, to destroy the whole race of Israel. Being informed of this combination, Judas carried the war into the enemies' country; and, for several years, was a terrible scourge to the Idumeans, Syrians, and Arabs; but he was slain by Bacchides, the general of Demetrius Soter, (son of Seleucus Philopater, who had usurped the throne of Syria,) in revenge for the defeat and death of Nicanor. B. C. 161. Judas was succeeded in the command by his brother Jonathan, who, with his brother Simon, continued, with unparalleled boldness and success, the reformation of the disorders of both the ecclesiastical and civil departments; and Onias, having settled in Egypt, and built there a temple for the use of his countrymen like that in Jerusalem, these brothers officiated in Judea, both as High priests and civil governors, during the reigns of Alexander Balus and Demetrius Nicator. In the year B. C. 144, Jonathan met his death, being treacherously slain by the usurper Tryphon: and Simon and his sons, Judas and Mattathias, being murdered by Ptolemy, the son-in-law of Tryphon, John Hyrcanus the son of Simon succeeded to the high priesthood and government of Judea. B.C. 135. At first he was constrained to make a disadvantageous peace with Syria; but on the accession of Demetrius Nicator, B C. 130, he shook off the yoke of bondage, and maintained his independence during the revolutions in Syria which followed from the succession of Alexander Zebina, Antiochus Gryphus, and Antiochus Cyzicenus. He made himself master of several places in Syria, Phœnicia and Arabia, and, B. C. 130, took Shechem, and destroyed the temple on Mount Gerizim. He extended his conquests over the Idumeans, whom he compelled to embrace the Jewish religion, (B. C. 129,) renewed the league with the Romans which had been made by his father, Simon, by which he obtained for the nation, privileges and advantages greater than it had ever before enjoyed; (B. C. 128,) and, under the conduct of his sons, Aristobulus and Antigonus, he utterly destroyed Samaria. B. C. 109 He continued in the administration of the government of Judea, til' his death, which occurred two years afterwards, B. C. 107, when he was succeeded in the high priesthood and sovereignty by his eldest son Aristobulus. This was the first governor of Judea, who, since the captivity, assumed the title of king and wore the crown; but his reign was short; for at the end of one year he was succeeded by his brother Alexander Jannæus, who subdued the Philistines and obliged them to embrace the Jewish religion; burnt Gaza their capital, B. C. 97, and also subjugated the Moabites and Ammonites and part of the Arabians; and after exercising the regal authority twenty-seven years, met his death in consequence of intemperance, while besieging Raguba, in the country of the Gerasens, B. C. 79. After his death, the reins of government were, wisely and advantageously, held by his widow Alexandra during the period of nine years till B. C. 70. Immediately on her death Aristobulus, joined by many who were bitterly hostile to the Pharisees, who had tyrannized during the preceding reign, contended for the high priesthood against Hyrcanus his elder, but indolent brother; and succeeded in deposing him, after a reign of only three months. Aretas, king of Arabia, having assisted Hyrcanus, besieged Aristobulus in the temple; but was compelled to withdraw his forces, in consequence of Aristobulus having invoked the Roman power in his aid, B. C. 65. But Pompey, the Roman general, to whom application was made, decided in favor of Hyrcanus, and seated him on the throne; but would not allow him to wear the diadem, and made Judea tributary to Rome, B. C. 63. Pompey, also, with several of his officers, entered the Holy of Holies after which he was never prosperous; and no long after Crassus, to meet the expenses of his fatal Parthian expedition, pillaged the temple of ten thousand talents of silver, B. C. 54 After the lapse of a few years Antipater a noble, but subtle Idumean, was (by Julius Cæsar after Pompey's overthrow) made procurator of Judea, and Hyrcanus was continued in the High Priesthood, B. C. 47. After the death of Antipater, his son Herod the Great, under favor of the triumvir Antony, and through much barbarity and bloodshed, obtained the reins of government, B. C. 40, and was confirmed in the regal dignity by Augustus Cæsar, B. C. 30. He was a man of distinguished powers; but of almost diabolical cruelty; of which his own family, as well as others were often the victims. He held the throne till the birth of Jesus Christ; and in the interval expended large sums on the building of cities, and, to ingratiate himself with the Jewish nation, almost rebuilt the temple. Soon after his iniquitous decree to slay the infants in Bethlehem, he died most miserably. After some years, during which the dominions of Herod, having been divided, were governed by his sons, Judea became a Roman province; and Jacob's prediction was fulfilled: the sceptre departed from Judah, for the promised Shiloh was come. After the lapse of some years under Roman procurators, Jerusalem was destroyed, the state subverted, and the temple utterly ruined, by Titus, the son of Vespasian A. D. 79.

DODDRIDGE'S THREE SERMONS ON THE EVIDENCES OF CHRISTIANITY

SERMON I.

THE EVIDENCES OF CHRISTIANITY BRIEFLY STATED, AND THE NEW TESTAMENT PROVED TO BE GENUINE.

2 Pet. i. 16.

——We have not followed cunningly devised fables.

Those who do indeed wish well to the cause of public virtue, as every true Christian most certainly does, cannot serve it more effectually, than by endeavoring to establish men in the belief of the gospel in general, and to affect their hearts with its most distinguishing truths. The latter of these is our frequent employment; but to the former I shall now, by the divine assistance, apply myself. And I have chosen the words now before us, as a proper introduction to such a design.

They do indeed peculiarly refer to the coming of our Lord, which the apostle represents as attested by that glory, of which he was an eye-witness on the mount of transfiguration, and by that voice from heaven which he heard there: but the truth of these facts is evidently connected with that of the gospel in general. I am persuaded therefore, you will think they are properly prefixed to a discourse on the general evidences of Christianity. And I hope, by the divine assistance, to propose them at this time in such a manner, as shall convince you, that the apostles had reason to say, and that we also have reason to repeat it, We have not followed cunningly devised fables.

I have often touched on this subject occasionally; but I think it my duty at present to insist something more largely upon it. You easily apprehend, that it is a matter of the highest importance, being indeed no other than the great foundation of all our eternal hopes. While so many are daily attempting to destroy this foundation, it is possible, that those of you especially, who are but entering on the world, may be called out to give a reason of the hope that is in you: I would therefore, with the apostle, be concerned, that you may be ready to do it. It may fortify you against the artifices by which the unwary are often deceived and insnared, and may possibly enable you to put to silence their foolishness. At least it will be for the satisfaction of your minds, to have considered the matter seriously, and to be conscious to yourselves, that you are not Christians merely by education, or example, as (had you been born elsewhere) you might have been pagans or Mahometans; but that you are so upon rational evidence, and because (as the sacred historian expresses it) you know the certainty of those things in which you have been instructed.

To open and vindicate the proof of Christianity in all its extent, would be the employment of many discourses; nor would it, on the whole, be proper to attempt it here. All that I now intend here is, to give you a summary view of the most considerable arguments, in that which seems to me their most proper and natural connexion; that so you may be able to judge of them better than you can possibly do by a few scattered remarks, or by the most copious enlargement on any single branch of them alone. I shall endeavor to dispose these hints so, as that they may be some guide to those, whose leisure and abilities may lead them to a more ample and curious inquiry; that they may not be entangled in so complex an argument, but may proceed in an orderly manner. And if any of you, my friends, desire a more particular information on any of those heads, which I now but briefly suggest, you may depend upon it, that faithful ministers of every denomination will think it an important part of their duty, to give you all the private assistance they can. It is my hearty prayer, that God would enable me to plead his cause with success: that he would open your understandings to receive these things, and strengthen your memories to retain them; that you may not, like children, be tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and the cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive; but may be strong in faith, giving glory to God; that, your faith being more and more established, it may appear, that the tree is watered at the roots, and all your other graces may grow and flourish in an equal proportion.

But before I proceed, I must desire you to observe, that there is no proof in the world so satisfactory to the true Christian, as to have felt the transforming power of the gospel on his own soul. As that illiterate man, whose eyes were miraculously opened by Christ, when he was questioned by the Jewish sanhedrim, who endeavored with all their sophistry to prove Christ an impostor, answered with great steadiness and constancy, and with a great deal of reason too, This one thing I know; that whereas I was blind, now I see: so the most unlearned of the disciples of Jesus, having found his soul enlightened and sanctified, and felt his heart so effectually wrought upon, as to bring him home to his duty, his God, and his happiness, by the constraining power of the gospel, will despise a thousand subtle objections which may be urged against it; and though the cross of Christ be to the Jews a stumbling-block, and to the Greeks foolishness, yet with this experience of its saving energy, he will honor it in the midst of all their contempt and ridicule, as the power of God, and the wisdom of God. In this sense, though the miraculous communication of the Spirit be ceased, he that believes hath still the witness in himself; and while the Spirit beareth witness with his spirit, that he is a child of God, he cannot doubt, but that the word, by which he was, as it were, begotten unto him, is indeed a divine and incorruptible seed. And perhaps there are certain seasons of pressing temptation, in which the most learned, as well as the most illiterate Christian, will find this the surest anchor of his hope

Nevertheless, it must be acknowledged, that this glorious kind of evidence is like the white stone, mentioned in the Revelation, in which there was a new name written, which no man knew but he who received it. God has therefore made other provision for the honor and support of his gospel, by furnishing it with a variety of proof, which may with undiminished, and indeed with growing, conviction, be communicated from one to another. And we should be greatly wanting in gratitude to him, in zeal for a Redeemer's kingdom, and in charitable concern for the conversion of those who reject the gospel, as well as for the edification of those who embrace it, should we wholly overlook these arguments, or neglect to acquaint ourselves with them. This is the evidence which I am now to propose; and I desire you would hear it with a becoming attention. I speak to you as to rational creatures: judge ye of the reasonableness of what I shall say.

In prosecution of this great design, I shall endeavor more particularly to show you,—that if we take the matter on a general survey, it will appear highly probable, that such a scheme of doctrines and precepts, as we find Christianity to be, should indeed have been a divine revelation;—and then, that if we examine into the external evidence of it, we shall find it certain in fact, that it was so, and that it had its original from above.

First, Let me show, 'that taking the matter merely in theory, it will appear highly probable, that such a system as the gospel should be in deed a divine revelation.'

To evince this, I would more particularly prove,—that the state of mankind was such, as greatly to need a revelation;—that there seems from the light of nature, encouragement to hope that God should grant one;—that it is reasonable to believe, if any were made, it should be so introduced and transmitted, as we are told Christianity was;—and that its general nature and substance should be such, as we find that of the gospel is. If these particulars are made out, here will be a strong presumptive evidence, that the gospel is from God; and we shall have opened a fair way toward that more direct proof, which I principally intend.

1. 'The case of mankind is naturally such, as greatly to need a divine revelation.'

I speak not here of man in his original state though even then, as many have largely shown, some instruction from above seemed necessary to inform him of many particulars, which it was highly expedient that he should immediately know: but I speak of him in the degenerate condition in which he now so evidently lies, by whatever means he was brought into it. It is an easy thing to make florid encomiums on the perfection of natural light, and to deceive unwary readers with an ambiguous term; * (which shall sometimes signify all that appears even to the divine understanding, and sometimes no more than the meanest of the human race may, or than they actually do, attain;) but let fact speak, and the controversy will soon be determined I appeal to all, that are acquainted with the records of antiquity, or that have any knowledge of the most credible accounts of the present state of those countries where Christianity is unknown, whether it is not too obvious a truth, that the whole heathen world has lain, and still lies, in wickedness. Have not incomparably the greater part of them been perpetually bewildered in their religious notions and practices, vastly differing from each other, and almost equally differing on all sides from the probable appearances of truth and reason? Is any thing so wild as not to have been believed, any thing so infamous as not to have been practised, by them, while they have not only pretended to justify it by reason, but have consecrated it as a part of their religion? To this very day, what are the discoveries of new nations in the American or African world, but, generally speaking, the opening of new scenes of enormity? Rapine, lust, cruelty, human sacrifices, and the most stupid idolatries, are, and for ought I can find, always have been, the morality and religion of almost all the pagan nations under heaven: and to say, that there have still been some smothered sparks of reason within, which, if cherished, might have led them to truth and happiness, is only saying, that they have been so much the more criminal, and therefore so much the more miserable.

But you live at home, and hear these things only by uncertain report. Look then around you within the sphere of your own observation, and see the temper and character of the generality of those, who have been educated in a Christian, and even in a protestant, country. Observe their ignorance and forgetfulness of the divine Being, their impieties, their debaucheries, their fraud, their oppression, their pride, their avarice, their ambition, their unnatural insensibility of the wants, and sorrows, and interests of each other; and when you see how bad they generally are in the midst of so many advantages, judge by that of the probable state of those that want them. Judge upon these views whether a revelation be an unnecessary thing.

2. 'There is, from the light of nature, considerable encouragement to hope, that God would favor his creatures with so needful a blessing as a revelation appears.'

That a revelation is in itself a possible thing, is evident beyond all shadow of a doubt. Shall not he that made man's mouth, who has given us this wonderful faculty of discovering our sentiments, and communicating our ideas to each other, shall not he be able to converse with his rational creatures, and by sensible manifestations, or by inward impressions, to convey the knowledge of things which lie beyond the ken of their natural faculties, and yet may be highly conducive to their advantage? To own a God, and to deny him such a power, would be a notorious contradiction.—But it may appear much more dubious, whether he will please to confer such a favor on sinful creatures.

Now I acknowledge, that we could not certainly conclude he would ever do it, considering, on the one hand, how justly they stood exposed to his final displeasure, and on the other, what provision he had made by the frame of the human mind, and of nature around us, for giving us such notices of himself, as would leave us inexcusable, if we either failed to know him or to glorify him as God; as the apostle argues at large. Nevertheless, methinks we should have had something of this kind to hope, from considering God as the indulgent Father of his creatures; from observing the tender care which he takes of us, and the liberal supply which he grants for the support of the animal life; especially, from the provision which he has made for man, considered as a guilty and calamitous creature, by the medicinal and healing virtues which he has given to many of the productions of nature, which in a state of perfect rectitude and happiness man would never have needed. This is a circumstance, which seemed strongly to intimate, that he would sometime or another graciously provide some remedy to heal men's minds; and that he would interpose to instruct them in his own nature, in the manner in which he is to be served, and in the final treatment which they may expect from him. And I think, such an apprehension seems very congruous to the sentiments of the generality of mankind; as appears from the many pretences to divine revelation which have often been made, and the readiness of multitudes to receive them on very slender proofs: this shows how naturally men expect some such kind interposition of the Deity; a thought which might further be confirmed by some remarkable passages of heathen writers, which I have not now time particularly to mention.

3. We may easily conclude, 'that if a Revelation were given, it would be introduced and transmitted in such a manner as Christianity is said to have been.'

It is exceeding probable, for instance, that it should be taught, either by some illustrious person sent down from a superior world, or at least by a man of eminent wisdom and piety, who should himself have been, not only a teacher, but an example, of universal goodness. In order to this it seems probable, that he should be led through a series of calamity and distress; since otherwise he would not have been a pattern of the virtues which adorn adversity, and are peculiar to it. And it might also have been expected, that in the extremity of his distress, the blessed God, whose messenger he was, should in some extraordinary manner have interposed, either to preserve or to recover him from death.

* This Dr. Tyndal has done in so gross and palpable a manner, that it is surprising that fallacy alone should not have exposed his 'Christianity as Old as the Creation,' to the immediate contempt of every intelligent reader.

It is moreover exceeding probable, that such a person, and perhaps also they who were at first employed as his messengers to the world, should be endowed with a power of working miracles; both to awaken men's attention, and to prove a divine mission, and the consequent truth of their doctrines; some of which might perhaps not be capable of any other kind of proof; or if they were, it is certain that no method of arguing is so short, so plain, and so forcible, and on the whole, so well suited to the conviction, and probably the reformation, of mankind, as a course of evident, repeated, and uncontrolled miracles. And such a method of proof is especially adapted to the populace, who are incomparably the greater part of mankind, and for whose benefit, we may assure ourselves, a revelation would chiefly be designed. — I might add, it was no way improbable, though not in itself certain, that such a dispensation should open gradually on the world; and that the most illustrious messenger of God to men should be ushered in by some predictions, which should raise a great expectation of his appearance, and have an evident accomplishment in him.

As for the propagation of a religion so introduced, it seems no way improbable, that having been thus established in its first age, it should be transmitted to future generations by credible testimony, as other important facts are. It is certain that affairs of the utmost moment, which are transacted amongst men, depend on testimony: on this voyages are undertaken, settlements made, and controversies decided; controversies, on which not only the estates but the lives of men depend. And though it must be owned, that such an historical evidence is not equally convincing with miracles which are wrought before our own eyes; yet it is certain it may rise to such a degree as to exclude all reasonable doubt. And I know not why we should expect that the evidence of a revelation should be such, as universally to compel the immediate assent of all to whom it is offered. To me it seems much more likely that it should be so adjusted, as to be a kind of touch-stone to the tempers and characters of men; capable indeed of giving ample satisfaction to the diligent and candid inquirer, yet attended with some circumstances, from whence the captious and perverse might take occasion to cavil and object. Such might we suppose the evidence of a revelation would be; and such, it is maintained, that of Christianity is. The teachers of it say, and undertake to prove, that it was thus introduced, thus established, and thus transmitted; and we trust that this is a strong presumption in its favor: especially as we can add,

4. 'That the main doctrines contained in the gospel, are of such a nature as we might in general suppose those of a divine revelation would be, rational, practical, and sublime.'

One would imagine, that in a revelation of a religion from God, the great principles of natural religion should be clearly asserted, and strongly maintained: such, I mean, as the existence, the unity, the perfection, and the providence of God; the essential and immutable difference between moral good and evil, the obligation we are under to the various branches of virtue, whether human, social, or divine; the value and immortality of the soul; and the rewards and punishments of a future state. One would easily conclude, that all these particulars must be contained in it; and that, upon the whole, it should appear calculated to form men's minds to a proper temper, rather than to amuse them with curious speculations.

It might indeed be further supposed, and probably concluded, that such a revelation would contain some things which could not have been learned from the highest improvements of natural light: and considering the infinite and unfathomable nature of the blessed God, it would be more than probable that many things might be hinted at and referred to which our feeble faculties should not be able fully to comprehend. Yet we should expect to find these introduced in a practical view, as directing us to duties before unknown, or suggesting powerful motives to make us resolute and constant in the discharge of the rest.* As for ceremonial and positive institutions, we should imagine, at least in the most perfect state of the revelation, that they should be but few, and those few plainly subservient to the great purposes of practical religion.

I shall only add, that forasmuch as pride appears to be the most reigning corruption of the human mind, and the source of numberless irregularities, it is exceeding probable, that a divine revelation should be calculated to humble the fallen creature, and bring it to a sense of its guilt and weakness; and the more evidently that tendency appears, other things being equal, the greater reason there is to believe that the original of such a scheme is from above

Your own thoughts have undoubtedly prevented me in the application of these characters to the Christian revelation. The justice of that application I must not now illustrate at large. But I must beg leave to advance one remark, which will conclude what I have to say on this general: which is, that as the Christian system is undoubtedly worthy of God, so, considering the manner in which it is said to have been introduced, (separate from the evidence of these facts, which is afterwards to be considered,) it is extremely difficult to imagine from whom else it could have proceeded.

* Particularly on what terms, and to what degree, pardon and happiness might be expected by sinful creatures.

I will readily allow, that neither the reasonableness of its doctrines, nor the purity of its morals, will alone prove its divine original; since it is possible the reason of one man may discover that, which the reason of another approves, as being, in itself considered, either true in theory, or useful in practice. But this is not all; for in the present case it is evident, that the first teachers of Christianity professed, that they were taught it by divine revelation, and that they were empowered by God with miraculous endowments for the confirmation of it. Now if it were not indeed so as they professed, how can we account for so strange a phenomenon, as such a doctrine introduced with such pretences? If it were not from God, whence was it? from good or from evil angels or men? Wicked creatures, as our Lord strongly intimates, would never contrive and propagate so excellent a scheme; nor can we imagine that holy angels, or righteous men, would thus be found false witnesses of God, or have attempted to support the cause of religion and truth, by such impious and notorious falsehoods, as their pretensions must have been, if they were falsehoods at all.

And thus much for the first branch of the argument: If you consider the Christian scheme only in theory, it appears highly probable; since a revelation was so much needed, might so reasonably be expected, and if it were ever given, would, so far as we can judge, be thus introduced, and be in the main attended with such internal characters. And though we have not as yet expressly proved, that the gospel was introduced in such a manner, as the defenders of it assert; yet it would be strangely unaccountable, that so admirable a system of truth and duty should be advanced by the prince of darkness, and the children of wickedness; as it must have been, if the persons first employed in the propagation of it were not endowed with power from on high.

To embrace the gospel is so safe, and on the whole so comfortable, a thing, that I think a wise man would deliberately and resolutely venture his all upon it, though nothing more could be offered for its confirmation. But, blessed be God, we have a great deal more to offer in this important cause; and can add, with still greater confidence, that it is not only in theory thus probable, but,

Secondly, 'That it is in fact certain that Christianity is indeed a divine revelation.'

Here I confess the chief stress is to be laid; and therefore I shall insist more largely on this branch of the argument, and endeavor, by the divine assistance, to prove the certainty of this great fact. You will naturally apprehend, that I speak only of what is commonly called a moral certainty,* but I need speak of no more; for in many cases, such kind of evidence gives the mind as ample and as rational a satisfaction, as it may find even in some supposed mathematical demonstration; since there it is possible, at least in a long deduction of particulars, for the most sagacious of mankind to fall into a mistake.

Now in order to settle this grand point as clearly as I can, I think it may be proper to prove,

I. That the books of the New Testament, as they are now in your hands, may be depended upon as written by the first preachers and publishers of Christianity. And,

II. That from hence it will certainly follow, that what they assert is true, and that the religion they teach brings along with it such evidences of a divine authority, as may most justly recommend it to our acceptance.

Each of these heads might furnish out matter for many volumes; but it is my business to hint at the most obvious and important thoughts, by which they may briefly be illustrated and confirmed.

I. I am to prove to you, 'that the books of the New Testament, now in your hands, were written by the first preachers and publishers of Christianity.'

You see I confine the present proof to the New Testament. Not that I think the authority of the Old to be suspected, or the use of it by any means to be despised. God forbid! It is an invaluable treasure, which demands our daily delightful and thankful perusal, and is capable of being defended in a manner which I am persuaded its subtlest enemies will never be able to answer. But the nature of my present argument, and the limits of my time, oblige me at present to wave the proof of it, any further than as it is implied in, and dependent upon, what I have more immediately in view.

In the process of the discourse, though I shall studiously avoid any vain ostentation of learning, yet it will be absolutely necessary to assert some things, which cannot certainly be known, without some little acquaintance with the ancient writers. You cannot, most of you, be supposed to have formed such an acquaintance; but I take it for granted you will readily believe, that I will not 'lie for God, nor talk deceitfully for him.' I shall say nothing of this kind, but what I know to be contained in those writings; and you may assure yourselves, that no man of common sense, whatever his moral or religious character were, would venture in such an age as this, publicly to cite passages, as from authors in every one's hands, which he cannot prove to be contained in them.

Having promised these things, I go on to the

* Which, though it amount not to strict demonstration, is such kind of evidence as suits past matters of fact, and is sufficient to make a candid and rational inquirer easy in his assent.

argument; and shall advance in it by the following degrees. I shall prove,—that Christianity is an ancient religion;—that there was such a person as Jesus of Nazareth, crucified at Jerusalem about seventeen hundred years ago;—that the first preachers of his religion wrote books, which went by the name of those that now make up the volume of our New Testament;—that they are preserved in the original to the present times;—and that the translation of them, which you have, is in the main such as may be depended upon as faithful. And then I shall have clearly made out what I proposed in this first part.

1. It is certain, 'that Christianity is not a new religion, but that it was maintained by great multitudes, quickly after the time in which Jesus is said to have appeared.'

That there was, considerably more than sixteen hundred years ago, a body of men, who went by the name of Christians, is almost as evident, as that a race of men was then existing in the world; nor do I know, that any have ever been wild and confident enough to dispute it. If any should for argument sake question it, they might quickly be convinced by a considerable number of Christian writers, who lived in the same or in the next age,* and mention it as a thing notoriously certain, that Christianity was then of some standing in the world; some of them giving directions and exhortations to their brethren, and others forming apologies to their enemies, for which there could not otherwise have been the least foundation. We might have acquiesced in their testimony, had it been alone; but it is confirmed by that of Jews and heathens, who, by their early invectives against the Christians, do most evidently prove, that there was such a body of men in the world.—The most considerable Roman historians, who lived in this age, and wrote of it, are Tacitus and Suetonius, who both published their writings above sixteen hundred years ago; and they are always, and very justly, appealed to, as pregnant witnesses upon this occasion.—For Tacitus assures us, 'that in Nero's days,' who begun his reign about twenty years after the death of Christ, 'there was a vast multitude of Christians, not only in Judea, but at Rome too; against whom Nero raised a persecution, attended with such circumstances of ignominy and cruelty, as moved the compassion even of their enemies;' of which number this historian evidently was.† Nay, he plainly intimates, this was not the first attempt which had been made to crush them; though this attempt was so early as we have heard.—His contemporary Suetonius, in his more concise manner, attests the same.*—And Pliny, the intimate friend and correspondent of both, being employed in Trajan's time to persecute the Christians, writes an account of them to that emperor, which, though commonly known, must be mentioned, as it is so highly important. After having spoken very favorably of their moral character, he adds, 'that many of both sexes, and of every age and rank, were infected with this superstition;' as he thinks fit to express it; 'that it was got into the villages, as well as the cities; and that till he begun to put the laws in execution against them, the temples of the heathen deities were almost deserted, and hardly any could be found who would buy victims for them.'†—It might be added, that Marcus Antoninus,‡ who wrote a few years after Pliny, mentions the Christians, 'as examples of a resolute and obstinate contempt of death:' and it is generally supposed they are the Galileans, whom Epictetus speaks of,§ 'as those whom practice had taught to despise the rage of their armed enemies.' ¶

I shall dismiss this head with observing, that it tends greatly to the confirmation of Christianity, that each of these celebrated and ancient writers, at the same time that they attest the existence of such a body of men professing it, inform us of those extreme persecutions which they underwent, in the very infancy of their religion! a fact further apparent from the apologies addressed to their persecutors, which, whatever imperfections may attend the manner in which some of them are written, appear to me some of the most valuable remains of antiquity, (the sacred records only excepted,) es-

¶ This would be the proper place to mention the passage said to be in Philo Judæus, (who was contemporary with the apostles,) relating to the Christians in his days, and the methods taken by an embassy from Jerusalem to prevent the progress of their religion: but though I verily believe the fact to have been true, I omit it, for reasons which the reader will find in a note under head 3, of the next Sermon.—Some other passages of ancient writers which might be very pertinent here, I reserve to mention under some following heads, and particularly where I shall speak of the Miraculous Propagation of the Gospel.

pecially all those of Justin Martyr, Tertullian, and Minutius Felix. This fundamental point is then abundantly made out; that there were vast numbers of men, very quickly after the time when Jesus is said to have appeared on earth, who professed his religion, and chose to endure the greatest extremities, rather than they would abandon it. From hence it will be easy to show,

2. 'That there was certainly such a person as Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified at Jerusalem, when Pontius Pilate was the Roman governor there.'

It can never be imagined, that multitudes of people should take their name from Christ, and sacrifice their lives for their adherence to him, even in the same age in which he is said to have lived, if they had not been well assured, there was such a person. Now several of the authors I have mentioned plainly assert, that the Christians were denominated from Christ; nay, Tacitus expressly adds, 'that he was put to death under Pontius Pilate, who was procurator of Judæa, in the reign of Tiberius.'* And it is well known, that the primitive Christian apologists often appeal to the acts of Pilate,† or the memoirs of his government, (which he, according to the custom of the procurators, transmitted to Rome,) as containing an account of these transactions: and as the appeal was made to those who had the command of public records, we may assure ourselves such testimonies were then extant. But it is a fact, which our enemies never denied; they owned it, they even gloried in it. The Jews, therefore, in some of their earliest writings since those times, called Jesus by the ignominious name of 'the Man who was hanged, or crucified;' and his followers, 'the servants of the crucified person.'‡ And Lucian rallies them for deserting the pompous train of the heathen deities, to worship one whom he impiously calls 'a crucified impostor.'§ [Spartian also assures us, that the Emperor Alexander Severus entertained such high thoughts of Christ, 'that he would have admitted him into the number of his deities, and have built a temple to him, had not his pagan subjects opposed it.'¶ And Porphyry, though an inveterate enemy to Christianity, not only allowed there was such a person, but honored him 'as a most wise and pious man, approved by the gods, and taken up to heaven for his distinguished virtues.'*] I might add a great deal more on this head;† but it already appears as certain as ancient history can make it, and incomparably more certain than most of the facts which it has transmitted to us, that there was at the time commonly supposed such a person as Christ, who professed himself a divine Teacher, and who gathered many disciples, by whom his religion was very soon afterwards published in the world.

3. It is also certain, 'that the first publishers of this religion wrote books, which contained an account of the life and doctrine of Jesus their Master, and which went by the name of those that now make up our New Testament.'

It was in the nature of things exceeding probable, that what they had seen and heard, they would declare and publish to the world in writing; considering, how common books were in the age and countries in which they taught; and of how great importance an acquaintance with the history and doctrine of Christ was, to the purposes which they so strenuously pursued. But we have much more than such a presumptive evidence.

The greatest adversaries of Christianity must grant, that we have books of great antiquity, written, some fourteen, others fifteen, and some sixteen, hundred years ago;‡ in which mention is made of the life of Christ, as written by many, and especially by four of his disciples, who, by way of eminence, are called the Evangelists. Great pains have indeed been taken to prove, that some spurious pieces were published under the names of the apostles, containing the history of these things: but surely this must imply, that it was a thing known and allowed, that the apostles did write some narrations of this kind; as counterfeit coin implies some true money, which it is designed to represent. And I am sure, he must be very little acquainted with the ancient ecclesiastical writers, who does not know, that the primitive Christians made a very great difference between those writings, which we call the Canonical Books of the New Testament, and others: which plainly shows, that they did not judge of writings, merely by the names of their pretended authors, but inquired with an accuracy becoming the importance of those pretences. The result of this inquiry was, that the four Gospels, the Acts,

All these things are mentioned in the Pseudomantis, and the Death of Peregrinus, which are undoubtedly Lucian's: not to mention those very memorable passages in the Philopatris, which is of a much later date. thirteen Epistles of Paul, one of Peter, and one of John, were received upon such evidence, that Eusebius, a most accurate and early critic in these things, could not learn that they had ever been disputed;* and afterwards the remaining books of the New Testament, Hebrews, James, the second of Peter, the second and third of John, Jude, and the Revelation, were admitted as genuine, and added to the rest; though some circumstances attending them rendered their authority for awhile dubious. On the whole it is plain, the primitive Christians were so satisfied in the authority of these sacred books, that they speak of them, not only as credible and authentic, but as equal to the oracles of the Old Testament, as divinely inspired, as the words of the Spirit, as the law and organ of God, and as the rule of faith which cannot be contradicted without great guilt: with many other expressions of the like kind, which often occur in their discourses. To which I may add, that in some of their councils the New Testament was placed on a throne, to signify their concern, that all their controversies and actions might be determined and regulated by it.

On the whole then, you see, that the primitive church did receive certain pieces, which bore the same titles with the books of our New Testament. Now I think it is evident they were as capable of judging whether a book was written by Matthew, John, or Paul, as an ancient Roman could be of determining whether Horace, Tully, or Livy wrote those which go under their names. And I am sure the interest of the former was so much more concerned in the writings of the apostles, than that of the latter in the compositions of the poets, orators, or even their historians; that there is reason to believe, they would take much greater care to inform themselves fully in the merits of the cause, and to avoid being imposed upon by artifice and fiction. Let me now show,

4. 'That the books of the New Testament have been preserved in the main uncorrupted, to the present time, in the original language in which they were written.'

This is a matter of vast importance, and blessed be God, it is attended with proportionable evidence; an evidence, in which the hand of Providence has indeed been remarkably seen; for I am confident, that there is no other ancient book in the world, which may so certainly, and so easily, be proved to be authentic.

And here, I will not argue merely from the piety of the primitive Christians, and the heroic resolution with which they chose to endure the greatest extremities, rather than they would deliver up their Bibles; (though that be a consideration of some evident weight;) but shall entreat you to consider the utter impossibility of corrupting them. From the first ages, they were received, and read in the churches, as a part of their public worship, just as Moses and the Prophets were in the Jewish synagogues; they were presently spread far and wide, as the boundaries of the church were increased; they were early translated into other languages, of which translations some remain to this day. Now when this was the case, how could they possibly be adulterated? Is it a thing to be supposed, or imagined, that thousands and millions of people should have come together from distant countries; and that with all their diversities of language, and customs, and I may add, of sentiments too, they should have agreed on corrupting a book, which they all acknowledged to be the rule of their faith, and their manners, and the great charter by which they held their eternal hopes. It were madness to believe it; especially when we consider what numbers of heretics appeared in the very infancy of the church, who all pretended to build their notions on Scripture, and most of them appealed to it as the final judge of controversies: now it is certain, that these different parties of professing Christians were a perpetual guard upon each other, and rendered it impossible for one party to practice grossly on the sacred books, without the discovery and the clamor of the rest.

Nor must I omit to remind you, that in every age, from the apostles' time to our own, there have been numberless quotations made from the books of the New Testament; and a multitude of commentaries in various languages, and some of very ancient date, have been written upon them; so that if the books themselves were lost, I believe they might in a great measure, if not entirely, be recovered from the writings of others. And one might venture to say, that if all the quotations, which have ever been made from all the ancient writings now remaining in Europe, were to be amassed together, the bulk of them would be by no means comparable to that of the quotations taken from the New Testament alone. So that a man might with a much better face dispute, whether the writings ascribed to Homer, Demosthenes, Virgil, or Cæsar, be in the main such as they left them; than he could question it concerning those of Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, James, Peter and Paul, whether they are in the main so.

I say, in the main, because we readily allow, that the hand of a printer, or of a transcriber might chance in some places to insert one letter or word for another; and the various readings of this, as well as of all other ancient books, prove, that this has sometimes been the case. Nevertheless, those various readings are generally of so little importance, that he who can urge them as an objection against the assertion we are now maintaining, must have little judgment, or little integrity; and, indeed, after those excellent things which have been said on the subject by many defenders of Christianity, if he have read their writings, he must have little modesty too.

Since then it appears, that the books of the New Testament, as they now stand in the original, are, without any material alteration, such as they were, when they came from the hands of the persons whose names they bear; nothing remains to complete this part of the argument, but to show,

5. 'That the translation of them, now in your hands, may be depended upon, as in all things most material agreeable to the original.'

This is a fact, of which the generality of you are not capable of judging immediately, yet it is a matter of great importance. It is therefore a very great pleasure to me to think, what ample evidence you may find another way, o make your minds as easy on this head, as you could reasonably wish them. I mean, by the concurrent testimony of others, in circumstances in which you cannot imagine they would unite to deceive you.

There are, to be sure, very few of us, whose office it is publicly to preach the gospel, who have not examined this matter with care, and who are not capable of judging in so easy a case. I believe you have seen few in the place where I now stand, that could not have told you, as I solemnly do, that on a diligent comparison of our translation with the original, we find that of the New Testament (and I might also add, that of the Old) in the main faithful and judicious. You know, indeed, that we do not scruple on some occasions to animadvert upon it; but you also know, that these remarks affect not the fundamentals of religion, and seldom reach any further than the beauty of a figure, or at most the connexion of an argument. Nay, I can confidently say, that, to the best of my knowledge and remembrance, as there is no copy of the Greek, so neither is there any translation of the New Testament which I have seen, whether ancient or modern, how defective or faulty soever, from which all the principal facts and doctrines of Christianity might not be learnt, so far as the knowledge of them is necessary to salvation, or even to some considerable degrees of edification in piety. Nor do I except from this remark, even that most erroneous and corrupt version, published by the English Jesuits at Rheims, which is undoubtedly one of the worst that ever appeared in our language.

But I desire not, that with respect to our own translation of the New Testament, a matter of so great moment as the fidelity of it should rest on my testimony alone, or entirely on that of any of my brethren, for whose integrity and learning you may have the greatest and justest esteem. I rejoice to say, that this is a head on which we cannot possibly deceive you, if we were ever so desirous to do it. And indeed in this respect that is our advantage, which in others is our great calamity,—I mean the diversity of our religious opinions. It is certain that, wheresoever there is a body of dissenters from the public establishment, who do yet agree with their brethren of that establishment in the use of the same translation, though they are capable of examining it, and judging of it; there is as great evidence as could reasonably be desired, that such a translation is, in the main, right; for if it were in any considerable article corrupted, most of the other debates would quickly lose themselves in this: and though such dissenters had all that candor, tenderness, and respect for their fellow-christians, which I hope we shall always endeavor to maintain; yet they would, no doubt, think themselves obliged in conscience to bear a warm and loud testimony against so crying an abomination, as they would another day appear free from the guilt of a confederacy to poison the public fountains, and destroy the souls of men. But we make no complaint on this subject; we all unite in bearing our testimony to the oracles of God, as delivered in our own language. O that we were equally united in regulating our doctrine and our discipline, our worship and our practice, by them!

You see then, on the whole, how much reason there is to believe, 'That the books of the New Testament, as they are now in your hands, were written by those whose names they bear, even the first preachers and publishers of Christianity.' This is the grand point; and from hence it will follow by a train of easy and natural consequences, that the gospel is most certainly true: but that is a topic of argument abundantly sufficient to furnish out matter for another discourse. May God command his blessing on what has been already laid before us, that through the operation of his Spirit, it may be useful for establishing our regard to the Scripture, and for confirming our faith in that Almighty Redeemer, who is the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last; whom to know is life everlasting, and in whom to believe is the great security of our eternal salvation! Amen.

SERMON II.

THE EVIDENCES OF CHRISTIANITY DEDUCED FROM THE NEW TESTAMENT ALLOWED TO BE GENUINE.

2 PET. i. 16.

—We have not followed cunningly devised fables.

WHEN we are addressing ourselves to an audience of professing Christians, I think we may reasonably take it for granted in the main course of our ministry, that they believe the truth of the gospel, and may argue with them on that supposition. To be ever laying the foundation would be the part of an unwise builder, and be greatly detrimental to your edification and comfort, and, I may add, to our own. Nevertheless, Christians, we do not desire that you should take it merely upon our word, that your religion is divine, and your Scriptures inspired. We desire, that your faith, as well as your worship, should be a rea seasonable service; and wish that in this respect, all the Lord's people were as prophets; that as every Christian is in his sphere set for the defence of the gospel, each might in some measure be able to assert its truth, and, if possible, to convince gainsayers. Therefore, as we are often hinting at the chief arguments on which this sacred cause is established, (established, I trust, so firmly, that the gates of hell shall never prevail against it,) so I thought it might be agreeable and useful, on this occasion, to state them a little more largely, in their proper connexion, and mutual dependence. And I choose the rather to do it, as these Sermons are especially intended for young people, who, in an age in which infidelity so much abounds, can hardly expect to pass through the world, if they are called to converse much in it, without some attacks on their faith; which may be very dangerous, if they are not provided with some armor of proof against them. It is, indeed, (as I before observed,) above all things to be desired, that the heart may be established with grace; for we are then most secure from the danger of forgetting God's precepts, when they have been the blessed means of quickening us to a divine life. Yet as other arguments have their use, and in some degree their necessity too, I shall go on briefly to propose them.

I beg therefore, that you would renew your attention, while I resume the thread of my discourse, in an entire dependence on the blessed Spirit, by whom the gospel was at first revealed and confirmed, to add success to this humble attempt for its service, and for your edification.

I am now showing you, that Christianity, which before appeared in theory probable and rational, has in fact a convincing evidence: not only that it may be, but that it certainly is, true; —as it is certain, that the New Testament, as now in your hands, is genuine;—and as it may with great evidence be argued from thence, that the gospel is a revelation from God. The first of these points I have endeavored to prove at large; and without repeating what I have in confirmation of it, I now proceed to show,

II. 'That from allowing the New Testament to be genuine, it will certainly follow, that Christianity is a divine revelation.'

And here a man is, at first, ready to be lost in the multiplicity of arguments which surround him. It is very easy to find proofs; but difficult to range and dispose them in such an order, as best to illustrate and confirm each other. Now I choose to offer them in the following series, which seems to me the most natural, and perhaps may be most intelligible to you.

The authors of the books contained in the New Testament were capable of judging concerning the truth of the facts they attested;—their character, so far as we can judge of it by their writings, renders them worthy of regard; —and they were under no temptation to attempt to impose on the world by such a story as they have given us, if it had been false: so that, considering all things, there is no reason to believe they would attempt it:—but if they had, they must probably have perished in the attempt, and could never have gained credit in the world, had their testimony been false.—Nevertheless, it is certain in fact, that they did gain credit, and succeed in a most amazing manner against all opposition.—It is certain, therefore, that the facts they assert were true, and if they were true, then it was reasonable for their contemporaries, and is reasonable for us, to receive the gospel as a divine revelation; —especially, if we consider what has happened in the world for the confirmation of it, since it was first propagated by them. This is the conclusion to which I was to lead you; and I beg you would seriously consider each of the steps by which we arrive at it.

1. It is exceedingly evident, 'that the writers of the New Testament certainly knew, whether the facts they asserted were true or false.'

And this they must have known for this plain reason; because they tell us, they did not trust merely to the report, even of persons whom they thought most credible; but were present themselves when several of the most important facts happened, and so received them on the testimony of their own senses. On this St. John in his Epistle lays a very great and reasonable stress: That which we have seen with our eyes, and that not only by a sudden glance, but which we have attentively looked upon, and which even our hands have handled of the word of life, i. e. of Christ and his gospel,—declare we unto you.

Let the common sense of mankind judge here. Did not Matthew and John certainly know, whether they had personally and familiarly conversed with Jesus of Nazareth, or not? whether he had chosen them for his constant attendants and apostles? whether they had seen him heal the sick, dispossess devils, and raise the dead? and whether they themselves had received from him such miraculous endowments, as they say he bestowed upon them? Did not they know, whether he fell into the hands of his enemies, and was publicly put to death, or not? Did not John know, whether he saw him expiring on the cross or not? and whether he received from him the dying charge which he records? Did he not know, whether he saw him wounded in the side with a spear, or not? and whether he did, or did not, see that effusion of blood and water, which was an infallible argument of his being really dead? concerning which, it being so material a circumstance, he adds, 'he that saw it bare record, and he knoweth that he saith true;' i. e. that it was a case in which he could not possibly be deceived. And with regard to Christ's resurrection, did he not certainly know, whether he saw our Lord again and again? and whether he handled his body, that he might be sure it was not a mere phantom? What one circumstance of his life could he certainly know, if he were mistaken in this?

Did not Luke know, whether he was in the ship with Paul, when that extraordinary wreck happened, by which they were thrown ashore on the island of Malta? Did he not know whether, while they were lodged together in the governor's house, Paul miraculously healed one of the family, and many other diseased persons in the island, as he positively asserts he did.

Did not Paul certainly know, whether Christ appeared to him on the way to Damascus, or not? whether he was blind, and afterwards on the prayer of a fellow-disciple received his sight? or was that a circumstance in which there could be room for mistake? Did he not know, whether he received such extraordinary revelations, and extraordinary powers, as to be able, by the imposition of his hands, or by the words of his mouth, to work miracles, and even to convey supernatural endowments to others?

To add no more, did not Peter know, whether he saw the glory of Christ's transfiguration, and heard that voice to which he so expressly refers, when he says in the text, We have not followed cunningly devised fables,—but were eye-witnesses of his majesty,—when there came such a voice to him;—and this voice we heard.

Now Matthew, John, Luke, Paul, and Peter, are by far the most considerable writers of the New Testament; and I am sure, when you reflect on these particulars, you must own, that there are few historians, ancient or modern, that could so certainly judge of the truth of the facts they have related. You may perhaps think I have enlarged too much in stating so clear a case: but you will please to remember, it is the foundation of the whole argument; and that this branch of it alone cuts off infidels from that refuge, which I believe they would generally choose, that of pleading the apostles were enthusiasts; and leaves them silent, unless they will say they were impostors: for you evidently see, that could we suppose these facts to be false, they could by no means pretend an involuntary mistake, but must, in the most criminal and aggravated sense, as Paul himself expresses it, be found false witnesses of God. But how unreasonable it would be to charge them with so notorious a crime, will in part appear, if we consider,

2. 'That the character of these writers, so far as we can judge by their works, seems to render them worthy of regard, and leaves no room to imagine they intended to deceive us.'

I shall not stay to show at large, that they appear to have been persons of natural sense, and at the time of their writing, of a composed mind; for I verily believe no man that ever read the New Testament with attention, could believe they were idiots or madmen. Let the discourses of Christ in the Evangelists, of Peter and Paul in the Acts, as well as many passages in the Epistles, be perused; and I will venture to say, he who is not charmed with them, must be a stranger to all the justest rules of polite criticism: but he who suspects, that the writers wanted common sense, must himself be most evidently destitute of it; and he who can suspect, they might possibly be distracted, must himself, in this instance at least, be just as mad as he imagines them to have been.

It was necessary however just to touch upon this; because unless we are satisfied, that a person be himself in what he writes, we cannot pretend to determine his character from his writings. Having premised this, I must entreat you, as you peruse the New Testament, to observe what evident marks it bears, of simplicity and integrity, of piety and benevolence; which when you have observed, you will find them pleading the cause of its authors, with a resistless, though a gentle, eloquence; and powerfully persuading the mind, that men who were capable of writing so excellently well, are not, without the strongest evidence, to be suspected of acting so detestably ill, as we must suppose they did, if in this solemn manner they were carrying on an imposture, in such circumstances as attended the case before us. For,

(1.) The manner in which they tell their amazing story, is most happily adapted to gain our belief. For as they tell it with a great detail of circumstances, which would by no means be prudent in legendary writers, because it leaves so much the more room for confutation; so they also do it in the most easy and natural manner. There is no air of declamation and harangue; nothing that looks like artifice and design; no apologies, no encomiums, no characters, no reflections, no digressions: but the facts are recounted with great simplicity, just as they seem to have happened; and those facts are left to speak for themselves, and their great Author. It is plain, that the rest of these writers, as well as the apostle Paul, did not affect excellency of speech, or flights of eloquence, (as the phrase signifies,) but determined to know nothing, though amongst the most learned and polite, save Jesus Christ, even him that was crucified: a conduct that is the more to be admired, when we consider how extraordinary a theme theirs was, and with what abundant variety of most pathetic declamation it would easily have furnished any common writer; so that one would really wonder how they could forbear it. But they rightly judged, that a vain affectation of ornament, when recording such a story as of their own knowledge, might perhaps have brought their sincerity into question, and so have rendered the cross of Christ of none effect.

(2.) Their integrity does likewise evidently appear in the freedom with which they mention those circumstances, which might have exposed their Master and themselves to the greatest contempt, amongst prejudiced and inconsiderate men; such as they knew they must generally expect to meet with.—As to their Master, they scruple not to own, that his country was infamous, his birth and education mean, and his life indigent; that he was most disdainfully rejected by the rulers, and accused of sabbath-breaking, blasphemy, and sedition; that he was reviled by the populace as a debauchee, a lunatic, and a demoniac; and at last, by the united rage of both rulers and people, was publicly executed as the vilest of malefactors, with all imaginable circumstances of ignominy, scorn, and abhorrence: nor do they scruple to own that terror and distress of spirit into which he was thrown by his sufferings, though this was a circumstance at which some of the heathens took the greatest offence, as utterly unworthy so excellent and divine a person.—As to themselves, the apostles readily confess, not only the meanness of their original employments, and the scandals of their former life; but their prejudices, their follies, and their faults, after Christ had honored them with so holy a calling: they acknowledge their slowness of apprehension under so excellent a teacher, their unbelief, their cowardice, their ambition, their rash zeal, and their foolish contentions. So that, on the whole, they seem every where to forget, that they are writing of themselves, and appear not at all solicitous about their own reputation, but only that they might represent the matter just as it was, whether they went through honor or dishonor, through evil report or good report. Nor is this all; for,

(3.) It is certain, that there are in their writings the most genuine traces, not only of a plain and honest, but a most pious and devout, a most benevolent and generous, disposition. These appear especially in the epistolary parts of the New Testament, where indeed we should most reasonably expect to find them: and of these I may confidently affirm, that the greater progress any one has made in love to God, in zeal for his glory, in a compassionate and generous concern for the present and future happiness of mankind; the more humble, and candid, and temperate, and pure, he is, the more ardently he loves truth, and the more steadily he is determined to suffer the greatest extremity in its defence; in a word, the more his heart is weaned from the present world, and the more it is fired with the prospects of a glorious immortality, the more pleasure will he take in reading those writings, the more will he relish the spirit which discovers itself in them; and find, that as face answers to face in water, so do the traces of piety and goodness which appear there, answer to those which a good man feels in his own soul. Nay, I will add, that the warm and genuine workings of that excellent and holy temper which every where discovers itself in the New Testament, have for many ages been the most effectual means of spreading a spirit of virtue and piety in the world; and what of it is to be found in these degenerate days, seems principally owing to these incomparable and truly divine writings.

Where then there are such genuine marks of an excellent character, not only in labored discourses, but in epistolary writings, and those sometimes addressed to particular and intimate friends, to whom the mind naturally opens itself with the greatest freedom, surely no candid and equitable judge would lightly believe them all to be counterfeit; or would imagine, without strong proof, that persons who breathe such exalted sentiments of virtue and piety, should be guilty of any notorious wickedness; and in proportion to the degree of enormity and aggravation attending such a supposed crime, it may justly be expected, that the evidence of their having really committed it, should be unanswerably strong and convincing.

Now it is most certain, on the principles laid down above, that if the testimony of the apostles was false, they must have acted as detestable and villanous a part as one can easily conceive. To be found (as the apostle with his usual energy expresses it) false witnesses of God in any single instance, and solemnly declare him miraculously to have done, what we know in our consciences was never done at all, would be an audacious degree of impiety, to which none but the most abandoned of mankind could arrive. Yet, if the testimony of the apostles was false, as we have proved they could not be themselves mistaken in it, this must have been their conduct; and that, not in one single instance only, but in a thousand. Their life must, in effect, be one continued and perpetual scene of perjury; and all the most solemn actions of it, (in which they were speaking to God, or speaking of him as the God and Father of Christ, from whom they received their mission and powers,) must be a most profane and daring insult on all the acknowledged perfections of his nature.

And the inhumanity of such a conduct would, on the whole, have been equal to its impiety. For it was deceiving men in their most important interests, and persuading them to venture their whole future happiness on the power and fidelity of one, whom, on this supposition, they knew to have been an impostor, and justly to have suffered a capital punishment for his crimes.

It would have been great guilt, to have given the hearts and devotions of men so wrong a turn, even though they had found magistrates ready to espouse and establish, yea, and to enforce, the religion they taught. But to labor to propagate it in the midst of the most vigorous and severe opposition from them, must equally enhance the guilt and folly of the undertaking: for by this means they made themselves accessary to the ruin of thousands; and all the calamities, which fell on such proselytes, or even on their remotest descendants, for the sake of Christianity, would be chargeable on these first preachers of it. The blood of honest, yea, and (supposing them, as you must, to have been involuntarily deceived,) of pious, worthy, and heroic persons, who might otherwise have been the greatest blessings to the public, would, in effect, be crying for vengeance against them; and the distresses of the widows and orphans, which those martyrs might leave behind them, would join to swell the account.

So that, on the whole, he guilt of those male-factors, who are from time to time the victims of public justice, even for robbery, murder, or treason, is small, when compared with that which we have now been supposing: and corrupt as human nature is, it appears to me utterly improbable, twelve men should be found, I will not say, in one little nation, but even on the whole face of the earth, who could be capable of entering into so black a confederacy, on any terms whatsoever.

And now, in this view of the case, make a serious pause, and compare with it what we have just been saying of the character of the apostles of Jesus, so far as an indifferent person could conjecture it from their writings; and then say, whether you can in your hearts believe them to have been these abandoned wretches, at once the reproach and astonishment of mankind? You cannot surely believe such things of any; and much less of them, unless it shall appear, they were in some peculiar circumstances of strong temptation; and what those circumstances could be, it is difficult even for imagination to conceive.

But history is so far from suggesting any unthought-of fact to help our imagination on this head, that it bears strongly the contrary way; and hardly any part of my work is easier, than to show,

3. 'That they were under no temptation to forge a story of this kind, or to publish it to the world, knowing it to be false.'

They could reasonably expect no gain, no reputation, by it: but on the contrary, supposing it an imposture, they must, with the most ordinary share of prudence, have foreseen infamy and ruin, as the certain consequences of attempting it. For the grand foundation of their scheme was, that Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified at Jerusalem by the Jewish rulers, was the Son of God, and the Lord of all things. I appeal to your consciences, whether this looks at all like the contrivance of artful and designing men. It was evidently charging upon the princes of their country the most criminal and aggravated murder, indeed, all things considered, the most enormous act of wickedness which the sun had ever seen. They might therefore depend upon it, that these rulers would immediately employ all their art and power to confute their testimony, and to destroy their persons. Accordingly one of them was presently stoned; and another quickly after beheaded; and most of the rest were scattered abroad into strange cities, where they would be sure to be received with great prejudices, raised against them amongst the Jews by reports from Jerusalem,* and vastly strengthened by their expectations of a temporal Messiah; expectations, which as the apostles knew by their own experience, it was exceeding difficult to root out of men's minds; expectations, which would render the doctrine of Christ crucified, an insuperable stumbling-block to the Jews.

Nor could they expect a better reception amongst the Gentiles, with whom their business was to persuade them to renounce the gods of their ancestors, and to depend on a person who had died the death of a malefactor and a slave; to persuade them to forego the pompous idolatries in which they had been educated, and all the sensual indulgences with which their religion (if it might be called a religion) was attended, to worship one invisible God, through one Mediator, in the most plain and simple manner; and to receive a set of precepts, most directly calculated to control and restrain, not only the enormities of men's actions, but the irregularities of their hearts. A most difficult undertaking! And to engage them to this, they had no other arguments to bring but such as were taken from the views of an invisible state of happiness or misery, of which they asserted their crucified Jesus to be the supreme disposer; who should another day dispense his blessings, or his vengeance, as the gospel had been embraced or rejected. Now, could it be imagined that men would easily be persuaded, merely on the credit of their affirmation, or in compliance with their importunity, to believe things, which to their prejudiced minds would appear so improbable, and to submit to impositions, to their corrupt inclinations so insupportable? And if they could not persuade them to it, what could the apostles then expect? What, but to be insulted as fools or madmen, by one sort of people, and, by another, to be persecuted with the most savage and outrageous cruelty, as blasphemers of the gods, as seducers of the people, and as disturbers of the public peace? All which we know accordingly happened: nay, they assure us, that their Lord had often warned them of it; and that they themselves expected it, and thought it necessary to admonish their followers to expect it too: and it appears, that far from drawing back upon that account, as they would surely have done if they had been governed by secular motives, they became so much the more zeal-

* I do not here mention Philo Judæus, as speaking of 'an embassy from the Jews in his early days, to their brethren in all parts of the world, exhorting them to resist the progress of Christianity.' For though Bishop Atterbury asserts, that there is such a passage, (Serm. vol. i. p. 117.) I have never been able to find or to hear of it; and therefore am ready to believe, it was a very pardonable slip of his Lordship's memory, and that the passage he intended to refer to, was a very celebrated one in Justin Martyr's Dialogue with Trypho the Jew: in which he expressly asserts such a fact, in a manner which his integrity and good sense would never have permitted, had he not certainly known it to be true. For he addresses the learned Jew, with whom he was disputing, in these memorable words, 'You were so far from repenting of the crime you had committed, (in crucifying Christ,) that you sent chosen men of the most distinguished character all over the world, representing the Christians as an atheistical sect, and charging us with those things which the ignorant heathens object against us.' Justin Mart. Dialog. cum Tryph. pag. 171. Thirlb. ——Eusebius. and Origen. have both mentioned the same fact, which is in itself very probable; and there may possibly be some reference to it, Acts xxviii. 22. where the Jews at Rome say, 'As concerning this sect, (of Christianity,) we know that it is every where spoken against.'

ous and courageous, and encouraged each other to resist even to blood. Now, as this is a great evidence of the integrity and piety of their character, and thus illustrates the former head; so it serves to the purpose now immediately in view, i. e. it proves how improbable it is, that any person of common sense should engage in an imposture, from which (as many have justly observed) they could, on their own principles, have nothing to expect, but ruin in this world, and damnation in the next. When, therefore, we consider and compare their character and their circumstances, it appears utterly improbable on various accounts, that they would have attempted in this article to impose upon the world. But suppose, that in consequence of some unaccountable, as well as undiscoverable, frenzy, they had ventured on the attempt, it is easy to show,

4. 'That, humanly speaking, they must quickly have perished in it, and their foolish cause must have died with them, without ever gaining any credit in the world.'

One may venture to say this in general, on the principles which I before laid down. But it appears still more evident, when we consider the nature of the fact they asserted, in conjunction with the methods they took to engage men to believe it: methods which, had the apostles been impostors, must have had the most direct tendency to ruin both their scheme and themselves.

(1.) Let us a little more particularly reflect on the nature of that grand fact, the death, resurrection, and exaltation of Christ; which, as I observed, was the great foundation of the Christian scheme, as first exhibited by the apostles.— The resurrection of a dead man, and his ascension into, and abode in, the upper world, was so strange a thing, that a thousand objections would immediately be raised against it; and some extraordinary proof would justly be required as a balance to them. Now I wish the rejecters of the gospel would set themselves to invent some hypothesis, which should have any appearance of probability, to show how such an amazing story should ever gain credit in the world, if it had not some very convincing proof. Where, and when, could it first begin to be received? Was it in the same, or a succeeding, age? Was it at Jerusalem, the spot of ground on which it is said to have happened, or in Greece, or Italy, or Asia, or Africa? You may change the scene, and the time, as you please; but you cannot change the difficulty.

Take it in a parallel instance. Suppose twelve men in London were now to affirm, that a person executed there as a malefactor in a public manner, a month or six weeks ago, or if you please a year, or five, or ten years since, (for it is much the same,) was a prophet sent from God with extraordinary powers, that he was raised from the dead, that they conversed with him after his revival, and at last saw him taken up into heaven: would their united testimony make them be believed there?—Or suppose them, if you please, to disperse, and that one or two of them should come hither, and go on to more distant places, suppose Leicester, Nottingham, or York, and tell their story there; and that others were to carry it over to Paris, or Amsterdam, or to Vienna, or Madrid: could they expect any more credit with us, or with them; or hope for any thing better, than to be looked upon as lunatics, and treated as such?—And if they should go into other places, and attempt to mend their scheme, by saying their master was put to death one hundred, or two hundred, years ago, when there could be no historical evidence of it discovered, and no proof given but their own confident assertion; would they remove, or would they not rather increase, the difficulty?—Or would they, in any of these cases, gain credit by the most dexterous tricks of legerdemain, of which you cannot suppose them masters? Especially if they should undertake, in consequence of such supposed facts, to engage men to renounce the religion in which they had been educated; to deny themselves in their dearest passions, and most important worldly interests; and even, probably, to hazard their liberties and their lives, in dependence on a future reward, to be received in a place and state, which no man living on earth had ever seen or known? You would readily allow this to be an unsupposable case: and why should you suppose it to have happened sixteen or seventeen hundred years ago? You may assure yourselves, that the reason and the passions of mankind were then as strong as they are now.—But let us a little more particularly consider,

(2.) The manner in which the apostles undertook to prove the truth of their testimony to this fact; and it will evidently appear, that instead of confirming their scheme, it must have been sufficient utterly to have overthrown it, had it been in itself the most probable imposture that the wit of man could ever have contrived.—You know, they did not merely assert, that they had seen miracles wrought by this Jesus, but that he had endowed themselves with a variety of miraculous powers. And these they undertook to display, not in such idle and useless tricks as sleight of hand might perform, but in such solid and important works, as appeared worthy a divine interposition, and entirely superior to human power: restoring, as they pretend, sight to the blind, soundness to lepers, activity to the lame, and in some instances, life to the dead. Nor were these things undertaken in a corner, in a circle of friends or dependants; nor were they said to be wrought on such, as might be suspected of being confederates in the fraud: but were done often in the public streets, in the sight of enemies, on the persons of such, as were utter strangers to the apostles, but sometimes well known to neighbors and spectators, as having long labored under these calamities, to human skill utterly incurable. Would impostors have made such pretensions as these? or if they had, must they not immediately have been exposed and ruined?

Nor is there any room at all to object, that perhaps the apostles might not undertake to do those things on the spot, but only assert they had done them elsewhere: for even then, it would have been impossible they should have gained credit; and they would have seemed the less credible, on account of such a pretence. Whatever appearances there might have been of gravity, integrity, and piety, in the conversation of Peter, (for instance,) very few, especially few that had known but little of him, would have taken it upon his word, that he saw Jesus raise Lazarus from the dead at Bethany; but fewer yet would have believed it upon his affirmation, had it been ever so solemn, that he had himself raised Dorcas at Joppa; unless he had done some extraordinary work before them, correspondent at least, if not equal, to that. You will easily think of invincible objections, which otherwise might have been made; and undoubtedly, the more such assertions had been multiplied, every new person, and scene, and fact, had been an additional advantage given to the enemy, to have detected and confuted the whole scheme, which Peter and his associates had thus endeavored to establish.

But to come still closer to the point: If the New Testament be genuine, (as I have already proved it,) then it is certain, that the apostles pretend to have wrought miracles in the very presence of those to whom their writings were addressed; nay more, they profess likewise to have conferred those miraculous gifts, in some considerable degrees, on others, even on the very persons to whom they write; and they appeal to their consciences as to the truth of it. And could there possibly be room for delusion here? It is exceedingly remarkable to this purpose, that Paul makes this appeal to the Corinthians, and Galatians, when there were amongst them some persons disaffected to him, who were taking all opportunities to sink his character, and destroy his influence: and could they have wished for a better opportunity than such an appeal? an appeal, which, had not the fact it supposed been certain, far from recovering those that were wavering in their esteem, must have been sufficient utterly to disgust his most cordial and steady friends.—And the same remark may be applied to the advices and reproofs, which the apostle there gives, relating to the use and abuse of their spiritual gifts; which had been most notoriously absurd, and even ridiculous, had not the Christians to whom he wrote been really possessed of them. And these gifts were so plainly supernatural, that (as it has often been observed) if it be allowed, that miracles can prove a divine revelation, and that the first epistle to the Corinthians be genuine, (of which, by the way, there is at least as pregnant evidence, as that any part of the New Testament is so,)* then it follows by a sure and easy consequence, that Christianity is true, Nevertheless, other arguments are not to be forgot in this survey.—And therefore, as I have proved under this head, that had the testimony of the apostles been false, it is not to be imagined that they could have gained credit at all; and especially, when they had put the proof of their cause on such a footing as we are sure they did: I am now to show you,

5. 'That it is certain in fact, that the apostles did gain early credit, and succeeded in a most wonderful manner;' from whence it will follow, that their testimony was true.

That the apostles did indeed gain credit in the world, is evident, from what I before offered to prove the early prevalence of Christianity in it; and may further be confirmed, from many passages in the New Testament. And here, I insist not so much on express historical testimonies, though some of them are very remarkable; especially that of the brethren at Jerusalem, who speak of many myriads of believing Jews assembled at the feast of Pentecost: but I argue from the epistles written to several churches, which plainly prove, that there were congregations of Christians in Rome, Corinth, Ephesus, Colosse, Thessalonica, Philippi, Laodicea, Smyrna, Pergamos, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, Crete, Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia, and many other places; insomuch that one of the apostles could say, that Christ had so wrought by him, to make the Gentiles obedient, not only in word or profession, but in deed too, that from Jerusalem, even round about unto Illyricum, he had fully preached the gospel of Christ, or as the word imports,† had accomplished the purposes of it. And there is a great deal of reason, both from the nature of the thing, and from the testimony of ancient history, to believe, that others of the apostles had considerable success elsewhere: so that Paul might with reason apply to them and their doctrine, what is originally spoken of the luminaries of heaven, and the instruction they communicate, 'Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the ends of the world.'

So great was the number of those, who were proselyted to Christianity by the preaching of the apostles: and we have all imaginable reason to believe, that there were none of all these proselytes, but what were fully persuaded of the truth of the testimony they bore; for otherwise, no imaginable reason can be given for their entering themselves into such a profession.

* I cannot but look upon it as a kind and remarkable providence to this purpose, that there is still extant an Epistle of Clemens Romanus to the Church at Corinth, probably written before the year of Christ 70, in which he plainly refers to 1 Cor. i. 12. in what he cites from 'an epistle of Paul written to them by the Spirit at his first preaching the gospel among them.' Clem. Epist. I ad Cor. § 47.

The apostles had no secular terrors to affright them, no secular rewards to bribe them, * no dazzling eloquence to enchant them: on the contrary, all these were in a powerful manner pleading against the apostles; yet their testimony was received, and their new converts were so thoroughly satisfied with the evidence which they gave them of their mission, that they encountered great persecutions, and cheerfully ventured estate, liberty, and life itself, on the truth of the facts they asserted; as plainly appears from many passages in the epistles, which none can think the apostles would ever have written if these first Christians had not been in a persecuted condition.

Nor will it signify any thing to object, that most of these converts were persons of a low rank, and ordinary education, who therefore might be more easily imposed upon than others: for (not to mention Sergius Paulus, Dionysius the Areopagite, or the domestics of Cæsar's household, with others of superior stations in life) it is sufficient to remind you that, as I have largely shown, the apostles did not put their cause on the issue of labored arguments, in which the populace might quickly have been entangled and lost, but on such plain facts, as they might judge of, as easily, and surely, as any others; indeed on what they themselves saw, and in part, too, on what they felt.

Now I apprehend, this might be sufficient to bring the matter to a satisfactory conclusion. You have seen, that as there is no reason to believe, that the apostles, who certainly knew the truth, would have attempted a fraud of this kind;—so if they had attempted it, they could not possibly have succeeded;—nevertheless, they did succeed in a very remarkable manner;—from whence it plainly follows, that what they testified was true.

And now then, after this, the reasonableness of receiving the gospel, on admitting the truth of what they testified concerning Christ, is an easy consequence. Yet some things are to be offered under this head, which are of great weight, and would not so conveniently have fallen under any of the former; and some considerable additional evidence to the truth of Christianity arises, from what has happened in the world since its first propagation. And therefore I choose rather to make a discourse on these, with the improvement of the whole, than to throw together the hints of them, in so hasty a manner as I must do, should I attempt to despatch the subject in this discourse, the just limits of which I have already transgressed, lest the great chain of the argument should be broken.

* As for the distribution of goods in Judea, it is plain it was peculiar to that time and country; and the extraordinary persecution, which from the very infancy of Christianity prevailed there, was more than an equivalent for any advantage, which the poorest of the people could gain by it. I did not therefore think it necessary to mention it.

SERMON III.

ADDITIONAL EVIDENCES OF CHRISTIANITY, AND REFLECTIONS ON THE WHOLE.

2 Pet. i. 16.

——We have not followed cunningly devised fables.

As I had before proved the books of the New Testament to be genuine, I proceeded in my last discourse to argue from thence the certain truth of the Christian revelation; and we have made some considerable progress in the argument.

The matter in short stands thus: The authors of the New Testament certainly knew whether the facts they asserted were true or false; so that they could not themselves be deceived:—neither can we think they would attempt to deceive others, since they appear by their manner of writing, to have been persons of great integrity and goodness;—and it is likewise evident, they could have no temptation to attempt a fraud of this nature:—however, if they had attempted it, we cannot imagine they could have gained credit in the world, if the facts they asserted had not been true:—nevertheless they did gain credit in a very remarkable manner; from whence it plainly follows, that those facts were true.—Now I am to show further, to complete the proof of our grand proposition,

6. 'That admitting the facts which they testified concerning Christ to be true, then it was reasonable for their contemporaries, and is reasonable for us, to receive the gospel which they have transmitted to us, as a divine revelation.'

The great thing they asserted was, that Jesus was the Christ, and that he was proved to be so,—by prophecies accomplished in him,—and by miracles wrought by him, and by others in his name. Let us attend to each of these, and I am persuaded we shall find them no contemptible arguments; but must be forced to acknowledge, that the premises being established, the conclusion most easily and necessarily follows: and this conclusion, that Jesus is the Christ, taken in all its extent, is an abstract of the gospel revelation, and therefore is sometimes put for the whole of it.

The apostles, especially when disputing with the Jews, did frequently argue from 'the prophecies of the Old Testament;' in which, they say, many things were expressly foretold, which were most literally and exactly fulfilled in Jesus of Nazareth. Now, greatly to the evidence, confirmation, and advantage of Christianity, so it is, that these prophecies are to this day extant in their original language; and this, in the hands of a people most implacably averse to the gospel: so that an attentive reader may still, in a great measure, satisfy himself as to the validity of the argument drawn from them.

On searching these ancient and important records, we find, not only in the general, that God intended to raise up for his people an illustrious deliverer, who, amongst other glorious titles, is sometimes called the Messiah, or the Anointed One; but we are more particularly told, that this great event should happen before the government ceased in the tribe of Judah; while the second temple was standing; and a little before its destruction, about four hundred and ninety years after a command given to rebuild Jerusalem; which was probably issued out in the seventh year of Artaxerxes Longimanus, or at least within a few years before or after it. It is predicted, that he should be the seed of Abraham, born of a virgin, of the house of David, in the town of Bethlehem; that he should be anointed with an extraordinary effusion of the divine Spirit, in virtue of which, he should not only be a perfect and illustrious example of universal holiness and goodness, but should also perform many extraordinary and beneficial miracles; nevertheless, that, for want of external pomp and splendor, he should be rejected and insulted by the Jews, and at length be cut off and slain by them. It is added, that he should arise from the dead before his body should be corrupted in the grave; and should be received up to heaven, and there seated at the right hand of God; from whence he should in a wonderful manner pour out his Spirit on his followers; in consequence of which, though the body of the Jewish people perished in their obstinate opposition to him, yet the Gentiles should be brought to the knowledge of the true God, and a kingdom established amongst them, which from small beginnings should spread itself to the ends of the earth, and continue to the remotest ages.

Besides these most material circumstances, there were several others relating to him, which were either expressly foretold, or at least hinted at; all which, with those already mentioned, had so evident an accomplishment in Jesus, (allowing the truth of the facts which the apostles testified concerning him,) that we have no reason to wonder that they should receive the word with all readiness, who searched the Scriptures daily, whether these things were so predicted there, as the apostles affirmed. For I am persuaded, that no wise and religious person could imagine, that God would permit an impostor to arise, in whom so great a variety of predictions, delivered by so many different persons, and in so many distant ages, should have an exact accomplishment.

When the apostles were preaching to heathens, it is indeed true, that they generally waved the argument from prophecy, because they were not so capable judges of it: but then they insist on another, which might as soon captivate their belief, and as justly vindicate it, I mean 'the miracles performed by Christ, and those commissioned and influenced by him.' Many of these were of such a nature as not to admit of any artifice or deceit; especially that most signal one of his resurrection from the dead, which I may call a miracle performed by, as well as upon, Christ; because he so expressly declares, that he had himself a power to resume his life at pleasure. The apostles well knew this was a fact of such a nature, that they who believed this would never doubt of the rest: they therefore often single this out, and lay the whole stress of their cause upon it. This they proved to be true, by their own testimony miraculously confirmed; and in proving this they established Christianity on an impregnable rock. For I may safely refer it to any of you to judge, whether it is an imaginable thing that God should raise the dead body of an impostor; especially when he had solemnly appealed to such a resurrection, as the grand proof of his mission, and had expressly fixed the very day on which it was to happen.

I persuade myself you are convinced by all this, that they who on the apostles' testimony believed, that the prophecies of the Old Testament were accomplished in Jesus, and that God bore witness to him by miracles, and raised him from the dead, had abundant reason to believe, that the doctrine which Christ taught was divine, and his gospel a revelation from heaven. And if they had reason to admit this conclusion, then it is plain that we, who have such satisfactory evidence, on the one hand, that the testimony of the apostles was credible, and on the other, that this was the substance of it, have reason also to admit this grand inference from it, and to embrace the gospel as a faithful saying, and as well worthy of all acceptation. This is the thing I was attempting to prove; and here I should end the argument, were it not for the confirmation it may receive from some additional considerations, which could not properly be introduced under any of the preceding heads. I add therefore,

7. In the last place, 'that the truth of the gospel has received further, and very considerable, confirmation, from what has happened in the world since it was first published.'

And here I must desire you more particularly to consider,—on the one hand, what God has been doing to establish it,—and on the other, the methods which its enemies have been taking to destroy it.

(1.) Consider, 'what God has been doing to confirm the gospel since its first publication;' and you will find it a further evidence of its divine original.

I might here argue at large, from its surprising propagation in the world;—from the miraculous powers, with which not only the apostles, but succeeding preachers of the gospel, and other converts, were endowed;—from the accomplishment of prophecies recorded in the New Testament;—and from the preservation of the Jews as a distinct people, notwithstanding the various difficulties and persecutions through which they have passed.

I might particularly urge, in confirmation of the truth of Christianity, 'the wonderful success with which it was attended, and the surprising propagation of the gospel in the world.'

I have before endeavored, under a former head, to show you, that the gospel met with so favorable a reception in the world as evidently proved, that its first publishers were capable of producing such evidence of its truth, as an imposture could not admit. But now I carry the remark further, and assert, that considering the circumstances of the case, it is amazing that even truth itself, under so many disadvantages, should have so illustrious a triumph; and that its wonderful success does evidently argue such an extraordinary interposition of God in its favor, as may justly be called a miraculous attestation to it.

There was not only one of a family, or two of a city, taken, and brought to Zion; but so did the Lord hasten it in its appointed time, that 'a little one became a thousand, and a small one a strong nation.' And as the apostles themselves were honored with very remarkable success, so this divine seed was propagated so fast in the next age, that Pliny testifies, 'he found the heathen temples in Achaia almost deserted:'* and Tertullian afterwards boasts, 'That all places but those temples were filled with Christians; so that, were they only to withdraw, cities and provinces would be depopulated.'† Nor did the gospel only triumph thus within the boundaries of the Roman empire; for long before Tertullian was born, Justin Martyr, in his dialogue with Trypho the Jew, which seems to have been written not much above one hundred years after Christ's death, declares, 'That there was no nation of men, whether Greeks or barbarians, not excepting those savages that wandered in clans from one region to another, and had no fixed habitation, who had not learned to offer prayers and thanksgivings to the Father and Maker of all, in the name of Jesus who was crucified.'‡

Now how can we account for such a scene as this, but by saying, that the hand of the Lord was with the first preachers of the gospel, and therefore such multitudes believed and turned unto the Lord? How had it been possible that so small a fountain should presently have swelled into a mighty river, and even have covered the face of the earth, had it not sprung from the sanctuary of God, and been rendered thus triumphant by his almighty arm?

Had this new religion, so directly contrary to all the prejudices of education, been contrived to soothe men's vices, to assert their errors, to defend their superstitions, or to promote their secular interests, we might easily have accounted for its prevalence in the world. Had its preachers been very profound philosophers, or polite and fashionable orators, many might have been charmed, at least for awhile, to follow them: or had the princes and potentates of the earth declared themselves its patrons, and armed their legions for its defence and propagation, multitudes might have been terrified into the profession, though not a soul could by such means have been rationally persuaded to the belief of it. But without some such advantages as these, we can hardly conceive how any new religion should so strangely prevail; even though it had crept into the world in its darkest ages and most barbarous countries; and though it had been gradually proposed in the most artful manner, with the finest veil industriously drawn over every part which might at first have given disgust to the beholder.

But you well know that the very reverse of all this was the case here. You know, from the apparent constitution of Christianity, that the lusts and errors, the superstitions and interests, of carnal men, would immediately rise up against it as a most irreconcilable enemy. You know, that the learning and wit of the Greeks and the Romans were early employed to overbear and ridicule it. You know that, as all the herd of heathen deities were to be discarded, the priests, who subsisted on that craft, must in interest find themselves obliged to oppose it. You know, that the princes of the earth drew the sword against it, and armed torments and death for the destruction of its followers. And yet you see that it triumphed over all, though published in ages and places of the greatest learning and refinement; and proposed, not in an ornamental and artificial manner, but with the utmost plainness; the doctrines of the cross being always avowed as its grand fundamentals, though so notorious a stumbling-block both to Jews and Gentiles; and the absolute necessity, not only of embracing Christianity, but also of renouncing all idol-worship, being insisted on immediately, and in the strongest terms, though it must make the gospel appear the most singular and unsociable religion that had ever been taught in the world.

Had one of the wits or politicians of these ages seen the apostles, and a few other plain men, who had been educated amongst the lowest of the people, as most of the first teachers of Christianity were, going out armed with nothing but faith, truth, and goodness, to encounter the power of princes, the bigotry of priests, the learning of philosophers, the rage of the populace, and the prejudices of all; how would he have derided the attempt, and have said with Sanballat, What will these feeble Jews do? But had he seen the event, surely he must have owned, with the Egyptian Magi, in a far less illustrious miracle, that it was the finger of God; and might justly have fallen on his face, even amongst those whom he had insulted, with a humble acknowledgment that God was in them of a truth.

I might here further urge 'those miracles, which were wrought in confirmation of the Christian doctrine, for a considerable time after the death of the apostles'

The most signal and best attested of these, was the dispossession of devils; whom God seems to have permitted to rage with an unusual violence about those times, that his Son's triumph over them might be so much the more remarkable, and that the old serpent might be taken in his own craftiness. I doubt not but many of you have heard, that more than two hundred years after the death of Christ, some of the most celebrated defenders of the gospel, which the church has in any age produced,—I mean Tertullian,* and Minutius Felix,†—do not only challenge any of their heathen enemies and persecutors, to bring them a demoniac, engaging, at the hazard of their lives, to oblige the evil spirit, in his name, and by the authority of Christ, to quit his possession; but do also appeal to it, as a fact publicly known, that those who were agitated by such spirits, stood terrified, and amazed, in the presence of a Christian, and that their pretended gods were compelled then to confess themselves devils.

I wave the testimony of some later writers of the Christian church, lest the credulity of their temper, joined with the circumstances attending some of the facts they record, should furnish out objections against their testimony; though I think we cannot, without great injustice to the character of the learned and pious Augustin, suspect the truth of some amazing facts of this kind, which he has attested as of his own personal and certain knowledge.‡

Nor must I, on this occasion, forget to mention 'the accomplishment of several prophecies recorded in the New Testament,' as a further confirmation given by God to the gospel.

The most eminent and signal instance under this head, is that of our Lord's prediction concerning the destruction of Jerusalem, as it is recorded by St. Matthew, in his twenty-fourth chapter. The tragical history of it is most circumstantially described by Josephus, a Jewish priest, who was an eye-witness of it; and the description he has given of this sad calamity, so exactly corresponds to the prophecy, that one would have thought, had we not known the contrary, that it had been written by a Christian on purpose to illustrate it: [And one can never enough admire that series of amazing providences, by which the author was preserved from most imminent danger, that he might leave us that invaluable treasure which his writings contain.§

We have no need of any further evidence, than we find in him, of the exactest accomplishment of what was prophesied concerning the destruction of Jerusalem: but our Lord had also foretold the long continued desolation of their temple; and I cannot forbear reminding you of the awful sanction which was given to that part of the prediction: for it is well known, that a heathen historian has assured us, that when Julian the apostate, in deliberate contempt of that prediction, solemnly and resolutely undertook to rebuild it, his impious design was miraculously frustrated again and again, and the workmen consumed by globes of fire, which broke out continually from the foundations.*]

The prediction of St. Paul concerning the man of sin, and the apostasy of the latter times, is also well worthy of our remark. And though a great deal of the book of Revelation be still concealed under a dark veil; yet the division of the Roman empire into ten kingdoms, the usurpation, persecution, and idolatry of the Romish church, and the long duration of the papal power, with several other extraordinary events, which no human prudence could have foreseen, and which have happened long since the publication of that book, are so clearly foretold there, that I cannot but look on that part of Scripture as an invaluable treasure; and think it not at all improbable, that the more visible accomplishment of some of its other prophecies may be a great means of reviving the Christian cause, which is at present so much on the decline.

'The preservation of the Jews as a distinct people,' is another particular under this head, which well deserves our attentive regard.

It is plain they are vastly numerous, notwithstanding all the slaughter and destruction of this people, in former and in later ages. They are dispersed in various most distant nations, and particularly in those parts of the world where Christianity is professed: and though they are exposed to great hatred and contempt, on account of their different faith, and in most places subjected to civil incapacities, if not to unchristian severities; yet they are still most obstinately tenacious of their religion: which is the more wonderful as their fathers were so prone to apostatize from it; and as most of them seem to be utter strangers either to piety or humanity, and pour the greatest contempt on the moral precepts of their own law, while they are so attached to the ceremonial institutions of it, troublesome and inconvenient as they are. Now seriously reflect, what an evident hand of Providence is here; that by their dispersion, preservation, and adherence to their religion, it should come to pass, that Christians should daily see the accomplishment of many remarkable prophecies concerning this people;† and that we should always have amongst us such a crowd of unexceptionable witnesses to the truth of those ancient Hebrew records, on which so much of the evidence of the gospel depends:

Ammian. Marcell. Lib. xxiii. sub init. I think one might argue the author to have been a heathen, from this cold way of telling a story, so glorious to Christianity: 'The element repelling them by a kind of obstinate fatality.' The learned reader will easily observe, with how different an air Socrates (Hist. Lib. iii. cap 20.) and Sozomen (Hist. Lib. v. cap. 32.) recount, and most reasonably triumph in it.]

records, which are many of them so full to the purpose for which we allege them, that (as a celebrated writer very well observes)* 'had the whole body of the Jewish nation been converted to Christianity, men would certainly have thought they had been forged by Christians, and have looked upon them, with the prophecies of the sibyls, as made many years after the events they pretend to foretell.' And to add no more here, the preservation of the Jews as a distinct people, evidently leaves room for the accomplishment of those Old and New Testament promises, which relate to their national conversion and restoration; whereas that would be impossible in itself, or at least be impossible to be known, if they were promiscuously blended with other people. On the whole, it is such a scene in the conduct of Providence, as I am well assured cannot be paralleled in the history of any other nation on earth, and affords a most obvious and important argument in favor of the gospel.

Thus has Christianity been further confirmed, since its first publication, by what God has done to establish it. It only remains that we consider,

(2.) What confirmation it receives, 'from the methods which its enemies have taken to destroy it.'

And these have generally been, either persecution, or falsehood, or cavilling at some particulars in the revelation, without entering into the grand argument on which it is built, and fairly debating what is offered in its defence. Now who would not think the better of a cause, for being thus attacked?

At first you know, that the professors, and especially the preachers of the gospel, were severely persecuted. In every city bonds and imprisonments awaited them. As soon as ever the apostles began to preach Jesus and his resurrection, the Jewish rulers laid hold on them, and having confined and scourged them, strictly prohibited their speaking any more in that name. A little while after, Stephen was murdered; and afterwards James, and some other of the apostles. Now certainly such a conduct did evidently show a consciousness, that they were not able to answer the apostles, and to support their own cause by the fair methods of reason and argument; to which, so far as the history informs us, they made no pretence; but attempted to bear them down by dint of authority, and to silence them by brutal force.

The time would fail me, should I attempt particularly to show, how these unrighteous methods were pursued in succeeding ages, and distant countries. The savage cruelties of Nero to these innocent and holy men were such, as raised the pity even of their enemies;† yet this was one of the least extensive and destructive of the ten general persecutions, which arose in the Roman empire, besides several others in the neighboring countries, of which ecclesiastical history informs us.

These early enemies of the gospel added falsehood and slander to their inhumanities. They endeavored to murder the reputation of Christians, as well as their persons, and were not ashamed to represent them as haters of the whole human species,* for no imaginable reason, but because they would not associate themselves in their idolatrous worship, but with regard to charity and truth, were strongly bearing their testimony against it:† nay, they charged them with human sacrifices, incest, idolatry, and all the crimes, for which themselves and their foolish gods were indeed justly detestable; but from which the Christians knew how to vindicate themselves, highly to their own honor, and to the everlasting reproach of these malignant and pestilent accusers: and they have not failed to do it in many noble apologies, which through the divine providence are transmitted to us, and are incomparably the most valuable of any ancient uninspired writings.

Such were the infamous and scandalous methods, by which the gospel was opposed in the earliest ages of the church; and I cannot forbear adding, 'that the measures more lately taken to subvert it, especially amongst ourselves, seem to me rather to reflect a glory upon it.' Its unhappy enemies have been told again and again, that we put the proof of it on plain fact. They themselves do not and cannot deny, that it prevailed early in the world, as we have shown at large. There must have been some man, or body of men, who first introduced it: they generally confess, that Christ and his apostles were the persons: and these apostles (on whose testimony what we know of Christ chiefly depends) must have been enthusiasts, or impostors, if their testimony was false. Now which of these schemes will the unbeliever take? It seems, that the deists of the present age fix on either, as being secretly conscious they can support neither; but they content themselves with cavilling at some circumstances attending the revelation, without daring to encounter its grand evidence, i. e. they have been laboriously attempting to prove it 'to be improbable, or absurd, to suppose that to have been, which nevertheless plainly appears to have been, fact.' One most weakly and sophistically pretends to prove, in defiance of the common sense of mankind, that the light of nature is a perfect rule, and therefore that all revelation is needless, and indeed impossible. Another disguises the miracles of Christ by false and foolish representations of them, and then sets himself to ridicule them as idle tales.

† This matter is set in the clearest and most beautiful light, by the sagacious Mr. Warburton, in his 'Divine Legation of Moses,' (vol. i. pag. 292—295.) to whose labors the learned and Christian world are indebted beyond expression, for as great a number of original thoughts as are perhaps any where to be found in an equal compass.

And a third takes a great deal of fruitless pains to show, that some prophecies referred to in the New Testament are capable of another sense, different from that in which the apostles have taken them. These things have been set in a very artful and fallacious light by persons, whose names will be perhaps transmitted to posterity, with the infamous glory of having been leaders in the cause of infidelity; but not a man of them undertakes directly to answer, what has been said to ascertain the grand fact. Nay, they generally take no more notice of the positive evidence, by which it is even demonstrated, than if they had never heard it proposed; though they cavil at incidental passages in those books, in which it is most clearly stated. And as for what they have urged, though perhaps some, who were before weary of Christianity, may have taken occasion from their writings to reject it; and others, for want of consulting the answers to them, may have been unwarily insnared; yet the examination of these points has been greatly for the honor and vindication of the truth, which seems on this occasion to have been set in a clearer and stronger light than ever, at least in these latter ages.

The cause of Christianity has greatly gained by debate, and the gospel comes like fine gold out of the furnace, which the more it is tried, the more it is approved. I own, the defenders of the gospel have appeared with very different degrees of ability for the work; nor could it be otherwise amongst such numbers of them: but on the whole, though the patrons of infidelity have been masters of some wit, humor, and address, as well as of a moderate share of learning, and generally much more than a moderate share of assurance; yet so great is the force of truth, that (unless we may except those writers who have unhappily called for the aid of the civil magistrate in the controversy) I cannot recollect, that I have seen any defence of the gospel, which has not, on the whole, been sufficient to establish it, notwithstanding all the sophistical arguments of its most subtle antagonists.

[This is an observation, which is continually gaining new strength, as new assaults are made upon the gospel. And I cannot forbear saying, that as if it were by a kind of judicial infatuation, some who have distinguished themselves in the wretched cause of infidelity, have been permitted to fall into such gross misrepresentations, such senseless inconsistencies, and such palpable falsehoods,* and in a word, into such a various and malignant superfluity of naughtiness; that to a wise and pious mind they must appear like those venomous creatures, which are said to carry an antidote in their bowels against their own poison. A virtuous and well-bred deist must turn away from some modern pieces of this kind with scorn and abhorrence, and a Christian might almost be tempted to wish, that the books, with all their scandals about them, might be transmitted to posterity, lest when they come to live, like the writings of some of the ancient heathens, only in those of their learned and pious answerers, it should hardly be credited, that ever the enemies of the gospel in such an enlightened age should be capable of so much impiety and folly.]

Thus I have given you a brief view of the chief arguments in proof of Christianity; and the sum of the whole is this:

The gospel is probable in theory; as considering the nature of God, and the circumstances of mankind, there was reason to hope a revelation might be given; and if any were given, we should naturally apprehend its internal evidence would be such as that of the gospel is, and its external, such as it is said to be. But it is also true in fact; for Christianity was early professed, as it was first introduced by Jesus of Nazareth, whose life and doctrines were published by his immediate attendants; whose books are preserved still in their original language, and in the main are faithfully translated into our own: so that the books of the New Testament now in your hands may be depended upon, as written by the persons whose names they bear. And admitting this, the truth of the gospel follows by a train of very easy consequences; for the authors certainly knew the truth of the facts they relate; and considering what appears of their character and circumstances, we can never believe they would have attempted to deceive us; or if they had, they could not have gained credit in the world; yet they did gain it in a remarkable manner; therefore the facts they attested are true: and the truth of the gospel evidently follows from the certainty of those facts, and is much confirmed by what has happened in the world since the first publication of it

I shall conclude what I have to say on this subject, with a few words by way of reflection.

1. Let us gratefully acknowledge the divine goodness, in favoring us with so excellent a revelation, and confirming it to us by such ample evidence.

We should be daily adoring the God of nature, for lighting up the sun, that glorious, though imperfect, image of his own unapproachable lustre; and appointing it to gild the earth with its various rays, to cheer us with its benign influences, and to guide and direct us in our journeys and our labors. But how incomparably more valuable is that Day-spring from on high which has visited us, that Sun of righteousness which is risen upon us, to give light to them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death, and to guide our feet into the way of peace! O Christians, (for I now address myself to you, whose eyes are so happy as indeed to see, and your ears as to hear,) what reason have you for daily and hourly praise! When your minds are delighted with contemplating the riches of gospel grace, when you view wit-wonder and joy the harmonious contrivance of our redemption, when you feel the burden of your guilt removed, the freedom of your address to the throne of grace encouraged, and see the prospect of a fair inheritance of eternal glory opening upon you; then, in the pleasing transport of your souls, borrow the joyful anthem of the Psalmist, and say, with the humblest gratitude and self-resignation; God is the Lord, who hath given us light: bind the sacrifice with cords, even to the horns of the altar. Adore God, who first commanded the light to shine out of darkness, that by the discoveries of his word, and the operations of his Spirit, he has shined in your hearts, to give you the knowledge of his glory, as reflected from the face of his Son. Let us all adore him, that this revelation hath reached us, who live in an age and country so distant from that in which it first appeared; while there are to this day, not only dark corners, but regions of the earth, which are full of the habitations of idolatry and cruelty.

* [I mention not here that mean buffoonery and scurrility, that industrious, though awkward, disguise, and monstrous mixture of the skeptic and dogmatist, which the learned and ingenious Mr. Warburton has animadverted upon with such justice and spirit, in his fine Dedication to the Divine Legation of Moses demonstrated.]

Let me here peculiarly address myself to those, whose education and circumstances of life have given them opportunities of a fuller inquiry into the state of those ancient or modern nations, that have been left merely to the light of unassisted reason; even to you, Sirs, who are acquainted with the history of their gods, the rites of their priests, the tales, and even the hymns, of their poets; (those beautiful trifles;) nay, I will add, the reasonings of their sagest philosophers, all the precarious and all the erroneous things they have said, where religion and immortality are concerned.* I have sometimes thought, that God gave to some of the most celebrated pagan writers that uncommon share of genius and eloquence, that they might, as it were, by their art embalm the monsters of antiquity; that so succeeding ages might see, in a more affecting view than we could otherwise have done, how weak the human mind is in its best estate, and the need which the greatest as well as the meanest of mankind have, of being taught by a revelation from above. Permit me to remind you, that while you are daily conversing with such monuments as these, (as I know some of you are,) and are also surveying the evidences of Christianity in a larger and more distinct view than it was proper for me here to propose them, you are under peculiar obligations to be very thankful for the gospel yourselves, as well as to compassionate the case of those to whom it has never been offered, or by whom it is slighted And this leads me to another reflection;

2. What reason have we to pity those, who reject this glorious gospel, even when they have opportunities of inquiring into its clearest evidences!

Such undoubtedly there are in our own age and nation; and surely we should sometimes bestow a compassionate thought upon them, and lift up a humble prayer for them; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth; that they may recover themselves out of the snare of the devil, who are now led captive by him at his pleasure We should pity heathens and Mahometans, under their darkness and errors: but how much more deplorable is the case of those, who, though they dwell in Emanuel's land, and in the valley of vision, turn it into the valley of the shadow of death, by closing their eyes against so bright a lustre, and stopping their ears against the voice of the charmer? They are indeed in their own conceit the only people, and wisdom will die with them; so that, to be sure, they will scorn our pity: but who can forbear it? Is there a more melancholy thought than this, that the Son of God should have done so much to introduce and establish the gospel, and his Spirit so much to perpetuate and increase its evidence, and that after all, it should be contemptuously despised, even by creatures who are perishing without it? That the blessed Jesus, instead of being received with open arms as the great deliverer, should either be treated as an empty name; or if acknowledged to be a real person, should then be represented as a visionary enthusiast, or a wicked impostor: for there is no other alternative? And this, not only (though I believe most frequently) by men of profligate and abandoned lives, but sometimes by persons of external morality and decency, of great humanity and sweetness of temper, (for such I know are to be found amongst them,) as well as men of wit and genius, of politeness and learning, of human prudence and experience in affairs. I may also add, that it is the case of some, who were the children of pious parents, who were trained up in religious exercises, who once discovered serious impressions, and gave very encouraging hopes. Alas, whither have they fallen? and whither have we reason to fear, they will at length fall? How shall we shelter those, that were once our brethren, that are perhaps still our friends, from the awful sentence, which the gospel denounces against all that reject it without any exception? As to the wretches, that add insult and derision to their infidelity, I tremble to think of that load of guilt which they are bringing on themselves, and how near they approach to the unpardonable sin, if they have not already committed it. For the rest, who behave in a more modest and decent manner, it will no doubt be a very difficult task to convince them; and so much the rather, as some of them, by too easy a transition, have renounc-

* The great author I mentioned before (pag. 25 note †) has shown in a most convincing manner, that the whole body of the Greek philosophers disbelieved the doctrine of future rewards and punishments, though they popularly taught it, as necessary to society; and held no other immortality of the soul, than what was the result of a most atheistical notion, (modernly known by the name of Spinozism,) that the universe was God. (See Mr. Warburton's Divine Legation of Moses, book iii. sect. 2, 3, 4.) Which surely is one of the strongest proofs of the need of a revelation, that the world ever saw, and the most affecting comment on the words of the learned apostle, 1 Cor. i. 21. The world by wisdom knew not God; but professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, Rom. i. 22.

ed many of the most important principles of natural religion, nay, I might add, even the whole of it, together with the Christian revelation. But the influences of divine grace are almighty; let us recommend them to these, and omit no other proper method, either of recovering those who are already seduced, or at least of securing those who are not yet infected, but may be (as most of the youth are, especially in the most populous places) in imminent danger of the contagion. To this end let me add,

3. How reasonable is it that Christians should form a familiar acquaintance with the great evidences of our common faith!

It is what we so apparently owe to the honor of God, to the interest of Christ, to the peace of our own souls, and the edification of others, that I hope I need not urge it at large; especially considering what was said in the introduction to these discourses. In consequence of all, let it be your care to make the evidences of Christianity the subject of your serious reflections, and of your frequent converse: especially, study your Bibles, where there are such marks of truth and divinity to be found, that I believe, few that have familiarly known them, and have had a relish for them, were ever brought to make shipwreck of the faith as it is in Jesus. Above all, let it be your care to act on the rules which are there laid down; and then you will find your faith growing in a happy proportion, and will experience the truth of our Saviour's declaration, that if any man will resolutely and faithfully do his will, he shall know of the Christian doctrine whether it be of God. I verily believe, it is the purity of its precepts which lies at the bottom of most men's opposition to it; or a natural pride of heart, which gives them an aversion to so humbling a scheme; or a fond affectation of seeming wiser than others, in rejecting what most of their neighbors do at least profess to believe. When these unhappy prejudices and conceptions are by divine grace conquered and rooted out, the evidences of truth will daily appear with an increasing lustre; as the light of the sun does to an eye recovering from a film with which it had been overgrown, and which before had veiled it with the darkness of midnight in the midst of noon. Once more,

4. How solicitous should we be to embrace and obey that gospel, which comes attended with such abundant evidences!

I may undoubtedly address myself to most of you, my friends, and say, as Paul did to king Agrippa, Believest thou the prophets, and I may add, the evangelists and the apostles? Yes, I know that you believe them; yet let me entreat and charge you not to rest here, but attentively to examine, how far your hearts are affected, and your lives regulated, by such a belief. The Christian revelation is a practical thing, and it is heard, it is believed, it is professed, and even defended, in vain, if it be not obeyed. Therefore do we so frequently read of obeying the truth, and obeying the gospel, as a matter of so great importance.

In this gospel, the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men; but it is revealed with redoubled terror against that audacious sinner who holds the truth in unrighteousness. In this gospel, the Lord Jesus Christ is exalted both a Prince and a Saviour; and it is not with impunity that the impenitent rebel can reject his yoke, and trample on his blood: for if he that despised Moses's law died without mercy, of how much sorer punishment than even a capital execution, must they be thought worthy, who have poured contempt on such a Sovereign, and on such a Redeemer?

O let it be most seriously and frequently recollected, that this gospel is the touchstone by which you are another day to be tried; the balance in which an impartial judge will weigh you; and must on the whole prove your everlasting triumph, or your everlasting torment. The blessed God did not introduce it with such solemn notice, such high expectations, such pompous miracles, such awful sanctions, that men might reject or dishonor it at pleasure; but it will certainly be found, to the greatest and the meanest of those that hear it, a savour of life unto life, or a savour of death unto death

Let it therefore be your immediate care to inquire, which of these it is like to prove to your souls; since it is so far from being a vain thing, that it is your very life. If it has hitherto been despised, and that blessed Redeemer, in whom it so apparently centres, has been neglected; remember, that all which has been said in confirmation of its truth, does but in effect prove, that the hand-writing of God himself is set to the sentence of your eternal condemnation. Oh therefore allow not yourselves a moment's rest, until you have with humble submission applied to his throne, while yet there is hope that it may be reversed.

And as for you, my brethren, who have received Christ Jesus the Lord, be exhorted to walk in him; since it is the design of his gospel to teach us to deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, and to live soberly, righteously, and godly; and this not only as you have so comfortable an assurance, that your labor shall not be in vain in the Lord, but as it will be, on the whole, the most effectual method you can take in your respective stations to promote the gospel. If you indeed honor it and love it, and desire it may be propagated in the world, let it be your care, not only to defend it by your tongues, but to adorn it by your lives: and, in the words of that great champion in this sacred cause, be blameless and harmless, the children of God without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, shining amongst them as lights in the world, and so holding forth the word of life; and perhaps it may serve, not only to entertain their eyes with wonder and glory, but to guide their feet into the way of peace, and may engage them also to join with you in glorifying your Father which is in heaven. Amen

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS

TO THE

GOSPELS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT

This general division of the sacred volume has been designated 'The New Testament,' or, more properly 'The New Covenant,' in distinction from 'The Old Testament,' or 'Covenant.' The reason is, that the system of religion which it reveals, is posterior in time; abrogatory in power, and superior in nature, to that which preceded it. (Gal. iii. 17.: Heb. vii. 18. 22,—8. 6.) Of the New Testament, the first four books are called 'Gospels.' The meaning of this word, which is compounded of two Anglo-Saxon words, is 'good news,' or 'good tidings.' The word has special relation to the contents of the respective treatises, or narratives; as being records of the joyful news of the Saviour's birth, instructions, and miracles; and, in a word, of his whole sojourn on earth. The expressions, 'The Gospel according to Matthew,'—'to Mark,'—'to Luke,' and 'to John,' mean, 'The good tidings respecting the Saviour, as Matthew,—as Mark,—as Luke, and as John, have severally recorded them.' All were not simultaneously written; nor, as is evident from the differences between them, were they copied from each other. They were written by different individuals, at different times, in different places, and for different classes of readers; yet there is good reason to believe, that each had seen the gospels, or histories of the Saviour, which preceded his own; and selected from them such incidents for narration, and such circumstances, and arranged them in such order, and made such additions and explanations, as the Spirit of Inspiration which guided him, suggested, or approved, as being conducive to the promotion of the object immediately in view, and to the interest and necessities of the church in general, to the end of time. There is satisfactory reason for believing that the Gospels, as arranged in our bibles, stand in the order in which they were written; i. e. that Matthew's Gospel is the oldest, and that the others wrote in the order of MARK, LUKE, and JOHN.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW.

The writer of this history is, with considerable certainty, supposed to be the same with Levi, the son of Alpheus. He was a native of Galilee, but of what tribe or family, we are not informed. He was, by profession, a publican, or tax-gather,—a receiver of the tribute for the Romans. While occupied in this business, the Lord Jesus called him to the honorable and responsible office of an Apostle; and he became the follower and companion of Jesus, heard his instructions, saw his miracles, and was a witness to the reality of his resurrection. After the ascension of the Saviour, he continued at Jerusalem with the other apostles; and was, with them, a partaker of the miraculous effusion of the Holy Spirit, on the day of Pentecost. Though it is generally admitted that he committed his gospel to writing at an earlier period than either of the other evangelists, there is by no means a coincidence of opinion among critics, as to the date of his work. Some, as Dr. Mill, Michaelis, and Bp. Percy assign A. D. 61, as its date; and in this they follow Irenæus. Moldenhawer assigns it to 61 or 62; Dr. Hales to 63; Dr. Lardner and Mr. Hewlett to 64; Baronius, Grotius, Wetstein, I. Jones, and others, following Eusebius to 41; Dr. Benson to 43; Dr. Cave to 48; Dr. Owen and Bp. Tomline to 38; and Dr. Townson, whose opinion Horne adopts and advocates, to 37. A diversity of opinion has also existed as to the language in which the author wrote his history. Some have strenuously insisted on its being written in Hebrew; others, no less strenuously, that Matthew wrote it in Greek. The consent of antiquity renders it highly probable that it was in Hebrew; while the evident marks of originality in the Greek gospel we possess, makes it nearly or quite certain that this is not a translation, but an original work; and, consequently, that Matthew wrote in Greek. These opinions, were, for a long time, supposed to be incompatible, and therefore irreconcilable; but it has, within a few years been supposed that both may be true, and that the truth of both, may account for the diversity of opinion which has existed as to the date of this gospel. The strongest probability appears to be, that he wrote in the Syro-Chaldaic or Hebrew, (which was his native language,) about A.D. 37, and in Greek, (which was a sort of universal language in his day, and which he must have been master of, in order to discharge his duties as a tax collector under the Roman authority,) about 61. There are many internal evidences, (which, however, we cannot particularize, but must satisfy ourselves with a brief selection from them,) which render it evident that the date of this Gospel was very early. He appears, from his manner of expression in certain cases, to have written while Herod was still in the exercise of authority over Galilee. He is less severe than Mark or Luke in recording the vices of that monarch; and he does not at all notice the indignity put upon Jesus by Herod and his soldiers, on the morning of his crucifixion. A plain reason for this omission is found, if we admit that Herod was still in power, and therefore it was prudent to say no more to his disadvantage, than was really necessary in order to fidelity; lest his jealousy of his believing subjects, or their disaffection to their sovereign, should be excited. Now if this were his motive in thus concealing that prince's iniquity, he must have written his gospel prior to A. D. 39; for, in that year, Herod was banished to Lyons, by Caligula. Again, when Matthew speaks of Pilate, he expresses himself as if that officer was still at Jerusalem, and in authority:—he speaks of him as 'the Governor;'—thus 'the governor asked;'—'the governor answered,' &c. The word 'Governor,' occurs nine times, and it can scarcely be questioned that the reason for its employment is found in the fact, that when Matthew wrote, Pilate was still governor of Judea. The other evangelists never call him 'Governor,' but only 'Pilate.' Now Pilate was summoned to Rome, to answer a complaint against him, before the spring of A. D. 37, for at that time, Tiberius, who had recalled him, died; it is therefore probable, that Matthew's gospel was written by, or before that date.

The object of Matthew in writing his gospel, was, evidently, the instruction of such Jews and others of the circumcision, as believed; and the conversion of such as did not. To this end he carefully avoids whatever would needlessly inflame their prejudices; and presents whatever might soften, or remove them; and aims, obviously, to conciliate the faith of the nation. He proves, by frequent reference to scriptures with which Jews were familiar, that the events he records are fulfilments of their own prophecies; and thus confirms their faith, if they were believers, and 'shuts them up unto the faith,' or constrains them to believe, if they did not. Moreover, he very frequently refers to Jewish customs, and relates most of our Saviour's discourses, against the errors and superstitions of the Jews; whose most weighty objections he meets and answers.

This Gospel consists of four parts, or principal divisions: viz:

I. The infancy of Christ; i. e. his genealogy, his birth, and his reception of divine honors, and worship by the eastern Magi. (Ch. i. ii.)

II. The actions and discourses of John the Baptist, preparatory to the public ministry of Christ. (Ch. iii. iv. 1—11.)

III The record of discoures and actions of Christ in Galilee, by which he proves his Messiahship. (Ch. iv. 12 to xx. 16, inclusive.)

IV. The narrative of the transactions connected with the passion and resurrection of Christ (Ch. xx. 17.—xxviii.)

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MARK.

The writer of this Gospel is generally supposed to be John, whose surname was Mark; and who was nephew to Barnabas, Paul's companion and fellow-laborer. He was probably converted to Christianity through Peter's instrumentality, and this may account for that apostle styling him 'his son.'—(1 Pet. v. 13.) He was at first the companion of Paul and Barnabas in their travels and labors; but, declining at length to accompany them in their whole course, returned to Jerusalem, and maintained an intercourse with the apostles generally, but especially with the apostle Peter; to whom, in writing this history, he appears to have acted as an amanuensis, following that apostle's dictation. That Mark was himself the writer, is, however, a point universally attested by the voice of all antiquity; particularly Papias, and several writers in the first century of the Christian era, consulted and cited by Eusebius; as also by a list of other testimonies, too long for enumeration in this brief notice. Of this history, the following particulars appear capable of being satisfactorily established, viz.: That it was written prior to that of Luke; That it was written under the superintendence of Peter; That it was designed for a mixed community of Jewish and Gentile believers; That it was written, if not in Rome, yet in some part of the Roman Empire, where Latin was the spoken, and prevalent language. The precise time when this Gospel was written, is not very easily determined. It was, however, certainly not written, the evangelist himself being witness, till the apostles had dispersed themselves among the Gentiles, 'preaching every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following.' (Mar. xvi. 20.) Now it is pretty accurately settled, that all the Apostles did not leave Judea before the year 50, and the preponderating probability is, that it was written somewhere between A. D. 60 and 63. That it was composed before the gospel of Luke was written, is clear from internal evidences, of which we can present only very brief notices. It is evident that Luke had seen Mark's gospel, and indeed Matthew's also; and it is probable that they were both before him, when he was composing his own:—he often, by the transposition of a word or circumstance, removes an ambiguity in the expressions of the preceding writers, or by the bringing together of two or more circumstances, which had been separately related by them, at once imparts lucidness to his own narrative, and gives light to theirs. Thus in his narrative of the raising of Jairus' daughter, Mark says, 'As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he said, Fear not; only believe. And he suffered no man to follow him, save Peter, and James, and John, the brother of James. And he cometh to the house of the ruler of the synagogue.' This narrative might lead to the supposition, that some miraculous power was exerted to restrain the multitude from following Jesus in the way; but Luke corrects this misapprehension, by saying, Ch. viii. 51., that it was not in the way, but at the door that these apostles were selected to follow him. 'When they came to the house, he suffered no man to go in, save Peter, &c. Now it is very plain that here is an improvement in lucidness; and the improvement is naturally accounted for, on the supposition that Luke was the later writer. Again, where Matthew says of Jesus, (ch. xiv. 14,) that he had compassion on them, 'and healed their sick,' and Mark says, (ch. vi. 34.,) that he 'began to teach them many things,' Luke unites the two and says, (ch. ix. 11.,) 'And the multitudes followed him, and—he spake unto them of the kingdom of God, and healed such as had need of healing.' Here Luke unites two things, as proofs of Christ's kindness, one of which Matthew records, and the other, Mark. It is obvious, then, that he had seen both their histories, or that he wrote after them both, or that Mark preceded him.

That this Gospel was written under the dictation of Peter, appears probable, from several considerations; and among others, from the following. He begins his history, after a very brief introduction of only fifteen verses, with the call of Peter to the apostleship, and, through the whole history, confines himself almost exclusively, to those occurrences of which Peter was a witness:—there is also internal evidence, that the real narrator was an eye-witness of the facts recorded, which Mark, as he was not an Apostle, could not have been. Now as it is known that he was, for a long time, a companion of Peter, it is most likely to be Peter, whom we recognise in his Gospel as this eye-witness. Again, there appears a scrupulous avoidance of the mention of many things, the prominence of which would render Peter honorably conspicuous, and sometimes an apparently designed concealment of them, while all his indiscretions and his fall are brought out to full view, and yet only a passing and general mention is made of his penitence. When the apostles are named in the order of their importance, (and when, of course, this order must be retained in the history, a shade is carefully cast over Peter, so as to render it almost unobservable that he was 'the first,' or chief. Compare Matt. x. 2. with Mark iii. 14—17. Mark also leaves out the benediction pronounced on Peter, for his distinct profession of his faith in Christ; but relates in full the severe rebuke he received, almost immediately afterwards, for not being able to hear of the sufferings of Jesus. Compare Mark viii. 28—33. with Matt. xvi. 14—23.

That this Gospel was designed for a mixed community of Jewish and Gentile believers, appears from several parts of the history. The censures it contains of the superstitious attachment of the Jews to their external observances, and especially to those traditions of the Elders, which virtually repealed the law of God, and also his cautions against false Christs, and their deceptive miracles, to which none were so liable as Jews, make it evident that the history was, in considerable measure, written for them; while yet there are several things which make it equally clear, that the interests of Gentile converts were regarded by the writer; and the work intended for their use and benefit. In Mark's reply to the question of the scribe, as to which is the first commandment of all, he brings the ONENESS of the Godhead into prominence, by a more full quotation from the sacred oracle, than Matthew makes, and this is accounted for by his desire to instruct those on this capital point, who had been brought up in Polytheism. Again, in the conclusion of his history of this conference, he alone gives the reply of the Scribe; and it was such as exactly suited his purpose; it was calculated to caution the Jew not to depend on his animal sacrifices, and an intimation to the Gentile, that pure and spiritual religion, such as the gospel required, rendered such sacrifices unnecessary. Compare Matt. xxii. 36—40. with Mark xii. 28—34.

Finally, Mark omits such particulars, respecting Christ, as were interesting only to Jews; and employs such designations of the Saviour as were calculated to arrest and impress the minds of Gentiles. He says nothing of the genealogy of Christ, his miraculous conception, &c., and he never designates him 'Son of Man,' but, in the very title of his work, introduces him as the 'Son of God,' an illustrious title, eminently calculated to arrest and impress the Romans, among whom, as we shall see, he published his gospel.

The truth of the foregoing assertion may be collected from his frequent use of Latin words, written in the Greek character, as Quadrans Centurion, Speculator, (an executioner,) &c. Also, from his explanation of Hebrew or Greek terms of a technical character, for such as would be intelligible among Latins: as 'Boanerges, which is Sons of Thunder;' 'Corban, that is to say, a Gift;' 'Ephphatha, that is, be opened;' 'The hall, called (or more strictly, which is) Pretorium.'

The sixteen chapters of Mark's gospel may be divided into three parts, as follows:

I. The transactions from the baptism of Christ, to his more public entrance on his ministry. (Ch. i. 1—13.)

II. The instructions and actions of Christ, till his fourth and last passover. (Ch. i. 14—ch. x.)

III. The Passion, Death, Resurrection and Ascension of Christ. (Ch. xi—xvi.)

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO LUKE.

The author of this Gospel was, as Eusebius informs us, a native of Antioch, a physician by profession, and a companion of Paul in the greater part of his travels. Some persons have entertained the opinion that he was a Jew; but the probability is stronger that he was of Gentile extraction. The genuineness and authenticity of his gospel is attested by the unanimous voice of all antiquity. It is alluded to by Barnabas, Clement of Rome, Hermas, and Polycarp;—is expressly cited by Justin Martyr, and by Irenæus; and, in the third century, by Tertullian, was maintained to be both authentic, and genuine, against Marcion. Origen mentions the Gospels in the order in which they stand among us; and says, 'the third is that according to Luke, the gospel commended by Paul; published for the sake of the Gentile converts.' It is not quite agreed among learned men, when this gospel was published; some referring it to A. D. 53, while others, with perhaps greater probability, refer it to 63 or 64; a period which more nearly corresponds with the evidence the history itself furnishes of its date. Some difference, also, exists among critics, as to the place where it was written; some contending that it was at Rome, during Paul's imprisonment;—others, that it was at Alexandria in Egypt; and was called forth, especially, by an apocryphal gospel there circulated at the time: but it is, by far, more probable that it was written in Achaia; and was intended, especially, for the use of Greeks. The evidence in the history itself, in favor of this opinion, and against that of its being written in Alexandria, arises, mainly, from the classic purity of his expressions in particular instances. About this he would not have been scrupulous, in Alexandria; for, as that colony had been formed of Macedonian Greeks, native and Persic Egyptians, and Hebrews, the extreme sensibility to purity of expression, which was remarkable in the inhabitants of Greece, was not likely to exist there; and, in fact, did not exist;—for the descendants from these colonists became in complexion, and features, and tone of voice, Egyptians. Now the inhabitants of Greece were even fastidious, with respect to particular terms; it was sufficient to excite their prejudice, if a single word occurred in another language, especially, if, to their exquisite sensitiveness to euphony, it appeared barbarous, or uncouth. To accommodate himself to their prejudices, and procure the reception of the gospel among them, he avoids, as much as possible, the use of Hebrew words, and when he employs them, it is because of the necessity of the case. 'Amen' he retains, where Christ is the speaker, because it is a particle of affirmation, appropriate to him who avers by himself; and it was as so doing, (doubtless in his divine nature,) that Luke designed to present him. In like manner, when he uses 'Gehenna,' which is only once in his gospel, (ch. xii. 5.) it is because 'Tartarus,' the appropriate Greek word for Hell, had many fabulous associations connected with it, which he wished not to recall to the minds of Christians converted from paganism. With exceptions such as these, he is scrupulous as to the purity of his expressions, and the care he discovers is strong evidence that his history was published where such care was requisite, and of course, that Achaia rather than Alexandria, was the place of its publication.

His Gospel was written for Gentiles especially. The above argument for its being published in Greece, will establish also this position; for, of course, a book is intended for a people, if it be published among them. But we have other, and more direct evidence. He tells us more especially than his predecessors, of the merciful designs of God to the Gentiles. e. g. That the Messiah was 'a light to lighten the Gentiles'—'that all flesh should see the salvation of God.' He is more careful than they, to guard his readers against Anthropomorphism in their conceptions of God, because doubtless, recently converted pagans, were in greater danger of it than Jews, who knew the spirituality of the divine nature Thus he says, not as Matthew, in writing to Jews might safely say, 'man shall live—by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God;'—but his language is such as to keep out of sight all allusion to body and form: 'Man shall live—by every word of God.' Compare Matt. iv. 4. with Luke iv. 4.

A large amount of internal evidence which goes to the establishment of this position, might easily be presented; but enough for our purpose, or at least all for which we can afford space, has been adduced. It remains only, that we present a brief synopsis of the contents of this Gospel.

The twenty-four chapters of this Gospel have been divided by European critics into five classes, as follows:

I. The narrative of the birth of Christ, together with the preceding, attendant, and subsequent circumstances. (Ch. i. ii. 1—40.)

II. The particulars relative to his infancy and youth. (Ch. ii. 41—52.)

III. The preaching of John the Baptist, and the baptism of Jesus; to which is annexed the genealogy of Jesus, traced to Adam, the common Father of the species; and which might thus, appropriately, intimate to Gentiles, that he was the Saviour, not of Abraham's posterity only; but, also, of the posterity of Adam generally; or of Gentile nations. (Ch. 3.)

IV. The discourses, miracles, and actions of Jesus during the whole three years of his Ministry. (Ch. iv. to ix. ver. 50.)

V. A history of the Saviour's last journey to Jerusalem, including a minute detail of the circumstances of his passion, death, resurrection, and ascension. (Ch. ix. 51.—ch. xxiv.)

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO JOHN.

The author of this history was the son of Zebedee and Salome, and the brother of James He became a follower of Jesus in the commencement of his ministry, and at an early age. He was a witness of the various miracles, and a hearer of the several instructions of our Lord; and of some, to which none of his fellow-apostles, but Peter and James, were admitted. His gospel does not profess to be a history of the ministry of our Redeemer, i. e. a complete one; nor does it contain more of an exhibition of what its author designed it to be. than the declaration (ch xx 21.) that it was written to confirm the faith of the disciples, and secure their salvation. Internal evidence, however, is abundant, that it was intended to accomplish two important ends. First, to be a supplement to the Gospels already published, and circulated among the Churches at the time it was written; and secondly, to refute with apostolical authority, certain errors and heresies which were industriously circulated, and extensively received.

That this gospel was written as a supplement to the others is evident, from its narration of events and discourses, of which no notice is taken in them. The exceptions to the truth of this remark are, it is believed, only two, viz: the record of the feeding of the five thousand, in the desert of Bethsaida; and that of our Lord's trial and crucifixion; and in the latter instance, his narrative embraces so many particulars omitted by the other evangelists, and the knowledge of which casts light on their histories, that it is only a confirmation of our position, that this was designed as a supplementary history. The evidence which goes to establish this point, must, of course, establish also the following ones, viz: that John had seen the foregoing gospels; and that he approved of them as correct; for he controverts nothing which they contain; but only supplies vacancies which they had left. The supplementary character of his history, then, is tacit, and indirect, and therefore, most satisfactory evidence of the genuineness and authenticity of those of his predecessors.

There is, however, internal evidence that the writer had another very important object before him, in writing this Gospel, viz: the authoritative refutation of heretical doctrines of extensive prevalence, and dangerous tendency. That such errors did prevail towards the close of this apostle's life, we know, from the book of Revelation, (Rev. ii. 6.) and it was to the refutation of these, and those taught by Cerinthus, that John directed his efforts. The particulars of these doctrines we cannot state in detail, but must content ourselves with referring to Owen's Observations on the Four Gospels, and to Horne's Critical Introduction, &c. Vol. 4. p. 293, 294. All we can say here is, that the doctrines of Cerinthus denied the eternal existence and supreme Divinity of Christ; asserted a distinction between 'the Word' and the 'Only Begotten;' denied that Christ was the Creator of the World; maintained that the 'Word' and 'Christ,' was not the 'Light' and 'Life' of men; declared that the Jews were not the peculiar people of the Supreme God, but of an inferior deity, &c. &c. These, and other heretical opinions which the followers of Cerinthus held, the first eighteen verses of this Gospel are intended to meet and overthrow. These verses contain, however, little more than the authoritative declaration of an inspired apostle on the several points; and the subsequent history is made up of incidents in the life of Jesus, and instructions delivered by him, so selected, as either to express directly, or to imply necessarily, the proof that the writer's declarations on these points were true: here, to instance only a few, may be mentioned John the Baptist's confession of his vast inferiority to Jesus; the authority with which Jesus, as Lord of the temple, expels the buyers and sellers; his explicit declaration that he is the 'light of the world,' and his confirmation of it by the giving of sight to one born blind, &c. &c.

Some persons have advocated the opinion that this Gospel was written before the destruction of Jerusalem, and allege as internal evidence of the correctness of their opinion, the language of the writer, ch. v. 2. 'Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool, &c.' But this is not satisfactory evidence of anything more than that Bethesda was still remaining when the history was written. Of this there is a strong probability, even if the city were destroyed; for, when Titus gave orders for the demolition of the city, he expressly commanded the preservation of some things for the benefit of the garrison, which was to remain there. How naturally, then, would this bath be spared, as affording convenience, in its recesses, for a heathful and agreeable refreshment to the soldiers! This is the more likely to have been done by him, because, soon after, he erected in Rome, magnificent baths for public convenience. This argument, therefore, for the early date of this Gospel, is inconclusive; and yet it is the strongest which has been brought forward. There is stronger, more abundant, and more satisfactory evidence that its date was much later;—that it was written after Jerusalem was destroyed, and towards the close of its venerable author's life. The following are the outlines of this evidence.

His Gospel, throughout, supposes the existence of the others, and their pretty general circulation among the churches; and this multiplication of copies by the slow process of transcription, must, of course, be the work of considerable time. Again, his appeals to the writings of the Old Testament are more frequent than those of Mark and Luke; and yet he wrote for readers of mostly the same class; i. e. Gentile converts. Now, why this difference, unless the lapse of a considerable time from the publication of those Gospels, had brought the Gentiles into such a state of acquaintance with the Old Testament Scriptures, that quotations from them would be read to edification? Again, the collection of water which Mark and Luke call 'the sea of Galilee,' John calls 'the sea of Tiberias.' Evidently, then, he wrote when the latter was the more general appellation of that lake; but this was not till after Jerusalem's overthrow. Finally, it was evidently written after Peter's death; for, having recorded the prediction of the Lord Jesus relative to Peter's death, he adds, 'This spake he, signifying by what death he should glorify God.' Now, in the prediction itself, there is not that distinctness, which, before its fulfilment could make it certain that it had reference to the death of Peter; hence John's declaration that it had such a signification, is sound evidence that the event had occurred, at the time the Gospel was written. All this is evidence for the late publication of this history; but its exact date it is not easy to say confidently;—probably it was published about A. D. 97.

As to the place where this Gospel was written, the concurrent voice of antiquity declares it to have been in Ephesus, whither he returned from his banishment in Patmos.

John's Gospel is divided into three parts.

I. Doctrines laid down in opposition to Cerinthus. (Ch. i. ver. 1—18.)

II. Confirmations of these doctrines by selections from the acts and discourses of Jesus. (Ch. i. ver. 19, to chap. xx. 29.)

III. A brief account of the writer of the gospel and of his design in composing it. (Ch. xx. ver. 30, to ch. xxi. throughout.)

THE ACTS OF THE APOSTLES.

The author of this portion of the sacred volume is declared by the unanimous testimony of ancient writers, to be Saint Luke: and their testimony is confirmed by internal evidence in the book itself. It is dedicated to the same individual by name, and in the very first verse of the Acts, is a reference to a former history, written for the use of the same friend of the writer;—the former treatise, therefore, is, without doubt, the Gospel by Luke; and the history before us is a supplement to that gospel;—a second part of the same great subject. It was not designed to be a history of the establishment of the general church, nor of the labors of the several apostles of our Lord; as is evident from the author's confinement of himself to limits so narrow. He appears to have proposed two objects to himself; First, to shew the verification of Christ's prediction and promise to his apostles, that an abiding comforter, the Holy Spirit, should descend upon them; and thus to cut off objections which unbelievers, both Jews and Gentiles, would have urged against the truth of Christianity, had not the writer testified distinctly to the fact: for the promise of such descent of the Spirit was matter of general notoriety. Secondly, to record such facts as proved clearly the right of the Gentiles to admission into the Christian Church: a right which the Jews, in the day in which Luke wrote, disputed.

In the prosecution of his design, he begins with a circumstantial statement of the descent of the Holy Spirit, and the consequent success of the gospel among the Jews; he then developed the merciful designs and dealings of God with the Samaritans; a people of mixed blood, indeed, but still descendants of Abraham, and therefore specially interested in the Messiah of the Jews. Next he shows the introduction of a Gentile to the Christian church, by the hands of a Minister of the circumcision. This Gentile, however, was a proselyte to Judaism; but, being not of the seed of Abraham, his reception to the Christian church, was a further step towards the universal promulgation of the gospel Prior to this event, Saul's conversion is recorded, in the narrative of which, the Lord declares that he was converted to bear the gospel to the Gentiles. Subsequently, the historian relates how the eyes of the apostles became opened to the meaning of their ascending Master's command, (Matt. xxviii. 19.) and how the providence of God opened a way for their obedience to it, through the rejection of the gospel by the circumcision. (ch. xiii. 46.) Having thus introduced the Gentiles into the Christian Church, the historian confines himself almost entirely to the labors of one apostle, (Paul,) among the Gentiles; and narrates little, except what passed under his own observation. He brings his history down to the end of two years from Paul's arrival at Rome; and thus furnishes us with a means of determining, with considerable probability, when the book before us was written. The death of Paul is considered to have occurred in A. D. 65, and as Luke does not record that event, this history was probably written prior to it: and as the end of Paul's two years' imprisonment in his own house was not till A. D. 63, it is plain it was not written, or at least finished, till that date. On these criteria, principally, Drs. Lardner, Benson, and others, have assigned 63 as the date of this book.

Perhaps no single book in the whole canon is of greater importance than this, in proving the truth of Christianity. No book affords so many tests by which to try the genuineness of the epistles which follow it, i. e. the Pauline epistles; and none furnishes so convenient and appropriate a connecting link between the gospels and the epistles. Moreover, the truth of the history is proved in as remarkable a manner by the epistles, as their genuineness is by this history. (See Paley's Horæ Paulinæ.) Again, this history contains the testimony of a witness, able and willing to give evidence of facts which occurred under his own eye, and of discourses which his own ear listened to: now, if his history is true, (which has never been questioned,) Christianity cannot be false, for the history records numerous interferences of divine power in attestation of its truth.

This book may be divided into the three following principal portions:

I. The rise and growth of the first church at Jerusalem, from the ascension of Christ, to the first Jewish persecution. (Ch. i. to ch. viii.)

II. The dispersion of the disciples by the above-named persecution,—the preaching of the gospel to the Samaritans,—Paul's conversion,—and the establishment of the church in Antioch. (Ch. viii. ver. 5. to ch. xii.)

III. The promulgation of the gospel among more remote Gentiles; first by Paul and Barnabas, and afterwards by Paul and his other companions, among whom was Luke, the writer himself. (Ch. xiii. to ch. xxviii.)

THE EPISTLE TO THE ROMANS.

That the Apostle Paul was the author of this epistle, has never been questioned among Christian critics. Though it stands first of the apostolical epistles, it was not written first in order of time; but probably fifth;—and it stands first, because the epistles have been, by general consent, arranged in the order of importance, of the cities or persons, to whom they were addressed. Its probable date, according to Tomline, Lardner, Benson, and others, is A. D. 58. This epistle was written, under the apostle's dictation by Tertius, his amanuensis, (ch. xvi. 22.,) and was forwarded to Rome by Phœbe, a deaconess of the church of Cenchrea, a port of Corinth, (ch. xvi. 1.) It was written in Corinth, as appears from its containing the salutations of Erastus the chamberlain of the city, and of Gaius, both of whom we know resided in that city. (See 2 Tim. iv. 20, and 1 Cor. i. 14.) It was evidently designed for a church composed of Jews and Gentiles; and was calculated, also, to convince the unbelieving of both those classes, of the truth, and suitableness, to men of all nations, of the Christian religion; and to promote the affectionate, fraternal reception on equal footing, of believing Gentiles, to the bosom of the church, by such of its members as were converted Israelites. To accomplish this object, the apostle argues the common, and equal sinfulness, by nature, of Jews and Gentiles, and their consequent need of a better righteousness than could result, either from the knowledge of the law, or such imperfect obedience to it as either Jews or Gentiles could render. This righteousness he shows to exist in Jesus Christ; and to be imputed to all believers, Jews and Gentiles equally: and, lest an objection should lie against the doctrine of justification by faith, as if it encouraged licentiousness, he shows that in this scheme of salvation by Christ, is exhibited, in a special manner, the mercy of God; and that this mercy impels the recipients of it to holy conduct. He therefore makes use of this mercy as a motive, by which to urge those whom he addresses, to cordial and universal obedience and holiness of life. Finally, he concludes his epistle with a sort of apology for writing to them, with whom he had not a personal acquaintance; but assures them that it is his purpose to visit them as soon as possible. The last chapter is occupied in salutations to individuals, in cautions, and prayers, and a doxology.

As Paul had never, when this epistle was written, been in Rome, it might seem strange that he should address the disciples there; and, especially, that he should append to his epistle so long a list of salutations. But, let it be remembered, that up to the date of this epistle, no one of the apostles had been at Rome; and there was, therefore, need of some authoritative communication to the church, which had, probably, been planted by the labors of some of those 'strangers of Rome, Jews and proselytes,' who were converted on the day of Pentecost. Now Paul had a long and intimate acquaintance with Aquilla and Priscilla, who were residents of Rome; and, learning from them, the state of the Christians at the imperial city, and their need of apostolical instruction, it was natural that he should feel the desire which the epistle expresses, to visit them. As this was prevented by the inscrutable providence of God, he addressed to them this letter; and, its inestimable worth to the church in after ages, constrains us to admire the Providence which led to its composition. The long intercourse also, of Aquilla with Paul, while they wrought together as tent-makers, (Acts xviii. 3.) rendered him familiar with the names and histories of the several members of the church at Rome; and this may sufficiently account for the salutations being so numerous.

THE FIRST EPISTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS.

This epistle has the uncontradicted testimony of all antiquity to its genuineness. It is cited or alluded to by writers of the first three centuries, as Paul's; and the testimonies of subsequent writers are almost innumerable. It contains, moreover, indisputable internal evidence of its genuineness, if we admit the authenticity of the narrative of Luke in the Acts of the Apostles; for there are, in it, numerous undesigned coincidences with that history, such as could not have been wrought into a spurious epistle; as Dr. Paley has satisfactorily shown. Hor. Paul. pp. 66—97. In the subscription appended to this epistle, it is said to have been written from Philippi; but this is plainly an error. The subscriptions to the epistles are spurious additions;—found, indeed, in the ancient copies of the sacred writings; but not purporting to be from the hand of the apostles; i. e. not intended, probably, by those who annexed them, to be understood as doing more than expressing the private opinion of the writer, as to the place where they were severally written. Yet, in process of time, these subscriptions came to be understood as apostolical dates of the places where they wrote. In the case before us, the writer's own declaration makes it evident that he wrote from Ephesus. (ch. xvi. 8.) The meaning of which is not 'I shall halt at Ephesus, when I arrive there;' but 'I shall remain in Ephesus;—which declares him to be already there when he wrote.

The city in which this church existed, was distinguished for its commerce, and riches, and vice. An acquaintance with the very general and shameless profligacy of the place, is necessary, in order to account for the existence, in a Christian church, of evils such as are censured and corrected in this epistle. In the temple of Venus there, a thousand harlots were maintained in honor of the goddess; and so common were sensualities of the grossest character, among the members of the church, before their conversion, that, even afterwards, some of them had very imperfect conceptions of that elevated personal chastity which the gospel requires; and counted the promiscuous intercourse of the sexes, among things indifferent. To correct their apprehensions, and reform their practices in this respect, was one of the objects contemplated by the writer of the epistle. The occasion of writing this letter was the apostle's hearing, in Ephesus, of the irregularities which existed in the Corinthian Church, from some who were of the family of Chloe. Some false teacher, also, had made his way into the Church, uttering insinuations to the disadvantage of Paul, because of his not being one of the original twelve Apostles; and because, also, he was destitute of some of those meretricious ornaments in his discourses, to which he, in common with the teachers of philosophy among the heathen, attached great importance. This state of things gave occasion for the vindication of himself, which he effects in the very first verse, by declaring himself 'called to be an apostle.' Moreover, the Corinthian Church had addressed a letter to the apostle, desiring information; a part, therefore, of the epistle consists in his reply to their queries. The disorders which he wished to correct were, schisms and divisions among them; Notorious evils practised by many of them, as impurity, and even incest in one case, covetousness, decision of legal questions before heathen tribunals; idolatrous participation with the heathen in sacrificial feasts, which thus rendered Christians abettors in idolatry; indecorousness in public worship; profanation of the Lord's supper, by rendering it, at best, an ordinary meal, and often, a means of intemperance; and finally, the denial of the resurrection of the body, and endless life.

The questions to which he designed in this letter, to furnish a reply, had relation to the following subjects, each of which, accordingly, engages a measure of his attention, viz: Marriage, i. e. the expediency of contracting it in cases where its lawfulness might be plain; and the duty of believers as to continuance, after their conversion, with partners who still remained unbelievers; things offered to idols, i. e., whether, in any case, Christians might lawfully eat of them; and what were the distinctions between cases in which it was, and those in which it was not lawful to eat; Spiritual gifts, i. e. what were the regulations to which the exercise of these gifts was to be subjected; prophesying, i. e. who were to be teachers in the church; or whether women were allowed to be such; and under what circumstances, with respect to apparel, either sex were to teach; collections for the poor in Judea, i. e., in what order provision for them was to be made.

The epistle therefore consists of three parts, viz: The introduction; (ch. i. ver. 1—9.;) the treatise on discussion, embracing the several points in the above analysis; (ch. i. ver. 10.—ch. 15.;) the conclusion, comprising directions as to their contributions; promises of a visit from him; and salutations to several individuals. (ch. xvi.)

As Paul after his return to Ephesus, continued there three years, and as this epistle was not written till towards the close of his residence there, it is probable that its date is about A. D. 57; for it was about that time that he took his final departure from the city of Ephesus.

THE SECOND EPISTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS

Shortly after writing the first letter to this church, he departed from Ephesus, and went to Troas, in hope of there meeting Titus, who was bearer of that epistle to the Corinthians. In this hope he was disappointed; and he next proceeded to Macedonia. Here he obtained the desired interview with Titus, and learned the effects of his first letter on the church at Corinth. From Macedonia, and probably from Philippi, its principal city, (Acts xvi. 12.) the second epistle to the Corinthians was written. And as the above named incidents are pretty certainly judged to have happened within a year of Paul's departure from Ephesus, the following year, i.e. A. D. 58, is generally considered as the date of the second Epistle. The occasion of writing it was, the effects produced by the former letter; which were, in most instances, beneficial and satisfactory; but in some cases, especially in that of the false teacher and some of his adherents, quite the reverse. On many of the Corinthians the effect of the first epistle was to produce repentance; respect for the Apostle; obedience to his command relative to the exclusion from fellowship of the incestuous person; and an active, and becoming zea for the apostle; showing itself in their vindication of Paul and his apostolical authority, against the insinuations of the false teacher. Others still retained their errors, propagated their slanders of the Apostle, and even derived arguments from his first epistle, against his apostleship. He had expressed an intention to go direct from Ephesus to Corinth, and thence into Macedonia, and then to return to Corinth; but circumstances had prevented his accomplishment of this object; (2 Cor. i; 15, 16, 23.) and hence his enemies took occasion to charge him with irresolution and infirmity of purpose; (ch. i. ver. 17, 18.) with tyrannical severity toward the incestuous person;—with arrogance and boasting in his ministry; and with being personally undeserving of respect; or, perhaps, of unimposing personal appearance. (ch. x: ver. 10.) The epistle therefore takes a direction, and assumes a shape, in accordance with the circumstances which called it forth:—he first explains the reasons why his promise to visit them had not been fulfilled; and thus refutes the charge of vacillation of character: next he shows that his sentence against the scandalous offender was not tyrannical towards him, but just; and, as the event proved, even benevolent; and that, towards others, it was a salutary example: he then repels the charge of arrogance and pride, and disproves it by developing his motives; which were, the honor of the gospel, and the glory of God, in making it the instrument of salvation to these Corinthians; an hononever conferred on the law of Moses: finally, he declares, in opposition to the insinuation of his personal contemptibleness, that his office, as an apostle, was honorable; and substantiates his claim to apostleship by referring to the revelations made to him; and, having thus proved himself an apostle, he cautions the false teacher and his adherents, not to urge him to a proof, lest one of deserved severity should be given, in their destruction.

This epistle consists, therefore, of three parts: The Introduction, (ch. i. 1. 2,) The Defence of himself, or His Apology, (ch. i. ver. 3—ch. xiii. 3,) and The Conclusion. (ch. xiii. 11—14.)

THE EPISTLE TO THE GALATIANS.

Great diversities of opinion have been expressed by learned men as to the date of this epistle;—some affirming it to have been written as early as the year 48, while others say it was as late as 58; and, between these extremes, the several years 49, 51, 52, 53, 54, and 57, have their respective advocates. The history in the Acts, as compared with the epistle itself, may lead us to some tolerably satisfactory conclusion on this point. That history mentions two journeys of the Apostle to Galatia: the first, in which he planted, and the second, in which he confirmed the churches. (Acts xvi. 6, compared with Acts xviii. 23.) Now the epistle contains no mention of a second journey of Paul among them; and the probability, therefore, is, that it was written in the interval which elapsed between these journeys. Now according to the best and most accurate Chronologists, the first journey was performed towards the close of the year 50, and the second in the year 54: allowing, therefore, as long a time to elapse after the first visit, as may consist with the apostle's expression of surprise (ch. i. ver. 6,) that they should be 'so soon' perverted from the faith in which they had been instructed, a period greater than two years can scarcely be allowed for it. The greater probability, then, is, that about A. D. 52 or 53, this epistle was addressed to the churches of Galatia.

The occasion of writing it has already been hinted at; viz. the perversion of the churches from the faith in which Paul had established them. This was effected by the entrance, among them, of teachers, professing Christianity, but yet, zealously attached to the law of Moses; and opposed to Paul, because his preaching taught the abrogation of the ceremonial law, and the impossibility of justification, except, simply and alone, by faith in Christ. These teachers disallowed his claims to the apostleship, because he was not one of the original twelve, who had attended on our Lord's personal ministry; and because he preached against the circumcision of Gentile converts; which, yet, they insinuated, he secretly approved. To assert his authority, as a real apostle, to establish, by more extended discussion, the doctrines he had before taught, and to show their practical tendency, was the design of the writer; and such is the drift and scope of the letter. In the establishment of his apostolical authority, he tacitly concedes that he was not one of the original twelve; but contends that he was an apostle, notwithstanding; for that he had been instructed in the doctrines of the gospel by Jesus himself; and that, in a miraculous manner, by special revelation; and that, being so instructed, he was sent forth to promulgate it. He shows, also, that he had been recognised as an apostle by those who were apostles before him; and that they had, as such, received him to their fellowship. He disclaims any attachment to the ceremonial laws, and any dependance on it; and declares his entire hope, for life and salvation, to rest on Christ He then proceeds to establish the great position That there can be no justification except by faith;—for, that the moral law can never justify a transgressor of it; (ch. iii. 10,) and that the ceremonial law is too weak to atone; and, therefore, salvation cannot result from its observances. (ch. iii. 21.) This point he labours, at greater length, afterwards; showing that submission to circumcision, on the part of a Gentile of full blood, (such as Titus was, ch. ii. 3.) bound him who submitted to it, to all the burdensome observances of the law; and that it was a virtual renunciation of hope in Jesus Christ, and of salvation by grace. (ch. v. 1—6.) He then draws towards a close by showing, in a series of practical exhortations, the holy tendency of the gospel he preached.

The similarity, in some respects, between this epistle and that to the Romans, makes it desirable to point out, briefly, the differences between them. This epistle, which was the earlier of the two, 'was designed to prove, against the Jews, that men are justified by faith, without the works of the law of Moses, which required perfect obedience to all its precepts, moral and ceremonial, under the penalty of the curse, from which the atonements and purifications, prescribed by Moses, had no power to deliver the sinner (Compare ch. iii. ver. 2, 3, 5: ch. iv. ver. 21· ch. v. ver. 1—4.) In the epistle to the Romans, on the contrary: the writer treats of justification on a more enlarged plan; his design being to prove against both Jews and Gentiles, that neither one nor the other can be justified meritoriously, by performing works of law;' but that, as Jews and Gentiles are alike sinners, if either be justified, it must be gratuitously; through reliance on the righteousness of Christ.

This epistle, like the preceding one, consists of three parts; The Introduction, (ch. i. 1—5.) The Treatise, or Discussion, (ch. i. 6. to ch. vi 10.) and The Conclusion. (ch. vi. 11, ad finem.)

The genuineness of this epistle has been always admitted;—even the heretic Marcion received it, and gave it the first place in his Apostolicon, or collection of Apostolical writings; as being the earliest of all the epistles of Paul. It is cited by Clement of Rome, Hermas, Polycarp and Ignatius; and declared to be genuine by Irenæus, Clement of Alexandria, Tertullian, Origen, &c.

THE EPISTLE TO THE EPHESIANS.

Although some writers have contended that this Epistle was not originally written to the converts at Ephesus, but was addressed to the church at Laodicea, there has not been any diversity of opinion as to the author of it: antiquity, with one voice, testifies to the genuineness of this epistle, as one of Paul. Ignatius, Irenæus, and Clement of Alexandria, unite in the testimony that Paul was its author;—a testimony which is so much the more important, inasmuch as the first lived in the very period when it was written, and the two latter in the following century, and they expressly quote it as the epistle to the Ephesians. The origin of the opinion that it was addressed to the Laodiceans appears to have been an assertion of Marcion, a heretic of the second century, to that effect: but Tertullian, in the third century, censures Marcion on this point, as advancing his own private opinion in opposition to the true testimony of the Church. This opinion of Marcion being proposed, some persons have supposed they found, in the epistle itself, some confirmation of it; and in the epistle to the Colossians, a still stronger one. Some passages it is alleged, in the epistle itself, seem more suitably addressed to persons whom the writer had never seen, than to the Ephesians among whom he had resided three years. (Acts xx. 31.) But the main dependence of the advocates of this opinion rests on Col. iv, 16, where that Church is exhorted 'to cause the epistle which Paul sent to them to be read in the church of the Laodiceans; and to read that from Laodicea.' But if Paul ever wrote to the Laodiceans especially, the epistle is now lost; there is no reason to suppose this was that epistle, unless, as has been supposed, the epistle before us was a sort of circular letter, and that immediately after the words 'to the saints,' a blank space was left which, in each case, was filled in with the name of the particular people to whom each copy was sent; and thus, in the letter before us, 'in Ephesus' was supplied. In that case, he would naturally desire the Colossians to derive the benefit of the said circular; and, as Laodicea was nearer than Ephesus, he would instruct them to apply to the Laodiceans for the loan of their copy of it. At all events this epistle was addressed 'to the saints which were in Ephesus,' and there is no sufficient reason for suspecting any portion of this salutation to be interpolated.

As to the time when this epistle was written, we learn, in several portions of it, that Paul was a prisoner when he wrote it; and Doddridge concludes, by comparison of several passages in this epistle, and those of the Colossians and to Philemon, (See preface to Ephesians in Doddridge,) that it was about the ninth year of Nero, or A. D. 63, that all these letters were written. The absence, however, of any expressions intimating a hope of speedy liberation, which expressions are found in other epistles written from Rome, makes the probability greater that it was written earlier than they;—probably in the early part of Paul's first imprisonment, or about A. D. 61.

The design of the apostle in writing this epistle, may be learned from the circumstances connected with his imprisonment, together with the letter itself. He was especially the apostle of the Gentiles; and was now a prisoner in Rome, because he had strenuously maintained the possibility of salvation, without the observance of the Mosaic law Being thus, through the successful malice of his enemies, removed from his Ephesian converts, who were almost entirely Gentiles, he was apprehensive, that in his absence, they might be seduced from the simplicity of their reliance on Christ for a free salvation;—and therefore felt a concern to strengthen them in the doctrines in which they had been instructed. Thus to strengthen them was the design of this epistle. He therefore shows that they were saved by grace; that now they had believed in Jesus, they enjoyed equal privileges with Jewish believers. He next urges them to Christian steadfastness, and adduces his own cheerful endurance of persecution, as a motive which should prevail with them to imitate him; and concludes with exhortations to general consistency of conduct, and the discharge, on Christian principles, of the duties of the several relations of social and domestic life The parts into which this epistle naturally divides itself, are two. The doctrinal, extending through the first three chapters; and the practical, which is embraced in the rest of the letter, except the last four verses, in which is found the conclusion, or farewell.

THE EPISTLE TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

This was another of the churches which Paul was honored as the instrument of establishing. It was planted about A. D. 50. In A. D. 57, the apostle again visited the city of Philippi, as appears from Acts xx. 6., though the historian records no particulars respecting the visit. None of all the numerous churches planted by Paul, appear to have cherished towards him so suitable, and tender an affection as this:—to this church was he indebted for sustenance, while first preaching the gospel in Macedonia; and that at a time when no other church contributed to the same benevolent object. The same noble course they adopted twice, while he was laboring in Thessalonica, (ch. iv. 15, 16.) and again while prosecuting his master's work in Corinth, (2 Cor. xi. 9.) Again, when they learned that their spiritual father was a prisoner in Rome, they dismissed one of their pastors, Epaphroditus, with a present; lest he should suffer want in his bonds. It was by Epaphroditus, when about to return to Philippi, that this letter was sent;—it was written then, while Paul was yet a prisoner, (ch. i. 7. 13—iv. 22.) but towards the close of his imprisonment, about the end of the year 62, or the commencement of 63. The genuineness of this epistle has never been questioned; all antiquity ascribes it to Paul. It is remarkable that of all the epistles of Paul to the churches, this is the only one in which no censure is either expressed or implied against any of the members; on the contrary, they appear to have deserved, and received his unqualified approbation of their Christian conduct, in every part of this epistle.

The scope of the epistle appears to be,

I. The confirmation of the Philippians in the faith. (Ch. i. 3—26.)

II. The encouragement of them to maintain a Christian walk and conduct. (Ch. i 27—30: ch. 2. throughout.)

III. The cautioning of them against the intrusion of Judaizing teachers. (Ch. iii. and iv. 1.)

IV. The expression of the apostle's gratitude for their Christian bounty. (Ch. iv. 2—23.) Into these four sections, therefore, the epistle may be resolved.

THE EPISTLE TO THE COLOSSIANS.

The church at Colosse was not, perhaps, planted by the Apostle Paul himself; but of this there appears no certain evidence in the Epistle before us. The language of the apostle, (Ch. ii. 1.) though it affords the strongest argument which has been adduced against the position of his having established it, is not such as to place the matter beyond dispute; nor is it stronger than ch. ii. 5. in favor of the opposite: the general phraseology in this latter passage, seems to point out the writer as a person who had been in Colosse; and who could, now that he was absent, recall the scene of their assembly to his memory. But it is not impossible that the church in Colosse was founded by some convert of Paul, during his stay at Ephesus, three years, when so many heard the word that the writer of the Acts says, (xix. 20.) That 'all that dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord; both Jews and Greeks.'

As to the date of this epistle, the similarity of subjects discussed, and, indeed of expressions employed, in many parts of this epistle, and that of the Ephesians, renders it evident that they were written at the same time; and as we find by reference to the epistles themselves, that they were carried by the same messengers, Tychicus and Onesimus, this probability is greatly increased. On this whole subject, however, see Doddridge's preface to Epistle to Ephesians, Family Expositor. It is evident from ch. iv. 3., that it was written during Paul's first imprisonment at Rome, and probably about A. D. 62. Its genuineness has never been called in question.

It appears from a comparison of this epistle with that to the Ephesians, that though there are striking resemblances between them, there are no less remarkable differences; and a close observance of these may enable us to ascertain the situation of the Colossian church when this epistle was addressed to it, and thus shed considerable light on the letter itself. There is one point in particular, viz: that which relates to worshipping of angels, (ch. ii. 16.) in which this difference appears. Probably therefore, the Colossians were in danger of embracing this error. Now there are also, in this epistle, intimations of false teachers being abroad; the probability therefore, is, that these teachers were the propagators of the error against which the apostle directs his argument on the worship of angels. They might perhaps be false teachers of two classes, which yet in some particulars might symbolize;—judaizing teachers, zealous of the Mosaic institutions, and even of Rabbinical follies; and beside these, others, who were semi-converts from paganism, and blended with Christianity, Platonic notions concerning demons. These would symbolize; for the Platonists taught, concerning demons, that they conveyed men's prayers to God, and brought back the blessings supplicated; while the doctrines of the Jews concerning angels was nearly the same.

The scope, therefore, of the epistle, is such as to meet the exigences of a case like this: viz. To show that all hope of man's redemption, is founded on Christ the Redeemer; who, being the Creator of all things and beings, is the depositary of all fulness, and the subject of every perfection: that He alone is worthy of supreme worship, as being head over all things to the church; and that angels, therefore, who are his workmanship, are not to be worshipped. The writer then proceeds to caution the Colossians against the insinuations of false teachers, whether they savored of the Mosaic ritual, and rabbinical traditions, or of the subtilty of philosophical speculations; as being alike inconsistent with Christ and his fulness for our salvation; and finally proceeds to excite them to such a temper and conduct as was becoming the sacred character they sustained. The epistle then divides itself into the following portions, besides the introduction and conclusion: viz.

I. Instruction, extending to ch. ii. 7.

II. Caution against the several dangers which threatened them. (ch. ii. 8—23.)

III. Exhortation to the discharge of the duties of their several relations. (Ch. ii. 23—ch. iv. 6.)

The city of Colosse, according to Eusebius, was entirely overthrown by a tremendous earthquake, together with Laodicea, and Hierapolis, in the tenth year of Nero, or about a year after this epistle was written. It arose again from its ruins, and was called Chonæ. But its very site is, now, not certainly known; but it is supposed to have been a spot covered with ruins in the neighbourhood of Konous or Khonas, about three hours from Laodicea.

FIRST EPISTLE TO THE THESSALONIANS

The church in Thessalonica, was planted by the apostle Paul in the year 50. It was composed of believers who were partly Jews, and partly Gentiles; but the latter greatly predominated. (Acts xvii. 2-4.) The reception of the gospel by the Gentiles, furnished a pretext to the unbelieving Jews to raise persecution against the apostle; and he was forced to flee to Berea. (Acts xvii. 10.) Here he labored, for some time, successfully; but his persecutors followed him, and he fled to Athens. (Acts xvii. 15.) Silas and Timothy still remained at Berea, as well to confirm the Berean disciples, as those at Thessalonica, lest the persecutions they endured for the gospel of Christ, should induce them to abandon their profession. (ch. iii. 2, 3.) On the return of Timothy to Paul, whom he found at Corinth, (Acts xvii. 14, 15.—xviii. 5.) and receiving his cheering report of the spiritual condition of the Thessalonians, the apostle wrote the epistle before us; and it is highly probable that it was from that city, and not Athens, that it was addressed to them: the subscription to this epistle is, therefore, spurious.

This is generally admitted to have been one of the earliest, if not the very first, of all the Pauline epistles; and we find (ch. v. 7.) that he was anxious that it should be read in all the Macedonian churches; a wish entirely natural, and suitable, on the supposition of its being his first, or a very early letter. A. D. 52, has been, by general consent, considered to be the date of it. Of the genuineness of this epistle there has never existed any question. It is probable that Polycarp has referred to it; and it is certain that this (together with the second epistle) is quoted and recognised as Paul's by Irenæus, Clement of Alexandria, Tertullian, Origen, &c. &c.

The design of this epistle was to confirm the Thessalonians in the belief of the religion of Christ, and furnish them with means, in the absence of the apostle, to meet the objections which its enemies might be ready to advance against it, and against him as a teacher of it; and to excite them to such a course of holy conduct as was becoming their Christian profession. With this object in view, after a very brief introduction, he expresses his gratitude to God for their steadfastness in faith, and for the ardor of their love to Christ, and patient waiting for him. (Ch. i. 1—4.) He next addresses himself to the proof of the truth of Christianity, which he establishes by four arguments.

1. That numerous and unquestionable miracles were wrought by the preachers of the gospel for the professed purpose of demonstrating to the world that they were divinely commissioned to establish Christianity; and implies that the miracles, are God's own attestation to its truth. (Ch. i. 5—10.)

2. That the character, deportment, and views of the preachers of Christianity, are an evidence of its truth. They every where met with persecution; — they never derived nor aimed at temporal advantage; — they never trimmed the doctrines they taught, to suit the prejudices or prepossessions of any, or to encourage them in the practice of sin; — they employed not the arts of impostors to procure the reception of their doctrine; and in a word, there was nothing in their character, or preaching, but what was entitled to the highest credit, as men commissioned of God. (Ch. 2. & 3.)

3. That the nature of the precepts of Christianity was such, as to evince it to be a system in all respects worthy of God, and beneficial to mankind. (Ch. iv. 1—12.)

4. That Jesus Christ, the author of this religion, was declared to be the Son of God, and the Judge of the world, by his resurrection from the dead; and that the same miracle is a Divine attestation to the truth of all he taught; and, therefore, that his return from heaven to reward and punish men according to their characters, is absolutely certain. This last argument is most skilfully grafted on to a caution, given to the Thessalonians not to wail, in hopeless grief, on the occasion of the demise of a Christian friend, as the heathen did, as if they were utterly lost to future being: on the contrary, he reminds them that the resurrection of the body is one of the cheering truths of Christianity, and proves its truth, by the fact of Christ himself having risen. (Ch. iv. 13—ch. v. 11.) In the prosecution of the second of the above arguments, the apostle obviates, or replies to, several objections against the truth of the Christian miracles, because the Jews in Judea had not believed; but had put him who performed them, to death; (ch. ii. 14—20.)—that if Christian teachers possessed miraculous powers, they would employ them for their own deliverance; (ch. iii. 1—4.)—that if Paul, himself, had really loved the Thessalonians, he would not have left them to endure, alone, the storm of persecution. (Ch. iii. 5—13.)

The conclusion contains various exhortations to practical godliness, and it is difficult to conceive a larger amount to be condensed into the same space. (Ch. v. 12—28.)

SECOND EPISTLE TO THE THESSALONIANS.

In this epistle, as in the former, the apostle associates Timothy and Silas with himself, in the salutation. From the fact that they were still with him when this was written, it has been concluded with considerable reason, that the date of it did not differ much from that of the preceding one, A. D. 52. The immediate occasion of its being written, was Paul's having been informed, by, perhaps, the carrier of the former letter, of some misapprehensions on the part of some among them, of certain expressions in that letter. They appear to have understood the apostle to mean, that the day of judgment, and the end of the world was near at hand; and this misunderstanding had led them into a censurable disregard of their temporal interests, and secular affairs. Had this erroneous impression gone uncorrected, it must have operated injuriously to the interests of Christianity; for the event would not have justified the expectation; and, the error appearing to rest on apostolical authority, would have gone far to discredit that authority, and the religion of Jesus Christ. The epistle, then, was designed to correct these mistakes, and the disorders, in conduct, to which they led; and to recommend several Christian duties. Accordingly, after a brief salutatory introduction, the apostle expresses thankfulness to God for the steadfastness of these converts, notwithstanding the persecutions which assailed them; and argues from it, the truth of his former declaration, that a future day of judgment shall equitably adjust the case of both the righteous and the wicked; and declares that this day of retribution shall be, the return of the Lord Jesus from Heaven. He then takes occasion to show them that the time of his return is not near; for that a great and general defection from truth, originating in the Church itself, would take place, prior to the consummation of all things. It is, doubtless, the Papal power which is the subject of the prophecy of the apostle here; and this prediction furnishes an argument for the inspiration of this epistle, peculiar to itself. It was no shrewd conjecture of something in itself probable; but, in all respects, the exact reverse. Nothing was less likely than that principles so diametrically opposed to Christianity as those, the prevalence of which are here predicted, should prevail in the visible church; and yet the event has, most exactly, and circumstantially, verified the prophecy;—the conclusion then, is irresistible, that the writer was divinely inspired when he wrote it. Having shown that the end was not yet, he proceeds to give directions by which the conduct of those was to be regulated, who, in anticipation of a speedy end of all things, had either relinquished a proper attention to temporal things, that they might be more especially prepared for the coming of the Lord, by spiritual and devotional exercises;—or who, under an idea that the Judge was at the door, indulged in idleness, as if labor was no longer a duty. The epistle, then, according to the preceding view, contains three parts, exclusive of the salutation and conclusion, viz.

I. Paul's thanksgiving and prayer for them. (Ch. i. 3—12.)

II. The correction of the error into which they had fallen concerning the day of judgment, and his prediction relative to the Papal power. (Ch. ii.)

III. Exhortations and advice as to Christian duties; as Prayer, (with a prayer on their behalf,) (Ch iii. 1—5.) and Discipline of such as walked disorderly. (Ch. iii. 6—16.)

FIRST EPISTLE TO TIMOTHY.

Timothy, to whom this epistle is addressed, was one of the companions of Paul in his evangelical travels and labors. He was a native of Lystra, a city of Lycaonia. He was the son of a Jewess, but his father was a Gentile; and it was on this account that Paul thought fit to circumcise him when he became his fellow-laborer in the Gospel; lest the prejudices of the men of Israel should be needlessly excited against him, as being of Jewish blood, and yet uncircumcised. Timothy enjoyed the advantages of early instruction in spiritual things, from his grandmother Lois, and his mother Eunice; whose example probably, set home their instructions on his heart; so that in youth, he not only knew the scriptures, but also felt the renovating power of truth. It is probable he was a convert of the apostle on his first visit to Lystra; (Acts 14.) and in the interval between that, and the second visit, his advances in piety and sanctity were such, as to obtain, for him, a commendation to the apostle, at his second visit; this led to Timothy's becoming Paul's companion in evangelical labours. From that time frequent mention is made of Timothy in the history in Acts; and he is frequently associated with Paul, in the epistles addressed to the Churches.

The date of this epistle has been much disputed; some writers strenuously contending for its being referred to A. D. 56, others to 58, others again to 65, and some to 64. We have not space to devote to the repetition of the arguments on either side; suffice it to say, that the majority of judicious critics, appear to be agreed in referring it to A. D. 64.

No dispute, however, has ever divided the learned as to the author of this epistle; all antiquity is united in ascribing it to Paul. Both the first and second epistles to Timothy, are either expressly cited, or alluded to, by Clement of Rome, and Polycarp; and the first epistle by Ignatius; and in the following centuries by Irenæus, Clement of Alexandria, Tertullian, Origen, &c. &c.

The design of the writer was to communicate to Timothy some instructions for the administration of the affairs of the church at Ephesus, where he had been left to regulate them;—to caution him against the influence of false teachers, whom Michaelis thinks to have been Essenes, and who had corrupted the simplicity of the gospel by their subtle distinctions, and logomachies:—to urge him, in his preaching, to manifest a deep interest in the cause of practical religion; and to animate him to diligence, fidelity, and zeal, in the discharge of the duties of his office. The epistle, then, in fact, contains, except the introduction and conclusion, (only four verses,) nothing but a body of instructions to Timothy, relative to the administration of the affairs of the Ephesian Church. These instructions are introduced, by reminding the young minister of the solemn charge committed to him; viz. To preserve the purity of the gospel against the pernicious doctrines of false teachers, whom the writer shows to be ignorant of the use of the moral Law: a Law, which, in its tendency to produce the good fruits of holy living, coincides with the glorious gospel. After a digression relative to his own conversion, and the grace exhibited in it, he proceeds to the giving of specific instructions on the following subjects: In what manner divine worship was to be performed in the Church at Ephesus; (ch. ii.) in what consisted the proper qualifications for the holding of the offices of Ministers and Deacons;—(ch. iii.)—How the Ministerial character may be supported with dignity and propriety;

Digitized by Google

(ch. iv. 6—16.)—In what spirit and manner, and under what circumstances, to admonish aged men and women;—How to treat widows, elders, and offenders; and, finally, What are the duties which the minister owes himself, with reference to the welfare of the body; (ch. v.) —What are the duties of slaves. (Ch. vi. 1. 2.)

The epistles to Timothy, though they contain cautions and admonitions against errors no longer prevalent, are yet, highly valuable to the church in many respects. The specific evils which prevailed in Ephesus may exist no longer; but the principles in which they originated, exist, and against them, as fruitful in evil, we are admonished. Moreover, these epistles exhibit to Ministers and Deacons in the Church of Christ, the most perfect picture of the duties of their office, and of the qualifications for assuming it. The coincidence between the exhibitions made in these and other letters to individuals, who are friends of the writer, and in his confidence, and those made in his epistles to communities, present the apostle in enviable contrast to many of the Philosophers and moralists of antiquity. They had one doctrine for the multitude, and another for the instructed; and, when opening to the latter, in the confidence of private friendship, the recesses of the heart, inconsistencies between these were discovered. But here no such discovery is made; the doctrine is the same, which is taught authoritatively to the Churches, as that communicated confidentially in a letter to a friend and fellow-laborer; and what stronger proof can be given, that the apostle did not "walk in craftiness, nor handle the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth, commended himself to every man's conscience, in the sight of God."

SECOND EPISTLE TO TIMOTHY.

Considerable difference of opinion has been expressed, by commentators and critics, as to the date of this epistle. It is plain from the epistle itself (ch. i. 8. 12. 16. and ch. ii. 9.) that when it was written, Paul was a prisoner: and it appears from ch. i. 17. that Rome was the place of his imprisonment; but the point in question is, whether it was written during the two years imprisonment recorded Acts xxviii, or during a subsequent one, of which the sacred volume contains no record. Very learned men have been found to advocate each of these opinions; but the weight of probability lies considerably in favour of the latter; and it may be pretty safely considered to have been written near the close of the apostle's life, in July or August of A. D. 65.

The design of this epistle was to inform Timothy of the circumstances of Paul, and of the events which had befallen him during this second imprisonment; as, also, to request his presence, speedily, at Rome. But, as it was a matter of uncertainty with the apostle whether he should be alive when Timothy should arrive, he takes occasion to insert several things in the epistle, which it was important for him to know, both in the way of instruction, and warnings, or premonitions. It contains numerous advices, charges, and encouragements, relative to the discharge of his ministerial duties; and they are presented with special solemnity and affection. He intimates the probability of his own speedy removal from the scene of toil and suffering; and thus indirectly intimates to Timothy that a larger amount of responsibility would rest on him; and, moreover, that, coming to Rome, it was probable he also might become the victim of imperial rage. To animate him, however, under the sufferings which might await him, the apostle speaks of his martyrdom, even in the near prospect of it, as a mere journey, (ch. iv. 6.) and assures him that, so far from regretting the espousal of the cause of Jesus, in so doing, "He had fought a good fight," and that the prospect before him was one of unclouded brightness. This epistle was written to a near and intimate friend, under the miseries of a close confinement, even to bonds, and in the near prospect of a violent death;—of course, if he had had any consciousness of the falsehood of the religion he had taught, or even any secret misgivings respecting it, or any doubts as to the futurity which it opens before us, it would be likely to discover itself. Instead of this, we hear him, calmly and confidently expressing his belief of receiving a crown of righteousness, reserved for him, and to be awarded at the last day. Certainly, then, this writer was not a deceiver; a dying hour is not the time to carry on duplicity, nor would it be carried on in a confidential letter to an accomplice; and such Timothy was, if Paul were a deceiver; unless he were the dupe of his duplicity. But this was impossible: Timothy's acquaintance with him was too intimate to allow him to be duped by Paul, and moreover, it was a knowledge of such things respecting the apostle as could not consist with duplicity. It was a knowledge of his "doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, long-suffering, charity, patience, persecutions, and afflictions." Such knowledge could not be duped; and such trials were an unquestionable test of sincerity. This epistle then furnishes invaluable evidence of the truth of the Christian religion, so far, at least, as the sincerity and honesty of its first teachers are concerned; and when the several circumstances of the writer's history are considered, and impartially weighed, it will be no less evident that he was not deceived; and consequently, that his testimony, his whole testimony on the subject of Christianity, is to be admitted in its full force.

This epistle consists of three parts.

I. The Inscription; (ch. i. 1—5.)

II. The Exhortation to Timothy, in three important particulars, viz. To diligence, and steadfastness, in maintaining sound doctrine: (ch. i. 6—18) To fortitude under afflictions and persecutions; and to take measures for the transmission of the Christian doctrine pure and uncorrupted to the Church in after ages,—and to the preservation of his personal purity: (ch. ii.) and to watchfulness against false teachers, constancy in his Christian profession, and diligence in his ministerial labours. (Ch. iii. & iv. 1—8.)

III. The Conclusion; containing the apostle's request to Timothy to visit him speedily; together with salutations for the brethren in Asia Minor. (Ch. iv. 9. 22.)

THE EPISTLE TO TITUS.

Of the excellent man to whom this epistle was addressed, we know very little with certainty;—nothing but that he was a full-blooded Gentile, and one of the apostle's early converts, and accompanied him in many of his journeys. When the epistle was written, he resided in the island of Crete, where, as the letter itself teaches us, he had been left by the apostle, for the purpose therein expressed. We have no account in the apostolical history in the Acts, of Paul having ever visited the island; though he is recorded to have been at Fairhavens and Lasea on his way to Rome: it is, however, certain that the apostle was there, from his own language in the epistle. (Ch. i. 5.) Probably he had not been there at the period to which Luke brings his history in the Acts of the Apostles; but visited Crete after his first imprisonment in Rome. This visit is generally considered to have been paid about the year 64, and the date of the epistle is considered to be the same. There is, also, internal evidence of its being written about that time; admitting, as is conceded, that that was the date of the first epistle to Timothy. There is a similarity of subject in the two letters; especially those parts which relate to the choice and qualifications of Christian teachers and deacons; and the verbal resemblances are so remarkable and close, that it is evident they were written nearly together; and while the thoughts which possessed the mind, and had been expressed in one of them, were still warm in the mind of the writer in penning the other. The very few incidental notices in this epistle respecting the success of the apostle in Crete, lead us to conclude that it was very extensive: for numerous cities, at least, in the island, contained converts sufficient to be constituted into churches. But the appointment of religious teachers among them could not, from some cause, be made by the apostle himself; he, therefore, committed the important business to Titus, and left him in Crete to perform it. It was upon the occasion of Titus being thus left in Crete, that Paul addressed to him this epistle, to give him the necessary instruction, for the discharge of the various and important duties entrusted to him.

The genuineness and authenticity of the epistle to Titus, have never been doubted;—it is quoted, or alluded to, by all the early fathers of the Christian church, who have quoted the two epistles to Timothy; viz. Clement of Rome, Polycarp, Irenæus, Clement of Alexandria, Tertullian, &c. &c.

A comparison of the epistle to Titus, with the two epistles to Timothy, proves, that the Judaizing teachers, whom they censure, were equally zealous and indefatigable, in propagating their errors at Crete, and at Ephesus; and that there was considerable uniformity in the doctrines they taught. Their cardinal error, seems to have consisted in maintaining the efficacy of Levitical sacrifices to remove sin; and hence, the necessity of observing the ceremonial law, in order to salvation. The purpose contemplated in entertaining these doctrines, probably, was, to make the practice of sin, consistent with the hope of salvation; and, in obtaining disciples, they succeeded by encouraging them in the practice of evil, by their own vicious courses, pursued in the belief, that the sacrifices of the law could make real atonement. The instructions to oppose these errors are less full in this epistle than in that to Timothy, probably because Titus being a Gentile, was more especially interested than Timothy, in maintaining the freedom of the Gentiles from the law of Moses; and, moreover, being probably a more experienced teacher than Timothy, he did not require instructions so full and particular as the younger minister.

In accordance with the occasion of the epistle above alluded to, we find it to consist of three parts.

I. The Inscription. (Ch. i. 1—4.)

II. Instructions to Titus;—On the ordination of elders, and the qualifications of candidates for the holy office;—On the adaptation of his exhortations to the age, sex, or circumstances, of those to whom he addressed them;—On the duties of Christians to the civil power; and On the importance of practical piety, and the avoidance of questions which produce strife rather than edification. (Ch. i. 5. to iii. 11.)

III. An Invitation to Titus to meet Paul at Nicopolis, and other directions. (Ch. iii. 12—15.)

THE EPISTLE TO PHILEMON.

Philemon appears to have been a resident of the city of Colosse, from the fact of the apostle mentioning Onesimus in his epistle to the Colossians as "one of them," as also, from his salutation of Archippus in this epistle, who was a pastor in the Colossian Church. Col. iv. 17. Grotius was of opinion that Philemon was an elder; and Doddridge, that he was a minister in the Church in Ephesus; Michaelis supposes him to have been a deacon, from the fact, that Paul requests him, to provide for him a place of residence; a duty, probably, belonging to the deacon's office. There is, however, no certainty in any of these opinions; they are founded on an ambiguous expression in the epistle, in which Paul calls him a "fellow-labourer;"—an appellation which is sometimes given to others than ministers or deacons; and, sometimes, even to females. (Phil. iv. 3. Rom. xvi. 12. Gr.) Philemon was evidently a converted person; and, most probably, a Gentile, and one of the apostle's spiritual children; though some doubts have been expressed on this point. But it appears to be settled, by Paul's reminding him of his indebtedness to himself, and owing him even his soul. ver. 19.

It is evident, that this epistle was written, while the apostle was a prisoner, (ver. 1. 10. 13. 23.) and also, that at the time he wrote, he had some expectation of shortly regaining his liberty. (Ver. 22.) Hence, it has been inferred with considerable probability, that it was written during his first imprisonment in Rome, towards the close of the year 62, or the beginning of 63, and was sent, together with those to the Ephesians and Colossians, by Tychicus and Onesimus. The only objection which lies against this opinion, is, that it supposes the first visit of Onesimus to Colosse after his conversion, to be that in which he returned to his master, Philemon; and yet, in the epistle addressed to the Colossians, and presented at the same time with this to Philemon, he is spoken of to the Colossian Church, as "one of them." If this phrase, then, mean a fellow-member of the Colossian Church, this objection is fatal to the argument for its being presented at the same time with that to the church; for Onesimus could not be a church-member at Colosse, prior to his return to that city, and this epistle must have been sent prior to that to the Colossian Church: but, if it mean only, as it may, that Onesimus had been a resident of Colosse, and was now returning thither, the above account of the probable date of the epistle, may be admitted.

Some doubts have been expressed, by fastidious critics, as to the right of this epistle, to a place in the Scripture Canon;—it has been alleged, that it was merely a private letter to a friend, on a particular subject, and, consequently, of little importance to the general Church. But though inspired men, might, and probably did write letters, which were in ordinary language, private, there is no sufficient reason for supposing this to be such a one. It is, indeed, rarely mentioned by primitive christian writers, and the reason may be found in the brevity of the epistle, and in the comparatively private nature of the subject of it. Yet it was written wholly with the apostle's own hand, and this was more than was true of all his epistles; they were, generally, only attested by his hand writing, in a personal salutation. (2 Thess. iii. 17.) It is not, however, unnoticed in the writings of the early fathers; Tertullian makes a plain allusion to it, Caius enumerates it among Paul's epistles, and Origen expressly quotes it. Moreover, it is pronounced authentic, by all the ancient writers cited by Eusebius; and also, by all succeeding ecclesiastical writers; and, has always been enumerated in the catalogues of the books of the New Testament. The external testimony, therefore, to its claim to a place in the sacred canon, is as strong as that of any other part of the volume.

The design and scope of the epistle, was, to induce Philemon, to whom it was addressed, to receive Onesimus, who had been his slave, and had deserted his service, into his family, and to forgive his offences. The writer employs in it the greatest softness of expression, warmth of affection, and delicacy of address, in his intercession for the pardon of Onesimus, whom he now introduces to Philemon, in the new character of a fellow-christian. It might seem strange, that, to a Christian, as Philemon was, so much cogency of argument, and such an accumulation of it, too, was necessary to induce him to receive again his fugitive slave, though he returned, a Christian brother; but, probably, Philemon had other slaves, who might have abused his lenity had he too easily forgiven Onesimus; and, his regard for the welfare of the rest, might incline him to inflict some punishment in this case, as an example to the rest. Plainly Paul apprehended some such intention on Philemon's part; or he would not have made the forgiveness of Onesimus a matter of such urgent entreaty.

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWS.

Considerable differences of opinion have prevailed among learned men, as to several points connected with this epistle; viz. Who was its author? To what christians was it addressed? In what language was it written? In answer to the first inquiry, some have replied that Luke was its author; others, that it was the work of Clement of Rome; and others, and by far the greater number, that it is a genuine epistle of Paul. The prevailing current of antiquity sets decidedly in this direction, though there are not wanting individual christian writers, of the early ages, who have expressed a different opinion. The following are among the arguments which may be considered satisfactory, in support of the opinion, that Paul was its author.

1. Peter, in his second epistle, (ch. iii. 15, 16.) appears to attest, that Paul was the author of this epistle; not indeed, explicitly, but by just and lawful inference. He declares himself to have read all Paul's epistles, and, also, that among them was one to the very class of christians to whom Peter was here writing; viz. Jewish believers in general, and to those of the dispersion, mentioned 1 Pet. i. 1. Now there is no other epistle of Paul extant to any such Christians, nor any evidence that any of his epistles are lost, therefore, the above testimony must refer to this epistle as the genuine work of Paul. Again, Peter in these verses, declares Paul to have written to these Christians on the same subjects as occupied his own pen. Now in his second epistle, (ch. i. 3. 4.) Peter asserts that by Christ are given to us all things that pertain to life and godliness, and that Jesus Christ is the Son of God in whom the Father is well pleased. And these are the very topics expatiated on in this epistle ch. i. to ch. x. 19. Other instances of similarity might be specified, which a careful comparison of the two epistles will suggest, and which therefore we may pass by

2. Paul was intensely interested for the salvation of the seed of Abraham, as appears, especially, from his epistle to the Romans; can it be credible, then, that he should make no effort to save them, or to confirm, and encourage, and instruct, such as had believed? Is not the presumption strong, and almost overpowering, that he would write to them, and that he would choose those very topics selected in this epistle as the themes of his discourse;—topics which he, brought up as he was, at the feet of Gamaliel, was preëminently qualified to discuss?

3. The mode of discussion also, and the manner of reasoning, distinctly mark out the Apostle Paul as the author, to any one conversant with such subjects We may instance, here, his abrupt transitions to other, yet kindred subjects; and having expatiated awhile, his no less abrupt return to his main point; his numerous ellipses in expression, which are to be supplied either from foregoing or following members of the sentence; and also his reasoning, addressed to those thoughts, in the form of objections, which would naturally arise in the reader's mind.

4. There are several coincidences between the exhortations in this epistle, and those in Paul's other epistles;—instances of agreement in style and phrase, between this epistle and those;—allusions to the Grecian games in this epistle such as are found in others, his acknowledged epistles;—interpretations of Jewish Scriptures which are found elsewhere only in Paul's discourses or epistles;—doctrines of the Christian religion taught here, and by none else except Paul, &c. &c. which render the authorship of this epistle undoubtedly his. For particulars under these heads see Horne's Crit. Intro. vol. 4, p. 396, et seq.

The evidence then, internal and external, preponderates decidedly in favor of the conclusion that it is a genuine epistle of that distinguished apostle; and one in which we see a supplement and commentary to the epistles to the Romans and Galatians; showing that the whole legal dispensation was designed to be superseded and abrogated by a new and superior one, in a chain of argument, close, cogent, irresistible; and which evinces in the writer a profound and consummate acquaintance with both.

This epistle was evidently addressed to believing Jews; but learned men are not agreed as to whether they were persons in some one particular country, or persons scattered through many regions and countries. The opinion best sustained by the internal evidence in the epistle itself is that they were believing Jews in the land of Judea. The arguments by which this opinion is sustained are the following.

1. The scope of the epistle shows that those to whom it was addressed were in danger of falling back into Judaism; partly, perhaps, through persecution, and partly through arguments of Jewish teachers. This could scarcely occur to several communities at the same time, except in Judea: but in Judea we know from the Acts of the Apostles, Jewish believers were subjected to these very dangers.

2. The declarations in Heb. i. 1. 2.—iv. 12. and especially ii. 1—4. are especially suitable to believers who were in Judea where Christ himself first taught, and where his apostles also opened their ministry on the day of Pentecost, and continued, for a considerable time, to labor with great notoriety and popular favor.

3. This epistle was sent to a people who appear to have been well acquainted with the sufferings of Jesus in their circumstantiality; and this none of the "multitude of Jews, devout men from every nation" collected on the day of Pentecost, could have been; nor, of course, those in the countries from which they came; nor indeed any but residents in Judea. See ch. i. 3—ii. 9. 18.—v. 7. 8.—ix. 14. 28—x. 10—12.—xii. 2. 3.—xiii. 12.

As to the language in which this epistle was written, it has been satisfactorily shown to be Greek; but the particulars of the proof we shall not adduce, because, to the mere English reader, it would be neither profitable, nor interesting.

The design of this epistle was to show that highly as Moses was to be esteemed as a divinely commissioned lawgiver, and the dispensation of which he was the Mediator, as one of which God was the author; that dispensation and all its apparatus of typical persons and places and things, was to give place to another, the Christian; one and that this new dispensation is superior to the old one in a variety of respects. That Jesus Christ, its founder, is superior in nature to angels, being the Son of God: of course therefore superior to Moses who was the servant of God: that he is superior also in office as a legislator; being mediator of a better covenant; that the rest he proposes to his followers is superior to the land of promise which Moses placed before his people; that the Levitical priesthood was inferior to that of Christ, and the Levitical sacrifices to that of Jesus: that they were all shadows, and that in him was found the substance; and hence, that so far from rejecting Jesus as the Messiah because he suffered, their sacrifices were so many pictures of a suffering Messiah: that the holy of holies was a type of heaven; and that Jesus having made atonement had entered it to carry on, still, the work of High Priest. He then urges them to improve their privileges, in possessing such a high-priest; and urges them to steadfastness in their Christian profession, and the discharge of the duties incumbent on the followers of Jesus. These are the topics of the first twelve chapters and the thirteenth, except the last five verses, which are occupied in a conclusion comprising a prayer for the Hebrews, and various apostolical salutations.

The epistle then consists of three parts:

I. An Argument; of which the proposition is That Christ is the True God. (chap. i. to x. 18.)

II. An Application of this argument; in which exhortations are urged, to faith, prayer and constancy;—to patience and diligence in the Christian course:—to peace and holiness, and jealousy of themselves;—to an obedient reception of the Gospel;—to brotherly love, compassion, and hospitality;—to an imitation of the Christian walk of their deceased teachers; to a cheerful endurance of reproach; to watchfulness against false doctrines;—and to subjection to their spiritual teachers, as God's stewards. (Ch. x. 19—xiii. 19.)

III. The Conclusion. (ch. xiii. 20—25.)

ON THE OTHER APOSTOLICAL EPISTLES.

The primitive Christians were extremely cautious how they received any writings purporting to be apostolical into their canon; none were admitted by them until they had been subjected to the severest scrutiny, and the severity of the investigation to which all were subjected was the means whereby the several forgeries, made by impostors in the name of the Apostles, were detected, as spurious, and rejected. It could scarcely be expected that, even for writings truly genuine and inspired, there should be, in every instance, precisely the same amount of evidence; and this we find to have been the case. Some of the epistles which we are now satisfied are the real works of the authors whose names they bear, were, for a time, suspected to be spurious; these were the Epistle of James, the Second Epistle of Peter, the Epistle of Jude, and the second and third Epistles of John. The remaining two, viz: the first Epistle of Peter, and the first Epistle of John, were always received as genuine, and to them, therefore, was given the appellation, Catholic, or general; because received as canonical by the general Church. Accordingly, as the claims of the disputed epistles were investigated and proved to be well sustained, they also, successively, took the same appellation; and now all the seven which follow the Pauline epistles are denominated General or Catholic Epistles. The fact of these five epistles not having been, at first, universally received as of Apostolical origin, ought not, by any means, to weaken our confidence in them; it only shows that the persons who doubted, had not received complete, and incontestable evidence of their genuineness. But as they were afterwards received, we have reason to conclude that their claims to genuineness were renewedly examined, and found to be satisfactory, and that the books are, indeed, the real productions of the Apostles. Indeed the ancient Christians had such special advantages for judging on this subject, and were so scrupulous in admitting the claims of writings to apostolical authorship, and so well founded was their judgment of the books of the New Testament, that no writing which they pronounced genuine, has yet been proved spurious, nor have we, at this day, the least reason to think any book genuine, which they rejected.

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF JAMES.

There were two disciples of our Lord, who bore the name of James. One was the son of Zebedee; and he was put to death by Herod Agrippa, A. D. 44. It is evident then that he was not the author of this epistle; for it contains passages which have reference to events of a later date; particularly, to the destruction of Jerusalem, as then very near. (ch. v. 1—8.) The author of this epistle was James the Less, the son of Alpheus; it was he who, after the death of Stephen, became the superintendent of the church in Jerusalem, and presided in the celebrated council held there A. D. 49, Acts. xv. Its date is generally considered to be A. D. 61. Considerable difference of opinion has existed as to the canonical authority of this epistle: but there is sufficient reason for us to receive it, without hesitation. Clement of Rome, in the first century, has twice alluded to it Hermas not fewer than seven times; and though Eusebius places it among those writings which were not unanimously received, there was, yet, a majority in favour of it. Another, and a stronger evidence of its genuineness, is, that it is found in the Syriac version, which was executed towards the close of the first, or beginning of the second century; while the other disputed epistles, together with the book of Revelation, are excluded. This is certainly strong evidence in its favor: for Jewish believers to whom it was written, had better opportunities than Gentiles, to determine whether it was genuine; since the latter, probably, had no means of becoming acquainted with it, till long afterwards. This epistle is inscribed " to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad:" by which it is not probable the writer meant the whole nation of the Jews: but such among them, as believed, wherever they might be; for the Apostles never addressed epistles except to converts; and the object of their epistles was, not to convert, but to confirm. Those passages in the epistle which appear to be directed against the unbelieving, are to be interpreted with reference to the gross corruptions, into which the Hebrew Christians had fallen, at the time.

The design of the epistle was to correct those errors, both in doctrine and practice, into which the Jewish Christians had fallen; and thus prevent those fatal consequences which might have resulted from them; and then, to establish the faith, and encourage the hope of sincere believers, under both their present, and their approaching sufferings. He accordingly, first shows the benefits of trial and temptation, and God's readiness to impart supplies of wisdom and grace, in answer to believing prayer. He proves, moreover, that God is not the author of sin; but that, on the contrary, all good gifts proceed from him, and among them the chief is Regeneration; a just conception of which should lead to the practice of every virtue, and especially a ready reception of the whole word of God, and adherence to its directions. (Ch. i. 1—27.) Secondly, he censures respect of persons; and partial obedience to the law of God. He corrects their erroneous views of the doctrine of justification by faith; proving that a cordial belief of the truth, impels to holy conduct; and that, without this, there is and can be, no salvation. He reproves their ambition to become teachers; because it endangers the inflaming of their passions, and the indulgence of licentious speech, which he urges them rigidly to repress. He then proceeds to inculcate candor and benevolence, and to condemn censoriousness, animosities, and love of the world. To restrain these, he urges on them an humble application to God, for heavenly influences. He then suggests particular cautions against evil speaking, and vain confidence in the events which are yet future; or in worldly possessions; which often prove an occasion of sin, and consequent ruin. (ch. ii. to ch. v. 6.) Finally, he exhorts those suffering affliction or persecution, to patience, meekness, and steadfastness, in hope of a speedy deliverance; and concludes with cautions against swearing, and admonitions to prayer and praise;—to visit the sick, and to attempt the conversion of sinners, in view of the glorious consequences attendant on saving a soul.

This epistle is less doctrinal than some of Paul's writings; but is yet admirable as a summary of those practical duties which are incumbent on all believers, and which are urged in a manner equally affectionate and elegant.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PETER.

The genuineness, and canonical authority of this epistle have never been disputed. It is twice referred to by Clement of Rome; and is not less than twelve times distinctly quoted by Polycarp, as also by Irenæus, Clement of Alexandria, and Tertullian; and, according to Eusebius, it was universally acknowledged to be the production of Peter in the fourth century, and since that time it has never been questioned.

Concerning the persons to whom it was addressed, considerable diversity of opinion has existed. Some critics have supposed it was addressed to Jewish believers inhabiting the countries mentioned in the inscription; while others think it was written to proselytes of the gate; Michaelis entertains the belief that it was addressed to Jews, i. e. proselytes to Judaism, who had been native heathens, previously; and who, after embracing Judaism, were converted to Christianity: others again, imagine that it was written to Christians, whether Jews or Gentiles, residing in the countries above noticed. There is, however, a preponderance of evidence in favor of the opinion that they were believing Jews, and not believing Gentiles, who are addressed in the epistle; For

1. There were Jews scattered through the regions mentioned in the inscription to this epistle; as is plain from Acts ii. 5, 9. "There were at Jerusalem Jews, devout men;—dwellers in Judea, Cappadocia, in Pontus and Asia."

2. By Apostolical agreement, the ministry of the circumcision was committed to Peter;—it therefore is probable, that when he wrote, he would write for the benefit of those, and to them who were his special charge, i. e. the Jews.

3. Those addressed in this epistle, were "redeemed from their vain conversation received by tradition from their fathers:" (1 Pet. i. 18,) and this language, aptly describes those who were familiar with rabbinical traditions and fables.

4. The persons addressed are described (1 Pet. ii. 9.) in language plainly adopted from Ex. xix. 6, and which is exclusively applicable to Jews. These are the reasons for the opinion that this epistle was addressed to Hebrew Christians. It is probable, that the Apostle Peter wrote this letter at Rome; and this, notwithstanding it appears to have been written from Babylon. (ch. v. 12, 15.) For,

1. The concurrent testimony of almost all antiquity, favors this opinion. Eusebius says, "Mark's Gospel was written at the request of Peter's hearers at Rome; and Peter makes mention of Mark, in his first epistle, which was written at Rome itself, and that he (Peter) signifies this, when he calls that city figuratively Babylon, in these words, 'The church which is in Babylon, elected jointly with you, saluteth you; and so doth Marcus my son.'" Jerome transcribes this passage of Eusebius, and adds positively "that Peter mentions this Mark, in his first Epistle, figuratively denoting Rome by the name of Babylon."

2. Ecclesiastical history is totally silent, as to Peter ever having visited Babylon in Chaldea; and Babylon in Egypt, was too small a place to merit consideration.

3. The Jews to whom this epistle was addressed were fond of mystical appellations, especially in their captivities: thus Edom was a frequent title for their heathen oppressors. It was, therefore, likely that one would be adopted with reference to Rome, just before the overthrow of the Jewish polity, and that "Babylon" should be that one, since Babylon was the scene of their first captivity.

The design of this Epistle was to encourage the Jewish Christians under persecutions; and also, to instruct them how to behave under their trials.

After an introduction of two verses, therefore, Peter exhorts them to steadfastness, patience, cheerfulness, and meekness, notwithstanding the violence of persecution; and enforces the exhortation, by enumerating the blessings and privileges bestowed upon them. He next exhorts to holy conversation in general; and to a discharge of the practical duties of social life, in a religious manner. He next adduces considerations to induce them to patience, submission, and holiness of life, as the example of Christ; God's punishment of the antediluvian world; their own profession, by the reception of Christianity, that they were dead to the world and sin; that the period was short, in which their persecutors would triumph, for that soon the Jewish nation would be destroyed; and finally, that, under the gospel, afflictions were to be considered as their allotted portion; and indeed, matter of exultation and joy. He then draws towards a close by giving instructions to both ministers and people, as to the discharge of the duties incumbent on each towards the other.

The writer of this epistle suffered martyrdom at Rome, A. D. 64 or 65, and there is no evidence of his arrival there previous to the year 63; we are justified therefore, in concluding the date of this epistle to be A. D. 64.

SECOND EPISTLE OF PETER.

Since the fourth century of the Christian era no doubts have been entertained, except in the Syrian Church, as to the genuineness and divine authority of this epistle, and even in that church it is read as a truly excellent book, wanting only canonical authority. In the period antecedent to the fourth century, some doubts were entertained of its genuineness; but without sufficient reason:—it was never considered as belonging to those writings which were certainly spurious; but merely among those, respecting which unquestionable evidence was wanting.

The principal reason why doubts were entertained relative to the claims of this epistle to admission into the sacred canon was, that a striking difference in style, is discernible between this epistle, and the first of the same apostle. But in fact this difference does not exist, except in the second chapter of the second epistle; and there, the subject which the writer is discussing differs so widely in its nature, not only from those presented in other parts of the two epistles, but also from those presented in other parts of the whole scriptures, that a peculiarity of style might have been expected. We see that differences are actually found in the style of the same writer when the subjects he discusses are different; and that where some subject, unique in its character, is the theme of a writer's discourse, and this for once only, there is found a peculiarity in his style on that subject. Thus Paul's style in the Epistle to Philemon is peculiar; it is unlike that which he, any where else, employs; yet is that epistle undoubtedly his. Watts, also, in his writings for children, employs a style widely different from that which appears in his Philosophical Essays, or Lyric Poems; but no one, on this account, doubts his being the author of both one and the other.

But though this epistle was not unanimously adopted, in the first three centuries, as of Divine authority, we are not to suppose that it was unanimously rejected, or even doubted. On the contrary, Clement of Rome, in the first century, makes three distinct allusions to the second chapter, and one to the third. By Hermas also, in the second century, it is twice referred to, and once by Justin Martyr, and also by Athenagoras. And, though no writer of the third century refers to it, in the fourth and following centuries it is distinctly acknowledged, by very many writers, as genuine. One objection to a statement made above may be urged; viz: that the style of the second chapter is peculiar, in consequence of the subject of that chapter being one not discussed in any other portion of the sacred volume. The objector may allege that it is very strikingly similar to that of the epistle of Jude: but this will not be considered as weighing much, when it is remembered that the date of this epistle is earlier than that of Jude, and consequently, it could not be an imitation of that; and, therefore, when this epistle was written, the sacred canon did not contain a portion on the subject of that chapter. Admitting, therefore, as we must, that there is a very observable difference in style, it is sufficiently accounted for by the recollection that there were different kinds of inspiration, and among them "the inspiration of elevation," and this higher kind of inspiration might naturally guide the pen of an apostle, when touching a subject of so sublime a character as that in this chapter.

There are internal evidences, also, of the genuineness of this epistle, which must not be passed over without a brief notice.

1. The writer styles himself "Simon Peter," or, more exactly, "Symeon Peter." Now Luke, in his gospel, often calls this apostle by the same name; and there is considerable probability in the suggestion of Macknight, that John, who wrote his Gospel towards the close of a long life, and long after Peter was gone to his rest, designed, by employing this designation of him, seventeen times in his Gospel, to show that he was the author of the epistle under consideration. It may indeed be said, that Simon and Symeon, are not the same in their orthography; but it may be answered that they are the same in signification; and are only different ways of writing the same word. In the Acts also, (13. 14.) another word is employed, and it is that which is uniformly employed in the Old Testament, for the name of one of the sons of Jacob, after whom, doubtless, the Apostle was named.

2. The writer of this epistle makes incidental allusions to circumstances, which have reference either to Peter only, or to him specially. See 2 Pet. i. 14, and compare it with Jno. xxi. 19, which refers to none but Peter; hence plainly Peter must be the author of this second epistle. Again in ch. i. 16—18, we are assured that the writer was present at the transfiguration: now none but Peter, James, and John, were there; —of course, then, this epistle was written by one of them; but it was never ascribed to either of the others, and it must therefore be the production of Peter. Again the author calls this his "second epistle," and intimates that it was addressed to the same persons as the first, i. e. to believing Hebrews. Compare 1 Peter i. 1 2 Pet. i. 1, with 2 Pet. iii. 1, 2. Consequently, as the genuineness of the first epistle was never questioned, the second was, without doubt, written by the same person, viz: Peter.

3. The writer of this Epistle designates Paul his "beloved brother," commends him, and approves his epistles as of equal authority with writings confessedly inspired;—this it is certain, none but an Apostle would venture to affirm, because none but an Apostle was qualified to do so. But if the writer were an Apostle, he was that Apostle whom he professes himself to be; i. e. he was Peter.

4. The spirit of the epistle is, throughout, holy and apostolical. It is impossible that such a production could issue from a wicked, and designing man; but a good man would not assert himself to be the Apostle Peter, unless he were so; he therefore is the author of this epistle, for the writer thus styles himself.

In view of all these evidences, then, external and internal, it appears beyond doubt, that this epistle, is that of the Apostle whose name it bears; and that it is of authority, in all matters of faith and practice, on which it treats, equally with the other writings of the New Testament.

As to the date of this epistle, it is plain that the Apostle was old and near his death, when it was written, (ch. i. 14.) and that it followed the first, at no great interval, probably not greater than a year. The date of this epistle, may, therefore, safely be stated to be A. D. 65, and, perhaps, the beginning of that year.

The design of the writer was to confirm the doctrines and instructions delivered in that which preceded it; to establish the Hebrew Christians, in the truths of their holy religion; to caution them against false teachers, whose tenets and practices he describes at considerable length; and to encourage them, under those scoffs of the licentious, to which the belief of Christ s coming to judgment, would subject them: and then, having introduced this subject, exhorts them to prepare for that solemn event, by a blameless and holy deportment.

This epistle consists of three parts.

I. The Introduction. (ch. i. 1, 2.)

II. The Exhortation and Caution—i. e. the exhortation to improve in the most substantial graces of the christian character: and the caution against scoffers and impostors who, he forewarns them, will ridicule the expectations which Christians cherish, of Christ's coming to judgment. (ch. i. 3.—ch. iii. 14)

III. The conclusion; declaring the correspondence in doctrine, between the instructions communicated by Peter and Paul; and a summary of the Epistle itself. (ch. iii. 15—18.)

FIRST GENERAL EPISTLE OF JOHN.

Scarcely any doubt has ever been expressed, as to the epistle under consideration being a genuine production of the Apostle John, though his name is not perfixed to it. In the eastern and western churches it was almost universally received. It is distinctly cited by Polycarp; is declared to be genuine by Papias, Irenæus, Clement of Alexandria, Tertullian, Origen, Cyprian, Eusubius, Athanasius, and all subsequent ecclesiastical writers. It is also found in the Syriac version, executed towards the close of the first, or very early in the second century; a version which contains only those books of the New Testament, respecting the authenticity of which no doubts were ever entertained. The well known peculiarity in the style of John, also, as it appears in his Gospel, discovers itself here beyond a doubt; so that we almost instantly recognise the same hand in both productions. Though, in general, we speak of this work as an Epistle, it has been well observed, that it is without any of the marks of being an epistle. It has no salutation, no inscription in its commencement, and no benediction in its conclusion. It appears to be indebted for the name of an Epistle, merely to the fact that, in the first formation of the canon of the New Testament, it was placed in the same volume with the other apostolical writings; which are all, with this single exception, in the epistolary form. It is in fact a discourse,—an apostolical discourse, on the doctrines and duties of the Christian religion; and one, in every respect, worthy of the author to whom the concurrent tradition of the Church ascribes it,—"the disciple whom Jesus loved."

With respect to the date of this work, there is a considerable diversity of opinion among learned men; some placing it as early as A. D. 68, and others as late as A. D. 92. The opinion best deserving confidence, appears to be that which, without specifying the year in which it was written, places it at an early period, and before the destruction of Jerusalem and subversion of the Jewish polity. Internal evidence favors the opinion. The writer speaks of the "last time," (ch. ii. 18,) and assigns the then present existence of Antichrists, as evidence that it was the "last time." Now this language cannot have so appropriate a reference, as to our Lord's prediction that false Christs and false prophets should arise, prior to the destruction of Jerusalem: hence the most natural supposition is, that the epistle was written before that event. Again, the expression, "Ye have known him from the beginning," (ch. ii. 13, 14.) can scarcely be applicable to any, if it be supposed that the date of the epistle was so late as some critics have imagined; for very few of those who had a personal acquaintance with our Lord, were alive at the late date ascribed by some persons, to this production. But if it be supposed to have been written within thirty, or five and thirty years of our Lord's passion, many might be living to whom the writer might properly say, "Ye have known him from the beginning."

The difficulty is quite as great, respecting the persons to whom, or for whose use this treatise was written;—various conjectures have been formed; but all equally unsupported, as far as they have endeavored to settle what particular people it was designed for: the most probable opinion is, that it was designed for general use in the church, in all places; and that the errors it opposes were very generally circulated, and hence a refutation of them would be, every where, reasonable and acceptable.

The design of this treatise is threefold: viz:

Digitized by Google

1 To guard the Christians to whom it is written, against erroneous and licentious tenets, principles, and practices; such as the denial of the true and proper Deity, and the real humanity of Jesus Christ,—of the reality and efficacy of his sufferings and death, as an atoning sacrifice,—and the assertion, that those who are saved by grace, are free from obligation to obey the law of God. These were errors of the Docetæ, and appeared in the church, even in the apostolic age, and were afterwards maintained by Cerinthus and his followers.

2. To stir up all who profess to know God, to walk in holiness and not in sin; to walk as Christ walked, and keep the commandments, and abound, especially, in brotherly love. These exhortations are enforced by motives the most powerful and affecting; viz. the love of God and Christ; and by asserting the utter uselessness of a faith which is not fruitful to holiness.

3. To incite real Christians to the frequent practice of communion with God, and with the Lord Jesus Christ,—to constancy and steadfastness in the faith, against all that seduced them,—and to purity and holiness of life. The leading divisions in this treatise, may be presented with some clearness, in the following synopsis of its contents:

Section first, Asserts the true humanity and proper Deity of Christ, and thus meets the errors of false teachers on these points, and urges the union of faith and holiness in order to the maintenance of communion with God. Ch. i. 1—7.

Section second, Shows that all have sinned, and teaches the doctrine of the propitiation made by Christ; and the marks of true faith in his atonement, e. g. obedience to God, love to brethren, conquest over the world. (Ch. i. 8—10. Ch. ii. 1—17.)

Section third, Asserts Jesus to be the same person with Christ, in opposition to the false teachers who denied it. (Ch. ii. 18—29.)

Section fourth, Treats of the privileges of believers, and their consequent happiness, and duties, and the characteristics by which they may be known as the "sons of God." (Ch. iii. passim.)

Section fifth, Contains criteria, by which to distinguish Antichrist and false professors of Christianity (Ch. iv. passim.)

Section sixth, Shows the connexion which exists between Faith, Regeneration, Love to God and Christ, Obedience and Victory over the world; and, that Jesus Christ, is truly the Son of God, able to save us, and to answer the prayers we offer for ourselves and others. (Ch. v. 1—16.) To this is added, as a conclusion, a brief summary of the treatise, showing that a sinful life, is inconsistent with true Christianity, that Christ is truly God; and, that Christians are to beware of idolatry. (Ch. v. 17—21.)

SECOND AND THIRD EPISTLES OF JOHN.

These writings of the beloved disciple were not received into the canon of Scripture till some considerable period after the apostolic age. The probable reason was, that, not being addressed to churches by name, nor indeed to the general church, but only to individuals, and these, persons in private stations, they were long kept in the families of those to whom they were written, as valuable papers; but were not published as documents of general authority till after the decease of the persons who originally received them. Of course, there was no possibility of those persons testifying to their genuineness; and, when the letters were discovered, the Church, always scrupulous in the examination of everything which claimed to be apostolical, hesitated about receiving them, until rigid scrutiny had made their apostolical origin morally certain. Mill has remarked, that of the thirteen verses in the second epistle, eight are to be found, either in expression or sentiment, in the first epistle; and hence infers, that it must have been written by the same person, and, moreover, about the same time; probably, A. D. 68 or 69. According to Dr. Lardner, it was received and quoted by Polycarp, who was contemporary with the apostle, by Papias, who had been a disciple of John, by Irenæus, Clement of Alexandria, Origen, and many others. Yet, because not universally received, these epistles were placed by Eusebius, among those writings called αντιλεγομενα, or disputed writings. We have, however, very satisfactory reasons for concluding, that, both these epistles are divinely inspired, and are the productions of the Apostle to whom they have been always ascribed.

Some difference of opinion has prevailed, as to whether the second epistle was addressed to an individual, or to the church at Jerusalem under the character of a distinguished lady: but the greater probability is, that it was a letter to some eminent christian female and her children; and was designed, to confirm them in christian graces, and caution them against declension, and the giving heed to those who would seduce them from the truth.

The Third Epistle is addressed to Gaius, a converted Gentile, and a member of some influence in the Church with which he was connected. But who he was, we have not now the means of ascertaining with certainty; for there are three persons of this name mentioned in the New Testament, and it might be either of them, or some other person, bearing the same name. Most likely, however, it was Gaius of Corinth, who was Paul's host in that city; and whose hospitality to the saints was a subject of general notoriety and praise. For this virtue, the person to whom this epistle was sent, was remarkable, as appears from verses 5—8. The design of the writer is to commend the steadfastness of Gaius, to caution him against the overbearing deportment of Diotrephes, to recommend Demetrius to his affectionate regard, and finally, contemplating a visit shortly, he concludes with salutations. Learned men are not agreed as to who the persons named in this epistle were;—if Gaius were of Corinth, and the host of Paul, it may be that Diotrephes was the false teacher held in view, in Paul's epistles to the Corinthians, and whom he forbore to name, being the individual against whom the efforts of Diotrephes were especially directed; but whom John, especially, in a communication to an individual, could point out without any indelicacy. Demetrius was probably the bearer of the letter, and manifestly, a person of another and opposite spirit from Diotrephes: one well reported of, and eminently imbued with the spirit of true religion.

THE EPISTLE OF JUDE.

The striking similarity of this epistle to the second chapter of Peter's second epistle, has led some persons to suppose, that that epistle had been seen by this writer, who soon after, having occasion to write on the same subject there discussed, fell into the style and manner, and even adopted, in some cases, the very expressions and illustrations employed by Peter. Some persons, on the other hand, reject this supposition; they maintain the independence of each of these writers of the other, and attribute the similarity in their writings, merely to the superintendency of the Holy Spirit, under whose guidance they wrote. The reason for strenuousness in favor of this opinion, appears to be, an apprehension that the character of a writer would suffer as an inspired man, if he should avail himself of the writings of another inspired man. This reason, however, has but little weight; John had doubtless seen the Gospels of the other Evangelists, and yet, wrote his own, and in some cases, records the same incidents as they; yet, who derives thence, an objection to his inspiration? The probability appears greater, that Jude had seen Peter's second epistle, and the interests of truth do not require that we should dispute it. We can even see, in this similarity itself, a reason why it should be employed; at least, if the supposition of Dr. Macknight be admitted, as to the reason why John calls Peter "Simon Peter" seventeen times in his Gospel, (see preface to 2 Peter:) for the very same reason might naturally operate with Jude, to attest to the genuineness of that epistle, though in a different way; viz. by a transfer of a peculiar portion of the suspected epistle into one of his own, which was undisputed, he furnished an indirect testimony to the genuineness of that from which he copied. There is, also, a further consideration, which accounts for this transfer of the sentiments, and, indeed, partly, the language of Peter into this epistle; viz. That this was written for another set of readers. That was written to Jewish believers: this to the followers of Jesus any where, and not to those of a particula race. See ver. 3 Where, then, is the objection to its inspiration, greater than what might lie against that of either of the Epistles to the Ephesians and Colossians, since they also are strikingly similar to each other?

Another objection to the inspiration of this epistle, is, that the writer appears to quote the apocryphal prophecies of Enoch; which, it is taken for granted, an inspired man would not do. But does not Paul quote heathen Poets? And why may not Jude also quote an apocryphal prophecy, if the matter of it correspond with truth, as was the case with Paul's quotations from Aratus, Menander, and Epimenides? Paul does not attest to the inspiration of these writers, nor vouch for the truth of their fables; nor does Jude for that of the legend which he quotes, (if indeed he do quote here) but only for the truth of the particular passage cited. It is not, however, certain, but that the Spirit which spake alike in Jude and Enoch, furnished to the former the substance of Enoch's ministry, and that no record of the prophecy was ever made, and hence the sentence in Jude is not a quotation from any book whatever. This epistle is found in all the ancient Catalogues of New Testament Scriptures; it is asserted to be genuine by Clement of Alexandria, and is quoted as Jude's production, by Tertullian, Origen, and the majority of the ancients quoted by Eusebius: we have, therefore, good external evidence of its genuineness and inspiration; and, moreover, it is, throughout, of such a character as to be altogether worthy of a disciple and apostle of the holy Savior. This will appear, if we inquire into its design. The design of this epistle, was, to guard believers against the false teachers, who had begun to insinuate themselves into the Christian Church; —to contend strenuously for the true faith, against the tenets these teachers held; tenets which resolved the whole of Christianity into a speculative belief, and mere outward profession of the Gospel. And having thus cancelled the obligations to morality and holiness, taught their followers to live in all licentiousness, and yet flattered them with the promise of eternal life. He next unmasks the characters of these seducers, and denounces their sentence; and concludes his epistle with warnings, admonitions, and counsels to believers, that they may persevere in faith and holiness themselves, and endeavor to rescue others from the snares of the false teachers.

In this epistle there is an energy, a force, a grandeur of expression, and style;—a labor for words and images, eminently calculated to produce a deep impression of the profligacy of the characters the writer exposes; and the general current of the letter, exhibits the apostle's grief at the scandalous immoralities of those, who unwarrantably assumed the Christian name, and the zeal and courage with which he stripped them of their disguises, and made them stand forth to the contempt and indignation of both the church and the world.

THE BOOK OF REVELATION.

There is one circumstance relative to this book which is not only remarkable, but peculiar; viz: That after being received, as of Divine authority, during the whole of the first two centuries, it came, in the third, to be disputed; and was therefore placed, by Eusebius, among the disputed, or contradicted writings. Such a peculiarity, with regard to any inspired writing, naturally excites inquiry, as to the cause in which it originated. The cause of the question, whether the Book of Revelation was an inspired production, was, that, in the third century, some very absurd opinions, on the subject of the Millenium, were entertained by some persons; pious, probably, but injudicious; and hence fanciful in their interpretations of some of the portions of this writing. Instead of correcting the misapprehensions of these persons, by laying down right principles of interpretation, and refuting their opinions by showing their absurdity, the opponents of these false views assumed that they were based on a correct interpretation of the book; but contended that the book could not be from heaven, because of the erroneousness of (what they injudiciously admitted to be) its doctrines. The doubts entertained, relative to the genuineness and inspiration of this book, and the peculiarity of the circumstances under which they were suggested, has, of course, subjected this portion of the sacred volume, to a severe ordeal of criticism; but the friends of truth have little cause to regret it: for there is no part of the New Testament which has stronger, and more undoubted claims to our confidence than this; and none which was commented upon, as a portion of inspired writing, at so early a date. Dr. Priestly has said, that he thinks it impossible for an intelligent and candid person to peruse it, without being forcibly struck, with the peculiar sublimity of its composition, so as to be convinced, that, considering the age in which it appeared, it could only have been written by a person divinely inspired. The value of this testimony will be immediately admitted, by any one who knows the eminence of Dr. Priestly as a biblical critic, except when his own theological opinions are concerned; yet, the time is past, when the claims of any production to inspiration is to be determined by its merits as a composition. Mahomet rested the claims of the Koran on this; and we should be sorry to build our eternal hopes on a foundation so sandy We have abundance of external evidence, of the same character as that upon which other of the sacred books are received, to the genuineness of the book of Revelation. Hermas has several expressions so closely resembling those in the book before us, that it is nearly impossible not to suppose them designed for imitations of it: and the only reason why it was not expressly cited, was, that such citation was not in accordance with this Father's design. Ignatius has three passages, as Dr. Woodhouse has shown, in which the verbal resemblances are so exact, that that father must have read the book of Revelation. Polycarp has cited this book, in the only epistle of his, which has descended to our times; and when he suffered martyrdom, began his expiring prayer with the very words of the elders, in Rev. xi. 17. To these may be added the name of Papias, whom Drs. Woodhouse and Lardner have shown to have received it. These all were contemporary with the apostle John; and, of course, great weight must attach to their testimony, as they had special advantages for knowing that, respecting which their testimony was given. In the age next succeeding the apostolical one, numerous confirmatory testimonies are found. Justin Martyr, A. D. 140, knew and received the Apocalypse, as the production of the apostle John: as also, Jerome, who is reported to have commented on it, though the commentary is now lost. Melito, Bishop of Sardis, A. D. 177, wrote a commentary on this book: it is quoted, also, most obviously, in the epistle of the churches of Lyons and Vienne, A. D. 177, and also, by Irenæus, A. D. 178, who designates it, as "The Revelation of John, the disciple of the Lord." To these may be added, the unequivocal testimonies of Athenagoras and Theophilus, Bishops of Antioch, A. D. 181; Apollonius, A. D. 186, or 187; Clement of Alexandria, and Tertullian, which last, defends the authenticity of the book against Marcion. From his writings, it is plain that this book was generally received by the Asiatic, and also, by the African Churches. In the third century, its genuineness is attested by Hippolytus Portuensis, (A. D. 220,) who was a disciple of Irenæus, and who wrote two books in its defence; and by Origen, (A. D. 239,) who most explicitly acknowledges it, as the production of John, and frequently cites it in his works. Lower than this, we need not descend, because the opponents of its genuineness, descend no lower; yet, we might add no inconsiderable catalogue of other illustrious names in this century who received it, but we forbear. So far as external evidence can establish the genuineness of any work, we are fully sustained in the declaration, that THIS BOOK IS TO BE RECEIVED as a portion of "Scriptures given by inspiration of God." There is, moreover, internal evidence, for the genuineness and inspiration of the Apocalypse. This evidence has been classed under three heads:

First, Its correspondence, in doctrine and imagery, with other books which are confessedly of Divine origin. Doctrine is not, indeed, a a principal subject in this book; yet a work of this length, can scarcely be found without making some developements of doctrine; and those herein developed, are in perfect congruity with such as are delivered in other apostolical writings.

Secondly, The sublimity of the ideas and imagery, is another internal evidence of the genuineness and divine origin of the Apocalypse. These ideas and imagery, are such as are to be found only in the inspired writings.

Digitized by Google

It is grandeur of thought, independent of language, which is here insisted on: inspired writers, often neglect the graces of language, relying on the subjects of their discourse to secure for their writings the regard which is their due.

Thirdly, The coincidence of style between this book, and the undisputed writings of John, is another evidence that the Apocalypse is his work. The proof of this, however, cannot be fully exhibited to a mere English reader, inasmuch as it is in the Greek that it is principally remarkable; and, as these remarks are principally intended for the benefit of such readers, we shall pass over it in silence; observing only, that such of our readers, as may desire to see the evidences of coincidence in the original, may consult Horne's Introduction, vol. iv. pp. 478, 479.

The date of this book has engaged much of the attention of the learned; and various have been the opinions which they have advocated. The most probable, and generally received opinion is, that John was banished to Patmos, towards the close of Domitian's reign, by virtue of his edict for persecuting the Christians; and, that he was favoured with these revelations during his exile, though the book itself could not be published till after his return to Ephesus. This event took place on the death of Domitian, A. D. 96, when Christian exiles were liberated, and John was permitted to resume his labors in that city. As, however, some time must elapse before the emperor's death could be known in Asia, it is judged that the Apocalypse could not be published till about A. D. 97.

The book divides itself into two principal portions, "The things which are," and "The things which shall be hereafter;" i. e. such as relate to "the present and the future state of the Church on earth."

I. "The things which are," describe the then present state of the general church; or particularly, of the Asiatic Churches, which are individually addressed in short epistles. (Ch. i., ii., and iii.)

Vitringa and others have supposed that the seven epistles to the Asiatic churches, are prophetical of the general church, in different conditions to the end of time. But for this opinion, Bishop Newton thinks there does not appear to be sufficient evidence; for the last state of the church upon earth, previous to the consummation of all things, is described as preeminently glorious; whereas, in the last of these epistles, the church in Laodicea, is addressed, as "miserable, and poor, and wretched, and blind, and naked." But though these epistles are to be considered as having a literal meaning, and not a mystical one, yet they contain excellent precepts and exhortations, commendations and reproofs, promises and threatenings, which are not only calculated to afford instruction to the church of Christ on earth at all times; but, also, designed for that purpose;—for thus the writer expresses himself, "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches;" i. e. in general. The applicability of the admonitions to the general church, will appear immediately that we look at their character:—these churches are exhorted to repent and reform their ways;—to reject false apostles and corrupt doctrines;—to retain their patience and steadfastness under trials and persecutions;—and this under penalty of entire extinction, or having their lamps removed. These exhortations, cautions, &c. are equally applicable to all churches, and are therefore written, doubtless, for our admonition.

II. "The things which shall be hereafter," contains a prophecy of the future state of the Church, through succeeding ages, from the time when the apostle beheld the Apocalyptic visions to the grand consummation of all things.

In the study of these prophecies, we must be extremely careful to exercise a sober and chastened judgment, and apply, at every step, the most approved rules of interpretation, applicable to such writings.

1. We must compare the language, symbols, and predictions, with those of former revelations, and admit only such interpretation, as appears to have the sanction of Divine Authority.

2. Unless necessity evidently require another course in particular passages, the predictions are to be interpreted of the progressive Church of Christ.

3. The predictions relative to the progress of the Church, are to be spiritually, and not literally, interpreted. The affairs of kingdoms of this world are not the subjects of Apocalyptical prophecy, except in cases in which they have a remarkable bearing on the advance, or impediment of the Saviour's Kingdom.

4. We are not to attempt particular interpretation of unfulfilled prophecy. The book of Revelation is not designed as a foundation for schemes and theories; nor for the gratification of curiosity, but for the exercise of faith and patience; inasmuch as "what we know not now, we shall know hereafter."

No book has been more commented on, or has given rise to a greater variety of interpretations than the Apocalypse, which has ever been accounted the most difficult portion of the New Testament. The figurative language in which the visions are delivered; the variety of symbols under which the several events are shadowed forth; the extent of the prophetical information embodied, and which appears to embrace all the future ages of the Christian church, afford little hope of its perfect elucidation, till a further lapse of time shall have ripened more of the events foretold in it, and thus have afforded safer scope to investigation. Although many parts of the Apocalypse are necessarily obscure to us, because they contain predictions of events still future, yet enough is clearly seen to impart to us valuable instruction. It is precisely to us, what the prophecies of the Old Testament were to the Jews; nor is it, in any degree more inexplicable. "No prophecies in the Revelation," says Gilpin, "can be more clouded with obscurity than that a child should be born of a pure virgin;—that a mortal should not see corruption;—that a person despised, and numbered among malefactors, should be established for ever on the throne of David. Yet, still, the pious Jew preserved his faith entire, amidst all these wonderful, and, in appearance, contradictory intimations. He looked into the holy books, in which they were contained, with reverence; and, with an eye of patient expectation, 'waited for the consolation of Israel.' We, in the same manner, look up to the prophecies of the Apocalypse, for the full consummation of the great scheme of the Gospel; when Christianity shall finally prevail over all the corruptions of the world, and be universally established in its utmost purity."

CHAP. I.

A. M. 4000.

THE book of the generation [a] of Jesus Christ, the son of [b] David, [c] the son of Abraham.

2 Abraham [d] begat Isaac; and [e] Isaac begat Jacob; and Jacob [f] begat Judas and his brethren;

3 And Judas begat [h] Phares and Zara of Thamar; and Phares begat [i] Esrom; and Esrom begat [j] Aram;

4 And Aram begat Aminadab; and Aminadab begat [l] Naasson; and Naasson begat Salmon;[m]

5 And Salmon begat Booz of [n] Rachab; and Booz begat Obed [p] of Ruth; and Obed begat Jesse;

6 And Jesse begat [q] David the king; and David the king begat [r] Solomon of her that had been the wife of Urias;

7 And Solomon begat [t] Roboam; and Roboam begat Abia; and Abia begat Asa;

8 And Asa begat Josaphat; and Josaphat begat Joram; and Joram begat Ozias;

9 And Ozias begat Joatham; and Joatham begat Achaz; and Achaz begat Ezekias;

10 And Ezekias [w] begat Manasses; and Manasses begat Amon; and Amon begat Josias;

11 And [4] Josias begat Jechonias and his brethren, about the time they were carried away to Babylon;

12 And after they were brought to Babylon, Jechonias begat [a] Salathiel; and Salathiel begat Zorobabel;[b]

13 And Zorobabel begat Abiud; and Abiud begat Eliakim; and Eliakim begat Azor;

14 And Azor begat Sadoc; and Sadoc begat Achim; and Achim begat Eliud;

15 And Eliud begat Eleazar; and Eleazar begat Matthan; and Matthan begat Jacob;

16 And Jacob begat Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus, who is called Christ.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations; and from David until the carrying away into Babylon are fourteen generations; and from the carrying away into Babylon unto Christ are fourteen generations.

18 Now the birth [e] of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, † before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Ghost.

19 Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a public example, was minded [i] to put her away privily.

20 But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a [j] dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife; for that which is [1] conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name [2] JESUS: for he shall save [g] his people from their sins.

22 Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, [k] saying,

23 Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and [3] they shall call his name Emmanuel; which being interpreted, is, God [o] with us.

24 Then Joseph, being raised from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife:

25 And knew her not till she had brought forth her first-born [s] son: and he called his name JESUS.[u]

CHAP. II.

NOW when Jesus was born [*] in Bethlehem of Judea, in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem,

2 Saying, Where is he that is born [v] King of the Jews? for we have seen his [x] star in the east, and are come to [y] worship him.

3 When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

4 And when he had gathered [z] all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

5 And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea: for thus it is written [c] by the prophet;

6 And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a governor, that shall [5] rule [d] my people Israel.

7 Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

8 And he sent them to Bethlehem; and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come [f] and worship him also.

9 When they had heard the king, they departed: and, lo, the star, which they saw [g] in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

10 When they saw the star, they [h] rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

11 And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they [1] presented unto him [a] gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

12 And being warned of God [c] in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

13 And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod [g] will seek the young child, to destroy him.

14 When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt:

15 And was there until the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, [h] Out of Egypt have I called my son.

16 Then Herod, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently inquired [l] of the wise men.

17 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremy [n] the prophet, saying,

18 In Rama was there a voice heard, lamentation, and weeping, and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not.

19 But when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeareth in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and go into the land of Israel: for they are dead [q] which sought the young child's life.

21 And he arose, and took the young child and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reign in Judea in the room of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: notwithstanding, being warned of God in a dream, he turned aside into the parts of [t] Galilee:

23 And he came and dwelt in a city called [w] Nazareth: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophets, He shall be called a Nazarene.[x]

CHAP. III.

IN those days came [y] John the Baptist, preaching in the wilderness of Judea,

2 And saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.

3 For this is he that was spoken of [a] by the prophet Esaias, saying, The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 And the same John had his [c] raiment of camel's hair, and a leathern girdle about his loins: and his meat was locusts [b] and wild honey.

5 Then went out to him Jerusalem, and all Judea, and all the region round about Jordan,

6 And were baptized of him in Jordan, confessing [d] their sins.

7 But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees come to his baptism, he said unto them, O generation [e] of vipers, who hath warned you to [f] flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruits [2] meet for repentance:

9 And think not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham

10 And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is [i] hewn down, and cast into the fire.

11 I indeed baptize you with water [j] unto repentance: but he that cometh after me is mightier than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to bear: he shall baptize you [k] with the Holy Ghost, and with fire:

12 Whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge [m] his floor, and gather his wheat into the garner; but he will burn up the chaff [o] with unquenchable fire.

13 Then cometh Jesus from Galilee to Jordan, unto John, to be baptized [p] of him.

14 But John forbad him, saying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?

15 And Jesus answering, said unto him, Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness. Then he suffered him.

16 And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God [r] descending like a dove, and lighting upon him:

17 And, lo, a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved [s] Son, in whom I am well pleased.

CHAP. IV.

THEN was Jesus led up of [u] the Spirit into the wilderness, to be [v] tempted of the devil.

2 And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he was afterward an hungred.

3 And when the tempter came to him, he said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread.

4 But he answered and said, It is written, [z] Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the devil taketh him up into the holy city, [b] and setteth him on a pinnacle of the temple.

6 And saith unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down: for it is written, [b] He shall give his angels charge concerning thee: and in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.

7 Jesus said unto him, It is written again, Thou [c] shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

8 Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them;

9 And saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me.

10 Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou [j] shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

11 Then the devil leaveth him, and behold, angels [m] came and ministered unto him.

12 Now when Jesus had heard that John was [l] cast into prison, he departed into Galilee:

13 And leaving Nazareth, he came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is upon the sea coast, in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim:

14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophet, [q] saying,

15 The land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthalim, by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles;

16 The people which sat in darkness [r] saw great light: and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death, light is sprung up.

17 From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent: [u] for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.

18 And Jesus, walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon [v] called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers.

19 And he saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you [z] fishers of men.

20 And they straightway left [y] their nets, and followed him.

21 And going on from thence, he saw other two brethren, [z] James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zebedee their father, mending their nets: and he called them.

22 And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him.

23 And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching [f] in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel [g] of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness, and all manner of disease [h] among the people.

24 And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatic, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them

25 And there followed him great multitudes [a] of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jerusalem, and from Judea, and from beyond Jordan.

CHAP. V.

AND seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:

2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, [d]

3 Blessed are the poor [e] in spirit: [f] for their's is the kingdom of heaven.

4 Blessed are they that mourn: [g] for they shall be comforted. [h]

5 Blessed are the meek: for they [i] shall inherit the earth.

6 Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for [k] they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the merciful: for [l] they shall obtain mercy.

8 Blessed are the pure in [n] heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the [o] peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' [p] sake: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.

11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you [2] falsely, for my sake.

12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward [s] in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

13 Ye are the salt [t] of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

14 Ye are the light [w] of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.

15 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under [3] a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify [x] your Father which is in heaven

17 Think not that I am come to destroy [b] the law or the [c] prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to [d] fulfil.

18 For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle [e] shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.

19 Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great [i] in the kingdom of heaven.

20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed [j] the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.

21 Ye have heard that it was said [1] by them of old time, [b] Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment:

22 But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause, [c] shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, [2] Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.

23 Therefore, if thou bring thy gift [f] to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath aught against thee,

24 Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee [k] to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Verily I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou hast paid the uttermost farthing.

27 Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery:

28 But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh [m] on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 And if thy right eye [3] offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement: [p]

32 But I say unto you, that whosoever shall put away his wife, [q] saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced, committeth adultery.

33 Again, ye have heard that it hath been said by them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, [s] but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths:

34 But I say unto you, Swear not at all: [t] neither by heaven; for it is God's throne:

35 Nor by the earth; for it his footstool: neither by Jerusalem; for it is [v] the city of the great King.

36 Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, because thou canst not make one hair white or black:

37 But let your communication be, Yea, yea, Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these, cometh of evil [4]

38 Ye have heard that it hath been said, An [a] eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.

39 But I say unto you, [c] that ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee [d] on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.

40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.

41 And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.

42 Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou [g] away.

43 Ye have heard that it hath been said, [h] Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy:

44 But I say unto you, Love [i] your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray [j] for them which despitefully use you and persecute you;

45 That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise [l] on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.

46 For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?

47 And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so?

48 Be ye therefore perfect, [n] even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.

CHAP. VI.

TAKE heed that ye do not your [4] alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward [5] of your Father which is in heaven.

2 Therefore when thou doest thine alms, [6] do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:

4 That thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, himself shall reward [r] thee openly.

5 And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, they have their reward. [t]

6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and, when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father, which seeth in secret, [w] shall reward thee openly.

7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, [x] as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for [y] their much speaking.

8 Be not ye therefore like unto them for your Father knoweth [a] what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye: Our [a] Father [b] which art in [c] heaven, hallowed be [d] thy name:
10 Thy kingdom [e] come: thy will be done, in earth [f] as it is in heaven:
11 Give us this day our [g] daily bread:
12 And forgive us our debts, [h] as we forgive our debtors:
13 And lead us not into [i] temptation, but deliver us [k] from evil: for thine [l] is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever, Amen.
14 For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.
15 But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.[o]
16 Moreover, when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men [q] to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
17 But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face;
18 That thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.
19 Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon [t] earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal:
20 But lay up for yourselves treasures in [v] heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal:
21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.
22 The light of the body is the eye: [x] If therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light:
23 But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!
24 No man can serve two masters: [b] for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot [c] serve God and Mammon.
25 Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought [e] for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?
26 Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father [g] feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?
27 Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?
28 And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin:
29 And yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.
30 Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is, and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?
31 Therefore take no thought, [k] saying, What shall we eat? or What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?
32 (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.
33 But seek ye first [m] the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added [n] unto you.
34 Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. [p] Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

CHAP. VII.

JUDGE [r] not, that ye be not judged.
2 For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged; and with what measure ye mete, [s] it shall be measured to you again.
3 And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?
4 Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye: and, behold, a beam is in thine own eye?
5 Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam [u] out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.
6 Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither [w] cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you.
7 Ask, and it shall be given you; [y] seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you:
8 For every one that asketh [z] receiveth; and he that seeketh [a] findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.
9 Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone?
10 Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent?
11 If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, [d] how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?
12 Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for [f] this is the law and the prophets.
13 Enter ye in [h] at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat:
14 [i] Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life; and few [i] there be that find it.
15 Beware of false prophets, [j] which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening [a] wolves:

16 Ye shall know them by their [b] fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?

17 Even so every good tree [c] bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 Every [f] tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewn down, and cast into the fire.

20 Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them.

21 Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, [g] shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.

22 Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied [j] in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works?

23 And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, [m] ye that work iniquity.

24 Therefore [n] whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise [o] man, which built his house upon a rock:

25 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. [q]

26 And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish [s] man, which built his house upon the sand:

27 And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, [t] and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was [v] the fall of it.

28 And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished [w] at his doctrine:

29 For he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

CHAP. VIII.

WHEN he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him.

2 And, behold, there came a leper [y] and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

3 And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean: and immediately his leprosy was cleansed.

4 And Jesus saith unto him, See thou tell [a] no man; but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded [c] for a testimony unto them.

5 And when Jesus was entered into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion, [d] beseeching him,

6 And saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.

7 And Jesus saith unto him, I will come and heal him.

8 The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy [d] that thou shouldest come under my roof: but speak the word only, [e] and my servant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

10 When Jesus heard it, he marvelled, and said to them that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, [h] no, not in Israel.

11 And I say unto you, That [i] many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, in the kingdom of heaven:

12 But the children of the kingdom [k] shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping [l] and gnashing of teeth.

13 And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the self-same hour.

14 And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, [p] and sick of a fever.

15 And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.

16 When the even was come, they brought unto him many [r] that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick:

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias [u] the prophet, saying, Himself took our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.

18 Now when Jesus saw great multitudes about him, he gave commandment to depart unto the other side.

19 And a certain scribe came, and said unto him, Master, I [x] will follow thee whithersoever thou goest.

20 And Jesus saith unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head

21 And another of his disciples said unto him, Lord, [z] suffer me first to go and bury my father.

22 But Jesus said unto him, Follow me; and let the dead bury their dead.

23 And when he was entered into a ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And behold, [b] there arose a great tempest in the sea, insomuch that the ship was covered with the waves: but he was asleep.

25 And his disciples came to him, and awoke him, saying, Lord, save us: we perish.

26 And he saith unto them, Why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked [a] the winds and the sea; and there was a great calm.

27 But the men marvelled, saying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him?

28 And [c] when he was come to the other side, into the country of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with devils, coming out of the tombs, exceeding fierce, so that no man might pass by that way.

29 And, behold, they cried out, saying, What have we to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of God? art thou come hither to torment us before the time?

30 And there was a good way off from them an herd of many swine, feeding.

31 So the devils besought him, saying, If thou cast us out, suffer [h] us to go away into the herd of swine. [i]

32 And he said unto them, Go. And when they were come out, they went into the herd of swine: and, behold, the whole herd of swine ran violently down a steep place into the sea, and perished in the waters.

33 And they that kept them fled, and went their ways into the city, and told every thing, and what was befallen to the possessed of the devils.

34 And, behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus: and when they saw him, they besought him that he would depart [m] out of their coasts.

CHAP. IX.

AND he entered into a ship, and passed over, and came into his own city.

2 And, [o] behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith, said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, [p] be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee.

3 And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, this man blasphemeth.

4 And Jesus knowing their thoughts, [r] said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts?

5 For whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and walk?

6 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive [w] sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his house.

8 But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified [z] God, which had given such power unto men.

9 And [a] as Jesus passed forth from thence, he saw a man, named Matthew, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he saith unto him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to pass, as Jesus sat at meat in the house, behold, many publicans and sinners came and sat down with him and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto his disciples, Why eateth your Master with publicans and sinners? [b]

12 But when Jesus heard that, he said unto them, They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick.

13 But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I [d] will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. [e]

14 Then came to him the disciples of John, saying, Why do we and the Pharisees fast oft, but thy disciples fast not?

15 And Jesus said unto them, Can the children of the bride-chamber mourn, as long as the bridegroom [f] is with them? but the days will come when the bridegroom shall be taken from them, and then shall [g] they fast.

16 No man putteth a piece of [l] new cloth unto an old garment; for that which is put in to fill it up taketh from the garment, and the rent is made worse.

17 Neither do men put new wine into old bottles; else [j] the bottles break, and the wine runneth out, and the bottles perish: but they put new wine into new bottles, and both are preserved.

18 While [k] he spake these things unto them, behold, there came a certain ruler and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is even now dead: but come and lay thy hand upon her, and she shall live. [l]

19 And Jesus arose and followed him, and so did his disciples.

20 And, [n] behold, a woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelve years, came behind him, and touched the hem of his garment:

21 For she said within herself, If I may but touch his garment, [q] I shall be whole.

22 But Jesus turned him about; and when he saw her, he said, Daughter, be of good comfort; thy [r] faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole from that hour. [t]

23 And [u] when Jesus came into the ruler's house, and saw the [v] minstrels and the people making a noise,

24 He said unto them, Give place; for the maid is not dead, [x] but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn.

25 But when the people were put forth, [y] he went in, and took her by the hand, and the maid arose.

26 And [2] the fame hereof went abroad into all that land.

27 And when Jesus departed thence, two blind men followed him, crying, and saying, Thou son of David, [b] have mercy on us.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blind men came to him: and Jesus saith unto them, Believe ye that I am able to do this? They said unto him, Yea, Lord 29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it unto you.

30 And their eyes were opened: and Jesus straitly charged them, saying, See that no man know [b] it.

31 But they, when they were departed, spread abroad his fame in all that country.

32 As they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumb man [d] possessed with a devil.

33 And when the devil was cast out, the dumb spake: [f] and the multitudes marvelled, saying, It was never so seen in Israel.

34 But the Pharisees said, He [g] casteth out devils through the prince of the devils.

35 And [j] Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people.

36 But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they [2] fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep [p] having no shepherd.

37 Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest [7] truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few:

38 Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth [r] labourers into his harvest.

CHAP. X.

AND when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he [s] gave them power against [3] unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease.

2 Now the names [v] of the twelve apostles are these: The first, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother;

3 Philip, and Bartholomew; Thomas, and Matthew the publican; James the son of Alpheus; and Lebbeus, whose surname was Thaddeus;

4 Simon the Canaanite; and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed him.

5 These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans [z] enter ye not:

6 But go [a] rather to the lost [b] sheep of the house of Israel.

7 And, as ye go, preach, saying, [d] The kingdom of heaven is at hand.

8 Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: [e] freely ye have received, freely give.

9 [7] Provide [f] neither gold, nor silver, nor brass, in your purses:

10 Nor scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet [8] staves; for [h] the workman is worthy of his meat.

11 And into whatsoever city or town ye shall enter, inquire who in it is worthy; and there abide till ye go thence.

12 And when ye come into an house, salute it.

13 And if the house be worthy, let your peace come upon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace return [a] to you.

14 And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear your words, when ye depart out of that house or city, shake [c] off the dust of your feet.

15 Verily I say unto you, It [e] shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment, than for that city.

16 Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore [k] wise as serpents, and [1] harmless [i] as doves

17 But beware [k] of men: for [l] they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will scourge [m] you in their synagogues;

18 And [n] ye shall be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them and the Gentiles.

19 But [o] when they deliver you up, take no thought how or what ye shall speak; for it shall be given you in that same hour what ye shall speak.

20 For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.

21 And the brother shall deliver up the brother to death, and the father the child; and the children shall rise up against their parents, and cause them to be put to death.

22 And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake; but [t] he that endureth to the end shall be saved.

23 But when they persecute you in this city flee [u] ye into another: for verily I say unto you, Ye shall not [4] have gone over the cities of Israel till the Son of man be come.

24 The [w] disciple is not above his master, nor the servant above his lord.

25 It is enough for the disciple that he be as his master, and the servant as his lord. If [x] they have called the master of the house [5] Beelzebub, how much more shall they call them of his household?

26 Fear them not therefore: for [y] there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; and hid, that shall not be known.

27 What I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light: and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the house-tops.

28 And [c] fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.

29 Are not two sparrows sold for a [6] farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father.

30 But [e] the very hairs of your head are all numbered.

31 Fear ye not therefore; ye are of more value than many sparrows.

32 Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him [i] will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven.

33 But [j] whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven.

34 Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: [a] I came not to send peace, but a sword.

35 For I am come to set a man at variance [c] against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.

36 And [d] a man's foes shall be they of his own household.

37 He [f] that loveth father or mother more than me, is not worthy of me: and he that loveth son or daughter more than me, is not worthy of me.

38 And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me.

39 He [j] that findeth his life, shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake, shall find it.

40 He [k] that receiveth you, receiveth me; and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me.

41 He [n] that receiveth a prophet in the name of a prophet, shall receive a prophet's reward; and he that receiveth a righteous man in the name of a righteous man, shall receive a righteous man's reward.

42 And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward.

CHAP. XI.

AND it came to pass, when Jesus had made an end of commanding his twelve disciples, he departed thence, to teach and to preach in their cities.

2 Now [u] when John had heard in the prison the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples.

3 And said unto him, Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another?

4 Jesus answered and said unto them, Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see:

5 The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them.

6 And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended [y] in me.

7 And, as they departed, Jesus began to say unto the multitudes concerning John, What [a] went ye out into the wilderness to see? a reed shaken with the [b] wind?

8 But what went ye out for to see? a man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they that wear soft clothing are in kings' houses.

9 But what went ye out for to see? a prophet? yea, I say unto you, and more than a prophet.

10 For this is he of whom it is [g] written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verily I say unto you, among [j] them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist: notwithstanding, [b] he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

12 And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven [l] suffereth violence, and the violent take [d] it by force.

13 For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John.

14 And if ye will receive it, this is Elias, which [g] was for to come.

15 He [h] that hath ears to hear, let him hear

16 But [i] whereunto shall I liken this generation? It is like unto children sitting in the markets, and calling unto their fellows,

17 And saying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced; we have mourned unto you, and ye have not lamented.

18 For John came neither eating nor drinking; and they say, [l] He hath a devil.

19 The Son of man came eating [m] and drinking; and they say, Behold a man gluttonous, and a wine-bibber, a friend of publicans [o] and sinners. But [p] Wisdom is justified of her children.

20 Then [q] began he to upbraid the cities wherein most of his mighty works were done, because they repented not:

21 Woe unto thee, Chorazin! woe unto thee, [r] Bethsaida! for if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 But I say unto you, It [s] shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment, than for you.

23 And thou, Capernaum, which [t] art exalted unto heaven, shalt be brought down to hell: for if the mighty works which have been done in thee had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day.

24 But I say unto you, That [v] it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment, than for thee.

25 At [w] that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. [x]

26 Even so, Father: for so it seemed good in thy sight.

27 All [z] things are delivered unto me of my Father: and no man knoweth the Son but the Father; neither [c] knoweth any man the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him.

28 Come unto me all ye that labour [d] and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest

29 Take my yoke upon you, and learn [e] of me; for I am meek and lowly [f] in heart: and [h] ye shall find rest unto your souls.

30 For my yoke is easy, [i] and my burden is light.

disciples were an hungred, and began to pluck [a] the ears of corn, and to eat.

2 But when the Pharisees saw it, they said unto him, Behold, thy disciples do that which is not lawful to do [b] upon the sabbath-day.

3 But he said unto them, Have ye not read what David did [c] when he was an hungred, and they that were with him;

4 How he entered into the house of God, and did eat the shew-bread, [d] which was not lawful for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but only [e] for the priests?

5 Or have ye not read in the law, [f] how that on the sabbath-days the priests in the temple [g] profane the sabbath, and are blameless?

6 But I say unto you, that in this place is one greater [h] than the temple.

7 But if ye had known what this meaneth, [i] I will have mercy, and not sacrifice, ye would not have condemned the guiltless.

8 For the Son of man is Lord even of the sabbath-day.

9 And [k] when he was departed thence, he went into their synagogue:

10 And, behold, there was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is [l] it lawful to heal on the sabbath-days? that they might accuse him.

11 And he said unto them, What man shall there be among you that shall have one sheep, and [m] if it fall into a pit on the sabbath-day, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out?

12 How much then is a man better than a sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the sabbath-days.

13 Then saith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth; and it was restored whole, like as the other.

14 Then the Pharisees went out, and held [2] a council against him, how they might destroy him.

15 But when Jesus knew it, he withdrew himself from thence: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all;

16 And charged them that they should not make him known:

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophet, [x] saying,

18 Behold my servant, whom I have chosen; my beloved, in whom my soul is well pleased: I will put my spirit upon him, and he shall shew judgment to the Gentiles.

19 He shall not strive, nor cry; neither shall any man hear his voice in the streets.

20 A bruised reed shall he not break, and smoking flax shall he not quench, till he send forth judgment unto victory.

21 And in his name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 Then [c] was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw.

23 And all the people were amazed; and said, Is not this the son of David?

24 But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by [1] Beelzebub the prince of the devils.

25 And Jesus knew their [d] thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand:

26 And if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand?

27 And if I by Beelzebub [h] cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your judges.

28 But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom [k] of God is come unto you.

29 Or else how can one enter into a strong man's house, and spoil [m] his goods, except he first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house.

30 He that is not with me, is against me; [o] and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth abroad.

31 Wherefore I say unto you, All [p] manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men; but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost [r] shall not be forgiven unto men.

32 And whosoever speaketh a word against the Son of man, [t] it shall be forgiven him: but whosoever speaketh against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good; or else make the tree corrupt, and his fruit corrupt: for [u] the tree is known by his fruit.

34 O generation [v] of vipers! how can ye, being evil, speak good things? For out [w] of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things; and an evil man, out of the evil treasure, bringeth forth evil things.

36 But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account [y] thereof in the day of judgment:

37 For by thy words [z] thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

38 Then certain of the Scribes and of the Pharisees answered, saying, Master, we would see a sign [a] from thee.

39 But he answered and said unto them, An evil and adulterous [b] generation seeketh after [c] sign; and there shall no sign be given to it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas:

40 For [d] as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.

41 The men of Nineveh shall rise in judgment with this generation, and shall condemn [b] it: because they repented at [c] the preaching of Jonas; and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here.

42 The [d] queen of the south shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for she [e] came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and, behold, a greater than Solomon is here.

43 When [h] the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he [i] walketh through dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none.

44 Then he saith, I will return into my house, from whence I came out; and when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept, and garnished.

45 Then goeth he, and taketh with himself seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter in and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse [m] than the first. Even so shall it be also unto this wicked generation.

46 While he yet talked to the people, behold, his [n] mother and his brethren [o] stood without, desiring to speak with him.

47 Then one said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to speak with thee.

48 But he answered and said unto him that told him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren?

49 And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, and said, Behold my mother, and my brethren!

50 For whosoever shall do the will [t] of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother.

CHAP. XIII.

THE same day went Jesus out of the house, and sat by the sea-side.

2 And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that he went into a ship, [w] and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 And he spake many things unto them in parables, saying, Behold, [x] a sower went forth to sow:

4 And when he sowed, some seeds fell by the way-side, and the fowls came and devoured them up.

5 Some fell upon stony places, where they had not much earth; and forthwith they sprung up, because they had no deepness of earth:

6 And when the sun was up, they were scorched; and because they had no root, they withered away.

7 And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprung up, and choked them.

8 But other fell into good ground, and brought forth fruit, some an hundred-fold, some sixty-fold, some thirty-fold.

9 Who [a] hath ears to hear, let him hear.

10 And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables?

11 He answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to [d] know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given.

12 For [f] whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away, even that he hath.

13 Therefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing, see not; and hearing, they hear not, neither do they understand.

14 And in them is fulfilled the prophecy of Esaias, [j] which saith, By [k] hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceive:

15 For this people's heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull [l] of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.

16 But [p] blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear.

17 For verily I say unto you, that [q] many prophets and righteous men have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.

18 Hear [r] ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19 When any one heareth the word [s] of the kingdom, and understandeth it not, then cometh the wicked [u] one, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart. This is he which received seed by the way-side.

20 But he that received the seed into stony places, the same is he that heareth the word, and anon with joy [v] receiveth it:

21 Yet hath he not root in himself, but dureth for a while; for when tribulation or persecution ariseth because of the word, by and by he is offended. [y]

22 He also that received seed among the thorns, is he that heareth the word; and the care [z] of this world and the deceitfulness of riches [a] choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful.

23 But he that received seed into the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, [b] and bringeth forth, some an hundred-fold, some sixty, some thirty.

24 Another [c] parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good [d] seed in his field:

25 But while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 But when the blade was sprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 So the servants of the householder came and said unto him, Sir, didst not thou sow good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 He said unto them, An enemy hath done this. The servants said unto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them up?

29 But he said, Nay; lest while ye gather up the tares, ye root up also the wheat with them.

30 Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest [f] I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to [g] burn them: but gather the wheat [h] into my barn.

31 Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, The kingdom of heaven is like to a [k] grain of mustard-seed, which a man took and sowed in his field:

32 Which indeed is the least of all seeds; but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree,[l] so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof.

33 Another parable spake he unto them: The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures [1] of meal, till the whole was leavened.

34 All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; [p] and without a parable spake he not unto them;

35 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet,[q] saying, I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter things which have been kept [r] secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then Jesus sent the multitude away, and went into the house: and his disciples came unto him, saying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of the field.

37 He answered and said unto them, He that soweth the good seed is the Son of man:

38 The field is the world: [t] the good seed are the children of the kingdom; [u] but the tares are the children of the wicked [v] one.

39 The enemy that sowed them is the devil: the harvest is the end of the world; [x] and the reapers are the angels.[y]

40 As therefore the tares are gathered and burned in the fire; [z] so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all [3] things that offend, and [a] them which do iniquity;

42 And [b] shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there [d] shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

43 Then shall the righteous shine [e] forth as the sun, in the kingdom of their Father Who hath ears to hear, let him hear.

44 Again: the kingdom of heaven is like unto treasure [a] hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and selleth [b] all that he hath, and buyeth [c] that field.

45 Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto a merchantman, seeking goodly pearls;

46 Who, when he had found one [d] pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had, and bought it.

47 Again: the kingdom of heaven is like unto a net, that was cast into the sea, and gathered [e] of every kind:

48 Which, when it was full, they drew to shore, and sat down, and gathered the good into vessels, but cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and [h] sever the wicked from among the just;

50 And [j] shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth.

51 Jesus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then said he unto them, Therefore every scribe which is instructed unto the kingdom of heaven, is like unto a man that is an householder, which bringeth forth out [m] of his treasure things new and old.[n]

53 And it came to pass, that when Jesus had finished these parables, he departed thence.

54 And [o] when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said, Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works?

55 Is not this the carpenter's son? Is not his mother called Mary? and his brethren, James, and Joses, and Simon, and Judas?

56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this man all these things?

57 And they were offended [s] in him. But Jesus said unto them, A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house.

58 And he did not many mighty works there, because of their unbelief.

CHAP. XIV.

AT that time [w] Herod the tetrarch heard of the fame of Jesus;

2 And said unto his servants, This is John the Baptist: he is risen from the dead; and therefore mighty [2] works do shew forth themselves in him.

3 For Herod had laid hold on John, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife

4 For John said unto him, It [c] is not lawful for thee to have her.

5 And when he would have put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a [a] prophet.

6 But when Herod's birthday was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced [1] before them, and pleased Herod.

7 Whereupon he promised with an oath to give her whatsoever she would ask.

8 And she, being before instructed of her mother, said, Give me here John Baptist's [d] head in a charger.

9 And the king was sorry: [e] nevertheless, for the oath's [f] sake, and them which sat with him at meat, he commanded it to be given her.

10 And he sent, and beheaded John in the prison.

11 And his head was brought in a charger, and given to the damsel: and she brought it to her mother

12 And his disciples came and took up the body, and buried [k] it, and went and told Jesus.

13 When Jesus heard of it, he [m] departed thence by ship into a desert place apart: and when the people had heard thereof, they followed him on foot out of the cities.

14 And Jesus went forth, and [o] saw a great multitude, and was moved with compassion [p] toward them, and he healed their sick.

15 And when it was evening, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is now past; send the multitude away, that they may go into the villages, and buy themselves victuals.

16 But Jesus said unto them, They need not depart; give ye them to eat.

17 And they say unto him, We have here but five loaves, and two fishes.

18 He said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And he commanded the multitude to sit down on the grass; and took the five loaves and the two fishes, and, looking up to heaven, he blessed, and brake; and gave the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the fragments that remained twelve baskets full. [w]

21 And they that had eaten were about five thousand men, beside women and children.

22 And straightway Jesus constrained his disciples to get into a ship, and to go before him unto the other side, while he sent the multitudes away.

23 And when he had sent the multitudes away, he [z] went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone.

24 But the ship was now in the midst of the sea, tossed with waves: for the wind was contrary.

25 And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went unto them, walking on the sea.

26 And [c] when the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, [d] saying It is a spirit; and they cried out for fear.

27 But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be [b] of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid.

28 And Peter answered him and said, Lord, if it [c] be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water.

29 And he said, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Jesus.

30 But when he saw the wind [2] boisterous, he was afraid; and beginning to sink, he cried, saying, Lord, save me! [g]

31 And immediately [h] Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didst thou doubt? [i]

32 And when they were come into the ship, the wind ceased. [j]

33 Then they that were in the ship came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Son of God. [l]

34 And [n] when they were gone over, they came into the land of Gennesaret.

35 And when the men of that place had knowledge of him, they sent out into all that country round about, and brought unto him all that were diseased;

36 And besought him that they might only touch the hem [q] of his garment: and as many [r] as touched were made perfectly whole.

CHAP. XV.

THEN [s] came to Jesus Scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

2 Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.

3 But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition? [t]

4 For God commanded, saying, [u] Honour thy father and mother: and, He [v] that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, Whosoever shall say to his father, or his mother, It is a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me,

6 And honour not [z] his father or his mother, he shall be free. Thus have ye made the commandment of God of none effect by your tradition.

7 Ye hypocrites! well did Esaias propnesy of you, saying,

8 This [y] people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips: but their heart is far from me.

9 But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines [a] the commandments of men.

10 And he called the multitude, and said unto them, Hear, and understand:

11 Not [b] that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man.

12 Then came his disciples, and said unto him, Knowest thou that the Pharisees were offended, after they heard this saying?

13 But he answered and said, Every plant [a] which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone: they [c] be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 Then answered Peter, and said unto him, Declare unto us this parable.

16 And Jesus said, Are ye also yet without understanding?

17 Do not ye yet understand, that whatsoever entereth in at the mouth [e] goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man.

19 For [g] out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies:

20 These are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man.

21 Then [i] Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon.

22 And, behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of David! [k] my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil.

23 But he answered her not a word. [l] And his disciples came, and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us.

24 But he answered and said, [m] I am not sent, but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

25 Then came she, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me!

26 But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs.[o]

27 And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.

28 Then [r] Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be [s] it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very [t] hour.

29 And [v] Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there.

30 And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them; [y]

31 Insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 Then [z] Jesus called his disciples unto him, and said, I have compassion on the multitude, because they continue with me now three days, and have nothing to eat: and I will not send them away fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 And [b] his disciples say unto him, Whence should we have so much bread in the wilderness, as to fill so great a multitude?

34 And Jesus saith unto them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven, and a few little fishes.

35 And [d] he commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground.

36 And he took the seven loaves and the fishes, and [f] gave thanks, and brake them, and gave to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eat, and were filled. and they took up of the broken meat that was left seven baskets full.

38 And they that did eat were four thousand men, beside women and children.

39 And he sent away the multitude, and took ship, and [h] came into the coasts of Magdala.

CHAP. XVI.

THE Pharisees also with the Sadducees came, and tempting, desired him that he would shew them a sign [j] from heaven.

2 He answered and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather; for the sky is red:

3 And in the morning, It will be foul weather to-day; for the sky is red and lowering. O ye hypocrites! ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times?

4 A wicked and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign be given unto it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas.[n] And he left them, and departed.

5 And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread.

6 Then Jesus said unto them, [p] Take heed, and beware of the leaven [q] of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees.

7 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we have taken no bread.

8 Which when Jesus perceived, he said unto them, [u] O ye of little faith, why reason ye among yourselves, because ye have brought no bread?

9 Do ye not yet understand, neither remember the five [w] loaves of the five thousand, and how many baskets ye took up?

10 Neither the seven [x] loaves of the four thousand, and how many baskets ye took up?

11 How is it that ye do not understand, that I spake it not to you concerning bread, that ye should beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees?

12 Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine [a] of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees.

13 When Jesus came into the coasts of Cesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom [a] do men say that I, the Son of man, am?

14 And they said, [b] Some say that thou art John the Baptist; some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.

15 He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am?

16 And Simon Peter answered and said, [c] Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

17 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for [d] flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but [e] my Father which is in heaven.

18 And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter; [f] and [g] upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates [h] of hell shall not prevail [m] against it.

19 And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou [n] shalt bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven.

20 Then [o] charged he his disciples, that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ.

21 From [q] that time forth began Jesus to shew unto his disciples, how that he must go unto Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised again the third day.

22 Then Peter took him, and began to rebuke him, saying, [l] Be it far from thee, Lord: this shall not be unto thee.

23 But he turned, and said unto Peter, Get thee behind me, Satan; [s] thou art an offence [u] unto me: for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but those that be of men.

24 Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any [v] man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.

25 For [w] whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake, shall find it.

26 For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or [x] what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

27 For [y] the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father, with his angels; and [z] then he shall reward every man according to his works.

28 Verily I say unto you, There [a] be some standing here which shall not taste [d] of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom.

CHAP. XVII.

AND [e] after six days Jesus taketh Peter, James, and John his brother, and bringeth them up into a high mountain apart,

2 And was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, [g] and his raiment was white as the light.

3 And, behold, there appeared unto them Moses and Elias, talking with him.

4 Then answered Peter, and said unto Jesus, Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

5 While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and, behold, a voice [d] out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in [e] whom I am well pleased; hear [g] ye him.

6 And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their face, and were sore afraid.

7 And Jesus came and touched [k] them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid.

8 And when they had lift up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only.

9 And as they came down from the mountain, Jesus charged them, saying, Tell the vision to no man, until the Son of man be risen again from the dead.

10 And his disciples asked him, saying Why [p] then say the scribes that Elias must first come?

11 And Jesus answered and said unto them, Elias truly shall first come, and restore all things.

12 But I say unto you, that Elias [c] is come already, and they knew him not, but have done unto him whatsoever they listed. Likewise shall also the Son of man suffer [r] of them.

13 Then the disciples understood that he spake unto them of John the Baptist.

14 And [t] when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man kneeling down to him, and saying,

15 Lord, have mercy on my son; for he is lunatic, and sore vexed: for oft-times he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not cure him.

17 Then Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation! how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? Bring him hither to me.

18 And Jesus rebuked the devil, and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that very hour.

19 Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: [b] for verily I say unto you, if [c] ye have faith as a grain of mustard-seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you.

21 Howbeit this kind goeth not out, but by prayer and fasting.

22 And [f] while they abode in Galilee, Jesus said unto them, The Son of man shall be betrayed into the hands of men;

23 And they shall kill him, and the third day he shall be raised again. And they were exceeding sorry.

24 And when they were come to Capernaum, they that received [1] tribute-money came to Peter, and said, Doth not your master pay tribute?

25 He saith, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Jesus prevented him, saying, What thinkest thou, Simon? of whom do the kings of the earth take custom or tribute? of their own children, or of strangers?

26 Peter saith unto him, Of strangers. Jesus saith unto him, Then are the children free.

27 Notwithstanding, lest we should offend [d] them, go thou to the sea, and cast a hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up; and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find [2] a piece of money; that take, and give unto them, for me and thee.

CHAP. XVIII.

AT [h] the same time came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?

2 And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them,

3 And said, Verily I say unto you, except ye be converted, [j] and become as little children, [k] ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

4 Whosoever therefore shall humble himself [m] as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

5 And whoso shall receive one such little [o] child in my name, receiveth me.

6 But whoso shall offend [p] one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 Woe unto the world because of offences! for [r] it must needs be that offences come; but [s] woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!

8 Wherefore, [t] if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than, having two hands or two feet, to be cast into everlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter [w] into life with one eye, rather than, having two eyes, [x] to be cast into hell-fire.

10 Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones; for I say unto you, that in heaven their angels [y] do always behold [z] the face of my Father which is in heaven.

11 For the Son of man is come to save [b] that which was lost.

12 How think ye? If [c] a man have a hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?

13 And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, He rejoiceth more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray.

14 Even so, it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven that one [a] of these little ones should perish.

15 Moreover, if [b] thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if [c] he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.

16 But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three [e] witnesses every word may be established.

17 And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let [f] him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican.

18 Verily I say unto you, [g] Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven.

19 Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it [i] shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven.

20 For where two or three are gathered together [l] in my name, there am I in the midst of them.

21 Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive [n] him? till seven times?

22 Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times; but, Until seventy times seven.

23 Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would take account [q] of his servants.

24 And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him which owed him ten thousand [3] talents:

25 But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be [u] sold, and his wife and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made.

26 The servant therefore fell down, and worshipped [4] him, saying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, [v] and loosed him, and forgave him the debt.

28 But the same servant went out, and found one of his fellow-servants which owed him an hundred [5] pence; and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 And his fellow-servant fell down at his feet, and besought him, saying, [a] Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all.

30 And he would not; but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 So when his fellow-servants saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came and told unto their lord all that was done.
32 Then his lord, after that he had called him, said unto him, O thou wicked servant, [c] I forgave thee all that debt, because thou desiredst me:
33 Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellow-servant, even as I had pity on thee?
34 And his lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he should pay all that was due unto him.
35 So [e] likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses.

CHAP. XIX.

AND it came to pass, that when Jesus had finished these sayings, he [g] departed from Galilee, and came into the coasts of Judea beyond Jordan:
2 And great multitudes followed him; and he healed them there.
3 The Pharisees also came unto him, tempting him, and saying unto him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?
4 And he answered and said unto them, Have ye not read, that [k] he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female?
5 And said, For [l] this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife; and they twain shall be one flesh.
6 Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What [n] therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder.
7 They say unto him, Why [o] did Moses then command to give a writing of divorcement, and to put her away?
8 He saith unto them, Moses, because of the hardness of your hearts, suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so.
9 And I say unto you, Whosoever [r] shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery.
10 His disciples say unto him, If the case of the man be so with his wife, it is not good to marry. [t]
11 But he said unto them, All men cannot receive this saying, save they to whom it is given.
12 For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mothers' womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's [x] sake. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it.
13 Then were there brought unto him little children, that he should put his hands on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them.
14 But Jesus said, Suffer [a] little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me; for of such [b] is the kingdom of heaven.
15 And he laid his hands on them, and departed thence.
16 And behold, one came, and said unto him, Good Master, what [d] good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?
17 And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments.
18 He saith unto him, Which? Jesus said, Thou shalt [f] do no murder, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness;
19 Honour thy father and thy mother; and, Thou [h] shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
20 The young man saith unto him, All these things have I kept from my youth up: what lack I yet?
21 Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go [i] and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come and follow [j] me.
22 But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.
23 Then said Jesus unto his disciples, Verily I say unto you, that [m] a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven.
24 And again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.
25 When his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?
26 But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but [p] with God all things are possible.
27 Then [q] answered Peter, and said unto him, Behold, we have forsaken all [s] and followed thee: what shall we have therefore?
28 And Jesus said unto them, Verily I say unto you, that ye which have followed me, in the regeneration, when the Son of man shall sit in the throne of his glory, ye [u] also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.
29 And [v] every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my name's sake, shall receive an hundred-fold, and shall inherit everlasting life.
30 But [w] many that are first shall be last; and the last shall be first.

2 And when he had agreed with the labourers for a penny [a] a-day, he sent them into his vineyard.

3 And he went out about the third hour, and saw others standing idle in the marketplace,

4 And said unto them, Go ye also into the vineyard, and whatsoever is right, I will give you. And they went their way.

5 Again he went out about the sixth and ninth hour, and did likewise.

6 And about the eleventh hour he went out, and found others standing idle, and saith unto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle? [d]

7 They say unto him, Because no man hath hired us. He saith unto them, [e] Go ye also into the vineyard; and whatsoever is right, that shall ye receive.

8 So when even was come, the lord of the vineyard saith unto his steward, Call the labourers, and [g] give them their hire, beginning from the last unto the first.

9 And when they came that were hired about the eleventh [j] hour, they received every man a penny.

10 But when the first came, they supposed that they should have received more; and they likewise received every man a penny.

11 And when they had received it, they murmured [m] against the good man of the house,

12 Saying, These last [l] have wrought but one hour, and thou hast made them equal unto us, which have borne the burden and heat of the day.

13 But he answered one of them, and said, Friend, [o] I do thee no wrong: didst not thou agree with me for a penny?

14 Take that thine is, and go thy way: [p] I will give unto this last even as unto thee.

15 Is [q] it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own? Is [r] thine eye evil because I am good?

16 So [s] the last shall be first, and the first last. for [t] many be called, but few chosen.

17 And [u] Jesus going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples apart in the way, and said unto them,

18 Behold, we go up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man shall be betrayed unto the chief priests and unto the scribes, and they shall condemn him to death,

19 And [w] shall deliver him to the Gentiles, to mock, and to scourge, [x] and to crucify him: and the third day he shall rise again.

20 Then [y] came to him the mother of Zebedee's children, with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him.

21 And he said unto her, What wilt thou? She saith unto him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdom.

22 But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and to be baptized with the [b] baptism that I am baptized with? They say unto him, We are able.

23 And he saith unto them, Ye [c] shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with; but to sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation against the two brethren.

25 But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Ye [f] know that the princes of the Gentiles exercise dominion over them, and they that are great exercise authority upon them.

26 But it shall not be [h] so among you: but [i] whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister;

27 And whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant:

28 Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but [k] to minister, and [l] to give his life a ransom for many.

29 And as they departed from Jericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And, [n] behold, two blind men, sitting by the way-side, when they heard that Jesus passed by, cried out, saying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, thou Son of David!

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should hold their peace: but they cried the more, saying, Have mercy on us, O Lord, thou Son of David!

32 And Jesus stood still, and called them, and said, What will ye that I shall do unto you?

33 They say unto him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 So Jesus had compassion on them, and touched their eyes: and immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed him.

CHAP. XXI.

AND [v] when they drew nigh unto Jerusalem, and were come to Bethphage, unto the mount of Olives, then sent Jesus two disciples,

2 Saying unto them, Go into the village over against you, and straightway ye shall find an ass tied, and a colt with her: loose them, and bring them unto me.

3 And if any man say aught unto you, ye shall say, The Lord hath need of them; and straightway he will send them.

4 All this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, [z] saying,

5 Tell ye the daughter of Sion, [a] Behold, thy King cometh unto thee, meek, and sitting upon an ass and a colt the foal of an ass.

A. D. 33.

6 And the disciples went, and did as Jesus commanded them,

7 And brought the ass, and the colt, and put on them their clothes, and they set him thereon.

8 And a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 And the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed [b] is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest! [c]

10 And when he was come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying, Who is this?

11 And the multitude said, This is Jesus, the prophet of Nazareth of Galilee.

12 And [e] Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, and the seats of them that sold doves;

13 And said unto them, It is [g] written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of [h] thieves.

14 And the blind and the lame came to him in the temple; and [i] he healed them.

15 And when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that he did, and the children crying in the temple, and saying, Hosanna [l] to the son of David! they were sore displeased,

16 And said unto him, Hearest thou what these say? And Jesus saith unto them, Yea: have ye never read, Out [o] of the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise?

17 And he left them, and went out of the city into Bethany; and he lodged there.

18 Now in the morning, as he returned into the city, he hungered.

19 And [r] when he saw [t] a fig-tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaves only, and said unto it, Let no fruit grow on thee henceforward forever. And presently the fig-tree withered [s] away.

20 And when the disciples saw it, they marvelled, saying, How soon is the fig-tree withered away!

21 Jesus answered and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, If [t] ye have faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only do this which is done to the fig-tree, but also if ye shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, [w] and be thou cast into the sea, it shall be done.

22 And all things whatsoever ye shall ask [x] in prayer, believing, ye shall receive.

23 And [y] when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By [b] what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?

24 And Jesus answered and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I in likewise will tell you by what authority I do these things.

25 The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say unto us, Why did ye not then believe him?

26 But if we shall say, Of men, we fear the people; for [a] all hold John as a prophet.

27 And they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

28 But what think ye? A certain [d] man had two sons; and he came to the first, and said, Son, go work to-day in my vineyard.

29 He answered and said, I will not; but afterward [f] he repented, and went.

30 And he came to the second, and said likewise. And he answered and said, I go, sir; and went not.

31 Whether of them twain did the will of his father? They say unto him, The first. Jesus saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, that the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you.

32 For John came unto you in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not; but the publicans [j] and the harlots [k] believed him: and ye, when ye had seen it, repented not [m] afterward, that ye might believe him.

33 Hear another parable: There was a certain householder, which [n] planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and digged a wine-press in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country:

34 And when the time of the fruit drew near, he sent his servants [p] to the husbandmen, that they might receive the fruits of it.

35 And [q] the husbandmen took his servants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Again, he sent other servants more than the first: and they did unto them likewise.

37 But, last of all, he sent unto them his son, saying, They will reverence my son.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the son, they said among themselves, This is the heir: [u] come, let us kill him, and let us seize on his inheritance.

39 And they [v] caught him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When the Lord therefore of the vineyard cometh, what will he do unto those husbandmen?

41 They say unto him, He will miserably destroy [z] those wicked men, and let out his vineyard unto other [a] husbandmen, which shall render him the fruits in their seasons.

42 Jesus saith unto them, Did ye never read in the scriptures, The [c] stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner: this is the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes?

43 Therefore say I unto you, The kingdom [a] of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation [b] bringing forth the fruits thereof.

44 And whosoever shall fall [c] on this stone shall be broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it [d] will grind him to powder.

45 And when the chief priests and Pharisees had heard his parables, they perceived that he spake of them.

46 But when they sought to lay hands on him, they feared the multitude, because they [f] took him for a prophet.

CHAP. XXII.

AND Jesus answered and spake unto them again in parables, and said,

2 The [h] kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king, which made a [j] marriage for his son.

3 And [l] sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the wedding: and they would not come.

4 Again, he sent forth other servants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come unto the marriage.

5 But they made light [n] of it, and went their ways, one to his farm, and another to his merchandise:

6 And the remnant took his servants, and entreated [o] them spitefully, and slew them.

7 But when the king heard thereof, he was wroth: and he sent forth his armies, and destroyed [p] those murderers, and burnt up their city.

8 Then saith he to his servants, The wedding is ready, but they which were bidden were not worthy. [r]

9 Go ye therefore into the highways; and as many as ye shall find, bid to the marriage.

10 So those servants went out into the *high*ways, and gathered together all, [t] as many as they found, both bad and good: and the wedding was furnished with guests.

11 And when the king came in to [v] see the guests, he saw there a man which had not on a wedding [w] garment:

12 And he saith unto him, Friend, how camest thou in hither, not having a wedding garment? And he was [y] speechless.

13 Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him [a] away, and cast him into outer darkness: [b] there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 For [c] many are called, but few are chosen.

15 Then [e] went the Pharisees, and took counsel how they might entangle him in his talk.

16 And they sent out unto him their disciples, with the Herodians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carest thou for any man; for thou regardest not the person of men.

17 Tell us therefore, What thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Cesar, or not?

18 But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew me the tribute-money. And they brought unto him a [1] penny.

20 And he saith unto them, Whose is this image and [2] superscription?

21 They say unto him, Cesar's. Then saith he unto them, Render [e] therefore unto Cesar the things which are Cesar's, and unto God [g] the things that are God's.

22 When they had heard these words, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.

23 The [i] same day came to him the Sadducees, which [k] say that there is no resurrection, and asked him,

24 Saying, Master, Moses said, If [m] a man die, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

25 Now there were with us seven brethren: and the first, when he had married a wife, deceased, and, having no issue, left his wife unto his brother:

26 Likewise the second also, and the third, unto the [3] seventh.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seven? for they all had her.

29 Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not [q] knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels [s] of God in heaven.

31 But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God, saying,

32 I [u] am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.

33 And when the multitude heard this, they were astonished [x] at his doctrine.

34 But when the Pharisees had heard that he had put the Sadducees to silence, they were gathered together.

35 Then [z] one of them, which was a lawyer, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,

36 Master, which is the great commandment in the law?

37 Jesus said unto him, Thou [d] shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.

38 This is the first and great commandment.

39 And the second is like unto it, [f] Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself

40 On these two commandments [a] hang all the law and the prophets.

41 While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them,

42 Saying, What [c] think ye of Christ? whose son is he? They say unto him, The Son of David.

43 He saith unto them, How then doth David in spirit call him [d] Lord? saying,

44 The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

45 If David then call him Lord, how is he his son?

46 And [f] no man was able to answer him a word; neither [g] durst any man, from that day forth, ask him any more questions.

CHAP. XXIII.

THEN spake Jesus to the multitude, and to his disciples,

2 Saying, The [j] scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat:

3 All therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do; but do not ye after their works: for [l] they say, and do not.

4 For they bind heavy burdens, [m] and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers.

5 But [o] all their works they do for to be seen of men: they make broad their phylacteries, [p] and enlarge the borders of their garments,

6 And [r] love the uppermost rooms at feasts, and the chief seats in the synagogues,

7 And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi.

8 But [s] be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren.

9 And call no man your Father upon the earth: for one is your [u] Father, which is in heaven.

10 Neither be ye called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ.

11 But [v] he that is greatest among you, shall be your servant.

12 And [w] whosoever shall exalt himself, shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself, shall be exalted.

13 But woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in 14 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye devour widows' houses, [a] and for a pretence make long prayer: therefore ye shall receive the greater damnation.

15 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte; and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child [e] of hell than yourselves.

16 Woe unto you, ye blind [g] guides, which say, Whosoever shall swear by the temple, it is nothing; but whosoever shall swear by the gold of the temple, he is a debtor.

17 Ye fools, [b] and blind! for whether is greater, the gold, or the temple that sanctifieth the gold?

18 And, Whosoever shall swear by the altar, it is nothing; but whosoever sweareth by the gift that is upon it, he is [1] guilty.

19 Ye fools, and blind! for whether is greater, the gift, or the altar that sanctifieth [e] the gift?

20 Whoso therefore shall swear by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon.

21 And whoso shall swear by the temple, sweareth by it, and by him [h] that dwelleth therein.

22 And he that shall swear by heaven, sweareth by the throne [i] of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.

23 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for [k] ye pay tithe of mint, and anise, [2] and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters [m] of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.

24 Ye blind guides! which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel.

25 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for [p] ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess.

26 Thou blind Pharisee! cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also.

27 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are like unto [t] whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness.

28 Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity.

29 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! because ye build the tombs of the prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous,

30 And say, If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.

31 Wherefore ye be witnesses unto yourselves, that ye are the children of them which killed [z] the prophets.

32 Fill [y] ye up then the measure of your fathers.

33 Ye serpents, ye generation [z] of vipers! how can ye escape the damnation of hell?

34 Wherefore, behold, I send unto you prophets, and wise men, and scribes: and some of them ye shall kill [b] and crucify; and some of them shall ye scourge [c] in your synagogues, and persecute them from city [d] to city:

35 That [f] upon you may come all the righteous blood shed upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel [a] unto the blood of Zacharias [b] son of Barachias, whom ye slew between the temple and the altar.

36 Verily I say unto you, All these things shall come upon this generation.

37 O [d] Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets, and stonest them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered [e] thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!

38 Behold, your house is left unto you desolate.[g]

39 For I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, [h] Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIV.

AND [k] Jesus went out, and departed from the temple: and his disciples came to him for to shew him the buildings of the temple.

2 And Jesus said unto them, See ye not all these things? Verily I say unto you, There [o] shall not be left here one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.

3 And as he sat upon the mount of Olives, the disciples came unto him privately, saying, Tell us, when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world? [q]

4 And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take [s] heed that no man deceive you.

5 For many shall come in my [t] name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many.

6 And ye shall hear of wars, [v] and rumours of wars: see that ye be not troubled: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet.

7 For [x] nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom: and there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places.

8 All these are the beginning of sorrows.

9 Then [a] shall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill [b] you: and ye shall be hated of all nations for my name's sake.

10 And then shall many be [c] offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

11 And [g] many false prophets shall rise, and shall deceive [h] many.

12 And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax [j] cold.

13 But [k] he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved.

14 And this gospel of the kingdom shall be [l] preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come.

15 When ye, therefore, shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken [o] of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place, (whoso readeth, let him understand:)

16 Then let them which be in Judea flee into the mountains:

17 Let him which is on the house-top not come down to take any thing out of his house.

18 Neither let him which is in the field return back to take his clothes.

19 And [o] woe unto them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days!

20 But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the sabbath-day:

21 For [f] then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be.

22 And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but [i] for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened.

23 Then [j] if any man shall say unto you, Lo, here is Christ, or there; believe it not.

24 For [l] there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and [m] shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, if [n] it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect.

25 Behold, I have told you before.

26 Wherefore if they shall say unto you, Behold, he is in the desert; go not forth: Behold, he is in the secret chambers; believe it not.

27 For as the lightning [p] cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.

28 For [r] wheresoever the carcass is, there will the eagles be gathered together.

29 Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall [u] the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens [w] shall be shaken.

30 And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man [y] in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and [z] they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory.

31 And he shall send his angels [1] with a great sound [c] of a trumpet; and they shall gather together his elect [d] from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

32 Now [f] learn a parable of the fig-tree: When his branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is nigh:

33 So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that it [2] is near, even [i] at the doors.

34 Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass till all these things be fulfilled.

35 Heaven [m] and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away.

36 But [n] of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only.

37 But as the days of Noe were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.

38 For as in the days that were before the flood; they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until [p]

the day that Noe entered into the ark,
39 And knew not, until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.
40 Then shall two be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left.
41 Two women shall be grinding at the mill; the one shall be taken, and the other left.
42 Watch [c] therefore; for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come.
43 But know this, that if the good man of the house had known in what watch the thief would come, he would have watched, and would not have suffered his house to be broken up.
44 Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh.
45 Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them [h] meat in due season? [i]
46 Blessed is that servant, whom his lord, when he cometh, shall find so doing.
47 Verily I say unto you, that he shall make him ruler [k] over all his goods.
48 But and if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming;
49 And shall begin to smite his fellow-servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken;
50 The lord of that servant shall come in a day [m] when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not aware of.
51 And shall [2] cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there [o] shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

CHAP. XXV.

THEN shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, [p] which took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom. [q]
2 And [r] five of them were wise, and five were foolish.
3 They that were foolish took their lamps, and took no [s] oil with them:
4 But the wise took oil [t] in their vessels with their lamps.
5 While the bridegroom tarried, they all [u] slumbered [v] and slept.
6 And at midnight [w] there was a [y] cry made, Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out [z] to meet him.
7 Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lamps.
8 And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil; for our lamps are gone [3] out. [a]
9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so; lest there be not enough for us and you: but go ye rather [d] to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.
10 And [e] while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. [a]
11 Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, [b] Lord, Lord, open to us.
12 But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I [c] know you not.
13 Watch [d] therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh.
14 For [f] the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods.
15 And unto one he gave five [1] talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; [g] and straightway took his journey.
16 Then he that had received the five talents, went, and traded with the same, and made them other five talents.
17 And likewise he that had received two, he also gained other two.
18 But he that had received one, went, and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money.
19 After a long time, [j] the lord of those servants cometh, and reckoneth [l] with them.
20 And so he that had received five talents, came, and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me five talents; behold, I have gained besides them five talents more.
21 His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler [n] over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.
22 He also that had received two talents, came, and said, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me two talents: behold, I have gained two other talents beside them.
23 His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.
24 Then he which had received the one talent, came, and said, Lord, I knew thee that thou art an hard [u] man, reaping where thou hast not [w] sown, and gathering where thou hast not strawed:
25 And I was afraid, [x] and went, and hid thy talent in the earth: lo, there thou hast that is thine.
26 His lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked [b] and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strawed:
27 Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury.
28 Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents.

29 For [a] unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away [b] even that which he hath.

30 And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: [d] there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 When [e] the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory:

32 And [f] before him shall be gathered all nations; and he shall separate [h] them one from another, as a shepherd [i] divideth his sheep from the goats:

33 And he shall set the sheep on his right [l] hand, but the goats on the left.

34 Then shall the king say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed [k] of my Father, [l] inherit the [m] kingdom [n] prepared for you from the foundation of the world:

35 For [o] I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, [p] and ye took me in:

36 Naked, [r] and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited [s] me: I was in prison, [u] and ye came unto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink?

38 When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee?

39 Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?

40 And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch [w] as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

41 Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart [y] from me, ye cursed, into [a] everlasting fire, [b] prepared for the devil and his angels:

42 For I was an hungered, and ye gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink:

43 I was a stranger, and ye took me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

44 Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee?

45 Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch [c] as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me.

46 And [d] these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal.

3 Then assembled together the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders of the people, unto the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas,

4 And [c] consulted that they might take Jesus by subtilty, and kill him.

5 But they said, Not on the feast day, lest there be an uproar among the people.

6 Now when Jesus was in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper,

7 There [g] came unto him a woman having an alabaster box of very precious ointment, and poured it on his head, as he sat at meat.

8 But when his disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, To what purpose is this waste?

9 For this ointment might have been sold for much, and given to the poor.

10 When Jesus understood it, he said unto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for she hath wrought a good work upon me.

11 For [q] ye have the poor always with you; but [s] me ye have not always.

12 For in that she hath poured this ointment on my body, she did it for my burial.

13 Verily I say unto you, Wheresoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world, there shall also this, that this woman hath done, be told for a memorial of her.

14 Then one [v] of the twelve, called Judas Iscariot, went unto the chief priests,

15 And said unto them, What will ye give me, and I will deliver him unto you? And they [x] covenanted with him for thirty pieces of silver.

16 And from that time he sought opportunity to betray him.

17 Now [z] the first day of the feast of unleavened bread, the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover?

18 And he said, Go into the city to such a man, and say unto him, The Master saith, My time is at hand; I will keep the passover at thy house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them; and they made ready the passover.

20 Now when the even was come, he sat down with the twelve.

21 And as they did eat, he said, Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowful, and began every one of them to say unto him, Lord, is it I?

23 And he answered and said, [e] He that dippeth his hand with me in the dish, the same shall betray me.

24 The Son of man goeth as it is written [f] of him: but woe unto that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! it had been good for that man if he had not been born.

25 Then Judas, which betrayed him, answered and said, Master, is it I? He said unto him, Thou hast said.

26 And [a] as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and [1] blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body.

27 And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it:

28 For this is my blood of the new testament, [c] which is shed for many for the remission of sins.

29 But I say unto you, I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine, until that day when I drink it new with you in my Father's kingdom.[e]

30 And when they had sung an [2] hymn, they went out into the Mount of Olives.

31 Then saith Jesus unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, [h] I will smite the Shepherd, and the sheep of the flock shall be scattered abroad.

32 But after I am risen again, [i] I will go before you into Galilee.

33 Peter answered and said unto him, Though all men shall be offended because of thee, yet will I never be offended.

34 Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, that this night, before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.

35 Peter said unto him, Though I should die with thee, yet will I not deny thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 Then [m] cometh Jesus with them unto a place called Gethsemane, and saith unto the disciples, Sit ye here, while I go and pray yonder.

37 And he took with him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy.

38 Then saith he unto them, My [o] soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death: tarry ye here, and watch with me.

39 And he went a little farther, and fell on his face, and [q] prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup [r] pass from me! nevertheless, [s] not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saith unto Peter, What! could ye not watch with me one hour?

41 Watch, [t] and pray, that ye [u] enter not into temptation: [w] the spirit [x] indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.

42 He went away again the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, thy will be done.

43 And he came and found them asleep again: for their eyes were heavy.

44 And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third [b] time, saying the same words.

45 Then cometh he to his disciples, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest; behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let us be going: behold, he is at hand that doth betray me.

47 And while he yet spake, lo, [b] Judas, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great multitude, with swords and staves, from the chief priests and elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him gave them a sign, [d] saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is he: hold him fast.

49 And forthwith he came to Jesus, and said, Hail, Master; and kissed [f] him.

50 And Jesus said unto him, [g] Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they and laid hands on Jesus, and took him.

51 And, behold, one of them which were with Jesus stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and struck a servant of the high priest, and smote off his ear.

52 Then said Jesus unto him, Put up again thy sword into his place: for [j] all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword.

53 Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of [k] angels?

54 But how then shall the scriptures be fulfilled, that [l] thus it must be?

55 In that same hour said Jesus to the multitudes, Are ye come out, as against a thief, with swords and staves for to take me? I sat daily with you teaching in the temple, and ye laid no hold on me.

56 But all this was done, that the scriptures [n] of the prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples forsook him, and fled.

57 And [p] they that had laid hold on Jesus led him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.

58 But Peter followed him afar off, unto the high priest's palace, and went in, and sat with the servants, to see the end.

59 Now the chief priests and elders, and all the council, sought false witness against Jesus, to put him to death;

60 But found none: yea, though many false witnesses came, yet found they none. At the [y] last came two false witnesses,

61 And said, This fellow said, [z] I am able to destroy the temple of God, and to build it in three days.

62 And the high priest arose, and said unto him, Answerest thou nothing? What is it which these witness against thee?

63 But [a] Jesus held his peace. And the high priest answered and said unto him, I adjure [a] thee by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou be he Christ [c] the Son of God.

64 Jesus saith unto him, Thou hast said: nevertheless I say unto you, Hereafter [a] shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand [c] of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven.

65 Then the high priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath spoken blasphemy; what further need have we of witnesses? behold, now ye have heard his blasphemy.

66 What think ye? They answered and said, He is guilty of death.[d]

67 Then [e] did they spit in his face, and buffeted him; and others smote him with [2] the palms of their hands,

68 Saying, Prophesy unto us, thou Christ, who is he that smote thee?

69 Now [g] Peter sat without in the palace: and a damsel came unto him, saying, Thou also wast with Jesus of Galilee.

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I know not what thou sayest.

71 And when he was gone out into the porch, another maid saw him, and said unto them that were there, This fellow was also with Jesus of Nazareth.

72 And again he denied with an oath, I do not know the man.

73 And after a while came unto him they that stood by, and said to Peter, Surely thou also art one of them; for thy speech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to curse and to swear, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cock crew.

75 And Peter remembered the [k] word of Jesus, which said unto him, Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice. And he went out, and wept bitterly.

CHAP. XXVII.

WHEN the morning was come, all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel [m] against Jesus to put him to death.

2 And when they had bound him, they led him away, and delivered him [n] to Pontius Pilate the governor.

3 Then Judas, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders,

4 Saying, I have sinned, in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. [q] And they said, What is that to us? See thou to that.

5 And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, and departed, and went and hanged [s] himself.

6 And the chief priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawful for to put them into the treasury, because it is the price of blood.

7 And they took counsel, and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in.

8 Wherefore that field was called, The field of blood unto this day.

9 (Then was fulfilled that which was spoken [b] by Jeremy the prophet, saying, And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of him that was valued, [1] whom they of the children of Israel did value;

10 And gave them for the potter's field, as the Lord appointed me.)

11 And Jesus stood before the governor: and the governor asked him, saying, Art thou the king of the Jews? And Jesus said unto him, Thou sayest.

12 And when he was accused of the chief priests and elders, he answered [f] nothing.

13 Then saith Pilate unto him, Hearest thou not how many things they witness against thee?

14 And he answered him to never a word; insomuch that the governor marvelled greatly.

15 Now [h] at that feast the governor was wont to release unto the people a prisoner, whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner, called Barabbas.

17 Therefore, when they were gathered together, Pilate said unto them, Whom will ye that I release unto you? Barabbas, or Jesus which is called Christ?

18 For he knew that for envy [i] they had delivered him.

19 When he was set down on the judgment-seat, his wife sent unto him, saying, Have thou nothing to do with that [j] just man; for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of him.

20 But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitude that they should ask [l] Barabbas, and destroy Jesus.

21 The governor answered and said unto them, Whether of the twain will ye that I release unto you? They said, Barabbas.

22 Pilate saith unto them, What shall I do then with Jesus, which is called Christ? They all say unto him, Let him be crucified.

23 And the governor said, Why, what evil hath he done? But they cried out the more, saying, Let [o] him be crucified.

24 When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his [p] hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it.

25 Then answered all the people, and said, His [r] blood be on us, and on our children.

26 Then released he Barabbas unto them: and when he had scourged [t] Jesus, he delivered him to be crucified.

27 Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the [3] common hall, and gathered unto him the whole band of soldiers.

28 And they stripped him, and put on him [u] scarlet robe.

29 And when they had platted a crown of thorns, they put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand: and they bowed the knee before him, and mocked [a] him, saying, Hail, King of the Jews!

30 And they spit [b] upon him, and took the reed, and smote him on the head.

31 And after that they had mocked him, they took the robe off from him, and put his own raiment on him, and led [f] him away to crucify him.

32 And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name: him they compelled to bear his cross.

33 And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, A place of a scull, 34 They gave him vinegar to drink, mingled [i] with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drink.

35 And [j] they crucified him, and parted his garments, casting lots; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken [k] by the prophet, They parted my garments among them, and upon my vesture did they cast lots.

36 And sitting down, they watched him there;

37 And set up over his head, his accusation written, THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

38 Then were there two thieves [m] crucified with him; one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 And they that passed by reviled him, wagging [o] their heads,

40 And saying, Thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days, save thyself. If thou be the Son of God, come down from the cross.

41 Likewise also the chief priests mocking [p] him, with the scribes and elders, said,

42 He saved others, himself he cannot save. If he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe him.

43 He trusted in God; let [q] him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, [r] I am the Son of God.

44 The thieves also, which were crucified with him, cast the same in his teeth.

45 Now from the sixth hour there was darkness [t] over all the land unto the ninth hour.

46 And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is to say, [w] My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 Some of them that stood there, when they heard that, said, This man calleth for Elias.

48 And straightway one of them ran, and took a sponge, and filled it with [z] vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.

49 The rest said, Let be, let us see whether Elias will come to save him.

50 Jesus, when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost.

51 And, behold, the veil [b] of the temple was rent [c] in twain, from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake, and the rocks rent;

52 And [c] the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints which [d] slept, arose,

53 And came out of the graves [e] after his resurrection, and went into the holy city, and appeared unto many.

54 Now [g] when the centurion, and they that were with him watching Jesus, saw the earthquake, and those things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Son of God.

55 And many women were there, (beholding afar off,) which [h] followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering unto him;

56 Among which was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Joses, and the mother of Zebedee's children.

57 When [l] the even was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Joseph, who also himself was Jesus' disciple:

58 He went to Pilate, and begged the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be delivered.

59 And when Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, 60 And [n] laid it in his own new tomb, which he had hewn out in the rock: and he rolled a great stone to the door of the sepulchre, and departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulchre.

62 Now the next day, that followed the day of the Preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees came together unto Pilate, 63 Saying, Sir, we remember that that deceiver [r] said, while he was yet alive, After [s] three days I will rise again.

64 Command therefore that the sepulchre be made sure until the third day, lest his disciples come by night, and [u] steal him away, and say unto the people, He is risen from the dead: so the last error shall be worse than the first.

65 Pilate said unto them, Ye have a watch: go your way, make it as sure as you can.

66 So they went, and made the sepulchre sure, sealing [x] the stone, and setting a watch.

CHAP. XXVIII.

IN [y] the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene, [a] and the other Mary, to see the sepulchre.

2 And, behold, there [l] was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

3 His [a] countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:
4 And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.
5 And the angel answered [b] and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for [c] I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.
6 He is not here; for he is risen, as he said.[d] Come, see the place where the Lord lay.
7 And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen [f] from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there [g] shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.
8 And they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with fear and great joy, and did run to bring his disciples word.
9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail.[j] And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him.
10 Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid: go tell my brethren,[m] that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.
11 Now when they were going, behold, some of the watch came into the city, and shewed unto the chief priests all the things that were done.

12 And when they were assembled with the elders, and had taken counsel, they gave large money unto the soldiers,
13 Saying, Say ye, His disciples came by night, and stole [d] him away while we slept.
14 And if this come to the governor's ears, we will persuade him, and secure you.
15 So they took the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

18 And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All [k] power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.
19 Go [l] ye therefore, and [1] teach [m] all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost;
20 Teaching [o] them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I [p] am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. Amen.

The GOSPEL according to St. MARK.

CHAP. I.

THE beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the [a] Son of God;
2 As it is written in the prophets,[c] Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.
3 The [e] voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.
4 John [f] did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptism of [2] repentance, for the remission [h] of sins.
5 And there went out unto him all the land of Judea, and they of Jerusalem, and were all baptized of him in the river of Jordan, confessing [j] their sins.
6 And John was clothed with camel's hair, and with a girdle of a skin about his loins; and he did eat locusts [m] and wild honey;
7 And preached, saying, There [q] cometh one mightier than I after me, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and unloose.
8 I indeed have baptized you with water: but he shall baptize [r] you with the Holy Ghost.
9 And it come to pass in those days, that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized [s] of John in Jordan.

10 And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens [1] opened, and the Spirit,[b] like a dove, descending upon him:
11 And there came a voice from heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved Son,[d] in whom I am well pleased.
12 And immediately the Spirit driveth him into the wilderness.
13 And [g] he was there in the wilderness forty days, tempted of Satan; and was with the wild beasts; and the angels ministered unto him.
14 Now after that John was put in prison, Jesus [i] came into Galilee, preaching the gospel [k] of the kingdom of God,
15 And saying, The time [l] is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent [n] ye, and believe [o] the gospel.
16 Now [p] as he walked by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: (for they were fishers.)
17 And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.
18 And straightway they forsook their nets, and followed him.
19 And when he had gone a little further thence, he saw James the son of Zebedee and John his brother, who also were in the ship mending their nets.

20 And straightway he called them: and they left their father Zebedee in the ship with the hired servants, and went after him

21 And they went into Capernaum: and straightway on the sabbath-day he entered into the synagogue, and taught.

22 And [c] they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes.

23 And [d] there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out,

24 Saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God.

25 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And when the unclean spirit had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region round about Galilee.

29 And [h] forthwith, when they were come out of the synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.

30 But Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever; and anon they tell him of her.

31 And he came, and took her by the hand, and lift her up; and immediately the fever left her, and she ministered unto them.

32 And at even, when the sun did set, they brought unto him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

33 And all the city was gathered together at the door.

34 And he healed many that were sick of divers diseases, and cast out many devils; and suffered not the devils to speak, [t] because they knew him.

35 And in the morning, rising up a great while before day, he went out, and departed into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

37 And when they had found him, they said unto him, All men seek for thee.

38 And he said unto them, Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also: for therefore [o] came I forth.

39 And he preached in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and cast out devils.

40 And [e] there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeling down to him, and saying unto him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

41 And Jesus, moved with compassion, put forth his hand, and touched him, and saith unto him, I will; be thou clean.

42 And as soon as he had spoken, immediately [b] the leprosy departed from him, and he was cleansed.

43 And he straitly charged him, and forthwith sent him away;

44 And saith unto him, See thou say nothing to any man: but go thy way, shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things [e] which Moses commanded, for a testimony [f] unto them.

45 But he went out, and began to [g] publish it much, and to blaze abroad the matter, insomuch that Jesus could no more openly enter into the city, but was without in desert places: and [h] they came to him from every quarter.

CHAP. II.

AND again he entered into Capernaum after some days; and it was noised that he was in the house.

2 And straightway many were gathered together, insomuch that there was no room to receive them, no, not so much as about the door: and he preached [i] the word unto them.

3 And [j] they come unto him, bringing one sick of the palsy, which was borne of four.

4 And when they could not come nigh unto him for the press, they uncovered the roof where he was: and when they had broken it up, they let down the bed wherein the sick of the palsy lay.

5 When Jesus saw their faith, [l] he said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, thy sins be forgiven thee.

6 But there were certain of the scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doth this man thus speak blasphemies? Who can forgive sins [m] but God only?

8 And immediately, when Jesus perceived in his spirit that they so reasoned within themselves, he said unto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed, and walk?

10 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power [n] on earth to forgive sins, (he saith to the sick of the palsy,)

11 I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house.

12 And immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went forth before them all; insomuch that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, We [a] never saw it on this fashion.

13 And he went forth again by the sea-side; and all the multitude resorted unto him, and he taught them.

14 And [d] as he passed by, he saw Levi the son of Alpheus sitting [1] at the receipt of custom, and said unto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.

15 And [f] it came to pass, that, as Jesus sat at meat in his house, many publicans [g] and sinners sat also together with Jesus and his disciples: for there were many, and they followed him.

16 And when the scribes and Pharisees saw him eat with publicans and sinners, they said unto his disciples, How is it that he eateth and drinketh with publicans and sinners?

17 When Jesus heard it, he saith unto them, They [i] that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners [k] to repentance.

18 And the disciples of John and of the Pharisees used to fast: and they come and say unto him, Why do the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, but thy disciples fast not?

19 And Jesus said unto them, Can the children of the bride-chamber fast, while the bridegroom [m] is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them, they cannot fast.

20 But the days will come when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then [n] shall they fast in those days.

21 No man also seweth a piece of [5] new cloth on an old garment: else the new piece that filled it up taketh away from the old, and the rent is made worse.

22 And no man putteth new wine into old bottles; else the new wine doth burst the bottles, and the wine is spilled, and the bottles will be marred: [t] but new wine must be put into new bottles.

23 And [u] it came to pass, that he went through the corn-fields on the sabbath-day; and his disciples began, as they went, to pluck [v] the ears of corn.

24 And the Pharisees said unto him, Behold, why do they on the sabbath-day that which is not lawful?

25 And he said unto them, Have ye never read what David did, [x] when he had need, and was an hungered, he, and they that were with him?

26 How he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high-priest, and did eat the shew-bread, [z] which is not lawful to eat but for the priests, and gave also to them which were with him?

27 And he said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, [a] and not [b] man for the sabbath:

CHAP. III

AND [c] he entered again into the synagogue; and there was a man there which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched [c] him, whether he would heal him on the sabbath-day; that they might accuse him.

3 And he saith unto the man which had the withered hand, [2] Stand forth.

4 And he saith unto them, Is it lawful to do good on the sabbath-days, or to do evil? to save life, [h] or to kill? But they held their peace.

5 And when he had looked round about on them with anger, being grieved for the hardness [3] of their hearts, he saith unto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored whole as the other.

6 And the Pharisees went forth, and straightway took counsel with the [j] Herodians against him, how they might destroy him.

7 But Jesus withdrew himself with his disciples to the sea: and a great [l] multitude from Galilee followed him, and from Judea,

8 And from Jerusalem, and from Idumea, and from beyond Jordan; and they about Tyre and Sidon, a great multitude, when they had heard what great things he did, came unto him.

9 And he spake to his disciples, that a small ship should wait on him because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For he had healed many; [o] insomuch that they [4] pressed upon him for to touch him, as many as had plagues.

11 And [p] unclean spirits, when they saw him, fell down before him, and cried, saying, Thou art the Son of God.

12 And he straitly charged them that they should not make him known. [q]

13 And [r] he goeth up into a mountain, and calleth unto him whom he [s] would: and they came unto him.

14 And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him, and that he might send them forth to preach,

15 And to have power to heal sicknesses, and to cast out devils:

16 And Simon [w] he surnamed Peter;

17 And James the son of Zebedee, and John the brother of James; and he surnamed them Boanerges, which is, The sons of thunder; [y]

18 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartholomew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the son of Alpheus, and Thaddeus, and Simon the Canaanite, 19 And Judas Iscariot, which also betrayed him: and they went [6] into an house.

20 And the multitude cometh together again, so [c] that they could not so much as eat bread.

21 And when his [1] friends heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they said, He [a] is beside himself.

22 And the scribes which came down from Jerusalem said, He [d] hath Beelzebub, and by the prince of the devils casteth he out devils.

23 And he called them unto him, and said unto them in parables, How can Satan cast out Satan?

24 And if a kingdom be divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand.

25 And if a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand.

26 And if Satan rise up against himself, and be divided, he cannot stand, but hath an end.

27 No [i] man can enter into a strong man's house, and spoil his goods, except he will first bind the strong man; and then he will spoil his house.

28 Verily I say unto you, All [j] sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men, and blasphemies wherewith soever they shall blaspheme:

29 But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost [l] hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation:

30 Because they said, He hath an unclean spirit.

31 There [o] came then his brethren and his mother, and, standing without, sent unto him, calling him.

32 And the multitude sat about him; and they said unto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren without seek for thee.

33 And he answered them, saying, Who is my mother, or my brethren?

34 And he looked round about on them which sat about him, and said, Behold my mother and my brethren!

35 For whosoever shall do [t] the will of God, the same is my brother, and my sister, and mother.

CHAP. IV.

AND [x] he began again to teach by the sea-side: and there was gathered unto him a great multitude, so that he entered into a ship, and sat in the sea; and the whole multitude was by the sea on the land.

2 And he taught them many things by parables, [z] and said unto them in his doctrine,

3 Hearken; [a] Behold, there went out a sower to sow:

4 And it came to pass, as he sowed, some fell by the way-side, and the [c] fowls of the air came and devoured it up.

5 And some fell on stony [d] ground, where it had not much earth; and immediately it sprang up, because it had no depth of earth:

6 But when the sun was up, it was scorched; and [g] because it had no root, it withered away

7 And some fell among thorns; [i] and the thorns grew up, and choked it, and it yielded no fruit.

8 And other fell on good [b] ground, and did yield fruit [e] that sprang up and increased, and brought forth, some thirty, and some sixty, and some an hundred.

9 And he said unto them, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

10 And [e] when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelve asked of him the parable.

11 And he said unto them, Unto [f] you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God: but unto them that are without, [g] all these things are done in parables:

12 That [h] seeing they may see, and not perceive; and hearing they may hear, and not understand; lest at any time they should be converted, and their sins should be forgiven them.

13 And he said unto them, Know ye not this parable? and how then will ye know all parables?

14 The sower [k] soweth the word.

15 And these are they by the way-side, where the word is sown; but when they have heard, Satan cometh [m] immediately, and taketh away [n] the word that was sown in their hearts.

16 And these are they likewise which are sown on stony ground; who, when they have heard the word, immediately receive it with gladness;

17 And have no root [p] in themselves, and so endure but [q] for a time: afterward, when affliction or persecution ariseth for the word's sake, immediately [r] they are offended.

18 And these are they which are sown among thorns; such as hear the word,

19 And the [s] cares of this world, and the deceitfulness [u] of riches, and the [v] lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful. [w]

20 And these are they which are sown on good ground; such as hear the word, and receive it, and bring forth fruit, [y] some thirty-fold, some sixty, and some an hundred.

21 And he said unto them, Is a candle brought to be put under a [z] bushel, or under a bed? and not to be set on a candle stick?

22 For [b] there is nothing hid, which shall not be manifested; neither was any thing kept secret, but that it should come abroad.

23 If any man have ears to hear, let him hear.

24 And he saith unto them, Take heed what [e] ye hear: with [f] what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you; and unto you that hear shall more be given.

25 For he that hath, to him shall be given: and he that hath not, from [h] him shall be taken even that which he hath

26 And he said, So [a] is the kingdom of God, as if a man should cast seed into the ground;
27 And should sleep, and rise night and day, and the seed should spring and grow up, he knoweth not how.
28 For the earth bringeth forth fruit of herself; [c] first [d] the blade, then the ear; after that, the full corn in the ear.
29 But when the fruit is [1] brought forth, immediately he [e] putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.
30 And he said, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdom of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?
31 It [h] is like a grain of mustard-seed, which, when it is sown in the earth, is less than all the seeds that be in the earth:
32 But when it is sown, it groweth up, and becometh greater [i] than all herbs, and shooteth out great branches; so that the fowls of the air may lodge under the shadow of it.
33 And with many such parables spake he the word unto them, as [m] they were able to hear it.
34 But without a parable spake he not unto them: and when they were alone, he expounded all things to his disciples.
35 And the same day, when the even was come, he saith unto them, Let us pass over unto the other side.
36 And when they had sent away the multitude, they took him even as he was in the ship: and there were also with him other little ships.
37 And [o] there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was now full.
38 And he was in the hinder part of the ship, asleep on a pillow: and they awake him, and say unto him, Master, [q] carest thou not that we perish?
39 And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, be still. And [s] the wind ceased, and there was a great calm.
40 And he said unto them, Why are ye so fearful? [t] how is it that ye have no faith?
41 And they feared [v] exceedingly, and said one to another, What manner of man is this, that even the wind and the sea [w] obey him?

CHAP. V.

AND [x] they came over unto the other side of the sea, into the country of the Gadarenes.
2 And when he was come out of the ship, immediately there met him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit,
3 Who had his dwelling [z] among the tombs; and no man could bind him, no, not with chains:
4 Because that he had been often bound with fetters and chains, and the chains had been plucked asunder by him, and the fetters broken in pieces: neither could any man tame him

5 And always, night and day, he was in the mountains, and in the tombs, crying, and cutting himself with stones.
6 But when he saw Jesus afar off, he ran and worshipped [b] him,
7 And cried with a loud voice, and said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of the most high God? I adjure thee by God, that thou torment me not.
8 (For he said unto him, Come [f] out of the man, thou unclean spirit.)
9 And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is Legion: [g] for we are many.
10 And he besought him much, that he would not send them away out of the country.
11 Now there was there, nigh unto the mountains, a great herd of swine [j] feeding.
12 And all the devils besought [k] him, saying, Send us into the swine, that we may enter into them.
13 And forthwith Jesus gave [l] them leave. And the unclean spirits went out, and entered into the swine: and the herd ran violently down a steep place into the sea, (they were about two thousand,) and were choked in the sea.
14 And they that fed the swine fled, and told it in the city, and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that was done.
15 And they come to Jesus, and see him that was possessed with the devil, and [n] had the legion, sitting, and clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid. [p]
16 And they that saw it, told them how it befell to him that was possessed with the devil, and also concerning the swine.
17 And they began to pray him to depart [r] out of their coasts.
18 And when he was come into the ship, he that had been possessed with the devil prayed him that he might be with him.
19 Howbeit, Jesus suffered him not, but saith unto him, Go home to thy friends, and [u] tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee.
20 And he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis how great things Jesus had done for him: and all men did marvel.
21 And when Jesus was passed over again by ship unto the other side, much people gathered unto him: and he was nigh unto the sea.
22 And, [y] behold, there cometh one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name; and when he saw him, he fell at his feet,
23 And besought him greatly, saying, My little daughter lieth at the point [a] of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be healed; and she shall live.
24 And Jesus went with him, and much people followed him, and thronged him

25 And a certain woman, which had an issue [b] of blood twelve years,
26 And had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was nothing [d] bettered, but rather grew worse,
27 When she had heard of Jesus, came in the press behind, and touched [e] his garment:
28 For she said, If I may touch but his clothes, I shall be whole.
29 And straightway the fountain of her blood was dried up; and she felt in her body that she was healed of that plague.
30 And Jesus, immediately knowing in himself that virtue [i] had gone out of him, turned him about in the press, and said, Who touched my clothes?
31 And his disciples said unto him, Thou seest the multitude thronging thee, and sayest thou, Who touched me?
32 And he looked round about to see her that had done this thing.
33 But the woman, fearing and trembling, knowing what was done in her, came and fell down before him, and told [n] him all the truth.
34 And he said unto her, Daughter, thy faith [o] hath made thee whole: go [p] in peace, and be whole of thy plague.
35 While he yet spake, there came from the ruler of the synagogue's house, certain which said, Thy daughter is dead: [t] why troublest thou the Master any further?
36 As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he saith unto the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afraid, only [t] believe.
37 And he suffered no man to follow him, save [v] Peter, and James, and John the brother of James.
38 And he cometh to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and seeth the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.
39 And when he was come in, he saith unto them, Why make ye this ado, and weep? the damsel is not dead, but sleepeth. [y]
40 And they laughed him to scorn. But when he had put them all out, he taketh the father and the mother of the damsel, and them that were with him, and entereth in where the damsel was lying.
41 And he took the damsel by the hand, and said unto her, Talitha cumi; which is, being interpreted, Damsel, (I say unto thee,) arise. [e]
42 And straightway the damsel arose, and walked; for she was of the age of twelve years. And they were astonished with a great astonishment.
43 And he charged [d] them straitly that no man should know it; and commanded that something should be given her to eat.

3 or, an inward grudge.

2 And [a] when the sabbath-day was come, he began to teach in the synagogue: and many, hearing him, were astonished, saying, From [c] whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this which is given unto him, that even such mighty works are wrought by his hands?
3 Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, the brother of James, [f] and Joses, and of Juda, and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? And they were offended [g] at him.
4 But Jesus said unto them, [h] A prophet is not without honour, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house.
5 And [j] he could there do no mighty work, save that he laid his hand upon a few sick folk, and healed them.
6 And he marvelled [k] because of their unbelief. And [l] he went round about the villages, teaching.
7 And [m] he called unto him the twelve, and began to send them forth by two and two, and gave them power over unclean spirits;
8 And commanded them that they should take nothing for their journey, save a staff only; no scrip, no bread, no [1] money in their purse:
9 But be shod [q] with sandals; [r] and not put on two coats.
10 And he said unto them, In what place soever ye enter into an house, there abide till ye depart from that place.
11 And whosoever shall not receive you, nor hear you, when ye depart thence, shake [u] off the dust under your feet for a testimony against them. Verily I say unto you, It shall be more tolerable for Sodom and [2] Gomorrha in the day of judgment, than for that city.
12 And they went out, and preached that men should repent. [w]
13 And they cast out many [x] devils, and anointed with oil [z] many that were sick, and healed them.
14 And [a] king Herod heard of him; (for his name was spread abroad;) and he said, That John the Baptist was risen from the dead, and therefore mighty works do shew forth themselves in him.
15 Others [b] said, That it is Elias. And others said, That it is a prophet, or as one of the prophets.
16 But when Herod heard thereof, he said, It is John, whom I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.
17 For Herod himself had sent forth, and laid hold upon John, and bound him in prison, for Herodias' sake, his brother Philip's wife: for he had married her.
18 For John had said unto Herod, It is not lawful [e] for thee to have thy brother's wife.
19 Therefore Herodias had [3] a quarrel against him, and would have killed him; but she could not.

20 For Herod feared [a] John, knowing that he was a just man and an holy, and observed [1] him; and when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly.

21 And when a convenient day was come, that Herod on his [c] birth-day made a supper to his lords, high captains, and chief estates of Galilee;

22 And when the daughter of the said Herodias came in, and danced, [e] and pleased Herod and them that sat with him, the king said unto the damsel, Ask of me whatsoever thou wilt, and I will give it thee.

23 And he sware unto her, Whatsoever [f] thou shalt ask of me, I will give it thee, unto the half of my kingdom.

24 And she went forth, and said unto her mother, What shall I ask? And she said, The head of John the Baptist.

25 And she came in straightway with haste unto the king, and asked, saying, I will that thou give me by and by, in a charger, the head [i] of John the Baptist.

26 And the king was exceeding sorry; yet for his oath's sake, and for their sakes which sat with him, he would not reject her.

27 And immediately the king sent [4] an executioner, and commanded his head to be brought: and he went, and beheaded him in the prison,

28 And brought his head in a charger, and gave it to the damsel: and the damsel gave it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard of it, they [m] came and took up his corpse, and laid it in a tomb.

30 And [o] the apostles gathered themselves together unto Jesus, and told him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 And he said unto them, Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest a while: for there were many coming and going, and they had no leisure so much as to eat.

32 And they departed into a desert place by ship privately.

33 And the people saw them departing, and many knew him, and ran afoot thither out of all cities, and outwent them, and came together unto him.

34 And Jesus, when he came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them, because [v] they were as sheep not having a shepherd: and he began to teach them many things.

35 And [x] when the day was now far spent, his disciples came unto him, and said, This is a desert place, and now the time is far passed:

36 Send them away, that they may go into the country round about and into the villages, and buy themselves bread: for they have nothing to eat.

37 He answered and said unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they say unto him, Shall [b] we go and buy two hundred [2] pennyworth of bread, and give them to eat?

38 He saith unto them, How many loaves have ye? go and see. And when they knew, they say, Five, and two fishes.

39 And [d] he commanded them to make all sit down by companies upon the green grass.

40 And they sat down in ranks, by hundreds, and by fifties.

41 And when he had taken the five loaves and the two fishes, he looked up to heaven, and blessed, [g] and brake the loaves, and gave them to his disciples to set before them; and the two fishes divided he among them all.

42 And [h] they did all eat, and were filled.

43 And they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

44 And they that did eat of the loaves were about five thousand men.

45 And [j] straightway he constrained his disciples to get into the ship, and to go to the other side before unto [3] Bethsaida, while he sent away the people.

46 And when he had sent them away, he [k] departed into a mountain to pray.

47 And when even was come, the ship was in the midst of the sea, and he alone on the land.

48 And he saw them toiling [l] in rowing; (for the wind was contrary unto them:) and about the fourth watch of the night he cometh unto them, walking upon the sea, and would have passed [n] by them.

49 But when they saw him [p] walking upon the sea, they [q] supposed it had been a spirit, and cried out:

50 (For they all saw him, and were troubled.) And immediately he talked with them, and saith unto them, Be of good cheer: [r] it is I; be not afraid.

51 And he went up unto them into the ship; and [s] the wind ceased: and they were sore amazed in themselves beyond measure, and wondered.

52 For they considered not the miracle of the loaves: for their heart [t] was hardened.

53 And [u] when they had passed over, they came into the land of Gennesaret, and drew to the shore.

54 And when they were come out of the ship, straightway they knew him,

55 And [w] ran through that whole region round about, and began to carry about in beds those that were sick, where they heard he was.

56 And whithersoever he entered, into villages, or cities, or country, they laid the sick in the streets, and besought him tha-

CHAP. VII.

THEN [c] came together unto him the Pharisees, and certain of the scribes, which came from Jerusalem.

2 And when they saw some of his disciples eat bread with [2] defiled (that is to say, with unwashen) hands, they found fault.

3 For the Pharisees, and all the Jews, except they wash their hands [3] oft, eat not, holding the tradition [f] of the elders.

4 And when they come from the market, except they wash, [g] they eat not. And many other things there be, which they have received to hold, as the washing of cups, and [5] pots, brazen vessels, and of [6] tables.

5 Then the Pharisees and scribes asked him, Why walk not thy disciples according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashen hands?

6 He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias [j] prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me.

7 Howbeit, in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.

8 For [l] laying aside the commandment of God, ye hold the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and cups: and many other such like things ye do.

9 And he said unto them, Full well [8] ye reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your own tradition.

10 For Moses said, Honour [o] thy father and thy mother; and, Whoso [p] curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man shall say to his father or mother, It is Corban, [r] that is to say, a gift, by whatsoever thou mightest be profited by me; he shall be free.

12 And ye suffer him no more to do ought for his father or his mother;

13 Making the word of God of none effect through your tradition, which ye have delivered: and many such like things do ye.

14 And when he had call'ed all the people unto him, he said unto them, Hearken unto me every one of you, and understand: [w]

15 There is nothing from without a man that, entering into him, can defile him: but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man.

16 If [y] any man have ears to hear, let him hear.

17 And [z] when he was entered into the house from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the yarable

18 And he saith unto them, Are ye so without understanding also? Do ye not perceive, that whatsoever thing from without entereth into the man, it cannot defile him;

19 Because it entereth not into his heart, but [d] into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, purging all meats?

20 And he said, That which cometh out of the man, that defileth the man.

21 For [e] from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders,

22 Thefts, covetousness, [4] wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness:

23 All these evil things come from within, and defile the man.

24 And [h] from thence he arose, and went into the borders of Tyre and Sidon, and entered into an house, and would have no man know it: but [i] he could not be hid.

25 For a certain woman, whose young daughter had an unclean spirit, heard of him, and came and fell at his feet:

26 The woman was a [7] Greek, a Syrophenician by nation: and she besought him that he would cast forth the devil out of her daughter.

27 But Jesus said unto her, Let the children first be filled: for [k] it is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it unto the dogs.

28 And she answered and said unto him, Yes, Lord: yet [m] the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs.

29 And he said unto her, For [n] this saying go thy way; the devil is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And when she was come to her house, she found the devil gone [q] out, and her daughter laid upon the bed.

31 And [s] again, departing from the coasts of Tyre and Sidon, he came unto the sea of Galilee, through the midst of the coasts of Decapolis.

32 And they bring unto him one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; and they beseech him to put his hand upon him.

33 And he took him aside from the multitude, and put his fingers into his ears, and [t] he spit, and touched his tongue;

34 And [u] looking up to heaven, [v] he sighed, and saith unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.

35 And [x] straightway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain.

36 And he charged them that they should tell no man: but the more he charged them, so much the more a great deal they published it;

37 And were beyond measure astonished, [d] saying, He hath done all things

CHAP. VIII.

IN [b] those days, the multitude being very great, and having nothing to eat, Jesus called his disciples unto him, and saith unto them,

2 I have compassion [d] on the multitude, because they have now been with me three days, and have nothing to eat:

3 And if I send them away fasting to their own houses, they will faint by the way: for divers of them came from far.

4 And his disciples answered him, From [g] whence can a man satisfy these men with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, How many loaves have ye? And they said, Seven.

6 And he commanded the people to sit down on the ground: and he took the seven loaves, and gave thanks, and brake, and gave to his disciples to set before them; and they did set them before the people.

7 And they had a few small fishes: and ne [k] blessed, and commanded to set them also before them.

8 So they did eat, and [l] were filled: and [m] they took up of the broken meat that was left, seven baskets.

9 And they that had eaten were about four thousand: and he sent them away.

10 And [o] straightway he entered into a ship with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanutha.

11 And [p] the Pharisees came forth, and began to question with him, seeking of him a sign from heaven, tempting him.

12 And he sighed deeply in his spirit, and saith, Why doth this generation seek after a sign? Verily I say unto you, There shall no sign be given unto this generation.

13 And he left them, and, entering into the ship again, departed to the other side.

14 Now the disciples had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them more than one loaf.

15 And he charged them, saying, Take heed, beware [t] of the leaven [u] of the Pharisees, and of the leaven of Herod.

16 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, It is because we have no bread.

17 And when Jesus knew it, he saith unto them, Why reason ye, because ye have no bread? perceive [w] ye not yet, neither understand? have ye your [x] heart yet hardened?

18 Having [y] eyes, see ye not? and having ears, hear ye not? and do ye not [z] remember?

19 When I brake the five [b] loaves among five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments took ye up? They say unto him, Twelve.

20 And when the seven [c] among four thousand, how many baskets full of fragments took ye up? And they said, Seven.

21 And he said unto them, How is it tha ye do not understand?

22 And he cometh to Bethsaida; and they bring a blind man unto him, and besought him to touch [e] him.

23 And he took the blind man by the hand, and led him out of the town: and when he had spit [e] on his eyes, and put his hands upon him, he asked him if he saw aught.

24 And he looked up, and said, [f] I see men, as trees, walking.

25 After that, he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look up: and he was restored, and saw [h] every man clearly.

26 And he sent him away to his house, saying, Neither go into the town, nor tell it to any in the town.

27 And [i] Jesus went out, and his disciples, into the towns of Cesarea Philippi: and by the way he asked his disciples, saying unto them, Whom do men say that I am?

28 And they answered, John [j] the Baptist: but some say, Elias; and others, One of the prophets.

29 And he saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Peter answereth and saith unto him, Thou [n] art the Christ.

30 And he charged them that they should tell no man of him.

31 And he began to teach them, that the Son of man must suffer many things; and be rejected of the elders, and of the chief priests and scribes, and be killed; and after three days rise again.

32 And he spake that saying openly. And Peter took him, and began to rebuke him.

33 But when he had turned about, and looked on his disciples, he rebuked [q] Peter, saying, Get thee behind me, [r] Satan; for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but the things that be of men.

34 And when he had called the people unto him, with his disciples also, he said unto them, Whosoever [s] will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.

35 For [v] whosoever will save his life, shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it.

36 For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?

37 Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

38 Whosoever [a] therefore shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his father, with the holy angels.

that stand here, which shall not [a] taste of death, till they have seen the kingdom of God come with power.

2 And [b] after six days Jesus taketh with him Peter, and James, and John, and leadeth them up into an high mountain apart by themselves: and he was transfigured before them.

3 And his raiment became shining, exceeding white [d] as snow; so as no fuller on earth can white them.

4 And there appeared unto them Elias, with Moses; and they were talking with Jesus.

5 And Peter answered and said to Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here: [g] and let us make three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 For he wist not [i] what to say; for they were sore afraid.

7 And there was a cloud that overshadowed them: and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, This [k] is my beloved Son; hear [l] him.

8 And suddenly, when they had looked round about, they saw no man any more, save Jesus only with themselves.

9 And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them that they should tell no man what things they had seen, till the Son of man were risen from the dead.

10 And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another what the rising from the dead should mean.[p]

11 And they asked him, saying, Why say the scribes that Elias [q] must first come?

12 And he answered and told them, Elias verily cometh first, and restoreth all things; and how it is written [r] of the Son of man, that he must suffer many things, and be [s] set at nought.

13 But I say unto you, That [t] Elias is indeed come, and they have done unto him whatsoever they listed, as it is written of him.

14 And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the scribes questioning with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were greatly amazed; and running to him, saluted him.

16 And he asked the scribes, What question ye [1] with them?

17 And one of the multitude answered and said, Master, I have brought unto thee my son, which hath a dumb [z] spirit:

18 And wheresoever he taketh him, he teareth [2] him; and he foameth, [y] and gnasheth with his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out; and they could not.

19 He answereth him, and saith, O faithless [a] generation! how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? Bring him unto me.

20 And they brought him unto him: and when he saw him, straightway the spirit tare him; and he fell on the ground, and wallowed foaming.

21 And he asked his father, How long is it ago since this came unto him? And he said, Of a child:

22 And ofttimes it hath cast him into the fire, and into the waters, to destroy him: but if thou canst do any thing, have compassion on us, and help us.

23 Jesus said unto him, If [e] thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth.

24 And straightway the father of the child cried out, and said with tears, [f] Lord, I believe; help [h] thou mine unbelief.

25 When Jesus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the foul spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, Come out of him, and enter no more into him.

26 And the spirit cried, and rent [j] him sore, and came out of him: and he was as one dead; insomuch that many said, He is dead.

27 But Jesus took him by the [m] hand, and lifted him up; and he arose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him privately, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And he said unto them, This kind can come forth by nothing but by [n] prayer and fasting.[o]

30 And they departed thence, and passed through Galilee; and he would not that any man should know it.

31 For he taught his disciples, and said unto them, The Son of man is delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him; and after that he is killed, he shall rise the third day.

32 But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask [u] him.

33 And [v] he came to Capernaum: and being in the house, he asked them, What was it that ye disputed among yourselves by the way?

34 But they held their peace: for by the way they had disputed among themselves who should be the greatest.

35 And he sat down, and called the twelve, and saith unto them, If [w] any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant of all.

36 And he took a child, and set him in the midst of them: and when he had taken him in his arms, he said unto them,

37 Whosoever [x] shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth me: and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth not me, but him that sent me.

38 And John answered him, saying, Master, we saw [b] one casting out devils in thy name, and he followeth not us: and we forbad him, because he followeth not us.

39 But Jesus said, Forbid him not: for there [a] is no man which shall do a miracle in my name, that can lightly speak evil of me.

40 For [c] he that is not against us, is on our part.

41 For [d] whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink in my name, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward.

42 And whosoever shall offend [f] one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea.

43 And [i] if thy hand offend [1] thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than, having two hands, to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched;

CHAP. X.

AND [v] he arose from thence, and cometh into the coasts of Judea, by the farther side of Jordan: and the people resort unto him again; and, as he was wont, he taught them again.

2 And the Pharisees came to him, and asked him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife? tempting him.

3 And he answered and said unto them, What did Moses command you?

4 And they said, Moses [x] suffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away.

5 And Jesus answered and said unto them, For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept:

6 But from the beginning of the creation God made [y] them male and female.

7 For [z] this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife;

8 And they twain shall be one [b] flesh: so then they are no more twain, but one flesh.

9 What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him again of the same matter.

11 And he saith unto them, [b] Whosoever shall put away his wife, and marry another, committeth adultery against her.

12 And if a woman shall put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adultery.

13 And [c] they brought young children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Jesus saw it, he was [g] much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not; for of such [h] is the kingdom of God.

15 Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he took them up in his arms, put his hands upon them, and blessed them.

17 And [k] when he was gone forth into the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?

18 And Jesus said unto him, Why callest thou me good? There is none good but one, [l] that is, God.

19 Thou knowest the [m] commandments, Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Defraud not, Honour thy father and mother

20 And he answered and said unto him, Master, all [n] these have I observed from my youth.

21 Then Jesus beholding him, loved him, and said unto him, One [q] thing thou lackest: go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure [s] in heaven: and come, take up the cross, and follow me.

22 And he was sad at that saying, and went away grieved; for he had great possessions.

23 And Jesus looked round about, and saith unto his disciples, How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God!

24 And the disciples were astonished at his words. But Jesus answereth again, and saith unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust [w] in riches to enter into the kingdom of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And they were astonished out of measure, saying among themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 And Jesus looking upon them, saith, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for [a] with God all things are possible.

28 Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee.

29 And Jesus answered and said, Verily I say unto you, There is no man that hath left house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my sake, and the gospel's,

30 But he shall receive an hundred-fold now in this time, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands, with persecutions; and in the world to come eternal life.
31 But [b] many that are first, shall be last; and the last, first.
32 And [d] they were in the way going up to Jerusalem; and Jesus went before them: and they were amazed; and as they followed, they were afraid. And he took again the twelve, and began to tell them what things should happen unto him,
33 Saying, Behold, we [g] go up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man shall be delivered unto the chief priests, and unto the scribes; and they shall condemn him to death, and shall deliver him to the Gentiles;
34 And [h] they shall mock him, and shall scourge him, and shall spit upon him, and shall kill him; and the third day he shall rise again.
35 And James and John, the sons of Zebedee, come unto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldest do for us whatsoever we shall desire.
36 And he said unto them, What would ye that I should do for you?
37 They said unto him, Grant unto us that we may sit, one on thy right hand, and the other on thy left hand, in thy glory.
38 But Jesus said unto them, Ye [k] know not what ye ask. Can ye drink of the cup that I drink of? and be baptized with the baptism [m] that I am baptized with?
39 And they say unto him, We can. And Jesus said unto them, Ye [n] shall indeed drink of the cup [o] that I drink of; and with the baptism that I am baptized withal, shall ye be baptized:
40 But to sit on my right hand and on my left hand, is not mine to give; but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared. [p]
41 And when the ten heard it, they began to be much displeased with James and John.
42 But Jesus called them to him, and saith unto them, Ye [r] know that they which are [2] accounted to rule over the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and their great ones exercise authority upon them.
43 But so shall it not be among you: but [t] whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister:
44 And whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all.
45 For even the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but [x] to minister, and to [y] give his life a ransom for many.
46 And [z] they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho, with his disciples, and a great number of people, blind Bartimeus, the son of Timeus, sat by the highway side, begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out, and say, Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy on me.

CHAP. XI.

AND [j] when they came nigh to Jerusalem, unto Bethphage, and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, he sendeth forth two of his disciples,
2 And saith unto them, Go your way into the village over against you: and as soon as ye be entered into it, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon never man sat; loose him, and bring him.
3 And if any man say unto you, Why do ye this? say ye that the Lord hath need [l] of him; and straightway he will send him hither.
4 And they went their way, and found the colt tied by the door without, in a place where two ways met; and they loose him.
5 And certain of them that stood there said unto them, What do ye loosing the colt?
6 And they said unto them even as Jesus had commanded: and they let them go.
7 And they brought the colt to Jesus, and cast their garments on him; and [q] he sat upon him.
8 And many spread their garments in the way; and others cut down branches of the trees, and strawed them in the way
9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna Blessed [s] is he that cometh in the name of the Lord:
10 Blessed be the kingdom [u] of our father David, that cometh in the name of the Lord Hosanna in the highest. [v]
11 And Jesus entered into Jerusalem, and into the temple: and [w] when he had looked round about upon all things, and now the even-tide was come, he went out unto Bethany with the twelve.
12 And [a] on the morrow, when they were come from Bethany, he was hungry:

any thing thereon: and when he came to it, he found nothing [b] but leaves; for the time of figs was not yet.

14 And Jesus answered and said unto it, No man eat fruit of thee hereafter for ever. And his disciples heard it.

15 And [c] they come to Jerusalem: and Jesus went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money-changers, [g] and the seats of them that sold doves;

16 And would not suffer that any man should carry any vessel through the temple.

17 And he taught, saying unto them, Is it not written, [h] My house shall be called [1] of all nations the house of prayer? but ye have made it a den [j] of thieves.

18 And the scribes and chief priests heard it, and sought how they might destroy him: for they feared him, because all the people was astonished [l] at his doctrine.

19 And when even was come, he went out of the city.

20 And in the morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig-tree dried up from the roots.

21 And Peter, calling to remembrance, saith unto him, Master, behold, the fig-tree which thou cursedst is withered away!

22 And Jesus, answering, saith unto them, [2] Have faith in God.

23 For verily I say unto you, That whosoever [p] shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith.

24 Therefore I say unto you, What [t] things soever ye desire when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.

25 And when ye stand praying, forgive, [v] if ye have aught against any; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses.

26 But [x] if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses.

27 And they come again to Jerusalem: and [z] as he was walking in the temple, there come to him the chief priests, and the scribes, and the elders,

28 And say unto him, By [a] what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority to do these things?

29 And Jesus answered and said unto them, I will also ask of you one [3] question, and answer me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things.

30 The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men? Answer me.

31 And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say, Why then did ye not believe him?

32 But if we shall say, Of men they feared the people; for [a] all men counted John, that he was a prophet indeed.

33 And they answered and said unto Jesus, We [c] cannot tell. And Jesus answering, saith unto them, Neither do I [d] tell you by what authority I do these things.

CHAP. XII.

AND he began to speak unto them by parables. A certain man planted a vineyard, and set an hedge about it, and digged a place for the wine-fat, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a far country.

2 And at the season he sent to the husbandmen a servant, that he might receive from the husbandmen of the [i] fruit of the vineyard.

3 And they caught him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And again he sent unto them another servant; and at him they cast stones, [k] and wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And again he sent another; and him they killed: and [m] many others, beating some, and killing [n] some.

6 Having yet therefore one son, his wellbeloved, he [o] sent him also last unto them, saying, They will reverence my son.

7 But those husbandmen said among themselves, This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 And they took him, and killed him, and cast him out [q] of the vineyard.

9 What shall therefore the lord of the vineyard do? He will come and [r] destroy the husbandmen, and will [s] give the vineyard unto others.

10 And have ye not read this scripture? The [u] stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner:

11 This was the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes?

12 And [w] they sought to lay hold on him, but feared the people; for they knew that he had spoken the parable against them: and they left him, and went their way.

13 And [y] they send unto him certain of the Pharisees, and of the Herodians, to catch him in his words.

14 And when they were come, they say unto him, Master, we know that thou art true, and carest for no man; for thou regardest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God in truth: Is it lawful to give tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Shall we give, or shall we not give? But he, knowing their hypocrisy, said unto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a [4] penny, that I may see it.

16 And they brought it. And he saith unto them, Whose is this image and superscription? And they said unto him, Cesar's.

17 And Jesus, answering, said unto them, Render to Cesar [b] the things that are Cesar's, and to God [a] the things that are God's. And they marvelled at him.

18 Then [c] come unto him the Sadducees, which say [e] there is no resurrection; and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, Moses wrote [f] unto us, If a man's brother die, and leave his wife behind him, and leave no children, that his brother [g] should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

20 Now there were seven brethren: and the first took a wife, and dying left no seed.

21 And the second took her, and died; neither left he any seed: and the third likewise.

22 And the seven had her, and left no seed: last of all the woman died also.

23 In the resurrection therefore, when they shall rise, whose wife shall she be of them? for the seven had her to wife.

24 And Jesus answering said unto them, Do ye not therefore err, because ye know not the scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage; but [m] are as the angels which are in heaven.

26 And as touching the dead, that they rise; have ye not read in the book of Moses, how in the bush God spake unto him, saying, [o] I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living: ye [r] therefore do greatly err.

28 And [t] one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, [v] Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord:

30 And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. This is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like, namely this, Thou [w] shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these.

32 And the scribe said unto him, Well, Master, thou hast said the truth: for there is one God; and [z] there is none other but he:

33 And to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soul, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbour as himself, is more [b] than all whole burnt-offerings and sacrifices.

34 And when Jesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said unto him, Thou art not far from the kingdom of God. And no man after that durst ask him [d] any question.

35 And [e] Jesus answered and said, while he taught in the temple, How say the scribes that Christ is the son of David?

36 For David himself said by [b] the Holy Ghost, The [d] LORD said to my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 David therefore himself calleth him Lord; and whence is he then his son? And the common people heard him gladly.

38 And he said unto them [h] in his doctrine, Beware [i] of the scribes, which love to go in long clothing, and love salutations in the market-places,

39 And [j] the chief seats in the synagogues, and the uppermost rooms at feasts,

40 Which devour widows' [k] houses, and for a pretence make long prayers: these shall receive greater damnation.

41 And [l] Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money [1] into the treasury: and many that were rich cast in much.

42 And there came a certain poor widow, and she threw in two [2] mites, which make a farthing.

43 And he called unto him his disciples, and saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, that [n] this poor widow hath cast more in than all they which have cast into the treasury:

44 For all they did cast in of their abundance; [p] but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all [q] her living.

CHAP. XIII.

AND [s] as he went out of the temple, one of his disciples saith unto him, Master, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!

2 And Jesus, answering, said unto him, Seest thou these great buildings? [u] there shall not be left one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.

3 And as he sat upon the Mount of Olives, over against the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew asked him privately,

4 Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Jesus, answering them, began to say, Take [x] heed lest any man deceive you

6 For many shall come [y] in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many.

7 And when ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars, be [a] ye not troubled: for such things must needs be; but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; and there shall be earthquakes in divers places, and there shall be famines and troubles: these are the beginnings of [3] sorrows.

9 But take heed to yourselves: for they [c] shall deliver you up to councils; and in the synagogues ye shall be beaten; and ye shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them

10 And [a] the gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 But when they shall lead you, and deliver you up, take no thought beforehand what ye shall speak, neither do ye premeditate; but whatsoever shall be given you in that hour, that speak ye: for it is not ye that speak, but [c] the Holy Ghost.

12 Now the brother [d] shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son: and children shall rise up against their parents, and shall cause them to be put to death.

13 And ye shall be hated [f] of all men for my name's sake: but he [g] that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved.

14 But when ye shall see the abomination of desolation, spoken of [h] by Daniel the prophet, standing where it ought not, (let him that readeth understand,) then let them that be in Judea flee to the mountains:

15 And let him that is on the house-top not go down into the house, neither enter therein, to take any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field not turn back again for to take up his garment.

17 But woe to them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days!

18 And pray ye that your flight be not in the winter.

19 For [k] in those days shall be affliction, such as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created, unto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh should be saved: but for the elect's sake, whom he hath chosen, he hath shortened the days.

21 And then if any man shall say to you, Lo,[m] here is Christ; or, Lo, he is there; believe him not:

22 For false Christs and false prophets shall rise, and shall shew signs and wonders, to seduce, if it were possible, even the elect.

23 But [n] take ye heed: behold, I have foretold you all things.

24 But in those days, after that tribulation, [o] the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light;

25 And [q] the stars of heaven shall fall, and the powers that are in heaven shall be shaken.

26 And [r] then shall they see the Son of man coming in the clouds, with great power and glory.

27 And then shall he send his angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from the uttermost part of the earth, to the uttermost part of heaven.

28 Now learn a parable of the fig-tree; When her branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is near:

29 So ye in like manner, when ye shall see these things come to pass, know that it is nigh, even at the doors.

30 Verily I say unto you, that this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done.

31 Heaven and earth shall pass away: but [b] my words shall not pass away.

32 But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father.

33 Take [e] ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is.

34 For the Son of man is as a man taking a far journey, who left his house, and gave authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commanded the porter to watch.

35 Watch ye therefore; for ye know not when the master of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cock-crowing, or in the morning;

36 Lest coming suddenly, he find you sleeping.[i]

37 And what I say unto you, I say unto all, Watch.[j]

CHAP. XIV.

AFTER two days was the feast of the passover, and of unleavened bread: and the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they said, Not on the feast-day, lest there be an uproar of the people.

3 And [l] being in Bethany, in the house of Simon the leper, as he sat at meat, there came a woman having an alabaster-box of ointment of [1] spikenard, very precious; and she brake the box, and poured it on his head.

4 And there were some that had indignation within themselves, and said, Why was this waste of the ointment made?

5 For it might have been sold for more than three hundred [2] pence, and have been given to the poor. And they murmured against her.

6 And Jesus said, Let her alone; why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good work on me.

7 For [p] ye have the poor with you always, and whensoever ye will ye may do them good: but me ye have not always.

8 She hath done what she could: she is come aforehand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verily I say unto you, Wheresoever this gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done shall be spoken of for a memorial of her.

10 And [s] Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went unto the chief priests, to betray [t] him unto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him [u] money

A. D. 33.

And he sought how he might conveniently betray him.

12 And the first day of [a] unleavened bread, when they [1] killed the passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayest eat the passover?

13 And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them, Go [c] ye into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And wheresoever he shall go in, say ye to the good man of the house, The Master [f] saith, Where is the guest-chamber, where I shall eat [g] the passover with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us.

16 And his disciples went forth, and came into the city, and found [j] as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.

17 And in the evening he cometh with the twelve.

18 And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth [l] with me shall betray me.

19 And they began to be sorrowful, and to say unto him one by one, Is it I? and another said, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said unto them, It is one of the twelve, that dippeth with me in the dish.

21 The Son of man indeed goeth, as it is written of him: but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! good [n] were it for that man if he had never been born.

22 And [q] as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them, and said, Take, [s] eat; this is my body.

23 And he took the cup; and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them: and they all drank of it.

24 And he said unto them, This [u] is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many.

25 Verily I say unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine, until that day that I drink it [w] new in the kingdom of God.

26 And when they had sung an [2] hymn, they went out into the Mount of Olives.

27 And Jesus saith unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, [x] I will smite the Shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered.

28 But [y] after that I am risen, I will go before you into Galilee.

29 But [a] Peter said unto him, Although all shall be offended, yet will not I.

30 And Jesus saith unto him, Verily I say unto thee, That this day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice

31 But he spake the more vehemently, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee in any wise. Likewise also said they all.

32 And [b] they came to a place which was named Gethsemane: and he saith to his disciples, Sit ye here, while I shall pray.

33 And he taketh with him Peter and James and John, and began to be sore amazed, and to be very heavy;

34 And saith unto them, My [d] soul is exceeding sorrowful unto death: tarry ye here, and watch.

35 And he went forward a little, and fell on the ground, and prayed [e] that, if it were possible, the hour might pass from him.

36 And he said, [h] Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee; take away this cup from me: nevertheless [i] not what I will, but what thou wilt.

37 And he cometh, and findeth them sleeping, and saith unto Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one hour?

38 Watch ye, and pray, lest ye enter into temptation: The [k] spirit truly is ready, but the flesh is weak.

39 And again he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40 And when he returned, he found them asleep again, (for their eyes were heavy,) neither wist they what to answer him.

41 And he cometh the third time, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: it is enough, the [m] hour is come: behold, the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise up, let us go; lo, he that betrayeth me is at hand.

43 And [o] immediately, while he yet spake, cometh Judas, one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude [p] with swords and staves, from the chief priests [r] and the scribes and the elders.

44 And he that betrayed him had given them a token, saying, Whomsoever I shall kiss, [t] that same is he: take him, and lead him away safely.

45 And as soon as he was come, he goeth straightway to him, and saith, Master, [v] master; and kissed him.

46 And they laid their hands on him, and took him.

47 And one of them that stood by drew a sword, and smote a servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

48 And Jesus answered and said unto them, Are ye come out, as against a thief, with swords and with staves to take me?

49 I was daily with you in the temple, teaching, and ye took me not: but the scriptures [z] must be fulfilled.

50 And [b] they all forsook him, and fled.

51 And there followed him a certain young man, having a linen cloth cast about his naked body; and the young men laid hold on him:

52 And he left [c] the linen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 And [a] they led Jesus away to the high priest: and with him were assembled all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes.

54 And Peter followed him afar off, even into the palace of the high priest: and he sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.

55 And the chief priests and all the council sought for witness against Jesus to put him to death; and found none.

56 For [d] many bare false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.

57 And there arose certain, and bare false witness against him, saying,

58 We heard him say, I will [e] destroy this temple that is made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.

59 But neither so did their witness agree together.

60 And the high priest stood up in the midst, and asked Jesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? What is it which these witness against thee? [h]

61 But [i] he held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the high priest asked him, and said unto him, Art thou the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?

62 And Jesus said, I am: and [j] ye shall see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven.

63 Then the high priest rent [k] his clothes, and saith, What need we any further witnesses?

64 Ye have heard the blasphemy: what think ye? And they all condemned him to be guilty of death.

65 And some began to spit [n] on him, and to cover his face, and to buffet him, and to say unto him, Prophesy: and the servants did strike him with the palms of their hands.

66 And [p] as Peter was beneath in the palace, there cometh one of the maids of the high priest:

67 And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked upon him, and said, And thou also wast with Jesus of Nazareth.

68 But he denied, [s] saying, I know not, neither understand I what thou sayest. And he went out into the porch; and the cock crew.

69 And a maid saw him again, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 And he denied it again. And a little after, they that stood by said again to Peter, Surely thou art one of them; for thou art a Galilean, [u] and thy speech agreeth thereto.

71 But he began to curse and to swear, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speak.

72 And the second time the cock crew. And Peter called to mind the word that Jesus said unto him, Before the cock crow twice thou shalt deny me thrice. And when [l] he thought thereon, he wept. [b]

CHAP. XV.

AND straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation [c] with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pilate.

2 And Pilate asked him, Art thou the king of the Jews? And he, answering, said unto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the chief priests accused him of many things: but he answered nothing.

4 And Pilate asked him again, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee.

5 But [f] Jesus yet answered nothing; so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Now [g] at that feast he released unto them one prisoner, whomsoever they desired.

7 And there was one named Barabbas, which lay bound with them that had made insurrection with him, who had committed murder in the insurrection.

8 And the multitude, crying aloud, began to desire him to do as he had ever done unto them.

9 But Pilate answered them, saying, Will ye that I release unto you the King of the Jews?

10 (For he knew that the chief priests had delivered him for envy.[t])

11 But the chief priests moved the people, that he should rather release [m] Barabbas unto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and said again unto them, What will ye then that I shall do unto him whom ye call the King [o] of the Jews?

13 And they cried out again, Crucify him.

14 Then Pilate said unto them, Why, what evil [q] hath he done? And they cried out the more exceedingly, Crucify him.

15 And so Pilate, willing to content the people, released Barabbas unto them, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified.

16 And [r] the soldiers led him away into the hall called Pretorium; and they call together the whole band.

17 And they clothed him with purple, and platted a crown of thorns, and put it about his head;

18 And began to salute him, Hail, King of the Jews!

19 And they smote him on the head with a reed, and did spit [t] upon him, and, bowing their knees, worshipped him.

20 And when they had mocked [v] him, they took off the purple from him, and put his own clothes on him, and led him out to crucify him.

21 And they compel one Simon a Cyren run, who passed by, coming out of the country, the father of Alexander and Rufus, to bear his cross. A. D. 33

22 And [b] they bring him unto the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, The place of a scull

23 And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.

24 And when they had crucified him, they [d] parted his garments, casting lots upon them, what every man should take.

25 And it was the third hour; and they crucified him.

26 And the superscription of his accusation was written over, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

27 And with him they crucify two thieves; the one on his right hand, and the other on his left.

28 And the scripture [f] was fulfilled, which saith, And he was numbered with the transgressors.

29 And [g] they that passed by railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, Ah, thou [i] that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days,

30 Save thyself, and come down from the cross.

31 Likewise also the chief priests, mocking, said among themselves with the scribes, He saved others; himself he cannot save.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel descend now from the cross, that we may see, [k] and believe. And they that were crucified with him reviled him.

33 And [l] when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land, until the ninth hour.

34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, [m] Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? [n]

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he calleth Elias.

36 And one ran and filled a sponge full of vinegar, and put it on a reed, and [p] gave him to drink, saying, Let alone; let us see whether Elias will come to take him down.

37 And [q] Jesus cried with a loud voice, and gave up the ghost.

38 And the veil of the temple was rent in twain, from the top to the bottom.

39 And when the centurion, which stood over against him, saw that he so cried out, and gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Son of God.

40 There were also women looking on afar [r] off; among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the less, and of Joses, and Salome;

41 (Who also, when he was in Galilee, followed him, and ministered [a] unto him;) and many other women which came up with him unto Jerusalem.

42 And now when the even was come, because it was the Preparation, that is, the day before the sabbath,

43 Joseph of Arimathea, an honourable counsellor, which also waited [c] for the kingdom of God, came, and went in boldly unto Pilate, and craved the body of Jesus.

44 And Pilate marvelled if he were already dead: and calling unto him the centurion, he asked him whether he had been any while dead.

45 And when he knew it of the centurion, he gave the body to Joseph.

46 And he bought fine linen, and took him down, and wrapped him in the linen, and laid him in a sepulchre which was hewn out of a rock, and rolled a [e] stone unto the door of the sepulchre.

47 And Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses beheld where he was laid.

CHAP. XVI.

AND [h] when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, [j] that they might come and anoint him.

2 And very early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

3 And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

4 (And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away,) for it was very great.

5 And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted.

6 And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified: he is risen; [o] he is not here: behold the place where they laid him.

7 But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee: there shall ye see him, as he said unto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre; for they trembled and were amazed: neither said they any thing to any man; for they were afraid.

9 Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils.

10 And she went and told them that had been with him, as they mourned and wept.

11 And they, when they had heard that he was alive, and had been seen of her, believed not.

12 After that he appeared in another form into [a] two of them, as they walked, and went into the country.

13 And they went and told it unto the residue; neither believed they them.

14 Afterward [d] he appeared unto the eleven as they sat [1] at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief [f] and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen.

15 And he said unto them, Go [i] ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature.[k]

16 He [l] that believeth, and is baptized, shall be saved; but [n] he that believeth not, shall be damned.

17 And these signs shall follow them that believe: In [b] my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak [c] with new tongues;

18 They shall take up [e] serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they [g] shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover.

19 So then [h] after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat [j] on the right hand of God.

20 And they went forth, and preached every where, the [m] Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following. Amen.

The GOSPEL according to St. LUKE.

CHAP. I.

FORASMUCH as many have taken in hand to set forth in order a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us,

2 Even as they delivered them unto us, which from the beginning [c] were eye-witnesses, and ministers of [f] the word;

3 It seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write unto thee in order, [h] most excellent Theophilus,[i]

4 That thou mightest know [k] the certainty of those things wherein thou hast been instructed.

5 THERE was, in the days of [m] Herod the king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia: [o] and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabeth.

6 And they were both righteous [q] before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances [s] of the Lord, blameless.

7 And they had no child, because that Elisabeth was barren, and they both were now well stricken in years.

8 And it came to pass, that while he executed the priest's office before God in the order of his course,

9 According to the custom of the priest's office, his lot was [u] to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were praying without, [v] at the time of incense.

11 And there appeared unto him an angel of the Lord, standing on the right side of the altar [w] of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, [x] and fear fell upon him.

13 But the angel said unto him, Fear not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard; and thy wife Elisabeth shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name [y] John.

14 And thou shalt have joy and gladness; and many shall rejoice [e] at his birth.

15 For he shall be great [b] in the sight of the Lord, and shall [c] drink neither wine nor strong drink; and he shall be filled with the Holy Ghost, even [d] from his mother's womb.

16 And many of the children of Israel shall he turn to the Lord their God

17 And [g] he shall go before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient [1] to the wisdom [j] of the just; to make ready a people [l] prepared for the Lord.

18 And Zacharias said unto the angel, Whereby shall I know this? for [n] I am an old man, and my wife well stricken in years.

19 And the angel answering, said unto him, I am Gabriel, [p] that stand in the presence of God; and am sent [r] to speak unto thee, and to shew thee these glad tidings.

20 And, behold, thou shalt be [t] dumb and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall be performed, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 And the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that he tarried so long in the temple.

22 And when he came out, he could not speak unto them: and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple; for he beckoned unto them, and remained speechless.

23 And it came to pass, that, as soon as the days of his ministration were accomplished, he departed to his own house.

24 And after those days his wife Elisabeth conceived, and hid herself five months, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the days wherein he looked on me, to take [z] away my reproach among men.

26 And in the sixth month the angel

Gabriel was sent from God, unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth,

27 To a virgin [b] espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary.

28 And the angel came in unto her, and said, Hail, thou that art [1] highly favoured, [f] the [g] Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and cast in her mind what manner of salutation this should be.

30 And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary; for thou hast found favour with God.

31 And, behold, thou [e] shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS.

32 He shall be great, [q] and shall be called the [r] Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne [s] of his father David:

33 And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and [v] of his kingdom there shall be no end.

34 Then said Mary unto the angel, How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?

35 And the angel answered and said unto her, The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee; therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called [x] the Son of God.

36 And, behold, thy cousin Elisabeth, she hath also conceived a son in her old age: and this is the sixth month with her who was called barren.

37 For [y] with God nothing shall be impossible.

38 And Mary said, Behold the handmaid [z] of the Lord; be it unto me according [a] to thy word. And the angel departed from her.

39 And Mary arose in those days, and went into the hill country with haste, into [d] a city of Juda;

40 And entered into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabeth.

41 And it came to pass, that, when Elisabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe leaped in her womb; and Elisabeth was filled with the Holy Ghost:

42 And she spake out with a loud voice; and said, Blessed [g] art thou among women; and blessed is the fruit of thy womb.

43 And whence is this to me, that the mother of my Lord [i] should come to me?

44 For lo, as soon as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy.

45 And blessed is she [3] that believed: for there shall be a performance of those things which were told her from the Lord.

46 And Mary said, My [c] soul doth magnify the Lord,

47 And my spirit hath rejoiced [e] in God my Saviour.

48 For he hath regarded the low [d] estate of his handmaiden: for, behold, from henceforth all generations shall call me [c] blessed.

49 For he that is mighty [h] hath done to me great things; [i] and holy [j] is his name.

50 And [k] his mercy is on them that fear him, from generation to generation.

51 He [l] hath shewed strength with his arm; he hath scattered the [m] proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 He [n] hath put down the mighty from their seats, and exalted them of low degree

53 He [p] hath filled the hungry with good things, and the rich he hath sent empty away.

54 He hath holpen his servant Israel, in [o] remembrance of his mercy;

55 As he spake [u] to our fathers, to Abraham, and to his seed for ever.

56 And Mary abode with her about three months, and returned to her own house.

57 Now Elisabeth's full time came, that she should be delivered; and she brought forth a son.

58 And her neighbours and her cousins heard how the Lord had shewed great mercy upon her; and they [w] rejoiced with her.

59 And it came to pass, that on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child; and they called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.

60 And his mother answered and said, Not so; but he shall be called John.

61 And they said unto her, There is none of thy kindred that is called by this name.

62 And they made signs to his father, how he would have him called.

63 And he asked for a writing-table, and wrote, saying, His name is [b] John. And they marvelled all.

64 And his mouth [c] was opened immediately, and his tongue loosed, and he spake, and praised God.

65 And fear came on all that dwelt round about them: and all these [2] sayings were noised abroad throughout all the hill country of Judea:

66 And all they that heard them laid them up [e] in their hearts, saying, What manner of child shall this be? And the hand [f] of the Lord was with him.

67 And his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Ghost, and prophesied, saying,

68 Blessed [h] be the Lord God of Israel; for he hath visited and redeemed his people,

69 And hath raised up an horn of salvation [j] for us, in the house of his servant David;

70 As he spake [k] by the mouth of his holy prophets, which have been since the world began:

71 That we should be saved [a] from our enemies, and from the hand of all that hate us;

72 To perform the mercy promised to our fathers, and to [d] remember his holy covenant,

73 The oath [e] which he sware to our father Abraham,

74 That he would grant unto us, that we, being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve him [f] without fear,

75 In [g] holiness and righteousness before him, all [h] the days of our life.

76 And thou, child, shalt be called The Prophet of the Highest: for thou shalt go [i] before the face of the Lord, to prepare his ways;

77 To give knowledge of salvation unto his people, [2] by the remission [j] of their sins,

78 Through the tender [3] mercy of our God; whereby the [4] day-spring from on high hath visited us,

79 To [k] give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.

80 And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his shewing unto Israel.

CHAP. II.

AND it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Cesar Augustus, that all the world should [5] be taxed.

2 (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

3 And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, (because he was of the house and lineage of David,)

5 To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

6 And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7 And she [r] brought forth her first-born son and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch [6] over their flock by night.

9 And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

10 And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11 For unto you [w] is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

13 And suddenly there was with the angel [b] a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God, and saying,

14 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, [c] good will toward men.

15 And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the [1] shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

16 And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

17 And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

18 And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

19 But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

21 And when eight days were accomplished [l] for the circumcising of the child, his name was called JESUS, which was so named of the angel [m] before he was conceived in the womb.

22 And when [n] the days of her purification, according to the law of Moses, were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord;

23 (As it is written in the law of the Lord, Every [o] male that openeth the womb shall be called holy to the Lord;)

24 And to offer a sacrifice according to that which is said in the law of the Lord, A pair of turtle-doves, or two young pigeons.

25 And, behold, there was a man in Jerusalem, whose name was Simeon; and the same man was just and [p] devout, waiting for the consolation [q] of Israel: and the Holy Ghost was upon him.

26 And it was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost, that he should not see [t] death before he had seen the Lord's Christ.

27 And he came by the Spirit into the temple: and when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him after the custom of the law,

28 Then took he him up in his arms, and blessed God, and said,

29 Lord, now [u] lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, [v] according to thy word:

30 For mine eyes have seen [w] thy salvation,

31 Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people:

32 A light to lighten the [x] Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.

33 And Joseph and his mother marvelled at those things which were spoken of him.

34 And Simeon blessed them, and said unto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is set for the fall [e] and rising again of many in Israel; and for a sign which shall be spoken [b] against;

35 (Yea, a sword [c] shall pierce through thy own soul also,) that [d] the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed.

36 And there was one Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser; she was of a great age, and had lived with an husband seven years from her virginity;

37 And she was a widow of about fourscore and four years, which departed not from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers [h] night and day.

38 And she, coming in that instant, gave thanks likewise unto the Lord, and spake of him to all them that [j] looked for redemption in [1] Jerusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, to their own city Nazareth.

40 And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled [l] with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon him.

41 Now his parents went to Jerusalem every [n] year at the feast of the passover.

42 And when he was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem, after the custom of the feast.

43 And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and his mother knew not of it.

44 But they, supposing him to have been in the company, went a day's journey; and they sought him among their kinsfolk and among their acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned back again to Jerusalem, seeking him.

46 And it came to pass, that after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions.

47 And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding [r] and answers.

48 And when they saw him, they were amazed: and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing.

49 And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? wist ye not that I must be about [v] my Father's business?

50 And they understood not the saying which he spake unto them.

51 And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them: but his mother kept [w] all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Jesus increased [x] in wisdom and stature,[7] and in favour with God and man

CHAP. III.

NOW in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Cesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and his brother Philip tetrarch of Iturea and of the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias the tetrarch of Abilene,

2 Annas [e] and Caiaphas being the high priests, the word of God came unto John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.

3 And [f] he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance [g] for the remission of sins;

4 As it is written in the book of the words of Esaias the prophet, [i] saying, The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

5 Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low; and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth;

6 And [k] all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

7 Then said he to the multitude that came forth to be baptized of him, O [m] generation of vipers! who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8 Bring forth, therefore, fruits [2] worthy of repentance; and begin not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say unto you, that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham.

9 And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: every [o] tree, therefore, which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewn down, and cast into the fire.

10 And the people asked him, saying, What shall we do then?

11 He answereth and saith unto them, He [p] that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none; and he that hath meat, let him do likewise.

12 Then came also publicans, [q] to be baptized, and said unto him, Master, what shall we do?

13 And he said unto them, Exact [s] no more than that which is appointed you.

14 And the soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said unto them, [3] Do violence to no man, neither accuse any [t] falsely; and be content [u] with your [4] wages.

15 And as the people were [5] in expectation, and all men [6] mused in their hearts of John, whether he were the Christ or not;

16 John answered, saying unto them all, I indeed baptize you with water; but one mightier than I cometh, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose. he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with fire:

17 Whose fan [y] is in his hand, and he will throughly purge his floor, and will [a] gather the wheat into his garner; but the [c] chaff he will burn [d] with fire unquenchable.

18 And many other things, in his exhortation, preached he unto the people.

19 But [e] Herod the tetrarch, being reproved by him for Herodias his brother Philip's wife, and for all the evils which Herod had done, 20 Added yet this above all, that he shut up John in prison.

21 Now when all the people were baptized, it [h] came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened,

22 And the Holy Ghost descended in a bodily shape like a dove upon him; and a voice came from heaven, which said, Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased.

23 And Jesus himself began to be about thirty years of age, being (as was supposed) the son [k] of Joseph, which was the son of Heli,

CHAP. IV.

AND [j] Jesus, being full of the Holy Ghost, returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness,

2 Being forty days tempted of the devil. And [l] in those days he did eat nothing: and when they were ended, he afterward hungred.

3 And the devil said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread.

4 And Jesus answered him, saying, It [m] is written, that man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.

5 And the devil, taking him up into a high mountain, shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.

6 And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them: for [n] that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it.

7 If thou, therefore, wilt [1] worship me, all shall be thine.

8 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Get thee behind me, Satan: for [o] it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

9 And he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down from hence:

10 For it is written, He [p] shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee;

11 And in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.

12 And Jesus, answering, said unto him, It is said, Thou [r] shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the devil had ended all the [t] temptation, he departed from him for a season.

14 And Jesus [u] returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee: and there went out a fame of him through all the region round about.

15 And he taught in their synagogues, being glorified of all.

16 And he came to Nazareth, [a] where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, he [b] went into the synagogue on the sabbath-day, and stood up for to read.

17 And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written,

18 The [d] Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, [f] to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering [g] of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, [i]

19 To preach the acceptable year [j] of the Lord.

20 And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him.

21 And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.

22 And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious [k] words which proceeded out of his mouth. And they said, Is [l] not this Joseph's son?

23 And he said unto them, Ye will surely say unto me this proverb, Physician, heal thyself: whatsoever we have heard done in Capernaum, [m] do also here in thy country.

24 And he said, Verily I say unto you, No [n] prophet is accepted in his own country.

25 But I tell you of a truth, Many [o] widows were in Israel in the days of Elias, when the heaven was shut up [p] three years and six months, when great famine was throughout all the land;

26 But unto none of them was Elias sent, save unto Sarepta, a city of Sidon, unto a woman that was a widow.

27 And [r] many lepers were in Israel in the time of Eliseus the prophet; and none of them was cleansed, saving Naaman the Syrian.

28 And all they in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath,

29 And rose up, and thrust him out of the city, and led him unto the brow [z] of the hill whereon their city was built, that they might cast him down [t] headlong.

30 But he, passing [v] through the midst of them, went his way;

31 And came down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and taught them on the sabbath-days.

32 And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with [y] power.

33 And [z] in the synagogue there was a man, which had a spirit of an unclean devil, and cried out with a loud voice,

34 Saying, [3] Let us alone; what [a] have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I [c] know thee who thou art; the [b] Holy One of God

35 And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the devil had thrown him in the midst, he came out of him, and hurt him not.

36 And they were all amazed, and spake among themselves, saying, What a word is this! for with authority and power he commandeth the unclean spirits, and [e] they come out.

37 And the fame of him went out into every place of the country round about.

38 And he arose out of the synagogue, and entered into Simon's house. And [i] Simon's wife's mother was taken with a great fever; and they besought him for her 39 And he stood over her, and rebuked the fever; and it left her: and immediately she arose, and ministered unto them.

40 Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.

41 And devils also came out of many, crying out, and saying, Thou art Christ the Son of God. And he, rebuking them, suffered them not [1] to speak: for they knew that he was Christ.

42 And when it was day, he departed, and went into a desert place: and the people sought him, and came unto him, and stayed him, that he should not depart from them.

43 And he said unto them, I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also; for therefore [q] am I sent.

44 And he preached in the synagogues of Galilee.

CHAP. V.

AND [r] it came to pass, that, as the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, he stood by the lake of Gennesaret,

2 And saw two ships standing by the lake: but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And he entered into one of the ships, which was Simon's, and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the land. And he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.

4 Now when he had left speaking, he said unto Simon, Launch [u] out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.

5 And Simon, answering, said unto him, Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing: [w] nevertheless, at thy word I will let down the net.

6 And [x] when they had this done, they inclosed a great multitude of fishes: and their net brake.

7 And they beckoned unto their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and help [b] them. And they came, and filled both the ships, so that they began to sink

8 When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down [a] at Jesus' knees, saying, Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord.

9 For he was astonished, and all that were with him, at the draught of the fishes [c] which they had taken:

10 And so was also James and John, the sons of Zebedee, which were partners with Simon. And Jesus said unto Simon, Fear not; from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought their ships to land, they forsook [g] all, and followed him.

12 And [h] it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold, a man full of leprosy; who seeing Jesus, fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

13 And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be [i] thou clean. And [j] immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And he charged him to tell no man: but go and shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Moses commanded, [l] for a testimony unto them.

15 But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: and [n] great multitudes came together, to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities.

16 And [o] he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.

17 And it came to pass on a certain day, as he was teaching, that [r] there were Pharisees and doctors of the law sitting by, which were come out of every town of Galilee, and Judea, and Jerusalem; and the power of the Lord was present to heal them.

18 And, [t] behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went upon the house-top, and let him down through the tiling, with his couch, into the midst before Jesus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive [w] sins, but God alone?

22 But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, he, answering, said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and [z] take up thy couch, and go unto thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay and departed to his own house, glorifying God.

26 And they were all amazed, and [b] they glorified God, and [c] were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to-day.

27 And [d] after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Levi, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 And Levi made him a great feast in his own house: and [f] there was a great company of publicans and of others that sat down with them.

30 But their scribes and Pharisees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners?

31 And Jesus, answering, said unto them, They that are whole need not a physician; [j] but they that are sick.

32 I came not to call the righteous, but sinners [k] to repentance.

33 And they said unto him, Why do the disciples of John fast often, and make prayers, and likewise the disciples of the Pharisees; but [m] thine eat and drink?

34 And he said unto them, Can ye make the children of the bridechamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them?

35 But the days will come when the bridegroom shall be taken away from them, and then shall they fast [p] in those days.

36 And [q] he spake also a parable unto them: No man putteth a piece of a new garment upon an old; if otherwise, then both the new maketh a rent, and the piece that was taken out of the new agreeth not [s] with the old.

37 And no man putteth new wine into old bottles; else the new wine will burst the bottles and be spilled, and the bottles shall perish.

38 But new wine must be put into new bottles; and both are preserved.

39 No man also having drunk old wine straightway desireth new: for he saith, The old [u] is better.

CHAP. VI.

AND [v] it came to pass on the second sabbath after the first, that he went through the corn-fields; and his disciples plucked the ears of corn, and did eat, rubbing them in their hands.

2 And certain of the Pharisees said unto them, Why do ye that which [x] is not lawful to do on the sabbath-days?

3 And Jesus answering them said, Have ye not read so much as this, what [y] David did, when himself was an hungred, and they which were with him;

4 How he went into the house of God, and did take and eat the shew-bread, and gave also to them that were with him; which it is not lawful [a] to eat, but for the priests alone?

5 And he said unto them, That the Son of man is Lord also of the sabbath.

6 And [a] it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue, and taught; and there was a man whose right hand was withered.

7 And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath-day, [f] that they might find an accusation against him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, [h] and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise [j] up, and stand forth in the midst. And he arose, and stood forth.

9 Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the sabbath-days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it?

10 And looking [n] round about upon them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other.

11 And they were filled with madness; and communed [p] one with another what they might do to Jesus.

12 And [q] it came to pass in those days, that he went out into a mountain [r] to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, he called unto him his disciples: and of them he chose twelve, [s] whom also he named Apostles;

14 Simon (whom [t] he also named Peter), and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew,

15 Matthew and Thomas, James the son of Alpheus, and Simon called Zelotes,

16 And Judas [z] the brother of James, and Judas Iscariot, which also was the traitor.

17 And he came down with them, and stood in the plain, and the company of his disciples, and [c] a great multitude of people out of all Judea and Jerusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, which came to hear him, and to be healed [h] of their diseases;

18 And they that were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch [i] him: for [f] there went virtue out of him, and healed them all.

20 And [k] he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye [l] poor: for your's is the kingdom of God.

21 Blessed are ye that hunger [k] now: for ye shall be filled. [l] Blessed are ye that weep [m] now: for ye shall laugh.

22 Blessed are ye when men shall hate [n] you, and when they shall separate [o] you from their company, and shall reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the Son of man's sake.

23 Rejoice [p] ye in that day, and leap for joy: for, behold, your reward is great in heaven: for in the like manner [r] did their fathers unto the prophets.

24 But woe unto you that are [s] rich! for ye have received [a] your consolation.

25 Woe unto you that are full! [b] for ye shall hunger. Woe unto you that laugh [d] now! for ye shall mourn and weep.

26 Woe unto you when all men shall speak well [e] of you! for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

27 But I say unto you which hear, Love [g] your enemies, do good to them which hate you;

28 Bless them that curse you, and [i] pray for them which despitefully use you.

29 And [k] unto him that smiteth thee on the one cheek offer also the other; and him [l] that taketh away thy cloak forbid not to take thy coat also.

30 Give [m] to every man that asketh of thee; and of him that taketh away thy goods ask them not again.

31 And [o] as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.

32 For if ye love them which love you, what thank have ye? for sinners also love those that love them.

33 And if ye do good to them which do good to you, what thank have ye? for sinners also do even the same.

34 And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank have ye? for sinners also lend to sinners, to receive as much again.

35 But love ye your enemies, [u] and do good, and lend, [v] hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and [w] ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful, and to the evil.

36 Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.

37 Judge [y] not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven:

38 Give, and it shall be given [a] unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. [e] For [d] with the same measure that ye mete withal, it shall be measured to you again.

39 And he spake a parable unto them Can [g] the blind lead the blind? shall they not both fall into the ditch?

40 The [j] disciple is not above his master: but every one [l] that is perfect shall be as his master.

41 And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but perceivest not the beam that is in thine own eye?

42 Either how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou thyself beholdest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite! cast [t] out first the beam out of thine own eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to pull out the mote that is in thy brother's eye.

43 For [t] a good tree bringeth not forth corrupt fruit; neither doth a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

44 For [a] every tree is known by his own fruit: for of thorns men do not gather figs, nor of a bramble-bush gather they [1] grapes.

45 A [b] good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart bringeth forth that which is evil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.

46 And why call ye me, [c] Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?

47 Whosoever cometh to me, and heareth my sayings, and doeth them, I will shew you to whom he is like:

48 He [f] is like a man which built an house, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock; and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently upon that house, and [g] could not shake it; for it was founded upon a rock.[i]

49 But he [k] that heareth, and doeth not, is like a man that without a foundation built an house upon the earth: against which the stream did beat vehemently, and immediately it fell; [l] and the ruin of that house was great.

CHAP. VII.

NOW [n] when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum.

2 And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear [p] unto him, was sick, and ready to die.

3 And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come and heal his servant.

4 And when they came to Jesus, they besought him instantly, saying, That he was worthy for whom he should do this:

5 For he loveth [s] our nation, and he hath built us a synagogue.

6 Then Jesus went with them. And when he was now not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble [v] not thyself; for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof:

7 Wherefore neither thought I myself worthy to come unto thee: but say [w] in a word, and my servant shall be healed.

8 For I also am a man set under authority, having under me soldiers: and I say unto [3] one, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

9 When Jesus heard these things, he marvelled at him, and turned him about, and said unto the people that followed him, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel.

10 And they that were sent, returning to the house, found the servant whole that had been sick.

11 And it came to pass the day after that he went into a city called Nain; and many of his disciples went with him, and much people.

12 Now when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not.

14 And he came and touched the [2] bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, [d] Arise.

15 And he that was dead [e] sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother.

16 And there came a fear on all: and they glorified God, saying, That a great prophet [h] is risen up among us; and, That [j] God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumour of him went forth throughout all Judea, and throughout all the region round about.

18 And the disciples of John shewed him of all these things.

19 And [m] John calling unto him two of his disciples, sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? [o] or look we for another?

20 When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another?

21 And in the same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight.

22 Then Jesus, answering, said unto them, Go your way, and tell [q] John what things ye have seen and heard; how [r] that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor [t] the gospel is preached.

23 And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended [u] in me.

24 And when the messengers of John were departed, he began to speak unto the people concerning John, What went ye out into the wilderness for to see? A reed shaken with the wind?

25 But what went ye out for to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and live delicately, are in kings' courts.[x]

26 But what went ye out for to see? A prophet? [y] Yea, I say unto you, and much more than a prophet.

27 This is he of whom it is written, [z] Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say unto you, Among those that are born of women, there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist but he that is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.

29 And all the people that heard him, and the publicans, justified [a] God, being baptized [b] with the baptism of John.

30 But the Pharisees and lawyers [1] rejected the counsel [c] of God [2] against themselves, being not baptized of him.

31 And the Lord said, Whereunto [d] then shall I liken the men of this generation? and to what are they like?

32 They are like unto children sitting in the market-place, and calling one to another, and saying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced; we have mourned to you, and ye have not wept.

33 For John the Baptist came [g] neither eating bread nor drinking wine; and ye say, He hath a devil.

34 The [h] Son of man is come eating and drinking; and ye say, Behold, a gluttonous man, and a wine-bibber, a friend of publicans and sinners!

35 But [k] Wisdom is justified of all her children.

36 And [l] one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him. And he went into the Pharisee's house, and sat down to meat.

37 And, behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, [n] when she knew that Jesus sat at meat in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster-box of ointment,

38 And stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment.

39 Now when the Pharisee which had bidden him saw it, he spake within himself, saying, This man, if [s] he were a prophet, would have known who and what manner of woman this is that toucheth him; for she is a sinner.[u]

40 And Jesus, answering, said unto him, Simon, I have somewhat to say unto thee. And he saith, Master, say on.

41 There was a certain creditor which had two debtors: the one owed five hundred [3] pence, and the other fifty:

42 And when they had nothing [z] to pay, he frankly forgave them both. Tell me, therefore, which of them will love him most?

43 Simon answered and said, I suppose that he to whom he forgave most. And he said unto him, Thou hast rightly [a] judged.

44 And he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, thou gavest me no water for my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head.

45 Thou gavest me no kiss: but this woman, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my feet.

46 My [f] head with oil thou didst not anoint: but this woman hath anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I say unto thee, Her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much: but to whom little is forgiven, the same loveth little.

48 And he said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven.

49 And they that sat at meat with him began to say within themselves, Who [e] is this that forgiveth sins also?

50 And he said to the woman, [f] Thy faith hath saved thee; go in peace.

CHAP. VIII.

AND it came to pass afterward, that he went throughout every city and village, preaching and shewing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God: and the twelve were with him;

2 And [i] certain women which had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary called Magdalene, out [j] of whom went seven devils,

3 And Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others, which ministered unto him [m] of their substance.

4 And when much people were gathered together, and were come to him out of every city, he spake by a parable:

5 A [o] sower went out to sow his seed: and as he sowed, some fell by the way-side; and it was trodden [p] down, and fowls of the air devoured it.

6 And some fell upon a rock; [q] and as soon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moisture.

7 And some fell among thorns; [r] and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it.

8 And other fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bare fruit an hundred-fold.[t] And when he had said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.[v]

9 And his disciples asked him, saying, What might this parable be?

10 And he said, Unto you it is given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God: but to others in parables; that seeing [w] they might not see, and hearing they might not understand.

11 Now [y] the parable is this: The [z] seed is the word of God.

12 Those by the way-side are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away [b] the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved.

13 They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive [c] the word with joy; and these have no root, [d] which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.

14 And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with [e] cares and riches and pleasures of this life and bring no fruit [f] to perfection.

15 But that on the good ground are they, which, in an honest and good heart, [a] having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with [c] patience.

16 No [d] man, when he hath lighted a candle, covereth it with a vessel, or putteth it under a bed; but setteth it on a candlestick, that they which enter in may see the light.

17 For [e] nothing is secret that shall not be made manifest; neither any thing hid that shall not be known and come abroad.

18 Take [g] heed therefore how ye hear: for [h] whosoever hath, to him shall be given; and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seemeth [l] to have 19 Then [i] came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come at him for the press.

20 And it was told him by certain, which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to see thee.

21 And he answered and said unto them, My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it.

22 Now [l] it came to pass on a certain day, that he went into a ship with his disciples: and he said unto them, Let us go over unto the other side of the lake. And they launched forth

23 But as they sailed, he fell asleep: and there came down a storm of wind on the lake; and they were filled with water, and were in jeopardy.

24 And they came to him, and [p] awoke him, saying, Master, master, we perish! Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water: and they ceased, and there was a calm.

25 And he said unto them, Where is your faith? And they, being afraid, wondered, saying one to another, What manner of man is this? for he commandeth even the winds and water, and they obey him.

26 And [r] they arrived at the country of the Gadarenes, which is over against Galilee.

27 And when he went forth to land, there met him out of the city a certain man, which had devils long time, and ware no clothes, neither abode in any house, but in the tombs

28 When he saw Jesus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud voice said, What have I to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of God most high? I beseech thee, torment [v] me not.

29 (For he had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For oftentimes it had caught him: and he was kept bound with chains and in fetters; and he brake the bands, and was driven of the devil into the wilderness.)

30 And Jesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? And he said, Legion: because many devils were entered into him.

31 And they besought him that he would not command them to go out into the deep. [b]

32 And there was there an herd of many swine feeding on the mountain: and they besought him that he would suffer them to enter into them: and he suffered them.

33 Then went the devils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd ran violently down a steep place into the lake, and were choked.

34 When they that fed them saw what was done, they fled, [f] and went and told it in the city and in the country.

35 Then they went out to see what was done; and came to Jesus, and found the man, out of whom the devils were departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed, and in his right [j] mind: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it told them by what means he that was possessed of the devils was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the country of the Gadarenes round about besought him [k] to depart from them, for they were taken with great fear: and he went up into the ship, and returned back again.

38 Now the man out of whom the devils were departed, besought him that he might be with [m] him: but Jesus sent him away, saying,

39 Return to thine own house, [n] and shew how great things [o] God hath done unto thee. And he went his way, and published throughout the whole city how great things Jesus had done unto him.

40 And it came to pass, that, when Jesus was returned, the people gladly received him: for they were all waiting for him.

41 And, behold, there [q] came a man named Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue; and he fell down at Jesus' feet, and besought him that he would come into his house:

42 For he had one only daughter, about twelve years of age, and she lay a dying. But as he went, the people thronged him.

43 And a woman having an issue of blood twelve years, which had spent [s] all her living upon physicians, [t] neither could be healed of any,

44 Came behind him, and touched the border of his garment: and [u] immediately her issue of blood stanched.

45 And Jesus said, Who touched me? When all denied, Peter, and they that were with him, said, Master, the multitude throng thee and press thee, and sayest thou, Who touched me?

46 And Jesus said, Somebody hath touched me: for I perceive that virtue [w] is gone out of me.

47 And when the woman saw that she was not hid, [x] she came trembling, [y] and falling down before him, she declared unto him, before all the people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48 And he said unto her, Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace.

49 While [a] he yet spake, there cometh one from the ruler [e] of the synagogue's house, saying to him, Thy daughter is dead; trouble not the Master.

50 But when Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Fear not: [g] believe only, and she shall be made whole.

51 And when he came into the house, he suffered no man to go in, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and the mother of the maiden.

52 And all wept, and bewailed her: but he said, Weep not; she is not dead, but sleepeth.[i]

53 And they laughed him to [j] scorn, knowing that she was dead.

54 And he put them all out, and took her by the hand, and called, saying, Maid, [l] arise.

55 And her spirit came again, and she arose straightway: and he commanded to give her meat.

56 And her parents were astonished; but he charged [n] them that they should tell no man what was done.

CHAP. IX.

THEN [p] he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases.

2 And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick.

3 And he said unto them, Take [r] nothing for your journey, neither staves, nor scrip, neither bread, neither money; neither have two coats apiece.

4 And whatsoever house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And whosoever will not receive you, when ye go out of that city shake [u] off the very dust from your feet, for a testimony against them.

6 And they departed, and went through the towns, preaching the gospel, and healing every where.

7 Now [v] Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he was perplexed, because that it was said of some that John was risen from the dead;

8 And of some, That Elias had appeared; and of others, That one of the old prophets was risen again.

9 And Herod said, John have I beheaded: but who is this, of whom I hear such things? And [z] he desired to see him.

10 And the apostles, when they were returned, told him all that they had done. And he took them, and went aside privately into a desert place, belonging to the city called Bethsaida.

11 And the people, when they knew [b] it, followed him: and he received [c] them, and spake unto them of the kingdom [a] of God, and healed them that had need [b] of healing.

12 And [c] when the day began to wear away, then came the twelve, and said unto him, Send the multitude away, that they may go into the towns and country round about, and lodge, and get victuals: for we are here in a desert [f] place.

13 But he said unto them, Give ye them to eat. And they said, We have no more but five loaves and two fishes; except we should go and buy meat for all this people.

14 (For they were about five thousand men.) And he said to his disciples,[h] Make them sit down by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and made them all sit down.

16 Then he took the five loaves and the two fishes; and looking up to heaven, he blessed them, and brake, and gave to the disciples to set before the multitude.

17 And they did eat, and were all [k] filled: and there was taken up of fragments that remained to them, twelve baskets.

18 And it [m] came to pass, as he was alone praying, his disciples were with him: and he asked them saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answering said, John [o] the Baptist; but some say, Elias; and others say, That one of the old prophets is risen again.

20 He said unto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter [q] answering said, The Christ of God.

21 And he straitly charged them, and commanded them to tell no man that thing;

22 Saying, The [s] Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be slain, and be raised the third day.

23 And he said to them all, If [t] any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me.

24 For whosoever will save his life, shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it.

25 For what is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world, and lose himself, or be cast away?

26 For [w] whosoever shall be ashamed of me and of my words, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his own glory, and in his Father's, and of the holy angels'.

27 But [x] I tell you of a truth, there be some standing here, which shall not [y] taste of death, till they see the kingdom of God.

28 And [z] it came to pass about an eight days after these [1] sayings, he took Peter and John and James, and went up into a mountain to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistering.

30 And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias 31 Who appeared in glory, and spake of his decease which he should accomplish at Jerusalem.

32 But Peter and they that were with him were heavy [b] with sleep: and when they were awake, they saw his [d] glory, and the two men that stood with him.

33 And it came to pass, as they departed from him, Peter said unto Jesus, Master, it [f] is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias: not knowing [h] what he said.

34 While he thus spake, there came a cloud, and overshadowed them: and they feared as they entered into the cloud.

35 And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This [i] is my beloved Son: hear [j] him.

36 And when the voice was past, Jesus was found alone. And they kept it close, and told no man in those days [l] any of those things which they had seen.

37 And [m] it came to pass, that on the next day, when they were come down from the hill, much people met him.

38 And, behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, look upon my son; for he is mine [p] only child:

39 And, lo, a spirit taketh him, and he suddenly crieth out; and it teareth him that he foameth again; and, bruising him hardly, departeth from him.

40 And I besought thy disciples to cast him out; and they could not.[r]

41 And Jesus answering said, O faithless [s] and perverse [t] generation! how long shall I be with you, and suffer you? Bring thy son hither.

42 And as he was yet a coming the devil threw him down, and tare him. And Jesus rebuked [u] the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him again to his father.

43 And they were all amazed [v] at the mighty power of God. But while they wondered every one at all things which Jesus did, he said unto his disciples,

44 Let these sayings sink down into your ears for [z] the Son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men.[y]

45 But [a] they understood not this saying, and it was hid from them, that they perceived it not: and they feared to ask him of that saying.

46 Then [c] there arose a reasoning among them, which of them should be greatest.

47 And Jesus, perceiving the thought of their heart, took a child, and set him by him,

48 And said unto them, Whosoever [f] shall receive this child in my name, receiveth me; and whosoever shall receive me, receiveth him that sent me: for [h] he that is least among you all, the same shall be great.

49 And John answered and said, Master, we [a] saw one casting out devils in thy name; and we forbad him, because he followeth not with us.

50 And Jesus said unto him, Forbid him not: for [c] he that is not against us, is for us.

51 And it came to pass, when the time was come that he should be received [e] up, he stedfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem

52 And sent messengers before his face and they went, and entered into a village of the Samaritans, [g] to make ready for him.

53 And they did not receive him, because his face was as though he would go to Jerusalem.

54 And when his disciples, James and John, saw this, they said, Lord, wilt thou that we command fire to come down from heaven, and consume them, even as Elias [k] did?

55 But he turned, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not what manner of spirit ye are of.

56 For [m] the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them. And they went to another village.

57 And [o] it came to pass, that, as they went in the way, a certain man said unto him, Lord, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest.

58 And Jesus said unto him, Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head.

59 And he said unto another, Follow me. But he said, Lord, suffer [q] me first to go and bury my father.

60 Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury their dead; but go thou and preach the kingdom of God.

61 And another also said, Lord, I will follow thee; but let me first go bid them farewell which are at home at my house.

62 And Jesus said unto him, No man having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God.

CHAP. X.

AFTER [w] these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come.

2 Therefore said he unto them, [z] The harvest truly is great, but the [b] labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest.

3 Go your ways: behold, I send you forth as lambs among wolves.

4 Carry [d] neither purse, nor scrip, nor shoes: and [e] salute no man by the way.

5 And into whatsoever house ye enter, first say, Peace be to this house.

6 And if the son [g] of peace be there, your peace shall rest [i] upon it: if not, it shall turn to you again.

7 And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give. for [a] the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house [c] to house.

8 And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat [d] such things as are set before you:

9 And heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, The [e] kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.

10 But into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you not, go your ways out into the streets of the same, and say,

11 Even [j] the very dust of your city, which cleaveth on us, we do wipe off against you: notwithstanding, be ye sure of this, that the kingdom of God is come nigh unto you.

12 But I say unto you, that it shall be more tolerable in that day for Sodom, than for that city.

13 Woe [m] unto thee, Chorazin! woe unto thee, Bethsaida! for [n] if the mighty works had been done in Tyre and Sidon, which have been done in you, they had a great while ago repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

14 But it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment, than for you.

15 And thou, Capernaum, which [r] art exalted to heaven, shall be thrust [t] down to hell.

16 He [v] that heareth you, heareth me; and he [w] that despiseth you, despiseth me; and [x] he that despiseth me, despiseth him that sent me.

17 And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name.

18 And he said unto them, I beheld Satan [z] as lightning fall from heaven.

19 Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents [a] and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you.

20 Notwithstanding, in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written [d] in heaven.

21 In that hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit, and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes: even so, Father; for so it seemed good in thy sight.

22 All [2] things [f] are delivered to me of my Father: and no [g] man knoweth who the Son is, but the Father; and who the Father is, but the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal him.

23 And he turned him unto his disciples, and said privately, Blessed are the eyes which see the things that ye see:

24 For I tell you, that [j] many prophets and kings have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them.

25 And, behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what [b] shall I do to inherit [d] eternal life?

26 He said unto him, What is written in the law? how readest thou?

27 And he answering said, Thou [f] shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy [h] neighbour as thyself.

28 And he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and [i] thou shalt live

29 But he, willing to justify [k] himself, said unto Jesus, and who is my [l] neighbour?

30 And Jesus answering said, A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

31 And by chance there came down a certain priest that way; and when he saw [o] him, he passed by [o] on the other side.

32 And likewise a Levite, when he was at the place, came and looked [p] on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 But a certain Samaritan, [q] as he journeyed, came where he was: and when he saw him, he had compassion [s] on him, 34 And went to him, and bound [u] up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him.

35 And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two [1] pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again I will repay [y] thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercy [b] on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise.

38 Now it came to pass, as they went, that he entered into a certain village: and a certain woman, named Martha, [c] received him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat [c] at Jesus' feet, and heard his word.

40 But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me.

41 And Jesus answered and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art [h] careful and troubled about many things:

42 But one thing [i] is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

A. D. 32.

2 And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our [a] Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name: Thy kingdom come: Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth.

3 Give us [1] day by day our daily bread:

4 And forgive us our sins; for [b] we also forgive every one that is indebted to us: And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil.

5 And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves;

6 For a friend of mine [2] in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him:

7 And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee.

8 I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity [c] he will rise and give him as many as he needeth.

9 And I say unto you, Ask, [d] and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.

10 For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.

11 If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent?

12 Or if he shall ask an egg, will he offer [3] him a scorpion?

13 If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him!

14 And [k] he was casting out a devil, and it was dumb. And it came to pass, when the devil was gone out, the dumb spake; and the people wondered.

15 But some of them said, He casteth out devils through [4] Beelzebub the chief of the devils.

16 And others, tempting him, [n] sought of him a sign from heaven.

17 But he, knowing [p] their thoughts, said unto them, Every [q] kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house divided against a house, falleth.

18 If Satan also be divided against himself how shall his kingdom stand? because ye say that I cast out devils through Beelzebub.

19 And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your sons cast them out? therefore shall they be your judges.

20 But if I with the finger [u] of God cast out devils, no doubt the kingdom of God is come upon you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, his goods are in peace:

22 But when a stronger [x] than he shall come upon him, and overcome him, he taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils.

23 He that is not with me is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house whence I came out.

25 And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in, and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse [e] than the first.

27 And it came to pass, as he spake these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said unto him, Blessed [d] is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea, rather blessed [f] are they that hear the word of God, and keep it.

29 And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to say, This is an evil generation: they seek a sign; and [h] there shall no sign be given it, but the sign of Jonas the prophet.

30 For as Jonas [i] was a sign unto the Ninevites, so shall also the Son of man be to this generation.

31 The queen [j] of the south shall rise up in the judgment with the men of this generation, and condemn them: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and, behold, a greater than Solomon is here.

32 The men of Nineveh shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for [l] they repented at the preaching of Jonas: and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here.

33 No [m] man, when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a secret place, neither under a bushel, but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light.

34 The [o] light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light: but when thine eye is evil, [r] thy body also is full of darkness.

35 Take heed, therefore, that the light which is in thee be not darkness.

36 If thy whole body therefore be full of light, [s] having no part dark, the whole shall be full of light, as when [5] the bright shining [t] of a candle doth give thee light.

37 And as he spake, a certain Pharisee besought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sat down to meat.

38 And [v] when the Pharisee saw it, he marvelled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39 And the LORD said unto him, Now do [w] ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but [y] your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness.

40 Ye fools, did not he that made that which is without make that which is within also?

41 But [a] rather give alms [1] of such things as ye have; and, behold, all things are clean unto you.

42 But woe [b] unto you, Pharisees! for ye tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass over judgment and the love of God: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.

43 Woe unto you, Pharisees! for [c] ye love the uppermost seats in the synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are as [f] graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them are not aware of them.

45 Then answered one of the lawyers, and said unto him, Master, thus saying, thou reproachest us also.

46 And he said, Woe unto you also, ye lawyers! for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens [j] with one of your fingers.

47 Woe unto you! for ye build the sepulchres of the prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48 Truly ye bare witness that ye allow [m] the deeds of your fathers: for they indeed killed them,[n] and ye build their sepulchres.

49 Therefore also said the wisdom of God, I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they shall slay and persecute;

50 That the blood of all the prophets, which was shed from the foundation of the world, may be required [r] of this generation;

51 From the blood of Abel [t] unto the blood of Zacharias,[u] which perished between the altar and the temple: Verily I say unto you, It shall be required of this generation.[z]

52 Woe unto you, lawyers! for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: [y] ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in ye [3] hindered.

53 And as he said these things unto them, the scribes and Pharisees began to urge him vehemently, and to provoke [4] him to speak of many things;

54 Laying wait for him, and [b] seeking to catch something out of his mouth, that they might accuse him.

CHAP. XII.

IN [c] the mean time, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, insomuch that they trode one upon another, he began to say unto his disciples first of all, Beware ye of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2 For [j] there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known.

3 Therefore whatsoever ye have spoken in darkness shall be heard in the light; and that which ye have spoken in the ear, in closets, shall be proclaimed upon the house-tops.

4 And I say unto you, my [c] friends, [d] Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do.

5 But I will forewarn you whom ye shall fear: Fear him which, after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell; yea, I say unto you, Fear him.

6 Are not five sparrows sold for two farthings? [2] and not one of them is forgotten before God:

7 But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not, therefore: ye are of more value than many sparrows.

8 Also I say unto you, [g] Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess [h] before the angels of God:

9 But he that denieth [i] me before men, shall be denied before the angels [k] of God.

10 And whosoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but unto him that blasphemeth against the Holy Ghost, it shall not [l] be forgiven.

11 And when they bring you unto the synagogues, and unto magistrates and powers, take [o] ye no thought how or what thing ye shall answer, or what ye shall say:

12 For the Holy Ghost shall teach [p] you in the same hour what ye ought to say.

13 And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me.[q]

14 And he said unto him, Man,[s] who made me a judge or a divider over you?

15 And he said unto them, Take heed and beware of covetousness; [v] for a man's life [w] consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth.

16 And he spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully:

17 And he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits?

18 And he said, This will [a] I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods.

19 And I will say to my soul, Soul, [c] thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, [d] drink, and be merry.

20 But God said unto him, Thou fool! this night [4] thy [f] soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided? [g]

21 So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, [h] and is not rich [i] toward God.

22 And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take [k] no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on.

23 The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment.

24 Consider the ravens: [b] for they neither sow nor reap; which neither have storehouse nor barn; and God feedeth them. How much more are ye better than the fowls?

25 And which of you with taking thought can add to his stature one cubit?

26 If ye then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take ye thought for the rest?

27 Consider the lilies, how they grow; they toil not, they spin not: and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

28 If then God so clothe the grass, which is to-day in the field, and to-morrow is cast into the oven, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith!

29 And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, [2] neither be ye of doubtful mind.

30 For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things.

31 But [k] rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all [l] these things shall be added unto you.

32 Fear not, little flock; [m] for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom.[n]

33 Sell [p] that ye have, and give alms: provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure [q] in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

35 Let [t] your loins be girded about, and your lights [t] burning;

36 And ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their lord, when he will return from the wedding; that, when he cometh and knocketh, they may open unto him immediately.

37 Blessed [v] are those servants whom the lord, when he cometh, shall find watching: verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them.

38 And if he shall come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants.

39 And this know, that if the good man of the house had known what hour the thief [y] would come, he would have watched, and not have suffered his house to be broken through.

40 Be ye therefore ready [a] also: for the Son of man cometh at an hour when ye think not 41 Then Peter said unto him, Lord, speakest thou this parable unto us, or even to all?

42 And the Lord said, Who then is that faithful and wise steward, [a] whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season?

43 Blessed [c] is that servant, whom his lord, when he cometh, shall find so doing.

44 Of a truth I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath.

45 But and if that servant say in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; and shall begin to beat [d] the men-servants and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken;

46 The lord of that servant will come in a day when he looketh not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will [1] cut him in sunder, [e] and will appoint him his portion with the unbelievers.

47 And that servant which [f] knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten [g] with many stripes.

48 But he [h] that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For [i] unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required: and to whom men have [j] committed much, of him they will ask the more.

49 I am come to send fire on the earth; and what will I if it be already kindled?

50 But I have a baptism to be baptized with; and how am I [3] straitened till it be accomplished!

51 Suppose [o] ye that I am come to give peace on earth? I tell you, Nay; but rather division:

52 For from henceforth there shall be five in one house divided, three against two, and two against three.

53 The father [r] shall be divided against the son, and the son against the father; the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother; the mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law, and the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.

54 And he said also to the people, When [u] ye see a cloud rise out of the west, straightway ye say, There cometh a shower: and so it is.

55 And when ye see the south wind blow, ye say, There will be heat: and it cometh to pass.

56 Ye hypocrites! ye can discern the face of the sky, and of the earth; but how is it that ye do not discern this time?

57 Yea, and why even of [w] yourselves judge ye not what is right?

58 When [z] thou goest with thine adversary to the magistrate, as thou art in [z] the way, give diligence that thou mayest be delivered from him; lest he hale thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and the officer cast thee into prison.

59 I tell thee, thou shalt not depart thence, till thou hast paid the very [4] last mite.

CHAP. XIII.

THERE were present at that season some that told him of the [a] Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled [b] with their sacrifices.

2 And Jesus answering said unto them, Suppose ye that these Galileans were sinners above all the Galileans, because they suffered such things?

3 I tell you, Nay: but except ye repent, [c] ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or those eighteen, upon whom the tower in Siloam fell, and slew them, think ye that they were [2] sinners above all men that dwelt in Jerusalem?

5 I tell you, Nay: but except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish.

6 He spake also this parable: A [e] certain man had a fig-tree planted in his vineyard; and he came and sought [f] fruit thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he unto the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig-tree, and find none: cut it down: [k] why cumbereth it the ground?

8 And he answering said unto him, Lord, let it alone [l] this year also, till I shall dig about it, and dung it:

9 And if it bear fruit, well: and if not, then after that [n] thou shalt cut it down.

10 And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath:

11 And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity [q] eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself.

12 And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou [s] art loosed from thine infirmity.

13 And [t] he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed [v] on the sabbath-day, and said unto the people, There [w] are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath-day.

15 The Lord then answered him, and said, Thou hypocrite! [x] doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose [a] his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering?

16 And ought not this woman, being a daughter [c] of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath-day?

17 And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: [d] and all the people rejoiced for all the [e] glorious things that were done by him.

18 Then said he, Unto [g] what is the kingdom of God like? and whereunto shall I resemble it?

19 It is like a grain of mustard-seed, which a man took and cast into his garden; and it grew, and waxed a great tree; and the fowls of the air lodged in the branches of it.

20 And again he said, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God?

21 It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three [1] measures of meal, till the whole was leavened.

22 And he went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem.

23 Then said one unto him, Lord, are there few that be saved? And he said unto them, 24 Strive [d] to enter in at the strait gate: for [f] many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When [h] once the master of the house is risen up, and hath shut [i] to the door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, [j] Lord, open unto us; and he shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are:

26 Then shall ye begin to say, We have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets.

27 But [m] he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are; depart from me, all ye workers [o] of iniquity.

28 There [p] shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and you yourselves thrust out.

29 And they [r] shall come from the east, and from the west, and from the north, and from the south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God.

30 And, behold, there [u] are last which shall be first, and there are first which shall be last.

31 The same day there came certain of the Pharisees, saying unto him, Get thee out, and depart hence: for Herod will kill thee.

32 And he said unto them, Go ye, and tell that fox, [z] Behold, I cast out devils, and I do cures to-day and to-morrow, and the third day I shall be [y] perfected.

33 Nevertheless, I must walk to-day, and to-morrow, and the day following: for it cannot be that a prophet perish out of Jerusalem.

34 O [b] Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the prophets, and stonest them that are sent unto thee; how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen doth gather her brood under her wings, and ye would not!

35 Behold, [f] your house is left unto you desolate: and verily I say unto you, Ye shall not see me, until the time come when ye shall say, Blessed [h] is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

CHAP. XIV.

A. D. 33.

1 It came to pass, as he went into the house of one of the chief Pharisees to eat bread on the sabbath-day, that they watched [b] him.

2 And, behold, there was a certain man before him which had the dropsy.

3 And Jesus, answering, spake unto the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is [c] it lawful to heal on the sabbath-day?

4 And they held their peace. And he took him, and healed him, and let him go:

5 And answered them, saying, [h] Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the sabbath-day?

6 And they could not answer him again to these things.

7 And he put forth a parable to those which were bidden, when he marked how they chose out the chief rooms; saying unto them,

8 When [l] thou art bidden of any man to a wedding, sit not down in the highest room; lest a more honourable man than thou be bidden of him;

9 And he that bade thee and him come and say to thee, Give this man place; and thou begin with shame to take the lowest room.

10 But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, go up higher; then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee.

11 For [q] whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

12 Then said he also to him that bade him, When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor thy [t] rich neighbours; lest they also bid thee again, and a recompense be made thee.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the [u] poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind:

14 And thou shalt be blessed; for they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just.

15 And when one of them that sat at meat with him heard these things, he said unto him, Blessed [x] is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God.

16 Then said he unto him, A [z] certain man made a great supper, [a] and bade many:

17 And sent his servant at supper-time to say to them that were bidden, Come, for [c] all things are now ready.

18 And they all with one consent began to make excuse. The [e] first said unto him, I have bought a piece of ground, and I must needs go and see it: I pray thee have me excused.

19 And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them: I pray thee have me excused.

20 And another said, I have [a] married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that servant came, and shewed his lord these things. Then the master of the house, being angry, [c] said to his servant, Go out quickly into the streets [d] and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, [f] and the maimed, and the halt, [g] and the blind.

22 And the servant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet [i] there is room.

23 And the lord said unto the servant, Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel [j] them to come in, that my house may be filled.

24 For I say unto you, that [k] none of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper.

25 And there went great multitudes with him: and he turned and said unto them,

26 If any man come to me, and [m] hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life [n] also, he cannot be my disciple.

27 And [o] whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple.

28 For which of you, intending [p] to build a tower, sitteth not down first and counteth the cost, whether he have sufficient to finish it?

29 Lest haply, after he hath laid the foundation, and is not able to finish it, all that behold it begin to mock him,

30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to finish.[r]

31 Or what king, going to make war against another king, sitteth not down first, and consulteth [s] whether he be able with ten thousand to meet him that cometh against him with twenty thousand?

32 Or else, while the other is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassage, and desireth conditions of peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all [v] that he hath, he cannot be my disciple.

34 Salt [w] is good; but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be seasoned?

35 It is neither fit for the land, nor yet for the dunghill; but men [y] cast it out. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

THEN [b] drew near unto him all the publicans and sinners, for to hear him.

2 And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, This man receiveth sinners, and eateth [d] with them.

wilderness, and go after that which is lost, until he find it?

5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing.

6 And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep [f] which was lost.

7 I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons which [g] need no repentance.

8 Either what woman having ten [1] pieces of silver, if she lose one piece, doth not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently till she find it?

9 And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends and her neighbours together, saying, Rejoice with me; for I have found the piece which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say unto you, [h] there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth.

11 And he said, A certain man had two sons:

12 And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living. [n]

13 And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living.

14 And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine [q] in that land; and he began to be in want.

15 And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.

16 And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks [s] that the swine [t] did eat: and no man gave unto him.

17 And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger!

18 I [u] will arise, and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee,

19 And am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants.

20 And he arose, and came to his father: But when he was yet a great way [v] off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21 And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, [w] and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son.

22 But the father said to his servants, Bring [x] forth the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet:

23 And bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it; and let us eat and be merry:

24 For [a] this my son was dead, [b] and is alive [c] again; he was [d] lost, and is found. And they began to be merry.

25 Now his elder son was in the field: and as he came and drew nigh to the house, he heard music and dancing: [e]

26 And he called one of the servants, and asked what these things meant.

27 And he said unto him, Thy brother is come; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.

28 And he was angry, [k] and would not go in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.

29 And he, answering, said to his father, Lo, these many years do I [i] serve thee, neither transgressed [j] I at any time thy commandment: and yet thou never gavest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends:

30 But as soon as this thy son was come, which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf.

31 And he said unto him, Son, thou art ever [l] with me, and all that I have is thine.

32 It was meet [m] that we should make merry, and be glad: [o] for [p] this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost and is found.

CHAP. XVI.

AND he said also unto his disciples, There was a certain rich man which had a steward: and the same was accused unto him that he had wasted his goods.

2 And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? Give an account of thy stewardship; [r] for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward said within himself, What shall I do, for my lord taketh away from me the stewardship? I cannot dig; to beg I am ashamed.

4 I am resolved what to do, that, when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.

5 So he called every one of his lord's debtors unto him, and said unto the first, How much owest thou unto my lord?

6 And he said, An hundred [2] measures of oil. And he said unto him, Take thy bill, and sit down quickly, and write fifty.

7 Then said he to another, And how much owest thou? And he said, An hundred [3] measures of wheat. And he said unto him, Take thy bill, and write fourscore.

8 And the lord commended the unjust steward because he had done wisely: for the children of this world are in their generation wiser than the [y] children of light.

9 And I say unto you, Make [4] to yourselves friends of the [4] mammon of unrighteousness: that, when ye fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations.

10 He [a] that is faithful in that which is least, is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least, is unjust also in much.

11 If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous [1] mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches?

12 And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another man's, who shall give you that which is your own?

13 No [c] servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

14 And the Pharisees also, who [f] were covetous, heard all these things: and they derided him.

15 And he said unto them, Ye are they which justify yourselves [h] before men; but God [i] knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed [j] among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 The [k] law and the prophets were until John: since that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man presseth into it.

17 And [m] it is easier for heaven and earth to pass, than one tittle of the law to fail.

18 Whosoever [n] putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

19 There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day:

20 And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores,

21 And desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man's table: moreover, the dogs came and licked his sores.

22 And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom: [r] the [s] rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And [t] in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom:

24 And he cried and said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; [v] for I am tormented in this flame.[w]

25 But Abraham said, Son, remember that thou in thy lifetime [y] receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things: but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 And beside all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you cannot; neither [b] can they pass to us that would come from thence.

27 Then he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him to my father's house;

28 For I have five brethren; that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham saith unto him, They [b] have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.

30 And he said, Nay, father Abraham: but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent.

31 And he said unto him, If [d] they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will [e] they be persuaded though one rose from the dead.

CHAP. XVII.

THEN said he unto the disciples, It [g] is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him through whom they come!

2 It were better for him that a mill-stone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones.

3 Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke [l] him; and if he repent, forgive him.

4 And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou [o] shalt forgive him.

5 And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase [p] our faith.

6 And the Lord said, If [q] ye had faith as a grain of mustard-seed, ye might say unto this sycamine-tree, Be thou plucked up by the root, and be thou planted in the sea; and it should obey you.

7 But which of you, having a servant ploughing, or feeding cattle, will say unto him by and by, when he is come from the field, Go, and sit down to meat?

8 And will not rather say unto him, Make ready wherewith I may sup, and gird thyself, and serve me till I have eaten and drunken; and afterward thou shalt eat and drink?

9 Doth he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I trow not.

10 So likewise ye, when ye shall have done all those things which are commanded you, say, We are [u] unprofitable servants; we have done that which was our duty to do.

11 And it came to pass, as he went to Jerusalem, that he passed through the midst of Samaria [x] and Galilee.

12 And as he entered into a certain village, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stood afar [z] off:

13 And they lifted up their voices, and said, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.

14 And when he saw them, he said unto them, Go shew [a] yourselves unto the priests. And it came to pass, that, as [c] they went, they were cleansed

15 And one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice glorified [b] God,

16 And fell down on his face at his feet, giving him thanks: and he was a [c] Samaritan.

17 And Jesus answering said, Were there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There are not [e] found that returned to give glory to God, save this stranger.

19 And he said unto him, Arise, go thy way: thy [f] faith hath made thee whole.

20 And when he was demanded of the Pharisees when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh [2] not with observation:

21 Neither shall they say, Lo here! or, Lo there! for, behold, the [g] kingdom of God is [3] within you.

22 And he said unto the disciples, The [h] days will come when ye shall desire to see one of the days of the Son of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 And [j] they shall say to you, See here; or, See there: go not after them, nor follow them.

24 For as the lightning, that lighteneth out of the one part under heaven, shineth unto the other part under heaven; so shall also the Son of man be in his day.

25 But [n] first must he suffer many things, and be rejected of this generation.

26 And as it was [o] in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man.

27 They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all.

28 Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot; they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded:

29 But the same day that Lot went out [r] of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all.

30 Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed. [t]

31 In that day, he which shall be upon the house-top, and his stuff in the house, let him not come down to take it away: and he that is in the field, let him likewise not return back.

32 Remember Lot's [v] wife.

33 Whosoever [w] shall seek to save his life, shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life, shall preserve it.

34 I tell you, in that night there [x] shall be two men in one bed; the one shall be taken, and the other shall be left.

35 Two women shall be grinding together; the one shall be taken, and the other left.

36 Two [b] men shall be in the field; the one shall be taken, and the other left.

37 And they answered and said unto him, Where, Lord? And he said unto them, Wheresoever the body is, [d] thither will the eagles be gathered together.

CHAP. XVIII.

AND he spake a parable unto them, to this end, that men ought [d] always to pray, and not to faint:

2 Saying, There was [1] in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man:

3 And there was a widow in that city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary.

4 And he would not for a while: but afterward he said within himself, Though I fear not God, nor regard man;

5 Yet, because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.

6 And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith.

7 And shall not God avenge [i] his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them?

8 I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. [k] Nevertheless, when the Son of man cometh, shall [l] he find faith on the earth?

9 And he spake this parable unto certain which [m] trusted in themselves [4] that they were righteous, and despised others:

10 Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican.

11 The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself: God, I thank thee that I am not [p] as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican:

12 I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess.

13 And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote [q] upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner.

14 I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for [s] every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.

15 And [u] they brought unto him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 But Jesus called them unto him, and said, Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

17 Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, [y] shall in nowise enter therein.

18 And [z] a certain ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?

19 And Jesus said unto him, Why callest thou me good? None is good save one, that is, God.

20 Thou knowest the [a] commandments,

Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not steal, Do not bear false witness, Honour thy father and thy mother.

21 And he said, All these have I kept from my youth up.

22 Now when Jesus heard these things, he said unto him, Yet lackest thou one thing: sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure [e] in heaven; and come, follow me.

23 And when he heard this, he was very sorrowful; for he was very rich.

24 And when Jesus saw that he was very sorrowful, he said, How [f] hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God!

25 For it is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And they that heard it said, Who then can be saved?

27 And he said, The [h] things which are impossible with men, are possible with God.

28 Then Peter said, Lo, we have left all, and followed thee.

29 And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, there is no man that hath [j] left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God's sake,

30 Who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life [m] everlasting.

31 Then he took unto him the twelve, and said unto them, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and [p] all things that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of man shall be accomplished.

32 For he shall be delivered [s] unto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and spitefully entreated, and spitted on:

33 And they shall scourge him, and put him to death: and the third day he shall rise again.

34 And [v] they understood none of these things: and this saying was hid from them, neither knew they the things which were spoken.

35 And it [z] came to pass, that as he was come nigh unto Jericho, a certain blind man sat by the way-side, begging:

36 And hearing the multitude pass by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they told him, that Jesus of Nazareth passeth by.

38 And he cried, saying, Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy [z] on me.

39 And they which went before rebuked him, that he should hold his peace: but he cried [a] so much the more, Thou son of David, have mercy on me.

40 And Jesus stood, and commanded him to be brought unto him: and when he was come near, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I shall do unto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receive [n] sight.

CHAP. XIX.

AND Jesus entered and passed through Jericho.[d]

2 And, behold, there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the chief among the publicans, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Jesus, who he was; and could not for the press, because he was little of stature.

4 And he ran before, and climbed up into a sycamore-tree to see him; for he was to pass that way.

5 And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and saw [g] him, and said unto him, Zaccheus, make haste, and come down; for to-day I must abide [i] at thy house.

6 And he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully.

7 And when they saw it, they all murmured, saying, That [k] he was gone to be guest with a man that is a sinner.

8 And Zaccheus stood, and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor: [l] and if I have taken any thing from any man by [n] false accusation, I restore [o] him four-fold.

9 And Jesus said unto him, This day is salvation come to this house, forsomuch as he also is a son [q] of Abraham

10 For [r] the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.[t]

11 And as they heard these things, he added and spake a parable, because he was nigh to Jerusalem, and because [u] they thought that the kingdom of God should immediately appear.

12 He said therefore, A certain [w] nobleman went into a far country, to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return.

13 And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten [1] pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come.

14 But [y] his citizens hated him, and sent a message after him, saying, We will not have this man to reign over us.

15 And it came to pass, that when he was returned, having received the kingdom, then he commanded these servants to be called unto him, to whom he had given the [2] money, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained ten pounds.

17 And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful [b] in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained five pounds

19 And he said likewise to him, Be thou also over five cities.

20 And another came, saying, Lord, Behold, here is thy pound, which I have kept laid up in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art an austere man: thou takest up that thou layedst not down, and reapest that thou didst not sow.

22 And he saith unto him, Out [d] of thine own mouth will I judge thee, thou wicked servant. Thou knewest that I was an austere man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping that I did not sow:

23 Wherefore [e] then gavest not thou my money into the bank, that at my coming I might have required mine own with usury?

24 And he said unto them that stood by, Take from him the pound, and give it to him that hath ten pounds.

25 (And they said unto him, Lord, he hath ten pounds.)

26 For I say unto you, that [f] unto every one which hath shall be given; and from him that hath not, even that he hath shall be taken away from him.

27 But those mine enemies, [g] which would not that I should reign over them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 And when he had thus spoken, he went before, ascending up to Jerusalem.

29 And [h] it came to pass, when he was come nigh to Bethphage and Bethany, at the mount called the mount of Olives, he sent two of his disciples,

30 Saying, Go ye into the village over against you; in the which, at your entering, ye shall find a colt tied, whereon yet never man sat: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man ask you, Why do ye loose him? thus shall ye say unto him, Because the Lord hath need [i] of him.

32 And they that were sent went their way and found even as he had said unto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof said unto them, Why loose ye the colt?

34 And they said, The Lord hath need of him.

35 And they brought him to Jesus: and they cast their [u] garments upon the colt, and they set [v] Jesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spread their clotnes in the way.

37 And when he was come nigh, even now at the descent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice, for all the mighty works that they had seen;

38 Saying, Blessed [y] be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord; [z] peace in heaven, and glory in the highest.

39 And some of the Pharisees from among the multitude said unto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 And he answered and said unto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the [a] stones would immediately cry out.

41 And when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over [b] it,

42 Saying, If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, [c] the things which belong unto thy peace! But now they are hid from thine eyes.

43 For the days shall come upon thee, that thine enemies shall cast [d] a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keep thee in on every side, 44 And [f] shall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children within thee and they [h] shall not leave in thee one stone upon another; because [i] thou knewest not the time of thy visitation.

45 And [j] he went into the temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought;

46 Saying unto them, It is [k] written, My house is the house of prayer: but ye have made it a den [m] of thieves.

47 And he taught [n] daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes, and the chief of the people, sought to destroy him;

48 And could not find what they might do: for all the people [o] were very attentive to hear him.

CHAP. XX.

AND [p] it came to pass, that on one of those days, as he taught the people in the temple, and preached the gospel, the chief priests and the scribes came upon him, with the elders,

2 And spake unto him, saying, Tell us, By [r] what authority doest thou these things? or who is he that gave thee this authority?

3 And he answered and said unto them, I will also ask you one thing; and answer me:

4 The baptism of John, was it from heaven, or of men?

5 And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say, Why then believed ye him not?

6 But and if we say, Of men; all the people will stone us; for [t] they be persuaded that John was a prophet.

7 And they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 And Jesus said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

9 Then began he to speak to the people this parable: A [w] certain man planted a vineyard, [x] and let it forth to husbandmen, and went into a far country for a long time.

10 And at the season, he sent a servant to the husbandmen, that they should give him of the fruit [z] of the vineyard; but the husbandmen beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 And again he sent another servant and they beat him also, and entreated him shamefully, and sent him away empty.

12 And again he sent a third: and they wounded him also, and cast him out.

13 Then said the lord of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son: it may be they will reverence him, when they see him.
14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned among themselves, saying, This is the heir: [a] come, let [b] us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.
15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What therefore shall the lord of the vineyard do unto them?
16 He shall come and destroy these husbandmen, and shall give the vineyard to others. [g] And when they heard it, they said, God forbid.
17 And he beheld them, and said, What is this then that is written, The [i] stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner?
18 Whosoever shall fall upon that stone shall be broken; but [k] on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.
19 And the chief priests and the scribes the same hour sought to lay hands on him; and they feared the people: for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.
20 And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should feign themselves just men, that [n] they might take hold of his words, that so they might deliver him unto the power and authority of the governor.
21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest and teachest rightly, neither acceptest thou the person of any, but teachest the way of God [1] truly:
22 Is it lawful for us to give tribute unto Cesar, or no?
23 But he perceived their craftiness, and said unto them, Why tempt ye me?
24 Shew me a [2] penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered and said, Cesar's.
25 And he said unto them, Render [u] therefore unto Cesar the things which be Cesar's, and unto God the things which be God's.
26 And they could not take hold of his words before the people: and they marvelled at his answer, and held [w] their peace.
27 Then [x] came to him certain of the Sadducees, [y] which deny that there is any resurrection; and they asked him,
28 Saying, Master, Moses wrote [a] unto us, If any man's brother die, having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.
29 There were therefore seven brethren: and the first took a wife, and died without children.
30 And the second took her to wife, and he died childless.
31 And the third took her; and in like manner the seven also: and they left no children, and died.

32 Last of all the woman died also.
33 Therefore in the resurrection whose wife of them is she? for seven had her to wife.
34 And Jesus answering said unto them, The children of this world marry, and are given in marriage:
35 But they which shall be accounted worthy [c] to obtain that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry, nor are given in marriage:
36 Neither [d] can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; [e] and are the [f] children of God, being the children of the resurrection.
37 Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed [h] at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.
38 For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for [j] all live unto him.
39 Then certain of the scribes answering, said, Master, thou hast well said.
40 And after that they durst not ask him any question at all.
41 And [l] he said unto them, How say they that Christ is David's son?
42 And David himself saith [m] in the book of Psalms, The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand,
43 Till I make thine enemies thy footstool.
44 David therefore calleth him Lord; how is he then his son?
45 Then, in the audience of [o] all the people, he said unto his disciples,
46 Beware [p] of the scribes, which desire to walk in long robes, and love greetings [q] in the markets, and the highest seats in the synagogues, and the chief rooms at feasts;
47 Which [r] devour widows' houses, and for a shew [s] make long prayers: the same shall receive greater [t] damnation.

CHAP. XXI.

AND he looked up, and [v] saw the rich men casting their gifts into the treasury.
2 And he saw also a certain poor widow casting in thither two [3] mites.
3 And he said, Of a truth I say unto you, that this poor widow hath cast in more [z] than they all:
4 For all these have of their abundance cast in unto the offerings of God: but she of her penury hath cast in all the living that she had.
5 And [b] as some spake of the temple, how it was adorned with goodly stones and gifts, he said,
6 As for these things which ye behold, the days will come, in the which [c] there shall not be left one stone upon another that shall not be thrown down.
7 And they asked him, saying, Master, but when shall these things be? and what sign will there be when these things shall come to pass?

8 And he said, Take [b] heed that ye be not deceived: for many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and [c] the time draweth near; go ye not therefore after them.

9 But when ye shall hear of wars and commotions, be [f] not terrified: for these things must first come to pass, but the end is not by and by.

10 Then said he unto them, [g] Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom;

11 And great earthquakes shall be in divers places, and famines, and pestilences; and fearful sights and great signs shall there be from heaven.

12 But before all these, they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues, and into prisons, [j] being brought before kings [k] and rulers for my name's sake.

13 And [m] it shall turn to you for a testimony.

14 Settle it therefore in your hearts, not to [o] meditate before what ye shall answer:

15 For I will give you a mouth and wisdom, which all your adversaries shall not be able to gainsay [r] nor resist.

16 And [u] ye shall be betrayed both by parents, and brethren, and kinsfolks, and friends; and [v] some of you shall they cause to be put to death.

17 And ye shall be hated [x] of all men for my name's sake.

18 But [y] there shall not an hair of your head perish.

19 In your patience [z] possess ye your souls.

20 And when ye shall see Jerusalem compassed with armies, then know that the desolation thereof is nigh.

21 Then let them which are in Judea flee to the mountains; and let them which are in the midst of it depart out; and let not them that are in the countries enter thereinto.

22 For these be the days of vengeance, that all [d] things which are written may be fulfilled.

23 But woe unto them [e] that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days! for there shall be great distress in the land, and wrath upon this people.

24 And they shall fall by the edge of the sword, and shall be led away captive into all nations: and Jerusalem [h] shall be trodden down of the Gentiles, until the times [i] of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress [j] of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring;

26 Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the [k] powers of heaven shall be shaken.

27 And then shall they see the Son of man coming [a] in a cloud with power and great glory.

28 And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption [d] draweth nigh.

29 And [e] he spake to them a parable; Behold the fig-tree, and all the trees;

30 When they now shoot forth, ye see and know of your own selves that summer is now nigh at hand.

31 So likewise ye, when ye see these things come to pass, know ye that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand.

32 Verily I say unto you, This generation shall not pass away till all be fulfilled

33 Heaven [h] and earth shall pass away; but my word shall not pass away.

34 And take heed [i] to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, [l] and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares.

35 For [n] as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch [p] ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted [q] worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to [s] stand before [t] the Son of man.

37 And in the day-time he was teaching in the temple: and at night he went out, and abode in the mount [w] that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came early in the morning to him in the temple, for to hear him.

CHAP. XXII.

NOW [a] the feast of unleavened bread drew nigh, which is called the Passover.

2 And [b] the chief priests and scribes sought how they might kill him; for they feared the people.

3 Then [c] entered Satan into Judas surnamed Iscariot, being of the number of the twelve.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray him unto them.

5 And they were glad, and covenanted [f] to give him money.

6 And he promised, and sought opportunity to betray him unto them [1] in the absence of the multitude.

7 Then came the day [g] of unleavened bread, when the passover must be killed.

8 And he sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat.

9 And they said unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare?

10 And he said unto them, Behold, when ye are entered into the city, there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house where he entereth in 11 And ye shall say unto the good man of the house, The Master saith unto thee, Where is the guest-chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples?

12 And he shall shew you a large upper room furnished: there make ready.

13 And they went, and found as he had said unto them: and they made ready the passover.

14 And [b] when the hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve apostles with him.

15 And he said unto them, [1] With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer.

16 For I say unto you, I will not any more eat thereof, until [c] it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.

17 And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this and divide it among yourselves:

18 For I say unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God shall come.

19 And [f] he took bread, and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying, This is my body, which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me.

20 Likewise also the cup after supper, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

21 But, behold, the hand of him that betrayeth me is with me [g] on the table.

22 And truly the Son of man goeth as it was determined: [h] but woe unto that man by whom he is betrayed!

23 And they began to inquire among themselves, which of them it was that should do this thing.

24 And [k] there was also a strife among them, which of them should be accounted the greatest.

25 And he said unto them, The [l] kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authority upon them are called Benefactors.

26 But [n] ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve.

27 For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat, or he that serveth? Is not he that sitteth at meat? But [p] I am among you as he that serveth.

28 Ye are they which have continued with me in my temptations: [q]

29 And I appoint unto you a [r] kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me:

30 That [s] ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones, judging [t] the twelve tribes of Israel.

31 And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired [u] to have you, that he may sift [v] you as wheat:

32 But I [w] have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: and when thou art converted, strengthen [x] thy brethren.

33 And he said unto him, Lord, I am ready to go with thee, both into prison and to death.

34 And he said, I tell thee, Peter, the cock shall not crow this day, before that thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest me.

35 And he said unto them, When [a] I sent you without purse, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thing? And they said, Nothing.

36 Then said he unto them, But now, he that hath a purse, let him take it, and likewise his scrip: and he that hath no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one.

37 For I say unto you, That this that is written [d] must yet be accomplished in me, And he was reckoned among the transgressors: for the things concerning me have an end.

38 And they said, Lord, behold, here are two swords: and he said unto them, It is enough.

39 And [e] he came out, and went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives: and his disciples also followed him.

40 And when he was at the place, he said unto them, Pray that ye enter not into temptation.

41 And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, if thou be [2] willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless, not my will, but thine be done.

43 And there appeared an angel [i] unto him from heaven, strengthening him.

44 And [j] being in an agony, he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground.

45 And when he rose up from prayer, and was come to his disciples, he found them sleeping for sorrow,

46 And said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and pray, [m] lest ye enter into temptation.

47 And while he yet spake, behold, [o] a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near unto Jesus, to kiss him.

48 But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?

49 When they which were about him saw what would follow, they said unto him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?

50 And one of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear.

51 And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him.

52 Then Jesus said unto the chief priests, and captains of the temple, and the elders, which were come to him, Be ye come out, as against a thief, with swords and staves?

53 When I was daily with you in the temple ye stretched forth no hands against me: but this is your hour,[a] and the power of darkness.

54 Then took they him, and led him, and brought him into the high-priest's house. And Peter followed afar off.

55 And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the hall, and were set down together, Peter sat down among them.

56 But[d] a certain maid beheld him as he sat by the fire, and earnestly looked upon him, and said, This man was also with him.

57 And he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

59 And about the space of one hour after, another[j] confidently affirmed, saying, Of a truth this fellow also was with him; for he is a Galilean.

60 And Peter said, Man, I know not what thou sayest. And immediately, while he yet spake, the cock crew.

61 And the Lord turned, and looked upon Peter. And[m] Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how he had said unto him, Before[o] the cock crow, thou shalt deny me thrice.

62 And[q] Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 And[r] the men that held Jesus mocked him, and smote him.

64 And when they had blindfolded him, they struck him on the face, and asked him, saying, Prophesy, who is it that smote thee?

65 And many other things blasphemously spake they against him.

66 And[t] as soon as it was day, the elders of the people and the chief priests and the scribes came together, and led him into their council, saying,

67 Art[v] thou the Christ? tell us. And he said unto them, If I tell you, ye will not believe:

68 And if I also ask you, ye will not answer me, nor let me go.

69 Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand[w] of the power of God.

70 Then said they all, Art thou then the Son of God? And he said unto them, Ye say that I am.

71 And they said, What need we any further witness? for we ourselves have heard of his own mouth.

AND[y] the whole multitude of them arose, and led him unto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse[z] him, saying, We found this fellow[a] perverting the nation, and forbidding to give tribute[c] to Cesar, saying, that he[d] himself is Christ a King.

3 And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And[e] he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the chief priests and to the people, I find no[b] fault in this man.

5 And they were the more fierce,[c] saying, He stirreth up the people, teaching, throughout all Jewry, beginning from Galilee to this place.

6 When Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And as soon as he knew that he belonged unto Herod's[e] jurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, who himself also was at Jerusalem at that time.

8 And when Herod saw Jesus, he was exceeding glad: for[g] he was desirous to see him of a long season, because[h] he had heard many things of him: and[i] he hoped to have seen some miracle done by him.

9 Then he questioned with him in many words; but[k] he answered him nothing.

10 And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused him.

11 And Herod with his men of war set him at nought,[l] and mocked him, and arrayed him in a gorgeous[n] robe, and sent him again to Pilate.

12 And the same day Pilate and[p] Herod were made friends together; for before they were at enmity between themselves.

13 And Pilate, when he had called together the chief priests and the rulers and the people,

14 Said unto them, Ye have brought this man unto me as one that perverteth the people; and, behold, I,[s] having examined him before you, have found no fault in this man, touching those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and, lo, nothing worthy of death is done unto him.

16 I will therefore chastise[u] him, and release him.

17 (For of necessity he must release one unto them at the feast.)

18 And they cried out all at once, saying, Away with this man, and release unto us Barabbas:

19 (Who for a certain sedition made in the city, and for murder,[x] was cast into prison.)

20 Pilate therefore, willing to release Jesus, spake again to them.

21 But they cried, saying, Crucify him, crucify him.

22 And he said unto them the third time, Why, what evil hath he done? I have found no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him go.

23 And they were instant[b] with loud voices, requiring that he might be crucified. And the voices of them and of the chief priests prevailed.

24 And Pilate[1] gave sentence that it should be as they[f] required.

25 And he released unto them[g] him that for sedition and murder was cast into prison, whom they had desired; but he delivered Jesus to their will.

26 And [c] as they led him away, they laid hold upon one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus.

27 And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which also bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Jesus turning unto them, said, Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me, but weep for yourselves, and for your children.

29 For, behold, the days [e] are coming, in the which they shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombs that never bare, and the paps which never gave suck.

30 Then [f] shall they begin to say to the mountains, Fall on us; and to the hills, Cover us.

31 For [h] if they do these things in a green tree, what shall be done in the dry?

32 And there were also two others, malefactors, [i] led with him to be put to death.

33 And when they were come to the place which is called [l] Calvary, there they crucified him, and the malefactors; one on the right hand, and the other on the left.

34 Then said Jesus, Father, [m] forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

35 And the people stood beholding. And the rulers also with them [o] derided him, saying, He saved others; let him save himself, if he be Christ, the chosen of God.

36 And the soldiers also mocked him, coming to him, and offering him vinegar, 37 And saying, If thou be the King of the Jews, save thyself.

38 And a superscription also was written over him, in letters of Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew, THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

39 And one [r] of the malefactors which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be Christ, save thyself and us.

40 But the other answering, rebuked him, saying, Dost not thou fear [t] God, seeing thou art in the same [u] condemnation?

41 And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man hath done nothing [v] amiss.

42 And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember [x] me when thou comest into thy kingdom.

43 And Jesus said unto him, Verily [y] I say unto thee, To-day shalt thou be with me in paradise. [z]

44 And it was about the sixth hour, and there was darkness over all [3] the earth until the ninth hour.

45 And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the temple was rent in the midst.

46 And when Jesus had cried with a loud voice, he said, Father, into [a] thy hands I commend my spirit: and [b] having said thus, he gave up the ghost.

47 Now when the centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Certainly this was a righteous man.

48 And all the people that came together to that sight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts, and returned.

49 And all his acquaintance, and the women that followed him from Galilee, stood afar [d] off, beholding these things.

50 And, behold, there was a man named Joseph, a counsellor; and he was a good man, and a just:

51 (The same had not consented to the counsel and deed of them:) he was of Arimathea, a city of the Jews; who [g] also himself waited for the kingdom of God.

52 This man went unto Pilate, and begged the body of Jesus.

53 And he took it down, and wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a [j] sepulchre that was hewn in stone, wherein never man before was laid.

54 And that day was the [k] Preparation, and the sabbath drew on.

55 And the women [l] also, which came with him from Galilee, followed after, and beheld the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned, and [n] prepared spices and ointments; and rested the sabbath-day, according [p] to the commandment.

CHAP. XXIV.

NOW [q] upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre.

3 And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, [s] two men stood by them in shining garments:

5 And, as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye [2] the living among the dead?

6 He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake [w] unto you when he was yet in Galilee,

7 Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

8 And they remembered his words,

9 And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the rest.

10 It was Mary Magdalene, and [a] Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things unto the apostles.

11 And their words seemed to them as idle tales,[a] and they believed them not.

12 Then [b] arose Peter, and ran unto the sepulchre; and stooping down, he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed, wondering in himself at that which was come to pass.

13 And, behold, two [d] of them went that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jerusalem about threescore furlongs.

14 And they talked together of all these things which had happened.

15 And it came to pass, that, while they communed [f] together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.

16 But their eyes were holden,[g] that they should not know him.

17 And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are sad?

18 And the one of them, whose name was Cleopas, [j] answering said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the things which are come to pass there in these days?

19 And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, which was a [l] prophet mighty [m] in deed and word before God and all the people:

20 And [n] how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him.

21 But we trusted that it had been [o] he which should have redeemed Israel: and beside all this, to-day is the third day since these things were done.

22 Yea, and certain women [r] also of our company made us astonished, which were early at the sepulchre:

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying that they had also seen a vision of angels, which said that he was alive.

24 And certain [v] of them which were with us went to the sepulchre, and found it even so as the women had said; but him they saw not.

25 Then he said unto them, [y] O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken!

26 Ought [z] not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter [b] into his glory?

27 And beginning at Moses, [d] and all the prophets, [f] he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself.

28 And they drew nigh unto the village whither they went: and he [h] made as though he would have gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us; for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent. And he went in to tarry with them.

30 And it came to pass as he sat at meat with them, he [c] took bread, and blessed it, and brake, and gave to them.

31 And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he [i] vanished out of their sight.

32 And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn [e] within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?

33 And they rose up the same hour and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Saying, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath [k] appeared to Simon.

35 And they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of bread.

36 And [i] as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

37 But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed [k] that they had seen a spirit.

38 And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts?

39 Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: handle me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have.

40 And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his hands and his feet.

41 And while they yet believed [p] not for joy, and wondered, he said unto them, Have [q] ye here any meat?

42 And they gave him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an honey-comb.

43 And he took it, and did eat [s] before them.

44 And he said unto them, These [t] are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all [u] things must be fulfilled which were written in the law of Moses, and in the [w] prophets, and in the psalms, [x] concerning me.

45 Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures,

46 And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ [a] to suffer, and to rise [c] from the dead the third day:

47 And that repentance and [e] remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

48 And ye are witnesses [g] of these things.

49 And, behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the

The GOSPEL according to St. JOHN.

CHAP. I.

A. D 26.

IN [a] the beginning was the Word, [b] and the Word was with [c] God, and the Word was [d] God.

2 The same was in the beginning with God.

3 All [e] things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made.

4 In him [f] was life; and the life was the light [i] of men.

5 And the light shineth in [j] darkness; and the darkness comprehended [k] it not.

6 There was a man [l] sent from God, whose name was John.

7 The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe.

8 He [n] was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.

9 That was the true Light, [o] which lighteth every man that cometh into the world.

10 He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and [p] the world knew him not.

11 He [r] came unto his own, and his own received him not.

12 But as many [t] as received him, to them gave he [3] power to become the sons of God, even to them [v] that believe on his name:

13 Which were born, [w] not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

14 And the Word [x] was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and [y] we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only-begotten of the Father,) full [z] of grace and truth.

15 John [a] bare witness of him, and cried, saying, This was he of whom I spake, He that cometh after me is preferred before me: for he was before me.

16 And of his fulness [c] have all we received, and grace for grace.

17 For the law was given by Moses, but grace [e] and truth came by Jesus Christ.

18 No man hath seen God [f] at any time; the [g] only-begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him.

19 And this [h] is the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who art thou?

20 And he confessed, and denied not; but confessed, I am not the Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he saith, I am not. Art thou [1] that prophet? And he answered, No.

22 Then said they unto him, Who art thou? that we may give an answer to them that sent us. What sayest thou of thyself?

23 He [f] said, I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the prophet [h] Esaias.

24 And they which were sent were of the Pharisees.

25 And they asked him, and said unto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, nor Elias, neither that prophet?

26 John answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there standeth one [m] among you, whom ye know not:

27 He it is, who, coming after me, is preferred before me, whose shoe's latchet I am not worthy to unloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara, [q] beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 The next day, John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb [t] of God, which [2] taketh [u] away the sin of the world!

30 This is he of whom I said, After me cometh a man which is preferred before me: for he was before me.

31 And I knew him not: but that he should be made manifest to Israel, therefore am I come baptizing with water.

32 And John bare record, saying, I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and it abode upon him.

33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, the same said unto me, Upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit descending, and remaining [b] on him the same is he which baptizeth [d] with the Holy Ghost.

34 And I saw, and bare record that this is the Son of God.

35 Again, the next day after, John stood, and two of his disciples;

36 And looking upon Jesus as he walked, he saith, Behold the Lamb of God!

37 And the two disciples heard him speak, and they followed Jesus.

38 Then Jesus turned, and saw them following, and saith unto them, What seek ye? They said unto him, Rabbi.

(which is to say, being interpreted, Master,) where dwellest [1] thou?

39 He saith unto them, Come and see. They came and saw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about [2] the tenth hour.

40 One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother.

41 He first findeth his own brother Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted, [3] The Christ.

42 And he brought him to Jesus. And when Jesus beheld him, he said, Thou art Simon the son of Jona: thou [d] shalt be called Cephas, which is, by interpretation, [4] A stone.

43 The day following, Jesus would go forth into Galilee, and findeth Philip, and saith unto him, Follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.

45 Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him of whom Moses [h] in the law, and the prophets did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.

46 And Nathanael said unto him, [i] Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip saith unto him, Come and see.

47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him, and saith of him, Behold [m] an Israelite indeed, in whom is no guile!

48 Nathanael saith unto him, Whence knowest thou me? Jesus answered and said unto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the fig-tree, I saw [n] thee.

49 Nathanael answered and saith unto him, Rabbi, thou [o] art the Son of God; thou art the King [q] of Israel.

50 Jesus answered and said unto him, Because I said unto thee, I saw thee under the fig-tree, believest thou? Thou shalt see greater things than these.

51 And he saith unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Hereafter ye shall see heaven [t] open, and the angels [u] of God ascending and descending upon the Son of man.

CHAP. II.

AND the third day there was a marriage [w] in Cana of Galilee; and the mother of Jesus was there:

2 And both Jesus was called, and his disciples, to the marriage. [y]

3 And [z] when they wanted wine, the mother of Jesus saith unto him, They have no wine.

4 Jesus saith unto her, Woman, what have I to do with thee? Mine hour is not yet come.

5 His mother saith unto the servants, Whatsoever [b] he saith unto you, do it.

6 And there were set there six water-pots of stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three firkins apiece.

7 Jesus saith unto them, Fill the waterpots with water. And they filled them up to the brim.

8 And he saith unto them, Draw [c] out now, and bear unto the governor [d] of the feast. And they bear it.

9 When the ruler of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, and knew not whence it was, (but the [e] servants which drew the water knew,) the governor of the feast called the bridegroom,

10 And saith unto him, Every man at the beginning doth set forth good wine; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept the good [e] wine until now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana of Galilee, and manifested [f] forth his glory; and his disciples believed [g] on him.

12 After this he went down to Capernaum, he, and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples: and they continued there not many days.

13 And the Jews' passover [i] was at hand, and Jesus [k] went up to Jerusalem,

14 And found [l] in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money sitting:

15 And when he had made a scourge of small cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers' money, and overthrew the tables;

16 And said unto them that sold doves, Take these things hence; make not my Father's house an house of merchandise.

17 And his disciples remembered that it was written, [p] The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up.

18 Then answered the Jews and said unto him, What sign [r] shewest thou unto us, seeing that thou doest these things?

19 Jesus answered and said unto them, Destroy [s] this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.

20 Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this temple in building, and wilt thou rear it up in three days?

21 But he spake of the temple [v] of his body.

22 When therefore he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered [x] that he had said this unto them: and they believed the scripture, and the word which Jesus had said.

23 Now when he was in Jerusalem at the passover, in the feast-day, many believed in his name, when they saw the miracles which he did.

24 But Jesus did not commit himself unto them, because he [a] knew all men,

25 And needed not that any should testify of man: for he knew what was in man.

CHAP. III.

THERE was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, [b] a ruler of the Jews:

2 The same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God; for [c] no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except [f] God be with him.

3 Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, [h] Except [n] man be born [2] again, he cannot see the kingdom of God

4 Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?

5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water [l] and of the Spirit, [m] he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That [o] which is born of the flesh is flesh: and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

7 Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born [4] again.

8 The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so [u] is every one that is born of the Spirit.

9 Nicodemus answered and said unto him, How can these things be?

10 Jesus answered and said unto him, Art thou a master of Israel, and knowest not these things?

11 Verily, verily, I say unto thee, [y] We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and ye receive not our witness.

12 If I have told you earthly things, and ye believe not, how shall ye believe if I tell you of heavenly things?

13 And [a] no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven.

14 And [d] as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up;

15 That whosoever [g] believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life.

16 For [i] God so loved the world, that he gave his only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

17 For [k] God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.

18 He [m] that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only-begotten Son of God.

19 And this is the condemnation, that light [o] is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil

20 For every one that doeth evil, hateth the light, neither [a] cometh to the light, lest his deeds should [1] be reproved.

21 But he that doeth [e] truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest that they are wrought [d] in God.

22 After these things came Jesus and his disciples into the land of Judea; and there he tarried with them, and [g] baptized.

23 And John also was baptizing in Enon, near to Salim, [i] because there was much water there; and [j] they came and were baptized:

24 For John [k] was not yet cast into prison.

25 Then there arose a question between some of John's disciples and the Jews, about purifying.

26 And they came unto John, and said unto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan, to whom thou [n] bearest witness, behold, the same baptizeth, and all [p] men come to him.

27 John answered and said, A [q] man can [3] receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven.

28 Ye yourselves bear me witness, that I said, [r] I am not the Christ, but that [t] I am sent before him.

29 He that hath the bride [t] is the bridegroom: but the friend [v] of the bridegroom, which standeth and heareth him, rejoiceth greatly because of the bridegroom's voice. This my joy therefore is fulfilled.

30 He must increase, but I must decrease.

31 He that cometh from above, [w] is above all: he [x] that is of the earth, is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven, is above all.

32 And what he hath seen and heard, that he testifieth; and no [z] man receiveth his testimony.

33 He that hath received his testimony hath [b] set to his seal that God is true.

34 For [c] he whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the Spirit by measure [e] unto him.

35 The Father loveth the Son, [f] and hath given all things into his hand.

36 He [h] that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath [j] of God abideth on him.

CHAP. IV.

WHEN therefore the Lord knew how the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized [l] more disciples than John,

2 (Though Jesus himself baptized not, but his disciples,)

3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee.

4 And he must needs [n] go through Samaria.

5 Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave [p] to his son Joseph

Digitized by Google

6 Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied with his journey, sat thus on the well: and it was about the sixth hour.

7 There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jesus saith unto her, Give me to drink.

8 (For his disciples were gone away unto the city to buy meat.)

9 Then saith the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria?—for the Jews have no dealings[b] with the Samaritans

10 Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift[c] of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living[d] water.

11 The woman saith unto him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then hast thou that living water?

12 Art thou greater than our father Jacob, which gave us the well, and drank thereof himself, and his children, and his cattle?

13 Jesus answered and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again:

14 But[h] whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give[j] him, shall never thirst: but the water that I shall give him shall be in him[l] a well of water springing up into everlasting life.

15 The woman saith unto him, Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not, neither come hither to draw, 16 Jesus saith unto her, Go, call thy husband, and come hither.

17 The woman answered and said, I have no husband. Jesus said unto her, Thou hast well said, I have no husband:

18 For thou hast had five husbands; and he whom thou now hast is not thy husband: in that saidst thou truly.

19 The woman saith unto him, Sir, I perceive[p] that thou art a prophet.

20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountain; [q]and ye say, that in Jerusalem[r] is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Jesus saith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh, when[t] ye shall neither in this mountain, nor yet at Jerusalem, worship the Father.

22 Ye worship[u] ye know not what: we know what we worship; for[w] salvation is of the Jews.

23 But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit[y] and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him.

24 God[a] is a spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.

25 The woman saith unto him, I know that Messias cometh, which is called Christ when he is come, he will tell us all things

26 Jesus saith unto her,[c] I that speak unto thee am he.

27 And upon this came his disciples, and marvelled that he talked with the woman yet no man said, What seekest thou? or Why talkest thou with her?

28 The woman then left her water-pot and went her way into the city, and saith to the men,

29 Come, see a man, which told me all things that ever I did: Is not this the Christ?

30 Then they went out of the city, and came unto him.

31 In the mean-while his disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eat.

32 But he said unto them, I have meat to eat that ye know not of.

33 Therefore said the disciples one to another, hath any man brought him aught to eat?

34 Jesus saith unto them, My[e] meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish f his work.

35 Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields, for they are white already to[g] harvest.

36 And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit[i] unto life eternal; that both[k] he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together.

37 And herein is that saying true, One[m] soweth, and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reap that whereon ye bestowed no labour: other[n] men laboured, and ye are entered into their labours.

39 And many of the Samaritans of that city believed on him for the saying[o] of the woman which testified, He told me all that ever I did.

40 So when the Samaritans were come unto him, they besought him that he would tarry with them: and he abode there two days.

41 And many more believed because of his own word;

42 And said unto the woman, Now we believe, not because of thy saying; for[s] we have heard him ourselves, and know[t] that this is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world.

43 Now after two days he departed thence, and went into Galilee.

44 For Jesus himself testified, that[v] a prophet hath no honour in his own country.

45 Then, when he was come into Galilee, the Galileans received him, having seen[x] all the things that he did at Jerusalem at the feast: for[z] they also went unto the feast.

46 So Jesus came again into Cana of Galilee, where he made[b] the water wine. And there was a certain[l] nobleman, whose son was sick at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judea into Galilee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would come down, and heal his son: for he was at the point of death.

48 Then said Jesus unto him, Except ye see signs [c] and wonders, ye will not believe.

49 The nobleman saith unto him, Sir, come down ere my child die.

50 Jesus saith unto him, Go [e] thy way; thy son liveth. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and he went his way.

51 And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth.

52 Then inquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.

53 So the father knew that it was at the same [i] hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, [k] and his whole house.

54 This is again the second miracle that Jesus did, when he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

CHAP. V.

AFTER this there was a feast [m] of the Jews; and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

2 Now there is at Jerusalem, by the sheep [2] market, a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches.

3 In these lay a great multitude of impotent folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water.

4 For an angel went down at a certain season into the pool, and troubled the water: whosoever then first [p] after the troubling of the water stepped in, was made whole [q] of whatsoever disease he had.

5 And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity [s] thirty and eight years.

6 When Jesus saw him lie, and [t] knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he saith unto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The impotent man answered him, Sir, I have [w] no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me.

8 Jesus saith unto him, Rise, [y] take up thy bed, and walk.

9 And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on [a] the same day was the sabbath.

10 The Jews therefore said unto him that was cured, It is the sabbath-day; [b] it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed.

11 He answered them, He that made me whole, the same said unto me, Take up thy bed, and walk.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which said unto thee, Take up thy bed, and walk?

13 And he that was healed wist [a] not who it was: for Jesus had conveyed [b] himself away, [1] a multitude being in that place.

14 Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin [d] no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee.

15 The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus which had made him whole.

16 And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath-day.

17 But Jesus answered them, My [f] Father worketh hitherto, and I work.

18 Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill [g] him, because he not only had broken the sabbath, but said also that God was his Father, making [h] himself equal with God.

19 Then answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, [j] The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise.

20 For [l] the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may marvel.

21 For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even [n] so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed [o] all judgment unto the Son:

23 That all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son, honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.

24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He [r] that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed [u] from death unto life.

25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead [v] shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live.

26 For as the Father hath life in himself, so hath he given to the Son to have life [x] in himself;

27 And hath given him authority [z] to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man.

28 Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice,

29 And shall come forth; they [c] that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.[d]

30 I [e] can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear I judge: and my judgment is just, because I seek not mine own will, but the will [f] of the Father which hath sent me

31 If I bear witness [a] of myself, my witness is not true.

32 There is another [b] that beareth witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.

33 Ye sent unto John, and [c] he bare witness unto the truth.

34 But I receive not testimony from man: but [d] these things I say, that ye might be saved.

35 He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing [e] for a season to rejoice in his light.

36 But I have greater witness than that of John; for the works [f] which the Father hath given me to finish, [g] the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.

37 And the Father [i] himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye [k] have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape.

38 And ye have not his word [l] abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.

39 Search [m] the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are [n] they which testify of me.

40 And ye will not come [p] to me, that ye might have life.

41 I receive not honour from [q] men.

42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.

43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.

44 How can ye believe, which [s] receive honour one of another, and seek [u] not the honour that cometh from God only?

45 Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is [v] one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust.

46 For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he [x] wrote of me.

47 But if ye [y] believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

CHAP. VI.

AFTER [z] these things Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.

3 And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.

4 And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was nigh.

5 When Jesus then lift up his eyes, and saw a great company come unto him, he saith unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?

6 (And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.)

7 Philip answered him, Two [b] hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.

8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, saith unto him,

9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley-loaves and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.

11 And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 When they were filled, [h] he said unto his disciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing [j] be lost.

13 Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley-loaves, which remained over and above unto them that had eaten.

14 Then those men, when they had seen the miracle that Jesus did, said, This is of a truth that [n] Prophet that should come into the world.

15 When Jesus therefore perceived that they would come and take him by force, to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himself alone.

16 And [r] when even was now come, his disciples went down unto the sea,

17 And entered into a ship, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was now dark, and Jesus was not come to them.

18 And the sea arose, [t] by reason of a great wind that blew.

19 So when they had rowed about five and twenty or thirty furlongs, they see Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing nigh unto the ship: and they were afraid.

20 But he saith unto them, It is [w] I; be not afraid.

21 Then they willingly received him into the ship: and immediately the ship was at the land whither they went.

22 The day following, when the people which stood on the other side of the sea saw that there was none other boat there, save that one whereinto his disciples were entered, and that Jesus went not with his disciples into the boat, but that his disciples were gone away alone;

23 (Howbeit there came other boats from Tiberias, nigh unto the [a] place where they did eat bread, after that the Lord had given thanks;)

24 When the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also took shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Jesus.

25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they said unto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 Jesus answered them and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Ye seek me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves, and were filled.

27 Labour [1] not for the meat which perisheth, but for that [c] meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him [e] hath God the Father sealed.

28 Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God?

29 Jesus answered and said unto them, This [h] is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent 30 They said therefore unto him, What sign [j] shewest thou then, that we may see and believe thee? what dost thou work?

31 Our fathers [l] did eat manna in the desert; as it is written, [n] He gave them bread from heaven to eat.

32 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but my [p] Father giveth you the true bread from heaven.

33 For the bread of God [r] is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.

34 Then said they unto him, Lord, evermore give us this bread.

35 And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he [v] that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he [w] that believeth on me shall never thirst.

36 But I said unto you, that ye [y] also have seen me, and believe not.

37 All [a] that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him [b] that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out.

38 For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but [c] the will of him that sent me.

39 And this is the Father's will [d] which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me I shall lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day.

40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that [e] every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will [k] raise him up at the last day.

41 The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, I am the bread which came down from heaven.

42 And they said, Is [j] not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how is it then that he saith, I came down from heaven?

43 Jesus therefore answered and said unto them, Murmur not among yourselves.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father, which hath sent me, draw [m] him: and I will raise him up at the last day.

45 It is written [n] in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man [o] therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me.

46 Not [q] that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God; [q] he hath seen the Father.

47 Verily, verily, I say unto you, [b] He that believeth on me hath everlasting life.

48 I [d] am that bread of life.

49 Your fathers did eat manna in the wilderness, and [f] are dead.

50 This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof, and [g] not die.

51 I am the living bread which came down from heaven. If any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, [i] which I will give for the life [k] of the world.

52 The Jews therefore strove among themselves, saying, How [m] can this man give us his flesh to eat?

53 Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except [o] ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you.

54 Whoso [q] eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life; and I will raise him up at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meat indeed, [s] and my blood is drink indeed.

56 He that eateth [t] my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth [u] in me, and I in him.

57 As the living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father; so [z] he that eateth me, even he shall live by me.

58 This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers [z] did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth of this bread shall live for ever.

59 These things said he in the synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 Many therefore of his disciples, when they had heard this, said, This is an hard saying; who can hear it?

61 When Jesus knew in himself that his disciples murmured at it, he said unto them, Doth this offend you?

62 What and if ye shall see the Son of man ascend [f] up where he was before?

63 It [g] is the Spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing; the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life.

64 But there are some of you that believe not. For Jesus knew [i] from the beginning who they were that believed not, and who should betray him.

65 And he said, Therefore said I [k] unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it were given unto him of my Father.

66 From that time many of his disciples went back, [l] and walked no more with him.

67 Then said Jesus unto the twelve, Will ye also go away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the [p] words of eternal life.

69 And [r] we believe and are sure that thou art that Christ, the Son of the living God.

70 Jesus answered them, Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a [b] devil?

71 He spake of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, being one of the twelve.

CHAP. VII.

AFTER these things, Jesus walked in Galilee: for he would not walk in Jewry, because the Jews sought to kill him.

2 Now the Jews' feast [c] of tabernacles was at hand.

3 His brethren therefore said unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy disciples also may see the works that thou doest.

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing in secret, and he himself seeketh to be known openly. If thou do these things, shew thyself to the world.

5 For neither did his brethren [i] believe in him.

6 Then Jesus said unto them, My [l] time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

7 The [m] world cannot hate you; but me it hateth, because I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil.

8 Go ye up unto this feast: I go not up yet unto this feast; for my time is not yet full come.

9 When he had said these words unto them, he abode still in Galilee.

10 But when his brethren were gone up, then went he also up unto the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret.

11 Then [q] the Jews sought him at the feast, and said, Where is he?

12 And [s] there was much murmuring among the people concerning him: for some said, He is a good man: others said, Nay; but he deceiveth the people.

13 Howbeit, no man spake openly of him, for fear of the Jews.

14 Now about the midst of the feast, Jesus went up into the temple, and taught.

15 And [v] the Jews marvelled, saying, How knoweth this man [3] letters, having never learned?

16 Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not [w] mine, but his that sent me.

17 If [y] any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself.

18 He [a] that speaketh of himself, seeketh his own glory: but he that [b] seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him.

19 Did not Moses [e] give you the law, and yet none [f] of you keepeth the law? Why go ye about to kill [g] me?

20 The people answered and said, [h] Thou hast a devil: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 Jesus answered and said unto them, I have done one work, and ye all marvel.

22 Moses [k] therefore gave unto you circumcision; (not because it is of Moses, but [n] of the fathers;) and ye on the sabbath-day circumcise a man.

23 If a man on the sabbath-day receive circumcision, [1] that the law of Moses should not be broken; are ye angry at me, because [o] I have made a man every whit whole on the sabbath-day?

24 Judge [d] not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.

25 Then said some of them of Jerusalem, Is not this he whom they seek to kill?

26 But, lo, he speaketh boldly, and they say nothing unto him. Do [f] the rulers know indeed that this is the very Christ?

27 Howbeit [r] we know this man whence he is; but when Christ cometh, no man knoweth whence he is.

28 Then cried Jesus in the temple as he taught, saying, Ye both know me, and ye know whence I am: and [h] I am not come of myself, but he that sent me [j] is true, whom [k] ye know not.

29 But [m] I know him: for I am from him, and he hath sent me.

30 Then [o] they sought to take him, but no man laid hands on him, because his hour was not yet come.

31 And many [p] of the people believed on him, and said, When Christ cometh, will he do more miracles than these which this man hath done?

32 The Pharisees heard that the people murmured such things concerning him; and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers to take him.

33 Then said Jesus unto them, Yet [r] a little while am I with you, and then I go unto him that sent me.

34 Ye [t] shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am, thither ye cannot come.

35 Then said the Jews among themselves, Whither will he go, that we shall not find him? will he go unto the dispersed [u] among the [2] Gentiles, and teach the Gentiles?

36 What manner of saying is this that he said, Ye shall seek me, and shall not find me: and where I am, thither ye cannot come?

37 In the last [z] day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If [a] any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink.

38 He that believeth on me, as the Scripture hath said, out [c] of his belly shall flow rivers of living water.

39 (But this spake he of the [d] Spirit, which they that believe on him should receive: for the Holy Ghost was not yet given; because that Jesus was not yet glorified.)

40 Many of the people therefore, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is the Prophet.[i]

41 Others said, This is the [j] Christ. But some said, Shall [l] Christ come out of Galilee?

42 Hath not the Scripture said, That Christ [b] cometh of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, [d] where David [e] was?

43 So there was a division among the people because of him.

44 And some of them would have taken him; but no man laid hands on him.

45 Then came the officers to the chief priests and Pharisees; and they said unto them, Why have ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Never [h] man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharisees, Are ye also deceived?

48 Have any of the rulers [l] or of the Pharisees believed on him?

49 But this people, who knoweth not the law, are cursed.

50 Nicodemus saith unto them, ([n] he that came [l] to Jesus by night, being one of them,)

51 Doth [p] our law judge any man before it hear him, and know what he doeth?

52 They answered and said unto him, Art thou also of Galilee? Search and look: for out of Galilee [s] ariseth no prophet.

53 And every man went unto his own house.

CHAP. VIII.

JESUS went unto the mount of Olives.

2 And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him; and he sat down, and taught them.

3 And the scribes and Pharisees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery; and when they had set her in the midst,

4 They say unto him, Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act.

5 Now [z] Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned: but what sayest thou?

6 This they said tempting him, that they might have to accuse him. But Jesus stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground, as though he heard them not.

7 So when they continued asking him, he lifted up himself, and said unto them, He that is without sin among you, [c] let him first cast a stone at her.

8 And again he stooped down, and wrote on the ground.

9 And they which heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, even unto the last; and Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

10 When Jesus had lifted up himself, and saw none but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? [f] hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn [f] thee: go, and sin [h] no more.

12 Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I [a] am the light of the world: he that [c] followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.

13 The Pharisees therefore said unto him, Thou [f] bearest record of thyself; thy record is not true.

14 Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but [g] ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go.

15 Ye judge after the flesh; I [i] judge no man.

16 And yet if I judge, my [j] judgment is true: for [k] I am not alone, but I and the Father that sent me.

17 It is also written [m] in your law, that the testimony of two men is true.

18 I am one that bear witness of myself, and the Father [o] that sent me beareth witness of me.

19 Then said they unto him, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye [q] neither know me, nor my Father: if [r] ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also.

20 These words spake Jesus in the treasury, [t] as he taught in the temple: and no man laid hands on him; for [u] his hour was not yet come.

21 Then said Jesus again unto them, I go my way, and ye [v] shall seek me, and [w] shall die in your sins: whither I go, ye [x] cannot come.

22 Then said the Jews, Will he kill himself? Because he saith, Whither I go, ye cannot come.

23 And he said unto them, Ye are from beneath; I am from above: ye are of this world; I am not of this world.

24 I said [y] therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for [a] if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins.

25 Then said they unto him, Who art thou? And Jesus saith unto them, Even the same that I said unto you from the beginning.

26 I have many things to say, and to judge of you: but [b] he that sent me is true; and I speak to the world those things which I have heard of him.

27 They understood not that he spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Jesus unto them, When ye have lifted up [d] the Son of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself; but as my Father hath taught me, I speak these things.

29 And he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always those things that please him.

30 As he spake these words, many [e] believed on him.

31 Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue [g] in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed;

32 And ye shall know [i] the truth, and the truth shall make you free.[a]

33 They answered him, We be Abraham's seed, and were never in [b] bondage to any man: how sayest thou, Ye shall be made free?

34 Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever [c] committeth sin, is the servant of sin.

35 And the servant [f] abideth not in the house for ever: but the Son abideth ever.

36 If [g] the Son therefore shall make you free, ye [h] shall be free indeed.

37 I know that ye are Abraham's seed: but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I [j] speak that which I have seen with my Father; and ye do that which ye have seen with your father.

39 They answered and said unto him, Abraham [l] is our father. Jesus saith unto them, If [m] ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham.

40 But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this [n] did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the deeds of your father. Then said they to him, We be not born of fornication; we [o] have one Father, even God.

42 Jesus said unto them, If [p] God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but [r] he sent me.

43 Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my [s] word.

44 Ye [t] are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode [u] not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it.

45 And because [x] I tell you the truth, ye believe me not.

46 Which of you convinceth [a] me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?

47 He that is of God heareth God's words; ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God.

48 Then answered the Jews, and said unto him, Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritan, and [b] hast a devil?

49 Jesus answered, I have not a devil; but I honour my Father, and ye do dishonour me.

50 And I [d] seek not mine own glory: there is one that seeketh and judgeth.

51 Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death.

52 Then said the Jews unto him, Now we know that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead,[e] and the prophets; and thou sayest, If a man keep my saying, he shall never taste of death.

53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? And the prophets are dead: whom makest thou thyself?

54 Jesus answered, If [c] I honour myself, my honour is nothing: it is my Father [d] that honoureth me; of whom ye say, that he is your God:

55 Yet ye have not known him; but I know him: and if I should say, I know him not, I shall be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his saying.

56 Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he [i] saw it, and was glad.

57 Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?

58 Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I [k] am 59 Then took they up stones to cast at him: but Jesus hid himself, and went out of the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by.

CHAP. IX.

AND as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?

3 Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that [q] the works of God should be made manifest in him.

4 I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work.

5 As long as I am in the world, I [w] am the light of the world.

6 When he had thus spoken, he [v] spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he [l] anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay,

7 And said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, [y] (which is, by interpretation, Sent.) He [z] went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing.

8 The neighbours therefore, and they which before had seen him that he was blind, said, Is not this he that sat and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: others said, He is like him: but he said, I am he.

10 Therefore said they unto him, How were thine eyes opened?

11 He answered and said, A man that is called Jesus made clay,[c] and anointed mine eyes, and said unto me, Go to the pool of Siloam, and wash: and I went and washed, and I received sight.

12 Then said they unto him, Where is he? He said, I know not.

13 They brought to the Pharisees him that aforetime was blind.

14 And it was the sabbath-day when Jesus made the clay and opened his eyes.

15 Then again the Pharisees also asked him how he had received his sight. He said unto them, He put clay upon mine eyes, and I washed, and do see.

16 Therefore said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the sabbath-day. Others said, How [b] can a man that is a sinner do such miracles? And [c] there was a division among them.

17 They say unto the blind man again, What sayest thou of him, that he hath [d] opened thine eyes? He said, He is a prophet. [f]

18 But the Jews did not believe [g] concerning him, that he had been blind and received his sight, until they called the parents of him that had received his sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your son, who ye say was born blind? How then doth he now see?

20 His parents answered them and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind:

21 But by what means he now seeth, we know not; or who hath opened his eyes, we know not: he is of age; ask him: he shall speak for himself.

22 These words spake his parents, because they [o] feared the Jews: for the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he [q] should be put out of the synagogue.

23 Therefore said his parents, He is of age; ask him.

24 Then again called they the man that was blind, and said unto him, Give God [u] the praise: we know that this man is a sinner.

25 He answered and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not: one thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see.

26 Then said they to him again, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I have told you already, and ye did not hear: wherefore would ye hear it again? will ye also be his disciples?

28 Then they reviled [y] him, and said, Thou art his disciple; but we are Moses' disciples.

29 We know [z] that God spake unto Moses: as for this fellow, we [a] know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered and said unto them, Why [b] herein is a marvellous thing, that ye know not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened [c] mine eyes.

31 Now we know that God [d] heareth not sinners: but if [e] any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him he heareth.

32 Since the world began was it not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was born blind.

33 If this man were not of God, he could do nothing.

34 They answered and said unto him, Thou [h] wast altogether born in sins, and dost thou teach us? And they [1] cast him [i] out

35 Jesus heard that they had cast him out: and when he had found him, he said unto him, Dost thou believe [a] on the Son of God?

36 He answered and said, Who is he, Lord, that I might believe on him?

37 And Jesus said unto him, Thou hast both seen him, and [d] it is he that talketh with thee.

38 And he said, Lord, I believe. [e] And he worshipped him.

39 And Jesus said, For [h] judgment I am come into this world; that they which see not [i] might see, and that they which see might be made blind. [j]

40 And some of the Pharisees which were with him heard these words, and said unto him, Are we [k] blind also?

41 Jesus said unto them, If [l] ye were blind, ye should have no sin: but now ye say, We see; therefore [m] your sin remaineth.

CHAP. X.

VERILY, verily, I say unto you, [n] He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.

2 But he that entereth in by the [p] door is the shepherd of the sheep.

3 To him [r] the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice: and he calleth [s] his own sheep by name, and leadeth [t] them out.

4 And when he putteth forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him: for they know his voice. [v]

5 And a stranger will they not follow, but will flee [w] from him: for they know not the voice of strangers.

6 This parable spake Jesus unto them: but they understood not what things they were which he spake unto them.

7 Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily, I say unto you, I [x] am the door of the sheep.

8 All that ever came before me are thieves and robbers: but the sheep did not hear them.

9 I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture.

10 The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.

11 I [f] am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.

12 But he that is an hireling, and not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, seeth the wolf coming, and leaveth [g] the sheep, and fleeth: and the wolf catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep.

13 The hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheep.

14 I am the good shepherd, and [j] know my sheep, and am known [k] of mine

15 As [a] the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father: and [b] I lay down my life for the sheep.

16 And [c] other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and [d] there shall be one fold, and one shepherd.

17 Therefore doth my Father love me, because [f] I lay down my life, that I might take it again.

18 No man taketh it from me, but [h] I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I [i] have power to take it again. This [j] commandment have I received of my Father.

19 There was a division therefore again among the Jews for these sayings.

20 And many of them said, He [m] hath a devil, and is mad; why hear ye him?

21 Others said, These are not the words of him that hath a devil. Can a devil open [o] the eyes of the blind?

22 And it was at Jerusalem the Feast of the Dedication, and it was winter.

23 And Jesus walked in the temple, in Solomon's porch. [q]

24 Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make [t] us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly.

25 Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the [r] works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me.

26 But [s] ye believe not, because ye are not of my sheep, as I said unto you.

27 My [u] sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me:

28 And I give unto them eternal life; and they [x] shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand.

29 My [y] Father, which gave [z] them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand.

30 I [b] and my Father are one.

31 Then [c] the Jews took up stones again to stone him.

32 Jesus answered them, Many good works have I shewed you from my Father; for which of those works do ye stone me?

33 The Jews answered him, saying, For a good work we stone thee not; but for blasphemy; and because [e] that thou, being a man, makest thyself God.

34 Jesus answered them, Is it not written in your law, I said, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods, unto whom the word of God came, and the Scripture cannot be broken;

36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, [f] and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest; because I said, I am [g] the Son of God?

37 If [h] I do not the works of my Father, believe me not.

38 But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 Therefore they sought again to take him: but he escaped out of their hand;

40 And went away again beyond Jordan, into the place [e] where John at first baptized; and there he abode.

41 And many resorted unto him, and said, John did no miracle: but all things that John spake [g] of this man were true.

42 And many believed on him there.

CHAP. XI.

NOW a certain man was sick, named Lazarus, of Bethany, the town of [h] Mary and her sister Martha.

2 (It was that Mary which [l] anointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.)

3 Therefore his sisters sent unto him saying, Lord, behold, he [n] whom thou lovest is sick.

4 When Jesus heard that, he said, This sickness is not unto death, but [p] for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.

5 Now Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 When he had heard therefore that he was sick, he abode two days still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that saith he to his disciples, Let us go into Judea again.

8 His disciples say unto him, Master, the Jews of late [t] sought to stone thee; and goest thou thither again? [v]

9 Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If [w] any man walk in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walk in the night, [x] he stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things said he: and after that he saith unto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth; [d] but I go, that I may awake him out of sleep.

12 Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleep, he shall do well.

13 Howbeit Jesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of taking of rest in sleep.

14 Then said Jesus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead:

15 And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, to the intent ye may believe; nevertheless, let us go unto him.

16 Then said Thomas, which is called Didymus, unto his fellow-disciples, Let us also go, that we may die with him.

17 Then when Jesus came, he found that he had lien in the grave four days already.

18 (Now Bethany was nigh unto Jerusalem, [z] about fifteen furlongs off:)

19 And many of the Jews came to Martha and Mary, to [i] comfort them concerning their brother.

20 Then Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met him: but Mary sat still in the house.

21 Then said Martha unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.

22 But I know, that even now, whatsoever [b] thou wilt ask of God, God will give it thee.

23 Jesus saith unto her, Thy brother shall rise again.

24 Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the [e] resurrection at the last day.

25 Jesus said unto her, I am the [f] resurrection and the life: [g] he that believeth in me, though [i] he were dead, yet shall he live:

26 And whosoever [j] liveth and believeth in me, shall never die. Believest thou this?

27 She saith unto him, Yea, Lord: I believe that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, which should come into the world.

28 And when she had so said she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, [n] saying, The Master [o] is come, and calleth [p] for thee.

29 As soon as she heard that, she arose quickly, and came unto him.

30 Now Jesus was not yet come into the town, but was in that place where Martha met him.

31 The Jews [s] then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Mary that she rose up hastily and went out, followed her, saying, She goeth unto the grave, to weep there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Jesus was, and saw him, she fell down at his feet, saying unto him, Lord, if [v] thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.

33 When Jesus therefore saw her weeping, and the Jews also weeping which came with her, he groaned in the spirit, and [1] was troubled,

34 And said, Where have ye laid him? They say unto him, Lord, come and see.

35 Jesus wept.[x]

36 Then said the Jews, Behold how he loved him!

37 And some of them said, Could not this man, which [b] opened the eyes of the blind, have caused that even this man should not have died?

38 Jesus therefore, again groaning in himself, cometh to the grave. It was a cave, and a stone lay upon it.

39 Jesus said, Take ye away [d] the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith unto him, Lord, by this time [e] he stinketh: for he hath been dead four days.

40 Jesus saith unto her, Said [f] I not unto thee, that if thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

41 Then they took away the stone from th / lace where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, [a] Father I thank thee that thou hast heard me

42 And I knew that thou hearest me always: but because of the people which stand by, I said it, that they may believe that thou hast sent me.

43 And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth!

44 And [c] he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with grave-clothes; and his face [d] was bound about with a napkin. Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go.

45 Then many of the Jews which came to Mary, and had seen [h] the things which Jesus did, believed on him.

46 But some of them went their ways to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done.

47 Then [k] gathered the chief priests and the Pharisees a council, and said, What [l] do we? for this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all [m] men will believe on him; and the Romans shall come, and take away both our place and nation.

49 And one of them, named [q] Caiaphas, being the high priest that same year, said unto them, Ye know nothing at all,

50 Nor consider that it is [r] expedient for us that one man should die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 And this spake he not of himself: but being high priest that year, he prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation;

52 And not [t] for that nation only, but that also he should gather together in one the children of God that were scattered [u] abroad.

53 Then from that day forth they took counsel together [w] for to put him to death.

54 Jesus therefore walked no more openly [z] among the Jews; but went thence unto a country near to the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, [y] and there continued with his disciples.

55 And [a] the Jews' passover was nigh at hand: and many went out of the country up to Jerusalem before the passover, to purify themselves.

56 Then [c] sought they for Jesus, and spake among themselves as they stood in the temple, What think ye, that he will not come to the feast?

57 Now both the chief priests and the Pharisees had given a commandment, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

CHAP. XII.

THEN Jesus, six days before the passover, came to Bethany, where [g] Lazarus was which had been dead, whom he raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper; and Martha [h] served: but Lazarus was one of them that sat at the table with him.

3 Then [b] took Mary a pound of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus, and wiped his feet with her hair: and the house was filled with the odour of the ointment.

4 Then saith one of his disciples, Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, which should betray him,

5 Why was not this ointment sold for three hundred pence, and given to the poor?

6 This he said, not that he cared for the poor; but because he was a thief, [h] and had [j] the bag, and bare what was put therein.

7 Then said Jesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying hath she kept this.

8 For [l] the poor always ye have with you; but [m] me ye have not always.

9 Much people of the Jews therefore knew that he was there: and they came not for Jesus' sake only, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 But the chief priests consulted that they might put Lazarus also [p] to death;

11 Because that [q] by reason of him many of the Jews went away and believed on Jesus.

12 On [u] the next day, much people that were come to the feast, when they heard that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem, 13 Took branches of palm-trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, [x] Hosanna! Blessed is the King of Israel, that cometh in the name of the Lord!

14 And Jesus, when he had found a young ass, sat thereon; as it is [a] written,

15 Fear not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh, sitting on an ass's colt.

16 These things [c] understood not his disciples at the first: but when Jesus was glorified, [e] then remembered [f] they that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things unto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, when he called Lazarus out of his grave, and raised him from the dead, bare record.

18 For [k] this cause the people also met him, for that they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, Perceive [i] ye how ye prevail nothing? behold the world is gone after him.

20 And there were certain [k] Greeks among them, that [l] came up to worship at the feast:

21 The same came therefore to [m] Philip, which was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see Jesus.

22 Philip cometh and telleth Andrew: and again, Andrew and Philip tell Jesus.

23 And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is [p] come that the Son of man should be glorified.

24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, [a] Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 He [c] that loveth his life, shall lose it and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keep it unto life eternal.

26 If [d] any man serve me, let him follow me; and where [e] I am, there shall also my servant be: if [f] any man serve me, him will my Father honour.

27 Now [g] is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but [i] for this cause came I unto this hour.

28 Father, glorify thy name. Then came there a voice [k] from heaven, saying, I have both glorified it, and will glorify it again.

29 The people therefore that stood by and heard it, said that it thundered: others said, An angel spake to him.

30 Jesus answered and said, This voice came not because of me, but [n] for your sakes.

31 Now is the judgment of this world: now shall [o] the prince of this world be cast out.

32 And I, if I be lifted [r] up from the earth, will draw all [s] men unto me.

33 (This he said, signifying [t] what death he should die.)

34 The people answered him, We have heard [v] out of the law [w] that Christ abideth for ever: and how sayest thou, The Son of man must be lifted up? who is this Son of man.

35 Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light [y] with you. [z] Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he [b] that walketh in darkness, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be [d] the children of light. These things spake Jesus, and departed, and did hide himself from them.

37 But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him:

38 That the saying of Esaias the prophet might be fulfilled, which he spake, [g] Lord, who hath believed our report? and to whom hath the arm of the Lord been revealed?

39 Therefore they could not believe, because that Esaias said [j] again,

40 He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart; that they should not see with their eyes, nor understand with their heart, and be converted, and I should heal them.

41 These things said Esaias, when [n] he saw his glory, and spake of him:

42 Nevertheless, among the chief rulers also many believed on him, but [o] because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue:

43 For [a] they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.

44 Jesus cried and said, He [b] that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that sent me.

45 And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent me.

46 I [d] am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness.

47 And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came [k] not to judge the world, but to save the world.

48 He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, [h] hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day.

49 For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak.

50 And I know that his commandment [k] is life everlasting: whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak.

CHAP. XIII.

NOW [m] before the feast of the passover, when Jesus knew that his hour [o] was come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, having [p] loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end.

2 And supper being ended, (the [q] devil having now put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, to betray him.)

3 Jesus knowing [s] that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that [t] he was come from God, and went to God;

4 He riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself:

5 After that, he poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded.

6 Then cometh he to Simon Peter: and Peter [3] said unto him, Lord, dost [v] thou wash my feet?

7 Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do, thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter.

8 Peter saith unto him, Thou shalt never wash my feet. Jesus answered him, If [z] I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me.

9 Simon Peter saith unto him, Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head.

10 Jesus saith to him, He that is washed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit: and ye are clean, but not all.

11 For [c] he knew who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all clean.

12 So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?

13 Ye [e] call me Master, and Lord: and ye say well; for so I am.

14 If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet, ye also ought to wash one another's feet.

15 For [f] I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you.

16 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him.

17 If [g] ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them.

18 I speak not of you all; I know whom I have chosen: but that the [i] scripture may be fulfilled, He that eateth bread with me, hath lifted up his heel against me.

19 Now [1] I tell [j] you before it come, that when it is come to pass, ye may believe that I am he.

20 Verily, verily, I say unto you, [l] He that receiveth whomsoever I send, receiveth me; and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that sent me.

21 When [n] Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one [r] of his disciples, whom Jesus loved.

24 Simon Peter therefore beckoned to him, that he should ask who it should be of whom he spake.

25 He then, lying on Jesus' breast, saith unto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Jesus answered, He it is to whom I shall give a [2] sop, when I have dipped it. And when he had dipped the sop, he gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon.

27 And after the sop, Satan [u] entered into him. Then said Jesus unto him, That thou doest, do quickly.

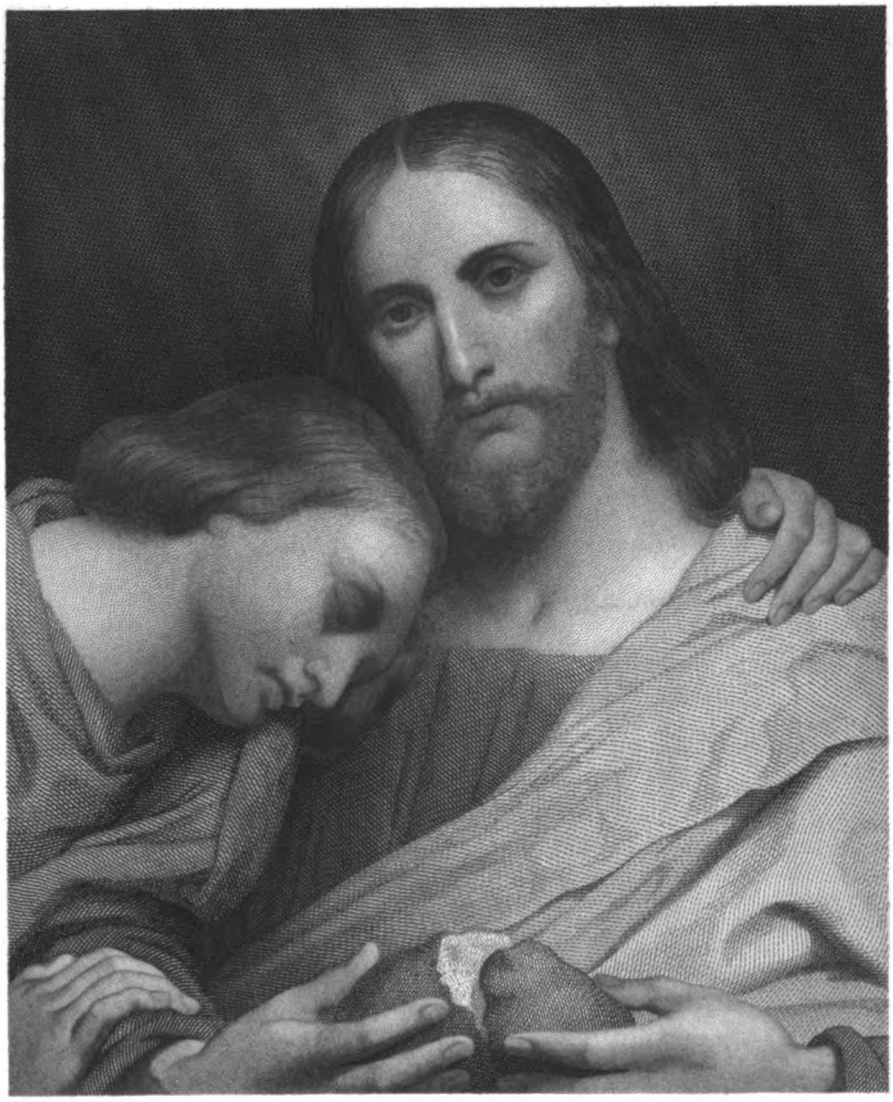
28 Now no man at the table knew for what intent he spake this unto him.

29 For some of them thought, [w] because Judas had the bag, that Jesus had said unto him, Buy those things that we have need of against the feast; or, that he should give something to the poor.

30 He then, having received the sop, went immediately out: and it was night.

31 Therefore, when he was gone out, Jesus said, Now [y] is the Son of man glorified, and God [z] is glorified in him.

32 If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorify him in himself, and shall straightway glorify him.



33 Little children, yet a little while I am with you. Ye shall seek me: and, [b] as I said unto the Jews, Whither I go, ye cannot come: so now I say unto you.

34 A new [a] commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another: as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.
35 By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.
36 Simon Peter said unto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Jesus answered him, Whither I go, thou canst not follow me now; but [c] thou shalt follow me afterwards.
37 Peter said unto him, Lord, why cannot I follow thee now? I will [g] lay down my life for thy sake.
38 Jesus answered him, Wilt thou lay down thy life for my sake? Verily, verily, I say unto thee, The cock shall not crow, till thou hast denied me thrice.

CHAP. XIV.

LET [i] not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe [k] also in me.
2 In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go [l] to prepare a place for you.
3 And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will [n] come again, and receive you unto myself; that [o] where I am, there ye may be also.
4 And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.
5 Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?
6 Jesus saith unto him, I am the [p] way, and the truth, [r] and the life; [s] no [t] man cometh unto the Father but by me.
7 If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.
8 Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.
9 Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? He [w] that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou, then, Shew us the Father?
10 Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? The words that I speak unto you, I speak not of myself: but the Father, that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.
11 Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake.
12 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He [b] that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father.
13 And [d] whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.
14 If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.
15 If [i] ye love me, keep my commandments.
16 And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, [k] that he may abide with you for ever;

17 Even the Spirit of truth; whom [b] the world cannot receive, because [t] seeth him not, neither knoweth him: [o]ut ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and [c] shall be in you.
18 I will not leave you [1] comfortless: I [d] will come to you.
19 Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no more; but ye see me: because [f] I live, ye shall live also.
20 At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you.
21 He [h] that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father; and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.
22 Judas [j] saith unto him (not Iscariot), Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world?
23 Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and [m] we will come unto him, and make our abode with him.
24 He that loveth me not, keepeth not my sayings: and the word which ye hear, is not mine, but the Father's, which sent me.
25 These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you.
26 But [q] the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he [u] shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you.
27 Peace [v] I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.
28 Ye have heard how I said unto you, I go away, and come again unto you. If ye loved me, ye would rejoice, because I said, I [z] go unto the Father: for [y] my Father is greater than I.
29 And now I have told you before it come to pass; that, when it is come to pass, ye might believe.
30 Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince [z] of this world cometh, and hath nothing [a] in me.
31 But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as [c] the Father gave me commandment, even so I do. Arise, let us go hence.

CHAP. XV.

I AM the true vine, [e] and my Father is the husbandman.[f]
2 Every [g] branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that [h] beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.
3 Now [j] ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.
4 Abide [l] in me, and I in you. As [m] the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am the vine, ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: [1] for without me ye can do nothing.

6 If [c] a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned.

7 If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye [g] shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.

8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples.

9 As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love.

10 If [i] ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.

11 These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that [l] your joy might be full.

12 This [m] is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you.

13 Greater [n] love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

14 Ye [o] are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

15 Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth: but I have called you [q] friends: for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you.

16 Ye [r] have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained [s] you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain; that whatsoever [t] ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you.

17 These [w] things I command you, that ye love one another.

18 If [x] the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you.

19 If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore [c] the world hateth you.

20 Remember [d] the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you: if [f] they have kept my saying, they will keep your's also.

21 But [g] all these things will they do unto you for my name's sake, because they know not him that sent me.

22 If [h] I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin: but [i] now they have no [3] cloke for their sin.

23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done among them the works [j] which none other man did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen and hated both me and my Father.

25 But this cometh to pass, that the word might be fulfilled that is written in their law, They [a] hated me without a cause.

26 But when the Comforter [b] is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he [d] shall testify of me:

27 And [e] ye also shall bear witness, because [f] ye have been with me from the beginning.

CHAP. XVI.

THESE things have I spoken unto you, that ye should not be offended.

2 They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, [h] that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service.

3 And [j] these things will they do unto you, because [k] they have not known the Father, nor me.

4 But these things have I told you, that, when the time shall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And these things I said not unto you at the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I go my way to him that sent me; and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?

6 But because I have said these things unto you, sorrow [p] hath filled your heart.

7 Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you.

8 And when he is come, he will [2] reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment:

9 Of sin, [u] because they believe not on me;

10 Of righteousness, [v] because I go to my Father, and ye see me no more;

11 Of judgment, [z] because [y] the prince of this world is judged.

12 I have yet many things to say unto you, but [a] ye cannot bear them now.

13 Howbeit, when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he [b] will guide you into all truth for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he [c] will shew you things to come.

14 He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall shew it unto you.

15 All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall shew it unto you.

16 A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again, A little while, and ye shall see me; because I go to the Father.

17 Then said some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that he saith unto us, A little while, and ye shall not see me: and again, a little while, and ye shall see me: and, Because I go to the Father?

18 They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A little while? We cannot tell what he saith.
19 Now Jesus knew [c] that they were desirous to ask him, and said unto them, Do ye inquire among yourselves of that I said, A [i] little while, and ye shall not see me: and again a little while, and ye shall see me?
20 Verily, verily, I say unto you, that ye [j] shall weep and lament, but the world shall rejoice: and ye shall be sorrowful, but your sorrow shall be turned into joy.
21 A [m] woman when she is in travail hath sorrow, because her hour is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world.
22 And [p] ye now therefore have sorrow: but I will see you again, and [r] your heart shall rejoice, and your joy [s] no man taketh from you.
23 And in that day ye shall ask me nothing. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you.
24 Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, [v] and ye shall receive, that [w] your joy may be full.
25 These things have I spoken unto you in [1] proverbs: but the time cometh when I shall no more speak unto you in [1] proverbs, but I shall shew you plainly of the Father.
26 At [a] that day ye shall ask in my name: and I say not unto you that I will pray the Father for you;
27 For [b] the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that [d] I came out from God.
28 I came forth from the Father, and am come into the world: again, I leave the world, and go to the Father.
29 His disciples said unto him, Lo, now speakest thou plainly, and speakest no [2] proverb.
30 Now are we sure that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should ask thee: by this we believe that thou camest forth from God.
31 Jesus answered them, Do ye now believe?
32 Behold, [i] the hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye shall be scattered, every man to his own, [3] and shall leave me alone: and yet [j] I am not alone, because the Father is with me.
33 These things have I spoken unto you, that in [l] me ye might have peace. In [m] the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

2 As thou hast given him power over all flesh, that [a] he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given him.
3 And this [b] is life eternal, that they might know [d] thee the [e] only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom [f] thou hast sent.
4 I [g] have glorified thee on the earth: I [h] have finished the work which thou gavest me to do.
5 And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self, with the glory which I [k] had with thee before the world was.
6 I [l] have manifested thy name unto the men which thou [n] gavest me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gavest them me: and they have kept [o] thy word.
7 Now they have known that all things whatsoever thou hast given me, are of thee.
8 For I have given unto them the words [q] which thou gavest me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didst send me.
9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, [t] but for them which thou hast given me; for they are thine.
10 And all [u] mine are thine, and thine are mine; and I [x] am glorified in them.
11 And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep [y] through thine own name [z] those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are.
12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name: those that thou gavest me I have kept; and none of them is lost, but the son of perdition; that the scripture [c] might be fulfilled.
13 And now come I to thee; and these things I speak in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves.
14 I have given them thy word; and [e] the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, even as I am not of the world.
15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but [f] that thou shouldest keep them from the evil.
16 They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world.
17 Sanctify [g] them through thy truth: thy [h] word is truth.
18 As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world.
19 And [k] for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they also might be [4] sanctified through the truth.
20 Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word;
21 That they all may be one; [n] as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou hast sent me.
22 And [p] the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one:

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them as thou hast loved me.

24 Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be [b] with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me; for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee: but I have known thee, and these have known that thou hast sent me.

26 And I have declared unto them thy name and will declare it; that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them.

CHAP. XVIII.

WHEN Jesus had spoken these words, he went forth with his disciples over the brook Cedron, [d] where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

2 And Judas also, which betrayed him, knew the place; for Jesus oft-times resorted thither with his disciples.

3 Judas [f] then, having received a band of men, and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, cometh thither with lanterns and torches and weapons.

4 Jesus therefore, knowing [h] all things that should come upon him, went forth, and said unto them, Whom seek ye?

5 They answered him, Jesus of [j] Nazareth. Jesus saith unto them, I am he. And Judas also, which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 As soon then as he had said unto them, I am he, they [k] went backward, and fell to the ground.

7 Then asked he them again, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth.

8 Jesus answered, I have told you that I am he: if therefore ye seek me, [l] let these go their way:

9 That the saying might be fulfilled which he spake, [n] Of them which thou gavest me have I lost none.

10 Then [p] Simon Peter, having a sword, drew it, and smote the high priest's servant, and cut off his right ear. The servant's name was Malchus.

11 Then said Jesus unto Peter, Put up thy sword into the sheath: the cup [r] which my Father hath given me, shall I not drink it?

12 Then the band and the captain and officers of the Jews took Jesus, and bound him,

13 And led him away to Annas [4] first; for he was father-in-law to Caiaphas, which was the high priest that same [4] year.

14 Now Caiaphas was he which gave counsel [v] to the Jews, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 And [a] Simon Peter followed Jesus and so did another disciple: that disciple was known unto the high priest, and went in with Jesus into the palace of the high priest.

16 But Peter stood at the door without. Then went out that other disciple, which was known unto the high priest, and spake unto her that kept the door, and brought in Peter.

17 Then saith the damsel that kept the door unto Peter, Art not thou also one of this man's disciples? He saith, I am not.

18 And the servants and officers stood there, who had made a fire of coals; for it was cold: and they warmed themselves: and Peter stood with them, and warmed himself.

19 The high priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Jesus answered him, I spake [c] openly to the world: I ever taught in the synagogue, and in the temple, whither the Jews always resort: and [e] in secret have I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou me? ask them which heard me, what I have said unto them: behold, they know what I said.

22 And when he had thus spoken, one of the officers which stood by struck [g] Jesus [1] with the palm of his hand, saying, Answerest thou the high priest so?

23 Jesus answered him, If I have spoken evil, bear witness of the evil: but [i] if well, why smitest thou me?

24 Now [2] Annas had sent him bound unto Caiaphas the high priest.

25 And Simon Peter stood and warmed himself. They said therefore unto him, Art not thou also one of his disciples? He denied it, and said, I am not.

26 One of the servants of the high priest, (being his kinsman whose ear Peter cut off), saith, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied again: and [m] immediately the cock crew.

28 Then [o] led they Jesus from Caiaphas unto [3] the hall of judgment: and it was early: and they themselves went not into the judgment-hall, lest [7] they should be defiled, but that they might eat the passover.

29 Pilate then went out unto them, and said, What accusation bring ye against this man?

30 They answered and said unto him, If he were not a malefactor, we would not have delivered him up unto thee.

31 Then said Pilate unto them, Take ye him, and judge him according to your law. The Jews therefore said unto him, It is not lawful for us [t] to put any man to death:

32 That the saying of Jesus might be fulfilled, which he spake, [u] signifying what death he should die.

33 Then Pilate entered into the judgment nall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the King of the Jews?

34 Jesus answered him, Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own [d] nation and the chief priests have delivered thee unto me. What hast thou done?

36 Jesus [e] answered, My [h] kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.

37 Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear [j] witness unto the truth. Every one [k] that is of the truth heareth my voice.

38 Pilate saith unto him, What is truth? And when he had said this, he went out again unto the Jews, and saith unto them, I find in him no fault at all.

39 But ye have a custom, that I should release unto you one at the passover: will ye therefore that I release unto you the King of the Jews?

40 Then cried they all again, saying, Not this man, but Barabbas! Now Barabbas was a robber.

CHAP. XIX.

THEN [p] Pilate therefore took Jesus, and scourged [q] him.

2 And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple robe,

3 And said, Hail, King of the Jews! and they smote him with their hands.

4 Pilate therefore went forth again, and saith unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that [r] I find no fault in him.

5 Then came Jesus forth, wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. And Pilate saith unto them, Behold, the man!

6 When the chief priests therefore and officers saw him, they cried out, saying, Crucify him, crucify him! Pilate saith unto them, Take ye him and crucify him; for I find no fault in him.

7 The Jews answered him, We [u] have a law, and by our law he ought to die, because [v] he made himself the Son of God.

8 When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he was the more afraid;

9 And went again into the judgment-hall, and saith unto Jesus, Whence art thou? But [e] Jesus gave him no answer.

10 Then saith Pilate unto him, Speakest thou not unto me? Knowest [f] thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and have power to release thee?

11 Jesus answered, Thou [b] couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above: [a] therefore he [b] that delivered me unto thee hath the greater [c] sin.

12 And from thenceforth Pilate sought to release him: but the Jews cried out, saying, If thou let this man go, thou art not Cesar's friend: whosoever [c] maketh himself a king, speaketh against Cesar.

13 When [s] Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment-seat, in a place that is called The Pavement, but in the Hebrew, Gabbatha.

14 And [t] it was the preparation of the passover, and about the sixth hour: and he saith unto the Jews, Behold your King!

15 But they cried out, Away with him, away with him; crucify him! Pilate saith unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The chief priests answered, We [l] have no king but Cesar.

16 Then [m] delivered he him therefore unto them to be crucified. And they took Jesus, and led him away.

17 And he bearing his cross, went [n] forth into a place called The place of a scull, which is called in the Hebrew, Golgotha;

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst.

19 And [o] Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the cross. And the writing was, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS.

20 This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jesus was crucified was nigh to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latin.

21 Then said the chief priests of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Jews; but that he said, I am King of the Jews

22 Pilate answered, What I have written, I have written.

23 Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments, and made four parts, to every soldier a part; and also his coat: now the coat was without seam, [1] woven [x] from the top throughout:

24 They said therefore among themselves, Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be: that the scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, [t] They parted my raiment among them, and for my vesture they did cast lots. These things therefore the soldiers did.

25 Now there stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of [2] Cleopas, [w] and Mary Magdalene.

26 When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by [y] whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, [e] behold thy son!

27 Then saith he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! [g] And from that hour that disciple took her unto his own [d] home

28 After this, Jesus, knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture [a] might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst.

29 Now there was set a vessel full of vinegar: and they filled a sponge with vinegar, and put it upon hyssop, and put it to his mouth.

30 When Jesus therefore had received the vinegar, he said, It [c] is finished: and he bowed his head, and gave [f] up the ghost.

31 The Jews therefore, because it was the Preparation, [g] that the bodies should not remain [h] upon the cross on the sabbath-day, (for [j] that sabbath-day was an high day,) besought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away.

32 Then came the soldiers, and brake the legs of the first, and of the other which was crucified with him.

33 But when they came to Jesus, and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs:

34 But one of the soldiers with a spear pierced his side, and forthwith came thereout blood [m] and water.[n]

35 And [o] he that saw it bare record, and his record is true; and he knoweth that he saith true, that ye might believe.

36 For these things were done, that the scripture [p] should be fulfilled, A bone of him shall not be broken.

37 And again another scripture [q] saith, They shall look on him whom they pierced.

38 And after this, Joseph of Arimathea (being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly, for [t] fear of the Jews) besought Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus: and Pilate gave him leave. He came therefore, and took the body of Jesus.

39 And there came also [v] Nicodemus, (which at the first came to Jesus by night,) and [y] brought a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about an hundred pound weight.

40 Then took they the body of Jesus, and wound [z] it in linen clothes with the spices, as the manner of the Jews is to bury.

41 Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden; and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was never man yet laid.

42 There [b] laid they Jesus therefore, because [i] of the Jews' preparation-day; for the sepulchre was nigh at hand.

CHAP. XX.

THE [j] first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, unto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the sepulchre.

2 Then she runneth, and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom [l] Jesus loved, and saith unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him.

3 Peter [b] therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre.

4 So they ran both together: and the other disciple did outrun [c] Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And he, stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes [d] lying; yet went he not in.

6 Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie;

7 And the napkin, [i] that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself.

8 Then went in also that other disciple which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed.

9 For as yet they knew not the [k] scripture, that he must rise again from the dead.

10 Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

11 But Mary stood without at the sepulchre, weeping: and as she wept, she stooped down, and looked [l] into the sepulchre,

12 And seeth two angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

13 And they say unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith unto them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

14 And when she had thus said, she turned herself back, and [r] saw Jesus standing, and knew not [s] that it was Jesus.

15 Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and [u] I will take him away.

16 Jesus saith unto her, Mary.[w] She turned [x] herself, and saith unto him, Rabboni; which is to say, Master.

17 Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, [a] and say unto them, I [b] ascend unto my Father, and [c] your Father; and to my [d] God, and your [e] God.

18 Mary Magdalene came [f] and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

19 Then [g] the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus, and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

20 And when he had so said, he shewed unto them his hands and his side. Then [k] were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord.

21 Then said Jesus to them again, Peace [m] be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so [n] send I you.

22 And when he had said this, he breathed on them, and saith unto them, Receive [a] ye the Holy Ghost.

23 Whose soever [b] sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whose soever sins ye retain, they are retained.

24 But Thomas, [c] one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jesus came.

25 The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord. But he [d] said unto them, Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not believe.

26 And after eight days, again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Jesus, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace [e] be unto you.

27 Then saith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, [g] and thrust it into my side: and be [i] not faithless, but believing.

28 And Thomas answered and said unto him, My [j] Lord and my God.

29 Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed [l] are they that have not seen, and yet have believed.

30 And [n] many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this book:

31 But [o] these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and [q] that, believing, ye might have life through his name.

CHAP. XXI.

AFTER these things Jesus shewed himself again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and on this wise shewed he himself.

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and [u] Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sons [v] of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples.

3 Simon Peter saith unto them, I go a fishing. They say unto him, We also go with thee. They went forth, and entered into a ship immediately; and that night they caught nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Jesus stood on the shore: but the disciples knew [z] not that it was Jesus.

5 Then [a] Jesus saith unto them, [1] Children, have ye any meat? They answered him, No.

6 And he said unto them, Cast [b] the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes.

7 Therefore that disciple whom Jesus loved saith unto Peter, It is the Lord. Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girt his fisher's coat unto him, (for he was naked,) and did cast himself into the sea.

8 And the other disciples came in a little ship, (for they were not far from land, but as it were two hundred cubits,) dragging the net with fishes.

9 As soon then as they were come to land, they saw a fire of coals there, and fish laid thereon, and bread.

10 Jesus saith unto them, Bring of the fish which ye have now caught.

11 Simon Peter went up, and drew the net to land full of great fishes, an hundred and fifty and three: and for all there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Jesus saith unto them, Come and dine. And none of the disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord.

13 Jesus [f] then cometh, and taketh bread, and giveth them, and fish likewise.

14 This [h] is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to his disciples, after that he was risen from the dead.

15 So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more [k] than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed [m] my lambs.

16 He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep. [p]

17 He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved [r] because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? and he said unto him, Lord, thou [s] knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep.

18 Verily, verily, I say unto thee, [t] When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall [w] gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldest not.

19 This spake he, signifying by what death [x] he should glorify God. And when he had spoken this, he saith unto him, Follow [y] me.

20 Then Peter, turning about, seeth the disciple whom Jesus loved, following, which also leaned on his breast at supper, and said, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?

21 Peter, seeing him, saith to Jesus, Lord, and what shall this man do?

22 Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, [c] what is that to thee? Follow [d] thou me.

23 Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should

The ACTS of the APOSTLES.

CHAP. I.

THE former treatise [a] have I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began both to do and teach,

2 Until [c] the day in which he was taken up, after that he through the Holy Ghost had given commandments [d] unto the apostles whom he had chosen:

3 To whom also he shewed himself alive after his passion, by many [e] infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God;

4 And [1] being assembled together with them, commanded [g] them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but wait for the promise of the Father, which, saith he, Ye [j] have heard of me:

5 For John [l] truly baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost, [n] not many days hence.

6 When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt [o] thou at this time restore [p] again the kingdom to Israel?

7 And he said unto them, It [q] is not for you to know the times or the seasons which the Father hath put in his own power.

8 But ye shall receive [3] power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye [u] shall be witnesses unto me, both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.

9 And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight.

10 And while they looked steadfastly toward heaven, as he went up, behold, two [w] men stood by them in white apparel;

11 Which also said, Ye men [y] of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall [z] so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven.

12 Then [a] returned they unto Jerusalem, from the mount called Olivet, which is from Jerusalem a sabbath-day's journey.

13 And when they were come in, they went up into an upper room, where abode both Peter, [c] and James, and John, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartholomew, and Matthew, James the son of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Judas the brother of James.

14 These all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication, with the [b] women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brethren.

15 And in those days Peter stood up in the midst of the disciples, and said, (the number of the names together were about an hundred and twenty,)

16 Men and brethren; This scripture must needs have been fulfilled which [f] the Holy Ghost by the mouth of David spake before concerning Judas, which was guide [k] to them that took Jesus.

17 For he [i] was numbered with us, and had obtained part of this ministry.

18 Now [k] this man purchased a field with the reward [m] of iniquity; and falling headlong, he burst asunder in the midst, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it was known unto all the dwellers at Jerusalem; insomuch as that field is called in their proper tongue, Aceldama, that is to say, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the book of Psalms, Let [r] his habitation be desolate, and let no man dwell therein: and, [s] His bishopric [2] let another take.

21 Wherefore of these men [t] which have companied with us all the time that the Lord Jesus went in and out among us,

22 Beginning from the baptism of John, unto that same day that he was taken up from us, must one be ordained to be a witness with us of his resurrection.

23 And they appointed two, Joseph called Barsabas, [v] who was surnamed Justus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, and said, Thou, Lord, which [x] knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these two thou hast chosen,

25 That he may take part of this ministry and apostleship, from which Judas by transgression fell, that he might go to his own place.

26 And they gave forth their lots: and the lot fell upon Matthias; and he was numbered with the eleven apostles.

CHAP. II.

AND when the day of Pentecost [b] was fully come, they [d] were all with one accord in one place.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled [b] all the house where they were sitting.

3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like as of fire, and it sat upon each of them:

4 And they were all filled [c] with the Holy Ghost, and began [h] to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Jerusalem, Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven.

6 Now [1] when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded,[2] because that every man heard them speak in his own language.

7 And they were all amazed, and marvelled, saying one to another, Behold, are not all these which speak, Galileans? [l]

8 And how hear we every man in our own tongue, wherein we were born?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the dwellers in Mesopotamia, and in Judea, and Cappadocia, in Pontus, and Asia,

10 Phrygia, and Pamphylia, in Egypt, and in the parts of Libya about Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, Jews and proselytes, 11 Cretes and Arabians, we do hear them speak in our tongues [n] the wonderful works of God.

12 And they were all amazed, and were in doubt, saying one to another, What [3] meaneth this?

13 Others, mocking, said, These men are full of new wine.

14 But Peter, standing up with the eleven, lift up his voice, and said unto them, Ye men of Judea, and all ye that dwell at Jerusalem, be this known unto you, and hearken o my words:

15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, seeing [w] it is but the third hour of the day.

16 But this is that which was [y] spoken by he prophet Joel:

17 And it shall come to pass in the last days, (saith God,) I will pour out [a] of my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams:

18 And on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out, in those days, of my Spirit; and [f] they shall prophesy:

19 And I will shew wonders in heaven above, and signs in the earth beneath; blood, and fire, and vapour of smoke:

20 The [j] sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come:

21 And it shall come to pass, that whosoever [k] shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saved.

22 Ye men of Israel, hear these words; Jesus of Nazareth a man approved of God, among you by miracles [e] and wonders and signs, which God did, by him, in the midst of you, as ye [e] yourselves also know:

23 Him, being [d] delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye [e] have taken, and [f] by wicked hands have crucified and slain:

24 Whom [i] God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible [j] that he should be holden of it.

25 For David speaketh [k] concerning him, I foresaw the Lord always before my face; for he is on my right hand, that I should not be moved:

26 Therefore did my heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad; moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope:

27 Because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption.

28 Thou hast made known to me the ways of life; thou shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren,[3] let me freely speak unto you of the patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre is with us unto this day.

30 Therefore being [m] a prophet, and knowing that God had sworn [o] with an oath [p] to him, that of the fruit of his loins, according to the flesh, he would raise up Christ to sit on his throne;

31 He, seeing this before, [r] spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soul was not left in hell, neither his flesh did see corruption.

32 This [s] Jesus hath God raised up, whereof [t] we all are witnesses.

33 Therefore, [u] being by the right hand of God exalted, and having [v] received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this, [x] which ye now see and hear.

34 For David is not ascended into the heavens: but he saith himself, The LORD [z] said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my righ hand,

35 Until I make thy foes thy footstool

36 Therefore let all the house [b] of Israel know assuredly, that [c] God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord [d] and Christ. [e]

37 Now when they heard this, they were pricked [g] in their heart, and said unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles, Men and brethren, what [h] shall we do?

38 Then Peter said unto them, [i] Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.

39 For the promise [l] is unto you, and to your children, and [m] to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this untoward generation.

41 Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls.

42 And [f] they continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers.

43 And fear came upon every soul: and many [i] wonders and signs were done by the apostles.

44 And all that believed were together, and [k] had all things common;

45 And sold their possessions and goods, and [l] parted them to all men, as every man had need.

46 And they, continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking [2] bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart, 47 Praising God, and having favour [o] with all the people. And [p] the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved.

CHAP. III.

NOW Peter and John went up together into the temple at [u] the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour.

2 And a certain man, lame from his mother's womb, was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate [x] of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple;

3 Who, seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple, asked an alms.

4 And Peter, fastening his eyes upon him, with John, said, Look on us.

5 And he gave heed unto them, expecting to receive something of them.

6 Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none: but such as I have give I thee: In [a] the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk.

7 And he took him by the right hand, and lift him up: and immediately his feet and ancle-bones received strength.

8 And he, leaping [c] up, stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walking and praising God:

10 And they knew that it was he which sat for alms at the Beautiful gate of the temple: and they were filled with wonder and amazement at that which had happened unto him.

11 And, as the lame man which was healed held Peter and John, all the people ran together unto them, in the porch [h] that is called Solomon's, greatly wondering.

12 And when Peter saw it, he answered unto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye so earnestly on us, as though by our own [i] power or holiness we had made this man to walk?

13 The God [k] of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, [a] hath glorified [b] his Son Jesus; whom ye delivered up, and denied [c] him in the presence of Pilate, when he [d] was determined to let him go.

14 But ye denied the Holy [e] One and the Just, [g] and desired a murderer to be granted unto you;

15 And killed the [1] Prince of life, whom God hath raised [h] from the dead; whereof [j] we are witnesses.

16 And his name, through faith in his name, hath made this man strong, whom ye see and know; yea, the faith which is by him hath given him this perfect soundness in the presence of you all.

17 And now, brethren, I wot that through ignorance [m] ye did it, as did also your rulers.

18 But those [n] things, which God before had shewed by the mouth of all his prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath so fulfilled.

19 Repent [q] ye therefore, and be converted, [r] that your sins may be [s] blotted out, when the times of refreshing [t] shall come from the presence of the Lord;

20 And he [v] shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you:

21 Whom the heaven must receive until the times [w] of restitution of all things, which God hath spoken [y] by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began.

22 For Moses truly said unto the fathers, A [z] Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto me; him shall ye hear in all things, whatsoever he shall say unto you.

23 And it shall come to pass, that every soul which will not hear that Prophet shall be destroyed from among the people.

24 Yea, and all the prophets from Samuel, and those that follow after, as many as have spoken, have likewise foretold of these days.

25 Ye [b] are the children of the prophets, and of the covenant which God made with our fathers, saying unto Abraham, And [d] in thy seed shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.

26 Unto [e] you first, God having raised up his Son Jesus, sent him to bless you, in turning away [f] every one of you from his iniquities.

CHAP. IV.

AND as they spake unto the people, the priests, and the [3] captain of the temple, and the Sadducees, [g] came upon them,

2 Being grieved that they taught the people, and preached through Jesus the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold unto the next day: for it was now even-tide.

4 Howbeit many [j] of them which heard the word believed; and the number of the men was about five thousand.

5 And it came to pass on the morrow, that their rulers and elders, and scribes,

6 And Annas [a] the high priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high priest, were gathered together at Jerusalem.

7 And when they had set them in the midst, they asked, By [c] what power, or by what name, have ye done this?

8 Then Peter, filled [e] with the Holy Ghost, said unto them, Ye rulers of the people, and elders of Israel,

9 If we this day be examined of the good deed done to the impotent man, by what means he is made whole;

10 Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that [g] by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole.

11 This is the stone [k] which was set at nought of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for [n] there is none other [o] name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved.

13 Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned [q] and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.

14 And beholding the man which was healed standing with them, they could say nothing [u] against it.

15 But when they had commanded them to go aside out of the council, they conferred among themselves,

16 Saying, What [x] shall we do to these men? for that indeed a notable miracle hath been done by them is manifest to all them that dwell in Jerusalem; and we cannot deny it.

17 But that it spread no further among the people, let us straitly threaten them, that [a] they speak henceforth to no man in this name.

18 And they called them, and commanded them not to speak at all nor teach in the name of Jesus.

19 But Peter and John answered and said unto them, Whether it be right in the sight of God to [b] hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye.

20 For [d] we cannot but speak the things which [e] we have seen and heard.

21 So when they had further threatened them, they let them go, finding nothing how they might punish them, because [i] of the people: for all men glorified God for that which was done.

22 For the man was above forty years old on whom this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 And being let go, they went [j] to their own company, and reported all that the chief priests and elders had said unto them.

24 And when they heard that, they lift up their voice to God with one accord, and said, Lord, [b] thou art God, which hast made heaven and earth, and the sea, and all that in them is;

25 Who by the mouth of thy servant David hast said, Why [d] did the heathen rage, and the people imagine vain things?

26 The kings of the earth stood up, and the rulers were gathered together, against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For of a truth, against thy holy child Jesus, whom thou hast anointed, both Herod [f] and Pontius Pilate with the Gentiles and the people of Israel were gathered together.

28 For [h] to do whatsoever thy hand and thy counsel determined [i] before to be done.

29 And now, Lord, behold their threatenings: and grant unto thy servants, that with all [j] boldness they may speak thy word,

30 By stretching forth thine hand to heal; and that signs [l] and wonders may be done by the name of thy holy child Jesus.

31 And when they had prayed, [m] the place was shaken where they were assembled together; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and [p] they spake the word of God with boldness.

32 And the multitude of them that believed were of one [r] heart and of one soul: neither said any of them that aught of the things which he possessed was his own; but [t] they had all things common.

33 And with great power [v] gave the apostles witness [w] of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace [m] was upon them all.

34 Neither was there any among them that lacked: for as many as were possessors of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the prices of the things that were sold,

35 And [y] laid them down at the apostles' feet; and [z] distribution was made unto every man according as he had need.

36 And Joses, who by the apostles was surnamed Barnabas, (which is, being interpreted, The son of consolation,) a Levite, and of the country of Cyprus, 37 Having land, sold it, and brought the money, and laid it at the apostles' feet.

CHAP. V.

BUT a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,

2 And kept back part of the price, his wife also being privy to it, and brought [c] a certain part, and laid it at the apostles' feet.

3 But Peter said, Ananias, why hath Satan [f] filled thine heart [l] to lie to [g] the Holy Ghost, and to keep [k] back part of the price of the land?

4 Whiles it remained, was it not thine own? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? why hast thou conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but [k] unto God.

5 And Ananias, hearing these words, [l] fell down, and gave up the ghost: and great [a] fear came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the young men arose, wound [b] him up, and carried him out, and buried him.

7 And it was about the space of three hours after, when his wife, not knowing what was done, came in

8 And Peter answered unto her, Tell me whether ye sold the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter said unto her, How is it that ye have agreed [d] together to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? Behold, the feet of them which have buried thy husband are at the door, and shall carry thee out.

10 Then [f] fell she down straightway at his feet, and yielded up the ghost: and the young men came in and found her dead, and, carrying her forth, buried her by her husband.

11 And [h] great fear came upon all the church, and upon as many as heard these things.

12 And by the hands of the apostles were [k] many signs and wonders wrought among the people; (and they were all with one accord in Solomon's porch.

13 And [m] of the rest durst no man join himself to them, but [o] the people magnified them.

14 And believers were the more added to the Lord, multitudes [r] both of men and women;)

15 Insomuch that they brought forth the sick [1] into the streets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the least the shadow of Peter passing by might overshadow some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jerusalem, bringing [w] sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits: and [x] they were healed every one.

17 Then the high priest rose up, and all they that were with him, (which is the sect of the Sadducees, [y]) and were filled with [3] indignation,

18 And laid their hands on the apostles, and put them in the common prison. [z]

19 But the angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doors, and brought them forth and said,

20 Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all [b] the words [c] of this life.

21 And when they heard that, they entered into the temple early in the morning, and taught. But [d] the high priest came, and they that were with him, and called the council together, and all the senate of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison to have them brought.

22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and told,

23 Saying, The prison truly found we shut with all safety, and the keepers standing without before the doors: but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Now when the high priest and [e] the captain of the temple and the chief priests heard these things, they doubted of them whereunto this would grow.

25 Then came one and told them, saying, Behold, the men whom ye put in prison are standing in the temple, and teaching the people.

26 Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence: for [e] they feared the people, lest they should have been stoned.

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the council: and the high priest asked them,

28 Saying, Did not we [g] straitly command you, that ye should not teach in this name? and, behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood [i] upon us.

29 Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, We [j] ought to obey God rather than men.

30 The God of our fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew and hanged [l] on a tree.

31 Him hath God exalted [n] with his right hand to be a [p] Prince and a [q] Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins.

32 And we are his witnesses [s] of these things; and so is also the Holy Ghost, [t] whom God hath given to them that obey him.

33 When they heard that, they [u] were cut to the heart, and took counsel to slay them.

34 Then stood there up one in the council, a Pharisee, named Gamaliel, [v] a doctor of the law, had in reputation among all the people, and commanded to put the apostles forth a little space;

35 And said unto them, Ye men of Israel, take heed to yourselves what ye intend to do as touching these men.

36 For before these days [2] rose up Theudas, boasting himself to be somebody; to whom a number of men, about four hundred, joined themselves: who was slain; and all, as many as [4] obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, rose up Judas of Galilee, in the days of the taxing, and drew away much people after him: he [a] also perished; and all, even as many as obeyed him, were dispersed.

38 And now I say unto you, Refrain from these men, and let them alone: [c] for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought:

39 But if [f] it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it: lest haply ye be found even to fight [g] against God.

40 And to him they agreed: and when they had called the apostles, and beaten [h] them, they commanded [i] that they should not speak in the name of Jesus, and let them go.

41 And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing [b] that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name.
42 And daily [c] in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ.

CHAP. VI.

AND in those days, when the number of the disciples was multiplied, there arose [a] murmuring of the Grecians [f] against the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in [g] the daily ministration.
2 Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples unto them, and said, It [h] is not reason that we should leave the word of God, and serve tables.
3 Wherefore, brethren, look [j] ye out among you seven men of [k] honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business.
4 But we will [m] give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the word.
5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Stephen, a man full [o] of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and Philip, [q] and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and [s] Nicolas a proselyte of Antioch:
6 Whom they set before the apostles: and when [u] they had prayed, they [v] laid their hands on them.
7 And [x] the word of God increased; and the number of the disciples multiplied in Jerusalem greatly; and a great company of the priests [b] were obedient to the faith.
8 And Stephen, full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.
9 Then there arose certain of the synagogue, which is called The synagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and Alexandrians, and of them of Cilicia and of Asia, disputing with Stephen.
10 And they were not able [f] to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spake.
11 Then they suborned [h] men, which said, We have heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses, and against God.
12 And they stirred up the people, and the elders, and the scribes, and came upon him, and caught him, and brought him to the council,
13 And set up false witnesses, which said, This man ceaseth not to speak blasphemous words against this holy place, and the law:
14 For [k] we have heard him say, That this Jesus of Nazareth shall [l] destroy this place, and shall change the [t] customs which Moses delivered us.
15 And all that sat in the council, looking steadfastly on him, saw his [n] face as it had been the face of an angel.

CHAP. VII.

THEN said the high priest, Are these things so?

2 And he said, Men, [a] brethren, and fathers, hearken; The God of glory appeared unto our father Abraham when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,
3 And said [d] unto him, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall shew thee.
4 Then [e] came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran: and from thence, when his father was dead, he removed him into this land, wherein ye now dwell.
5 And he gave him none inheritance in it, no not so much as to set his foot on: yet he promised [i] that he would give it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no child.
6 And God spake on this wise, That [l] his seed should sojourn in a strange land; and that they should bring them into bondage, and entreat them evil four [n] hundred years.
7 And the nation to whom they shall be in bondage will I judge, said God: and after that shall they come forth, and serve [p] me in this place.
8 And [r] he gave him the covenant of circumcision. And so [t] Abraham begat Isaac, and circumcised him the eighth day: and Isaac [u] begat Jacob; and Jacob [v] begat the twelve patriarchs,
9 And the patriarchs, moved with [y] envy, sold Joseph into Egypt; but [z] God was with him,
10 And delivered him out of all his afflictions, and gave him favour and wisdom in the sight of Pharaoh king of Egypt; and he [e] made him governor over Egypt and all his house.
11 Now [d] there came a dearth over all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction; and our fathers found no sustenance.
12 But [e] when Jacob heard that there was corn in Egypt, he sent out our fathers first.
13 And at the second time Joseph [g] was made known to his brethren; and Joseph's kindred was made known unto Pharaoh.
14 Then sent Joseph, and called his father Jacob to him, and all [i] his kindred, threescore and fifteen souls.
15 So Jacob went down into Egypt, and died, he, and our fathers,
16 And [j] were carried over into Sychem, and laid in the sepulchre that Abraham bought for a sum of money of the sons of Emmor the father of Sychem.
17 But when the time of the promise drew nigh, which God had sworn to Abraham, the people [m] grew and multiplied in Egypt,
18 Till another king arose, which knew not Joseph.
19 The same dealt subtilly with our kindred, and evil-entreated our fathers, so [o] that they cast out their young children, to the end they might not live.
20 In which time Moses [p] was born, and was [1] exceeding fair, and nourished up in his father's house three months:

21 And when he was cast out, Pharaoh's daughter took him up, and [c] nourished him for her own son.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and [e] was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 And [f] when he was full forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren the children of Israel.

24 And seeing one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged him that was oppressed, and smote the Egyptian:

25 For [2] he supposed his brethren would have understood how that God by his hand would deliver them: but they understood not.

26 And the next day he shewed himself unto them as they strove, and would have set them at one again, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren; why do ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong [3] thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a ruler and a judge over us?

28 Wilt thou kill me as thou diddest the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at this saying; and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begat two sons.

30 And [n] when forty years were expired, there appeared to him in the wilderness of Mount Sina, an angel of the Lord, in a flame of fire in a bush.

31 When Moses saw it, he wondered at the sight: and as he drew near to behold it, the voice of the Lord came unto him, 32 Saying, I am the God [s] of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Then Moses trembled, and durst not behold.

33 Then said the Lord to him, Put [u] off thy shoes from thy feet; for the place where thou standest is holy ground.

34 I have seen, I have seen, the affliction of my people which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groaning, and am come down to deliver them. And now come, I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moses, whom they refused, (saying, Who made thee a ruler and a judge?) the same did God send to be a ruler and a deliverer, by the hand of the [z] angel which appeared to him in the bush.

36 He brought them out, after [b] that he had shewed wonders and signs in the land of Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and in the wilderness, forty [d] years.

37 This is that Moses which said [g] unto the children of Israel, A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, [5] like unto me; him [g] shall ye hear.

38 This [i] is he that was in the church in the wilderness, with the angel [k] which spake to him [l] in the Mount Sina, and with our fathers; who [a] received [k] the lively oracles to give unto us:

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but thrust him from them, and in their hearts turned back again into Egypt,

40 Saying [d] unto Aaron, Make us gods to go before us: for as for this Moses, which brought us out of the land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him.

41 And they made a calf [c] in those days, and offered sacrifice unto the idol, and rejoiced in the works of their own hands.

42 Then God turned, and gave [h] them up to worship the [i] host of heaven: as it is written [j] in the book of the prophets, O ye house of Israel, have ye offered to me slain beasts, and sacrifices, by the space of forty years in the wilderness?

43 Yea, ye took up the tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Remphan, figures which ye made, to worship them: and I will carry you away beyond Babylon

44 Our fathers had the tabernacle of witness in the wilderness, as he had appointed, [3] speaking unto Moses, that [k] he should make it according to the fashion that he had seen.

45 Which [l] also our fathers [4] that came after, brought in with Jesus into the possession of the Gentiles, whom [m] God drave out before the face of our fathers, unto the days of David,

46 Who found favour [o] before God, and desired [p] to find a tabernacle for the God of Jacob.

47 But Solomon [q] built him an house.

48 Howbeit, [r] the Most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands; as saith the prophet,

49 Heaven [t] is my throne, and earth is my footstool: what house will ye build me? saith the Lord: or what is the place of my rest?

50 Hath not my hand made all these things?

51 Ye stiffnecked, [v] and uncircumcised [w] in heart and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do ye.

52 Which [x] of the prophets have not your fathers persecuted? And they have slain them which shewed before of the coming of the Just [y] One, of whom ye have been now the betrayers and murderers:

53 Who have received the law by [a] the disposition of angels, and have not kept it.

54 When they heard these things, [c] they were cut to the heart, and they gnashed on him with their teeth.

55 But he, being [f] full of the Holy Ghost, looked up steadfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God,

56 And said, Behold, I see the [h] heavens opened, and [j] the Son of man standing on the right hand of God.

57 Then they cried out with a loud voice and stopped their ears, and ran upon him with one accord,

58 And cast [a] him out of the city, and stoned him: and the witnesses [c] laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, whose name was [d] Saul.

59 And they stoned Stephen, calling upon God, and saying, Lord Jesus, receive [e] my spirit!

60 And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay [i] not this sin to their charge! And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

CHAP. VIII.

AND Saul [j] was consenting unto his death. And at that time there was a great persecution against the church which was at Jerusalem; and they were all scattered [n] abroad throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria, except the apostles.

2 And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him.

3 As for Saul, he [q] made havoc of the church, entering into every house; and haling men and women, committed them to prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went every where preaching the word.

5 Then Philip [u] went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them.

6 And the people with one accord [v] gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing, [w] and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For [x] unclean spirits, crying with loud voice, came out of many that were possessed with them: and many taken with palsies, [y] and that were lame, [z] were healed.

8 And there was great joy in that city.

9 But there was a certain man called Simon, which before time in the same city used sorcery, [a] and bewitched the people of Samaria, giving out [f] that himself was some great one:

10 To whom [g] they all gave heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is the great power of God.

11 And to him they had regard, because that of long time he had bewitched [i] them with sorceries.

12 But when they believed [k] Philip preaching the things [m] concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women.

13 Then Simon himself believed also: and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondered, beholding the miracles [l] and signs which were done.

14 Now when the apostles which were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John:

15 Who, when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the Holy Ghost:

16 For as yet [b] he was fallen upon none of them; only they were [d] baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus

17 Then laid [f] they their hands on them, and they received the Holy Ghost.

18 And when Simon saw, that through laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Ghost was given, he offered them [h] money,

19 Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay hands, he may receive the Holy Ghost.

20 But Peter said unto him, Thy money perish with thee, because [k] thou hast thought that the gift [l] of God may be purchased with money.

21 Thou hast neither part [m] nor lot in this matter: for [o] thy heart is not right in the sight of God.

22 Repent therefore of this thy wickedness; and pray God, if [p] perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee:

23 For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterness, [r] and in the bond [s] of iniquity.

24 Then answered Simon, and said, Pray [t] ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye have spoken come upon me.

25 And they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and preached the gospel in many villages of the Samaritans.

26 And the angel of the Lord spake unto Philip, saying, Arise, and go toward the south, unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, [y] which is desert.

27 And he arose and went: and, behold, a man of Ethiopia, [b] an [c] eunuch of great authority under Candace queen of the Ethiopians, who had the charge of all her treasure, and had come [d] to Jerusalem for to worship, 28 Was returning; and, sitting in his chariot, read Esaias the prophet.

29 Then [h] the Spirit said unto Philip, Go near, and join thyself to this chariot.

30 And Philip ran thither to him, and heard him read the prophet Esaias, and said, Understandest [j] thou what thou readest?

31 And he said, How [l] can I, except some man should guide [n] me? And he desired Philip that he would come up and sit with him.

32 The place of the scripture which he read was this, [o] He was led as a sheep to the slaughter; and like a lamb dumb before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth:

33 In his humiliation his judgment was taken away: and who shall declare his generation? for his life is taken from the earth.

34 And the eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the prophet this? of himself, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began [a] at the same scripture, and [b] preached unto him Jesus.

36 And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water: and the eunuch said, See, here is water; what doth [c] hinder me to be baptized?

37 And Philip said, If [d] thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I [h] believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.

38 And he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him.

39 And when they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord [e] caught away Philip, that the eunuch saw him no more: and he went on his way rejoicing. [p]

40 But Philip was found at Azotus: and passing through, he preached in all the cities, till he came to Cesarea.

CHAP. IX.

AND Saul, yet [r] breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that, if he found any of [t] this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

3 And [t] as he journeyed, he came near Damascus; and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven:

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? [w]

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick [z] against the pricks.

6 And he, trembling and astonished, said, Lord, what [a] wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but [d] seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three days without sight, and neither did eat nor drink.

10 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; [h] and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Judas for one called Saul of Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth, 12 And hath seen in a vision a man named Ananias coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his sight.

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man [c] how much evil he hath done to thy saints at Jerusalem:

14 And here he [d] hath authority from the chief priests to bind all that call [f] on thy name.

15 But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for [i] he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before [j] the Gentiles, and kings, [k] and the [l] children of Israel.

16 For I will shew him how great things he must suffer [m] for my name's sake.

17 And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house; and putting [n] his hands on him, said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest, hath sent me, that thou mightest receive thy sight, and [q] be filled with the Holy Ghost.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales; and he received sight forthwith, and arose, and was baptized.

19 And when he had received meat, he was strengthened. Then was Saul certain days with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God.

21 But all that heard him were [u] amazed, and said, Is not this he [v] that destroyed them which called on this name in Jerusalem, and came hither for that intent, that he might bring them bound unto the chief priests?

22 But Saul increased the more in strength, [z] and confounded the [y] Jews which dwelt at Damascus, proving that this is very Christ.

23 And after that many days were fulfilled, the Jews took council [b] to kill him.

24 But their laying await was known of Saul. And they watched [c] the gates day and night, to kill him.

25 Then the disciples took him by night, and let [e] him down by the wall, in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come [f] to Jerusalem, he essayed to join himself to the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas [g] took him, and brought him to the apostles, and declared unto them how he had seen the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken to him, and how he had preached boldly [i] at Damascus in the name of Jesus.

28 And he was with them coming in and going out at Jerusalem.

29 And he spake boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus, and disputed against the Grecians: but [j] they went about to slay him.

30 Which when the brethren knew, they brought him down to Cesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 Then [b] had the churches rest [c] throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria, and were edified; [d] and walking [e] in the fear of the Lord, and in the comfort [f] of the Holy Ghost, were multiplied.[h]

32 And it came to pass, as Peter passed throughout all quarters, he came down also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certain man named Eneas, which had kept his bed eight years, and was sick of the palsy.

34 And Peter said unto him, Eneas, Jesus Christ maketh [j] thee whole; arise, and make thy bed. And he arose immediately.

35 And all that dwelt in Lydda and [k] Saron saw him, and turned [m] to the Lord.

36 Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called [l] Dorcas: this woman was full [n] of good works and alms-deeds which she did.

37 And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick, and died: whom, when they had washed, they laid her in an upper chamber.

38 And forasmuch as Lydda was nigh to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent unto him two men, desiring him that he would not [2] delay to come to them.

39 Then Peter arose, and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows stood by him weeping, and shewing the coats and garments which Dorcas made while [r] she was with them.

40 But Peter put [t] them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed: and turning him to the body, said, Tabitha, [t] arise. And she opened her eyes: and when she saw Peter, she sat up.

41 And he gave her his hand, and lift her up: and when he had called the saints and widows, he [v] presented her alive.

42 And it was known throughout all Joppa; and [w] many believed in the Lord.

43 And it came to pass, that he tarried many days in Joppa, with one Simon a tanner.

CHAP. X.

THERE was a certain man in Cesarea, called Cornelius, a centurion of the band called the Italian band,

2 A devout [x] man, and one that feared [a] God with all [b] his house, which gave much alms to [c] the people, and prayed [d] to God alway.

3 He saw in a vision evidently, about the ninth hour of the day, an angel [e] of God coming in to him, and saying unto him, Cornelius.

4 And when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, What is it, Lord? And he said unto him, Thy prayers and thine alms are come up for a memorial [g] before God.

5 And now send men to Joppa, and call for one Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon [f] a tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee [i] what thou oughtest to do.

7 And when the angel which spake unto Cornelius was departed, he called two of his household servants, and a devout soldier of them that waited on him continually:

8 And when he had declared all these things unto them, he sent them to Joppa.

9 On the morrow, as they went on their journey, and drew nigh unto the city, Peter went [l] up upon the house top to pray, about the sixth hour:

10 And he became very hungry, and would have eaten: but while they made ready, he fell into a trance.

11 And saw [o] heaven opened, and a certain vessel descending unto him, as it had been a great sheet, knit at the four corners, and let down to the earth;

12 Wherein were all manner of four-footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air.

13 And there came a voice to him, Rise, Peter; kill, and eat.

14 But Peter said, Not so, Lord; for I have never eaten any thing that is [p] common or unclean.

15 And the voice spake unto him again the second time, What God hath cleansed, [q] that call not thou common.

16 This was done thrice: and the vessel was received up again into heaven.

17 Now while Peter doubted in himself what this vision which he had seen should mean, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius had made inquiry [u] for Simon's house, and stood before the gate,

18 And called, and asked whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 While Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit [z] said unto him, Behold, three men seek thee.

20 Arise [y] therefore, and get thee down, and go with them, doubting nothing: for I have sent them.

21 Then Peter went down to the men which were sent unto him from Cornelius; and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seek: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius [e] the centurion, a just man, and one that feareth God, and of good report [f] among all the nation of the Jews, was warned from God by an holy angel, to send for thee into his house, and to hear words of thee.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them. And on the morrow Peter went away with them, and certain [h] brethren from Joppa accompanied him.

24 And the morrow after they entered into Cesarea. And Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsmen and near friends.

25 And as Peter was coming in, Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter took him up, saying, Stand [f] up; I myself also am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he went in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said unto them, Ye know how that it is an unlawful thing [h] for a man that is a Jew to keep company, or come unto one of another nation; but God hath shewed me [j] that I should not call any man common or unclean.

29 Therefore came I unto you without gainsaying, as soon as I was sent for. I ask, therefore, for what intent ye have sent for me?

30 And Cornelius said, Four days ago I was fasting until this hour; and at the ninth hour I prayed in my house; and, behold, a man stood before me [m] in bright clothing,

31 And said, Cornelius, thy [n] prayer is heard, and thine alms are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 Send therefore to Joppa, and call hither Simon, whose surname is Peter: he is lodged in the house of one Simon a tanner, by the sea side; who, when he cometh, shall speak unto thee.

33 Immediately therefore I sent to thee: and thou hast well done that thou art come. Now [p] therefore are we all here present before God, to hear all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God [q] is no respecter of persons:

35 But in [r] every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.

36 The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace [s] by Jesus Christ; (he is [t] Lord of all;)

37 That word, I say, ye know, which was published throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee, after the baptism which John preached:

38 How God anointed [u] Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with power; who [v] went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed [w] of the devil: for [x] God was with him.

39 And we [y] are witnesses of all things which he did, both in the land of the Jews and in Jerusalem; whom they slew and hanged on a tree.

40 Him God raised up [z] the third day, and shewed him openly;

41 Not [b] to all the people, but unto witnesses chosen before [c] of God, even to us, who did eat and drink with him after he rose from the dead.

42 And he commanded us [b] to preach unto the people, and to testify that [c] it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead.

43 To him [d] give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever [e] believeth in him shall receive remission of sins.

44 While Peter yet spake these words, the Holy Ghost [g] fell on all them which heard the word.

45 And they [i] of the circumcision which believed were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was poured out the gift of the Holy Ghost:

46 For they heard them speak [k] with tongues, and magnify God. Then answered Peter, 47 Can [l] any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized which have received the Holy Ghost as well as we?

48 And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarry certain days.

CHAP. XI.

AND the apostles and brethren that were in Judea heard that the Gentiles had also received the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come up to Jerusalem, they [o] that were of the circumcision contended with him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men uncircumcised, and didst eat with them.

4 But Peter rehearsed the matter from the beginning, and expounded it by order unto them, saying,

5 I was in the city of Joppa, praying: and in a trance I saw a vision, A certain vessel descend, as it had been a great sheet let down from heaven by four corners; and it came even to me:

6 Upon the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw four-footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, and creeping things, and fowls of the air.

7 And I heard a voice saying unto me, Arise, Peter; slay, and eat.

8 But I said, Not so, Lord: for nothing common or unclean hath at any time entered into my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me again from heaven, What God hath cleansed, that call not thou common.

10 And this was done three times: and all were drawn up again into heaven.

11 And, behold, immediately there were three men already come unto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea unto me.

12 And the Spirit [a] bade me go with them, nothing doubting. Moreover, these six brethren accompanied me; and we entered into the man's house:

13 And he shewed us how he had seen an angel in his house, which stood and said unto him, Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter;

14 Who shall tell thee words, [b] whereby thou and all thy house shall be saved.

15 And as I began to speak, the Holy Ghost fell on them, as [c] on us at the beginning.

16 Then remembered I the word of the Lord, how that he said, John [e] indeed baptized with water; but [h] ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost.

17 Forasmuch then as God gave [i] them the like gift as he did unto us who believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, what [j] was I, that I could withstand God?

18 When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles [k] granted repentance unto life.

19 Now they [l] which were scattered abroad upon the persecution that arose about Stephen, travelled as far as Phenice, and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to none but [n] unto the Jews only.

20 And some of them were men of Cyprus and Cyrene, which, when they were come to Antioch, spake unto the Grecians, [p] preaching the Lord Jesus.

21 And the [q] hand of the Lord was with them: and a great number believed, and turned [s] unto the Lord.

22 Then tidings of these things came unto the ears of the church which was in Jerusalem: and they sent forth Barnabas, [u] that he should go as far as Antioch.

23 Who, when he came, and had seen the grace of God, was glad, [v] and exhorted [w] them all, that with purpose [x] of [y] heart they would cleave unto the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full [z] of the Holy Ghost and of faith: and [a] much people was added unto the Lord.

25 Then [d] departed Barnabas to Tarsus, for to seek Saul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antioch. And it came to pass, that a whole year they assembled themselves [3] with the church, and taught [f] much people. And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch.

27 And in these days came [g] prophets from Jerusalem unto Antioch.

28 And there stood up one of them, named Agabus, [h] and signified by the Spirit that there should be great dearth throughout all the world: which came to pass in the days of Claudius Cesar.

29 Then the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send [j] relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judea:

30 Which also they did, and [l] sent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

CHAP. XII.

NOW about that time, Herod the king stretched [1] forth his hands, to vex certain of the church.

2 And he killed James [a] the brother of John with the sword.

3 And because he saw it pleased [c] the Jews, he proceeded further to take Peter [d] also Then were the days [f] of unleavened bread.

4 And when he had apprehended him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers, to keep him; intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people.

5 Peter therefore was kept in prison; but [2] prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him.

6 And when Herod would have brought him forth, the same night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains; and the keepers before the door kept the prison.

7 And, behold, the angel [m] of the Lord came upon him, and a light shined in the prison: and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise up quickly. And [o] his chains fell off from his hands.

8 And the angel said unto him, Gird thyself, and bind on thy sandals: and so he did. And he saith unto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 And he went out, and followed him; and wist not [r] that it was true which was done by the angel; but thought he saw a vision.[t]

10 When they were past the first and the second ward, they came unto the iron gate that leadeth unto the city, which opened to them of his own accord; and they went out, and passed on through one street; and forthwith the angel departed from him.

11 And when Peter was come to himself, he said, Now I know of a surety that the Lord hath sent [b] his angel, and hath [c] delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the people of the Jews.

12 And when he had considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary the mother of John, whose surname was Mark; where many [e] were gathered together, praying, 13 And as Peter knocked at the door of the gate, a damsel came [4] to hearken, named Rhoda.

14 And when she knew Peter's voice, she opened not the gate for gladness, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the gate.

15 And they said unto her, Thou art mad. But she constantly affirmed that it was even so. Then said they, It is his [i] angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking: and when they had opened the door, and saw him, they were astonished.

17 But he beckoning [k] unto them with the hand, to hold their peace, declared [m] unto them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Go, shew these things unto James, and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place.

18 Now as soon as it was day, there was no small stir among the soldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded that they should be put to death. And he went down from Judea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 And Herod [1] was highly displeased with them of Tyre and Sidon: but they came with one accord to him, and, having made Blastus [2] the king's chamberlain their friend, desired peace; because their [a] country was nourished by the king's country.

21 And upon a set day, Herod, arrayed in royal apparel, sat upon his throne, and made an oration unto them.

22 And the people gave a shout, saying, It is [d] the voice of a god, and not of a man.

23 And immediately the angel of the Lord smote him, because he gave not God the glory: and he was eaten of worms, and gave up the ghost.

24 But the word of God grew [e] and multiplied.

25 And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, when they had fulfilled their [3] ministry, and took with them John, whose surname was Mark.

CHAP. XIII.

NOW there were in the church that was at Antioch, certain prophets and teachers; as Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen,[5] which had been brought up with Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

2 As they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Ghost said, Separate [n] me Barnabas and Saul for the work [o] whereunto I have called them.

3 And when they had fasted and prayed, and laid their hands on them, they sent them away.

4 So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, departed unto Seleucia; and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews: and they had also John to their minister.

6 And when they had gone through the isle unto Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet, a Jew, whose name was Bar-jesus:

7 Which was with the deputy of the country, Sergius Paulus, a prudent man; who called for Barnabas and Saul, and desired to hear the word of God.

8 But Elymas the sorcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) [y] withstood them, seeking to turn away the deputy from the faith.

9 Then Saul (who also is called Paul), filled with the Holy Ghost, set his eyes on him,

10 And said, O full of all subtilty and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?

11 And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season. And immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkness; and he went about, seeking some to lead him by the hand.

12 Then the deputy, when he saw what was done, believed, being astonished at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 Now when Paul and his company loosed from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphylia; and John departing [b] from them, returned to Jerusalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Pisidia, and went into the synagogue [c] on the sabbath-day, and sat down.

15 And after the reading [e] of the law and the prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent unto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye have any word [f] of exhortation for the people, say on.

16 Then Paul stood up, and beckoning with his hand, said, Men of Israel, and ye that fear God, give audience.

17 The God of this people of Israel chose [h] our fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt [i] as strangers in the land of Egypt, and with an [j] high arm brought he them out of it.

18 And about the time of forty [k] years suffered [4] he their manners in the wilderness.

19 And when he had destroyed [l] seven nations in the land of Chanaan, he [m] divided their land to them by lot.

20 And after that, he gave unto them judges, [p] about the space of four hundred and fifty years, until Samuel the prophet.

21 And afterward they [q] desired a king: and God gave unto them Saul [r] the son of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, by the space of forty years.

22 And when [s] he had removed him, he raised up unto them David [t] to be their king, to whom also he gave testimony, and said, I have found David the son of Jesse, a man [u] after mine own heart, which shall fulfil all my will.

you feareth God, to you [c] is the word of this salvation sent.

27 For they that dwell at Jerusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the voices of the prophets which are read every sabbath-day, they [c] have fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate that he should be slain.

29 And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the tree, and laid him in a sepulchre.

30 But God raised him from the dead:

31 And he was seen [g] many days of them which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are his witnesses unto the people.

32 And we declare unto you glad tidings, how that the promise [i] which was made unto the fathers,

33 God hath fulfilled the same unto us their children, in that he hath raised up Jesus again; as it is also written in the second psalm, Thou [k] art my Son, this day have I begotten thee.

34 And as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, now no more to return to corruption, he said on this wise, I will give you the sure [l] mercies of David.

35 Wherefore he saith also in [m] another psalm, Thou shalt not suffer thine Holy One to see corruption.

36 For David, [z] after he had served his own generation by the will of God, [o] fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers, and saw corruption:

37 But he, whom God [p] raised again, saw no corruption.

38 Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through [r] this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins:

39 And by him, [s] all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses.

40 Beware therefore, lest that come upon you which is spoken of in [u] the prophets;

41 Behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and perish: for I work a work in your days, a work which you shall in no wise believe, though a man declare it unto you.

42 And when the Jews were gone out of the synagogue, the Gentiles besought that these words might be preached to them the [3] next sabbath.

43 Now when the congregation was broken up, many of the Jews and religious proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas: who speaking to them, persuaded them to continue [y] in the grace of God.

44 And the next sabbath-day came almost the whole city together, to hear the word of God.

45 But when the Jews saw the multitudes, they were filled with envy, and spake against those things which were spoken by Paul, contradicting [b] and blaspheming.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bold, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first [d] have been spoken to you: but seeing ye put it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, lo, we [e] turn to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commanded us, saying, [f] I have set thee to be a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be for salvation unto the ends of the earth.

48 And when the Gentiles heard this they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and [h] as many as were ordained to eternal life, believed.

49 And the word of the Lord was published throughout all the region.

50 But the Jews stirred up the devout and honourable women, and the chief men of the city, and [j] raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.

51 But they shook [l] off the dust of their feet against them, and came unto Iconium.

52 And the disciples were filled with joy, [n] and with the Holy Ghost.

CHAP. XIV.

AND it came to pass in Iconium, that they went both together into the synagogue of the Jews, and so spake, that a great multitude, both of the Jews and also of the Greeks, believed.

2 But the unbelieving Jews stirred up the Gentiles, and made their minds evil-affected against the brethren.

3 Long time therefore abode they speaking boldly in the Lord, which [q] gave testimony unto the word of his grace, and granted signs and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the city was divided: and [t] part held with the Jews, and part with the apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made, both of the Gentiles and also of the Jews, with their rulers, to use them despitefully, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and fled [v] unto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and unto the region that lieth round about:

7 And there they preached the gospel.

8 And there sat a certain man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, being a [w] cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked:

9 The same heard Paul speak: who stedfastly beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith [x] to be healed,

10 Said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped [z] and walked.

11 And when the people saw what Paul had done, they lift up their voices, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, The [a] gods are come down to us, in the likeness of men

12 And they called Barnabas, Jupiter; and Paul, Mercurius, because he was the chief speaker.

13 Then the priest of Jupiter, which was before their city, brought oxen and garands unto the gates, and [d] would have done sacrifice with the people.

14 Which when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of, they [e] rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying out,

15 And saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We [h] also are men of like passions with you, and preach unto you, that ye should turn from these vanities [j] unto [k] the living God, which made [l] heaven and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein:

16 Who [n] in times past suffered all nations to walk in their own ways.

17 Nevertheless, [o] he left not himself without witness, in that he did good, and gave us rain [q] from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness.

18 And with these sayings scarce restrained they the people, that they had not done sacrifice unto them.

19 And there came thither certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, who persuaded the people, and having [t] stoned Paul, drew him out of the city, supposing he had been dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he rose up, and came into the city: and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and [2] had taught many, they returned again to Lystra, and to Iconium, and Antioch,

22 Confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue [y] in the faith, and that [z] we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God.

23 And when they had ordained them elders in every church, and had prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord, on whom they believed.

24 And after they had passed throughout Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they went down into Attalia:

26 And thence sailed to Antioch, [c] from whence they had been recommended to [d] the grace of God for the work which they fulfilled.

27 And when they were come, and had gathered the church together, they rehearsed [f] all that God had done with them, and how he had opened [g] the door of faith unto the Gentiles.

28 And there they abode long time with the disciples.

said, Except [a] ye be circumcised after [b] the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved

2 When therefore Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and disputation with them, they determined that [c] Paul and Barnabas, and certain other of them, should go up to Jerusalem, unto the apostles and elders, about this question.

3 And being [f] brought on their way by the church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conversion [g] of the Gentiles: and they caused great joy [i] unto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the church, and of the apostles and elders; and they [m] declared all things that God had done with them.

5 But [1] there rose up certain of the sect of the Pharisees which believed, saying, [p] That it was needful to circumcise them, and to command them to keep the law of Moses.

6 And the apostles and elders came together, [r] for to consider of this matter.

7 And when there had been much disputing, Peter rose up and said unto them, Men and brethren, ye know [s] how that a good while ago God made choice among us, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the gospel, and believe.

8 And God, which [u] knoweth the hearts, bare them witness, giving them the Holy Ghost, even as he did unto us;

9 And put no difference between us and them, purifying [v] their hearts by faith.

10 Now therefore why tempt ye God, to put a yoke [w] upon the neck of the disciples, which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear?

11 But we believe that through [x] the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they.

12 Then all the multitude kept silence, and gave audience to Barnabas and Paul, declaring what miracles and wonders God had wrought [a] among the Gentiles by them.

13 And after they had held their peace, James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken unto me:

14 Simeon hath declared [b] how God at the first did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name.

15 And to this agree the words of the prophets; as it is written,[e]

16 After this I will return, and will build again the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down; and I will build again the ruins thereof, and I will set it up:

17 That the residue of men might seek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles, upon whom my name is called, saith the Lord, who doeth all these things.

18 Known [h] unto God are all his works, from the beginning of the world.

19 Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them, which from among the Gentiles are turned [b] to God:

20 But that we write unto them, that they abstain from pollutions of [d] idols, and from fornication, [e] and from things strangled, and from [f] blood.

21 For Moses of old time hath in every city them that preach him, being [g] read in the synagogues every sabbath-day:

22 Then pleased it the apostles and elders, with the whole church, to send chosen men of their own company to Antioch, with Paul and Barnabas; namely, Judas surnamed Barsabas, [i] and Silas, chief men among the brethren:

23 And wrote letters by them after this manner; The apostles and elders, and brethren, send greeting unto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antioch, and Syria, and Cilicia:

24 Forasmuch as we have heard, that certain [o] which went out from us have troubled [p] you with words, [q] subverting your souls, saying, Ye must be circumcised, and keep the law: to whom [r] we gave no such commandment:

25 It seemed good unto us, being assembled with one accord, to send chosen men unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that have hazarded [v] their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

27 We have sent therefore Judas and Silas, who shall also tell you the same things by [1] mouth.

28 For it seemed good to the Holy Ghost, and to us, to lay upon you no greater burthen [a] than these necessary things;

29 That ye abstain [b] from meats offered to idols, and from blood, and from things strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keep [c] yourselves, ye shall do well. Fare ye well.

30 So when they were dismissed, they came to Antioch: and when they had gathered the multitude together, they delivered the epistle:

31 Which when they had read, they rejoiced for the [2] consolation.

32 And Judas and Silas, being prophets also themselves, exhorted the brethren with many words, and confirmed [g] them.

33 And after they had tarried there a space, they were let go [h] in peace from the brethren unto the apostles.

34 Notwithstanding, it pleased Silas to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with many others also.

36 And some days after, Paul said unto Barnabas, Let us go again and visit our brethren in [k] every city where we have preached the word of the Lord, and see how they do.

37 And Barnabas determined to take with them John [a] whose surname was Mark.

38 But Paul thought not good to take him with them, who departed [c] from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the work.

39 And the contention was so sharp between them, that they departed asunder one from the other: and so Barnabas took Mark, and sailed unto Cyprus:

40 And Paul chose Silas, and departed, being recommended [k] by the brethren unto the grace of God.

41 And he went through Syria and Cilicia, confirming [j] the churches.

CHAP. XVI.

THEN came he to Derbe [k] and Lystra: and behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timotheus, [l] the son of a [m] certain woman, which was a Jewess, and believed; but his father was a Greek:

2 Which was well [n] reported of by the brethren that were at Lystra and Iconium.

3 Him would Paul have to go forth with him; and took and circumcised him, [r] because of the Jews [t] which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Greek.

4 And as they went through the cities, they delivered them the decrees for to keep, that were ordained [u] of the apostles and elders which were at Jerusalem.

5 And so were the churches [w] established in the faith, and increased in number daily.

6 Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia and the region of [y] Galatia, and were forbidden of [y] the Holy Ghost to preach the word in [z] Asia,

7 After they were come to Mysia, they assayed to go into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 And they passing by Mysia, came down to [d] Troas.

9 And a vision appeared to Paul in the night; There stood a man [e] of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come over into Macedonia, and help us.

10 And after he had seen the vision, immediately we endeavoured to go [f] into Macedonia, assuredly gathering that the Lord had called us for to preach the gospel unto them.

11 Therefore loosing from Troas, we came with a straight course to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis;

12 And from thence to Philippi, [i] which is [3] the chief city of that part of Macedonia, and a colony. And we were in that city abiding certain days.

13 And on the [4] sabbath we went out of the city by a river side, where prayer was wont to be made: and we sat down, and spake unto the women which resorted thither.

14 And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart [l] the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things which were spoken of Paul.

15 And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought [a] us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there. And she constrained us.

16 And it came to pass, as we went to prayer, a certain damsel possessed [d] with a spirit of [1] divination met us, which brought her masters much gain [e] by soothsaying:

17 The same followed Paul and us, and cried, saying, These men are the servants of the most high [f] God, which shew unto us the way of [g] salvation.

18 And this did she many days. But Paul, being grieved, turned and said [i] to the spirit, I command thee in the name of Jesus Christ, to come out of her. And [j] he came out the same hour.

19 And when her masters saw that the hope of their gains [l] was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into [2] the market-place, unto [m] the rulers,

20 And brought them to the magistrates, saying, These men, being Jews, do exceedingly trouble [p] our city,

21 And teach customs which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, being Romans.

22 And the multitude rose up together against them: and the magistrates rent off their clothes, and commanded to beat them.

23 And when they had laid many [r] stripes upon them, they cast them into prison, charging the jailer to keep them safely:

24 Who having received such a charge, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks.

25 And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, [u] and sang [v] praises unto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so [y] that the foundations of the prison were shaken: and immediately [z] all the doors were opened, and every one's bands were loosed.

27 And the keeper of the prison awaking out of his sleep, and seeing the prison doors open, he drew out his sword, and would have killed himself, supposing that the prisoners had been fled.

28 But [b] Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thyself [c] no harm; for we are all here.

29 Then he called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling, [e] and fell down before Paul and Silas:

30 And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what [g] must I do to be saved?

31 And they said, Believe [i] on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy [j] house.

32 And they spake unto him the word of the Lord, and to all [k] that were in his house.

33 And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes; and was baptized, he and all his, straightway.

34 And when he had brought them into his house, he set meat [b] before them, and rejoiced, [c] believing in God with all his house.

35 And when it was day, the magistrates sent the serjeants, saying, Let those men go.

36 And the keeper of the prison told this saying to Paul, The magistrates have sent to let you go: now therefore depart, and go in peace.

37 But Paul said unto them, They have beaten us openly uncondemned, [h] being Romans, and have cast us into prison; and now do they thrust us out privily? Nay, verily; but let them come themselves, [k] and fetch us out.

38 And the serjeants told these words unto the magistrates: and they feared, when they heard that they were Romans.

39 And they came and besought [n] them, and brought them out, and desired [o] them to depart out of the city.

40 And they went out of the prison, and entered into the house of Lydia: [q] and when they had seen the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

CHAP. XVII.

NOW when they had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a synagogue of the Jews:

2 And Paul, as his manner was, [s] went in unto them, and three sabbath-days reasoned with them out of the Scriptures,

3 Opening and alleging, that Christ must [t] needs have suffered, and risen again from the dead; and that this [3] Jesus, whom I preach unto you, is Christ.

4 And some [w] of them believed, and [x] consorted with Paul and Silas; and of the devout Greeks a great multitude, and of the chief women not a few.

5 But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain lewd fellows of the baser sort, and gathered a company, and set all the city on an uproar, and assaulted the house of Jason, [a] and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 And when they found them not, they drew Jason and certain brethren unto the rulers of the city, crying, These [d] that have turned the world upside down, are come hither also;

7 Whom Jason hath received: and these all do contrary [f] to the decrees of Cesar, saying that there is another king, one Jesus.

8 And they troubled [h] the people, and the rulers of the city, when they heard these things.

9 And when they had taken security of Jason, and of the other, they let them go.

10 And the brethren immediately sent away [l] Paul and Silas by night unto Berea: who coming thither, went into the synagogue of the Jews.

11 These were more [c] noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness [d] of mind, and searched the Scriptures [e] daily, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them believed: also of honourable women which were Greeks, and of men, not a few.

13 But when the Jews of Thessalonica had knowledge that the word of God was preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and stirred up [j] the people.

14 And then immediately the brethren sent away [k] Paul, to go as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

15 And they that conducted Paul brought him unto Athens: and receiving a commandment unto Silas and Timotheus [o] for to come to him with all speed, they departed.

16 Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, [p] his spirit was stirred in him, when he saw the city [2] wholly given to idolatry.

17 Therefore disputed he in the synagogue with the Jews, and with the devout [r] persons, and in the market daily with them that met with him.

18 Then certain philosophers [t] of the Epicureans, and of the Stoics, encountered him. And some said, What will this [3] babbler say? Other some, He seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods: because he preached unto them Jesus, and the resurrection.

19 And they took him, and brought him unto [4] Areopagus, saying, May we know what this new [v] doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

20 For thou bringest certain [w] strange things to our ears: we would know therefore what these things mean.

21 (For all the Athenians, and strangers which were there, spent their time in nothing else, but either to tell or to hear some new thing.)

22 Then Paul stood in the midst of Mars' [5] Hill, and said, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too superstitious.[a]

23 For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, [7] I found an altar with this inscription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD. Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you.

24 God [c] that made the world, and all things therein, seeing that he is [f] Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth [g] not in temples made with hands;

25 Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though [i] he needed any thing; seeing he [j] giveth to all, life, and breath, and [k] all things;

26 And hath made of one [l] blood all nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the earth; and hath determined the times [m] before appointed, and the bounds [b] of their habitation;

27 That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though [f] he be not far from every one of us:

28 For in [g] him we live, and move, and have our being; as [h] certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.

29 Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not [i] to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device.

30 And the times of this ignorance God winked [l] at, but now [n] commandeth all men every where to repent:

31 Because he hath appointed [n] a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance [1] unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.

32 And when they heard of the resurrection of the dead, [q] some mocked: and others said, We will hear thee again [r] of this matter.

33 So Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certain men clave unto him, and believed: among the which was Dionysius the Areopagite, and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

CHAP. XVIII.

AFTER these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth:

2 And found a certain Jew named [u] Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla; (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome;) and came unto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, and [v] wrought: for by their occupation they were tent-makers.

4 And he reasoned in the [y] synagogue every sabbath, and persuaded the Jews and the Greeks.

5 And when [z] Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was pressed in spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus [6] was Christ.

6 And when they opposed [b] themselves, and blasphemed, he shook [c] his raiment, and said unto them, Your [d] blood be upon your own heads: I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles.

7 And he departed thence, and entered into a certain man's house, named Justus, one that worshipped God, whose house joined hard to the synagogue.

8 And [h] Crispus, the chief ruler of the synagogue, believed on the Lord, with all his house: and many of the Corinthians hearing, believed, and were baptized.

9 Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace:

10 For I [a] am with thee, and no man shall set on thee, to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city.
11 And he [1] continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them.
12 And when Gallio was the deputy of Achaia, the Jews made insurrection with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the judgment-seat. [f]
13 Saying, This fellow persuadeth men to worship God contrary to the law.
14 And when Paul was now about to open his mouth, Gallio said unto the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong, or wicked lewdness, O ye Jews, [h] reason would that I should bear with you:
15 But if it be a question of words and names, and of your law, [j] look ye to it; for I will be no judge of such matters.
16 And he drave them from the judgment-seat.
17 Then all the Greeks took [m] Sosthenes, the chief ruler of the synagogue, and beat him before the judgment-seat. And Gallio cared for none of those things.
18 And Paul after this tarried there yet a good while, and then took his leave of the brethren, and sailed thence into Syria, and with him Priscilla and Aquila; having shorn [r] his head in Cenchrea: [s] for he had a vow.
19 And he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he himself entered into the synagogue, and reasoned [v] with the Jews.
20 When they desired him to tarry longer time with them, he consented not;
21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must by all means keep this feast that cometh in Jerusalem: [b] but I will return again unto you, if [c] God will. And he sailed from Ephesus.
22 And when he had landed at Cesarea, and gone up, and saluted the church, he went down to Antioch.
23 And after he had spent some time there, he departed, and went over all the country of Galatia [g] and Phrygia in order, strengthening [k] all the disciples.
24 And a certain Jew named [i] Apollos, born at Alexandria, an eloquent man, and mighty in the Scriptures, came to Ephesus.
25 This man was instructed in the way of the Lord; and being fervent [l] in the spirit, he spake and taught diligently the things of the Lord, knowing [m] only the baptism of John.
26 And he began to speak boldly in the synagogue: whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they took him unto them, and expounded unto him the way of God more [o] perfectly.
27 And when he was disposed to pass into Achaia, the brethren wrote, exhorting the disciples to receive him: who, when he was come, helped [b] them much which had believed [c] through grace:
28 For he mightily convinced the Jews, and that publickly, shewing by [d] the scriptures that Jesus [2] was Christ.

CHAP. XIX.

AND it came to pass, that while Apollos [e] was at Corinth, Paul having passed through the upper coasts, came to Ephesus; and finding certain disciples,
2 He said unto them, Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed? And they said unto him, We have not [g] so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost.
3 And he said unto them, Unto what then were ye baptized? And they said, Unto [i] John's baptism.
4 Then said Paul, John [k] verily baptized with the baptism of repentance, [l] saying unto the people, that they should believe on him which should come after him, that is, on Christ Jesus.
5 When they heard this, they were baptized in the name [n] of the Lord Jesus.
6 And when Paul had laid [o] his hands upon them, the Holy Ghost came on them; [p] and they spake with tongues, and [q] prophesied.
7 And all the men were about twelve.
8 And he went into the synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, disputing, [t] and persuading [u] the things concerning the kingdom of God.
9 But when divers were hardened, [w] and believed not, but spake evil [x] of that [y] way before the multitude, he departed [z] from them, and separated the disciples, disputing daily in the school of one Tyrannus.
10 And this continued by the space [a] of two years; so that all they which dwelt in Asia [d] heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.
11 And God wrought special [e] miracles by the hands of Paul:
12 So that from his body were brought unto the sick handkerchiefs [f] or aprons, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them.
13 Then certain of the vagabond Jews, exorcists, took upon them [j] to call over them which had evil spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We adjure [k] you by Jesus, whom Paul preacheth.
14 And there were seven sons of one Sceva, a Jew, and chief of the priests, which did so.
15 And the evil spirit answered and said, Jesus I know, and Paul I know; but who are ye?
16 And the man in whom the evil spirit was, leapt [n] on them, and overcame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked and wounded.
17 And this was known to all the Jews and Greeks also dwelling at Ephesus; and fear [a] fell on them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified.

18 And many that believed, came, and confessed,[b] and shewed their deeds.

19 Many also of them which used curious arts, brought their books together, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fifty thousand pieces of silver.

20 So mightily grew [d] the word of God, and prevailed.

21 After [e] these things were ended, Paul purposed in the spirit, when he had passed through Macedonia and Achaia, to go to Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there, I must also see Rome.[h]

22 So he sent into Macedonia two of them that ministered unto him, Timotheus and Erastus; [i] but he himself stayed in Asia for a season.

23 And the same time there arose no small stir [j] about that way.

24 For a certain man named Demetrius, a silversmith, which made silver shrines for Diana, brought no small [k] gain unto the craftsmen;

25 Whom he called [l] together with the workmen of like occupation, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our wealth.

26 Moreover, ye see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia, this Paul hath persuaded and turned away much people, saying that [o] they be no gods which are made with hands:

27 So that not only this our craft is in danger to be set at nought; but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be despised, [r] and her magnificence should be destroyed, whom all Asia and the world [t] worshippeth.

28 And when they heard these sayings, they were full of wrath, [u] and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians!

29 And the whole city was filled with confusion: and having caught Gaius [w] and Aristarchus, [y] men of Macedonia, Paul's companions in travel, they rushed with one accord into the theatre.

30 And when Paul would have entered in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 And certain of the chief of Asia, which were his friends, sent unto him, desiring [d] him that he would not adventure himself into the theatre.

32 Some [g] therefore cried one thing, and some another; for the assembly was confused: and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.

33 And they drew Alexander out of the multitude, the Jews putting him forward. And Alexander [i] beckoned with the hand, and would have made his defence unto the people.

34 But when they knew that he was a Jew, all with one voice, about the space of two hours, cried out, Great is Diana of the Ephesians!

35 And when the town-clerk had appeased the people, he said, Ye men [o] of Ephesus, what man is there that knoweth not how that the city of the Ephesians is a [1] worshipper of the great goddess Diana, and of the image which fell down from Jupiter?

36 Seeing then that these things cannot be spoken against, ye ought to be quiet, and to do [f] nothing rashly.

37 For ye have brought hither these men, which are neither [g] robbers of churches, nor yet blasphemers of your goddess.

38 Wherefore if Demetrius, and the craftsmen which are with him, have a matter against any man, [2] the law is open, and there are deputies: let them implead one another.

39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters, it shall be determined in a [3] lawful assembly.

40 For we are in danger to be called in question for this day's uproar, there being no cause whereby we may give an account of this concourse.

41 And when he had thus spoken, he dismissed the assembly.[m]

CHAP. XX.

AND after the uproar [n] was ceased, Paul called unto him the disciples, and embraced them, and departed, for to go [p] into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone over those parts, and had given them much [q] exhortation, he came into Greece,

3 And there abode three months. And when the Jews laid wait [s] for him, as he was about to sail into Syria, he purposed to return through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea; and of the Thessalonians, Aristarchus [v] and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe, and [z] Timotheus; and of Asia, Tychicus [x] and [a] Trophimus.

5 These going before, tarried for us at Troas.

6 And we sailed away from Philippi after the days [b] of unleavened bread, and came unto them to Troas [c] in five days; where we abode seven days.

7 And upon the first [d] day of the week, when the disciples came together to break [f] bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight.

8 And there were many lights in the upper [h] chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sat in a window a certain young man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deep sleep: and as Paul was long preaching, he sunk down with sleep, and fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead.

10 And Paul went down, and fell [e] on him, and embracing him, said, [d] Trouble not yourselves; for his life is in him.

11 When he therefore was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, and talked a long while, even till break of day, so he departed.

12 And they brought the young man alive, and were not a little comforted.

13 And we went before to ship, and sailed unto Assos, there intending to take in Paul: for so had he appointed, minding himself to go afoot.

14 And when he met with us at Assos, we took him in, and came to Mitylene.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day over against Chios; and the next day we arrived at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium; and the next day we came to Miletus.

16 For Paul had determined to sail by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia; for he hasted, if it were possible for him, to be [o] at Jerusalem the day of [q] Pentecost.

17 And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called the elders of the church.

18 And when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know, from the first day [r] that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons,

19 Serving the Lord with all [v] humility of mind, and with many tears, [w] and temptations, [x] which befell me by [y] the lying in wait of the Jews:

20 And how [z] I kept back nothing that was profitable unto you, but have shewed you, and have taught you publickly, and [a] from house to house,

21 Testifying both to the Jews, and also to the Greeks, repentance [b] toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

22 And now, behold, I go [c] bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing [d] the things that shall befall me there:

23 Save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying [e] that bonds and afflictions [1] abide me.

24 But none [f] of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might [h] finish my course with joy, and the ministry [i] which I have received [j] of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day that I am pure [l] from the blood of all men.

27 For I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel [m] of God.

28 Take heed [n] therefore unto you selves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you [o] overseers, to feed [a] the church of God, which he hath purchased [b] with his own blood.

29 For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves [c] enter in among you, not sparing [d] the flock.

30 Also of [e] your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, [h] and remember that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn [i] every one night and day with tears.

32 And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which [j] is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance [k] among all them which are sanctified.

33 I [l] have coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel.

34 Yea, ye yourselves [m] know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I have shewed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to [n] support the weak; and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It [p] is more blessed to give than to receive.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled [r] down, and prayed with them all.

37 And they all wept sore, and [s] fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him;

38 Sorrowing most of all for the [t] words which he spake, that they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

CHAP. XXI.

AND it came to pass, that after we were gotten from them, and had launched, we came with a straight course unto Coos, and the day following unto Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara:

2 And finding a ship sailing over unto Phenicia, we went aboard, and set forth.

3 Now when we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and sailed into Syria, and landed at Tyre: for there the ship was to unlade her burden.

4 And finding disciples, we tarried there seven days: who said [f] to Paul through the Spirit, that he should not go up to Jerusalem.

5 And when we had accomplished those days, we departed and went our way: and they all brought us on our way with wives and children, till we were out of the city: and we kneeled [k] down on the shore, and prayed.

6 And when we had taken our leave one of another, we took ship; and they returned home again.

7 And when we had finished our course from Tyre, we came to Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, we that were of Paul's company departed, and came unto Cesarea: and we entered into the house of Philip [a] the evangelist, [b] which was one of the seven; [c] and abode with him.

9 And the same man had four daughters, virgins, which [c] did prophesy.

10 And as we tarried there many days, there came down from Judea a certain prophet, named Agabus. [h]

11 And when he was come unto us, he took Paul's girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus saith the Holy Ghost, So [j] shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that owneth this girdle, and shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we heard these things, both we, and they of that place, [m] besought him not to go up to Jerusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, What mean ye to weep and to break mine heart? for I am ready [n] not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.

14 And when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will [p] of the Lord be done.

15 And after those days we took up our carriages, and went up to Jerusalem.

16 There went with us also certain of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, [r] with whom we should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren received [t] us gladly.

18 And the day following Paul went in with us unto James; [u] and all the elders were present.

19 And when he had saluted them, he declared particularly what [w] things God had wrought among the Gentiles by [x] his ministry.

20 And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord; and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousands of Jews there are which believe; and they are all zealous [y] of the law:

21 And they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Jews which are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, saying that they ought not to circumcise [b] their children, neither to walk after the customs.

22 What is it therefore? The multitude must needs come [d] together: for they will hear that thou art come.

23 Do therefore this that we say to thee: We have four men which have a vow on them;

24 Them take, and purify thyself with them, and be at charges with them, that they may shave [f] their heads: and all may know, that those things, whereof they were informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thyself also walkest orderly, and keepest the law.

25 As touching the Gentiles which believe, we [i] have written, and concluded that they observe no such thing, save only that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul took [d] the men; and the next day purifying himself with them, entered [f] into the temple, to signify the accomplishment [g] of the days of purification, until that an offering should be offered for every one of them.

27 And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews [i] which were of Asia, when they saw him in the temple, stirred up all the people, and laid [k] hands on him,

28 Crying out, Men of Israel, help: this is the man that [l] teacheth all men every where against the people, and the law, and this place; and further, brought Greeks also into the temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 (For they had seen before with him, in the city, Trophimus [o] an Ephesian, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.)

30 And all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the temple: and forthwith the doors were shut.

31 And as they were about [q] to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was in an uproar:

32 Who [s] immediately took soldiers and centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chief captain came near, and took him, and commanded him to be bound [w] with two chains; and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And some cried one thing, some another, among the multitude: and when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be carried into the castle. [y]

35 And when he came upon the stairs, so it was, that he was borne of the soldiers, for the violence [a] of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away [c] with him!

37 And as Paul was to be led into the castle, he said unto the chief captain, May I speak unto thee? Who said, Canst thou speak Greek?

38 Art not thou that [l] Egyptian, which before these days madest an uproar, and leddest out into the wilderness four thousand men that were murderers?

39 But Paul said, I [e] am a man which am a Jew of Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, a [f] citizen of no mean city: and I beseech thee, suffer me to speak unto the people.

40 And when he had given him license, Paul stood on the stairs, and beckoned [k] with the hand unto the people: and when there was made a great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

CHAP. XXII.

MEN,[a] brethren, and fathers, hear ye my defence,[b] which I make now unto you.

2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence: and he saith,)

3 I am [c] verily a man which am a Jew, born in Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, yet brought up in this city, at the feet of [g] Gamaliel, and taught according [i] to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers, and was [j] zealous towards God, as ye [k] all are this day.

4 And I persecuted [l] this way unto the death binding and delivering into prisons both men and women.

5 As also the high priest doth bear me witness, and all the estate of the elders: from whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus,[n] to bring them which were there, bound unto Jerusalem, for to be punished.

6 And it came to pass, that as I made my journey, and was come nigh unto Damascus about noon, suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.

7 And I fell unto the ground, and heard a voice saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 And I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said unto me, I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 And they that were with me saw [p] indeed the light, and were afraid; but they heard not the voice of him that spake to me.

10 And I said, What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said unto me, Arise, and go into Damascus; and there it shall be told thee of all things which are appointed for thee to do.

11 And when I could not see for the glory of that light, being led by the hand of them that were with me, I came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias,[r] a devout man according to the law, having a good [s] report of all the Jews which dwelt there, 13 Came unto me, and stood, and said unto me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight. And the same hour I looked up upon him.

14 And he said, The [u] God of our fathers hath chosen [v] thee that thou shouldest know his will, and see [z] that Just [y] One, and shouldest hear the voice [z] of his mouth.

15 For thou [a] shalt be his witness unto all men, of what thou hast seen and heard.

16 And now, why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash [c] away thy sins, calling [d] on the name of the Lord.

17 And it came to pass, that when I was come again to Jerusalem, even while I prayed in the temple, I was in a trance; [e]

18 And saw [f] him saying unto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem: for they will not receive thy testimony concerning me.

19 And I said, Lord, they [e] know that I imprisoned and beat in every synagogue them that believed on thee:

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Stephen was shed, I [d] also was standing by, and consenting [f] unto his death, and kept the raiment of them that slew him

21 And he said unto me, Depart: for [h] I will send thee far hence, unto the Gentiles.

22 And they gave him audience unto this word, and then lift up their voices, and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for [m] it is not fit that he should live.

23 And as they cried out, and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the air,

24 The chief captain commanded him to be brought into the castle, and bade that he should be examined by scourging; that he might know wherefore they cried so against him.

25 And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said unto the centurion that stood by, Is it lawful for you to scourge a man that is a Roman,[o] and uncondemned?

26 When the centurion heard that, he went and told the chief captain, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Roman.

27 Then the chief captain came, and said unto him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? He said, Yea.

28 And the chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this freedom. And Paul said, But I was free born.

29 Then straightway they departed from him which should have [t] examined him: and the chief captain also was afraid, after he knew that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him.

30 On the morrow, because [q] he would have known the certainty wherefore he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him from his bands, and commanded the chief priests and all their council to appear, and brought Paul down, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXIII.

AND Paul, earnestly beholding the council, said, Men and brethren, I [t] have lived in all good conscience before God until this day.

2 And the high priest Ananias commanded them that stood by him to smite him [w] on the mouth.

3 Then saith Paul unto him, God shall smite thee, thou whited wall: for sittest thou to judge me after the law, and commandest me to be smitten [b] contrary to the law?

4 And they that stood by said, Revilest thou God's high priest?

5 Then said Paul, I wist not, brethren, that he was the high priest: for it is written, [g] Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people.

6 But when Paul perceived that the one part were Sadducees, and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, Men and brethren, I [b] am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee: of [c] the hope and resurrection of the dead I am called in question.

7 And when he had so said, there arose a dissension between the Pharisees and the Sadducees: and the multitude was divided.

8 For the Sadducees [d] say that there is no resurrection, neither angel nor spirit: but the Pharisees confess both.

9 And there arose a great cry: and the scribes that were of the Pharisees' part arose, and strove, saying, We find [e] no evil in this man: but if a spirit [f] or an angel hath spoken to him, let us not [g] fight against God.

10 And when there arose a great dissension, the chief captain, fearing lest Paul should have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the soldiers to go down, and to take him by force from among them, and to bring him into the castle.

11 And the night following, the Lord stood [i] by him, and said, Be of good cheer, Paul: for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome.[j]

12 And when it was day, certain [l] of the Jews banded together, and bound themselves [l] under a curse, saying, that they would neither eat nor drink [m] till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more than forty which had made this conspiracy.

14 And they came to the chief [q] priests and elders, and said, We have bound ourselves under a great curse, that we will eat nothing until we have slain Paul.

15 Now therefore ye, with the council, signify to the chief captain that he bring him down unto you to-morrow, as though ye would inquire something more perfectly concerning him: and we, or ever he come near, are ready [s] to kill him.

16 And when Paul's sister's son heard of their lying in wait, he [t] went and entered into the castle, and told Paul.

17 Then [v] Paul called one of the centurions unto him, and said, Bring this young man unto the chief captain; for he hath a certain thing to tell him.

18 So he took him, and brought him to the chief captain, and said, Paul the prisoner [y] called me unto him, and prayed me to bring this young man unto thee, who hath something to say unto thee.

19 Then the chief captain took him by the hand, and went with him aside privately, and asked him, What is that thou hast to tell me?

20 And he said, The Jews have [c] agreed to desire thee that thou wouldest bring down Paul to-morrow into the council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly.

21 But do not thou yield [a] unto them: for there lie in wait for him of them more than forty men, which have bound themselves with an oath, that they will neither eat nor drink till they have killed him: and now are they ready, looking for a promise from thee.

22 So the chief captain then let the young man depart, and charged him, See thou tell no man that thou hast shewed these things to me.

23 And he called unto him two centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers to go to Cesarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and spearmen two hundred, at the third hour of the night;

24 And provide them beasts, that they may set Paul on, and bring him safe unto Felix the governor.

25 And he wrote a letter after this manner:

26 Claudius Lysias unto the most excellent governor Felix sendeth greeting.

27 This man [k] was taken of the Jews, and should have been killed of them: then came I with an army, and rescued him, having understood that he was a Roman.

28 And [k] when I would have known the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their council:

29 Whom I perceived to be accused of questions [n] of their law, but to have nothing [o] laid to his charge worthy of death or of bonds.

30 And when [p] it was told me, how that the Jews laid wait for the man, I sent straightway to thee, and gave [r] commandment to his accusers also, to say before thee what they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the soldiers, as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 On the morrow they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned to the castle:

33 Who, when they came to Cesarea, and delivered the epistle [u] to the governor, presented Paul also before him.

34 And when the governor had read the letter, he asked of what province he was. And when he understood that he was of Cilicia; [w]

35 I will hear thee, said he, when thine accusers [x] are also come. And he commanded him to be kept in [z] Herod's judgment-hall.

CHAP. XXIV.

AND after five days, Ananias [a] the high priest descended with the elders, and with a certain orator named Tertullus, who informed [b] the governor against Paul.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that by thee we enjoy great quietness, and that very worthy deeds [a] are done unto this nation by thy providence,

3 We accept it always, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankfulness.

4 Notwithstanding, that I be not further tedious unto thee, I pray thee that thou wouldest hear us of thy clemency a few words.

5 For we have found this man a pestilent fellow, [d] and a mover of sedition among all the Jews throughout the world, and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes:

6 Who also hath gone about to profane [e] the temple: whom we took, and would have judged [f] according to our law;

7 But the chief [h] captain Lysias came upon us, and with great violence took him away out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers [m] to come unto thee: by examining of whom, thyself mayest take knowledge of all these things whereof we accuse him.

9 And the Jews also assented, saying that these things were so.

10 Then Paul, after that the [l] governor had beckoned unto him to speak, answered, Forasmuch as I know that thou hast been of many years a judge unto this nation, I do the more cheerfully answer [p] for myself:

11 Because that thou mayest understand that there are yet but twelve days since I went up to [q] Jerusalem for to worship.

12 And they neither [r] found me in the temple disputing with any man, neither raising up the people, neither in the synagogues, nor in the city:

13 Neither can they prove [s] the things whereof they now accuse me.

14 But this I confess unto thee, that after the way which they call heresy, so [u] worship I the God of [v] my fathers, believing all things which are [w] written in the law and [x] the prophets;

15 And have hope [y] toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection [z] of the dead, both of the just and unjust.

16 And herein do I exercise myself, to have [a] always a conscience void of offence toward God and toward men.

17 Now after many years, I came [b] to bring alms to my nation, and offerings.

18 Whereupon certain Jews from Asia found me purified in the temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult:

19 Who ought to have been here [d] before thee, and object, if they had aught against me.

20 Or else let these same here say, if they have found any evil-doing in me, while I stood before the council;

21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Touching the resurrection of the dead, I am called in question by you this day.

22 And when Felix heard these things, having more perfect knowledge of that way, he deferred them, and said, When Lysias [b] the chief captain shall come down, I will know the uttermost of your matter.

23 And he commanded a centurion to keep Paul, and to let him have liberty, [c] and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister or to come unto him.

24 And after certain days, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, which was a Jewess, he sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the faith in Christ.

25 And as he reasoned of [g] righteousness, temperance, [i] and judgment [j] to come, Felix trembled, [k] and answered, Go [l] thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee.

26 He hoped also that money [n] should have been given him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.

27 But after two years, Porcius Festus came into Felix's room: and Felix, willing to shew [o] the Jews a pleasure, left Paul bound.

CHAP. XXV.

NOW when Festus was come into the province, after three days he ascended from Cesarea to Jerusalem.

2 Then the high priest and the chief of the Jews informed him against Paul, and besought him,

3 And desired favour against him, that he would send for him to Jerusalem, laying [t] wait in the way to kill him.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that he himself would depart shortly thither.

5 Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, go down with me, and accuse this man, if there be any wickedness in him.

6 And when he had tarried among them [2] more than ten days, he went down unto Cesarea; and the next day sitting in the judgment-seat, commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when he was come, the Jews which came down from Jerusalem stood round about, and laid many and grievous complaints against Paul, which [c] they could not prove.

8 While he answered for himself, Neither against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor yet against Cesar, have I offended any thing at all.

9 But Festus, willing to do the Jews a pleasure, answered Paul, and said, Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me?

ed: to the Jews have I done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I be an offender, or have committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof these accuse me, no man may deliver me unto them. I appeal [a] unto Cesar.

12 Then Festus, when he had conferred with the council, answered, Hast thou appealed unto Cesar? unto Cesar shalt thou go.

13 And after certain days, king Agrippa and Bernice came unto Cesarea, to salute Festus.

14 And when they had been there many days, Festus declared Paul's cause unto the king, saying, There is a certain man left in bonds by Felix:

15 About whom, when [c] I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews informed me, desiring to have judgment against him.

16 To whom I answered, It is not the manner of the Romans to deliver any man to die, before that he which is accused have the accusers face to face, and have license to answer for himself concerning the crime laid against him.

17 Therefore when [g] they were come hither, without any delay on the morrow I sat on the judgment-seat, and commanded the man to be brought forth.

18 Against whom, when the accusers stood up, they brought none accusation of such things as I supposed:

19 But [i] had certain questions against him of their own superstition, and of one Jesus, which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

20 And because [2] I doubted of such manner of questions, I asked him whether he would go to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these matters.

21 But when Paul had appealed to be reserved unto the [3] hearing of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I might send him to Cesar.

22 Then Agrippa said unto Festus, I would also hear the man myself. To-morrow, said he, thou shalt hear him.

23 And on the morrow, when Agrippa was come, and Bernice, with great [r] pomp, and was entered into the place of hearing, with the chief captains, and principal men of the city, at Festus' commandment Paul [t] was brought forth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are here present with us, ye see this man, about whom all [u] the multitude of the Jews have dealt with me, both at Jerusalem, and also here, crying that [v] he ought not to live any longer.

25 But when I found that he had committed nothing [w] worthy of death, and that he himself hath appealed [x] to Augustus, I have determined to send him

26 Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my lord. Wherefore I have brought him forth before you, and specially before thee, O king Agrippa, that, after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.

27 For [b] it seemeth to me unreasonable, to send a prisoner, and not withal to signify the crimes laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

THEN Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself:

2 I think myself happy, king Agrippa, because I shall answer for myself this day before thee, touching all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:

3 Especially, because I know thee to be expert [d] in all customs and questions which are among the Jews: wherefore I beseech thee to hear [e] me patiently.

4 My manner [f] of life from my youth, which was at the first among mine own nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jews;

5 Which knew me from the beginning, if they would testify, that after the most straitest sect of our religion, I lived a Pharisee. [h]

6 And now [i] I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise [j] made of God unto our fathers:

7 Unto which promise our twelve tribes, instantly serving [k] God [l] day and night, hope to come. For which hope's sake, king Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews.

8 Why [m] should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead?

9 I [n] verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth.

10 Which thing I also did in [o] Jerusalem: and many of the saints did I shut up in prison, having received authority [p] from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them.

11 And I punished them oft in [q] every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities.

12 Whereupon as I went [s] to Damascus, with authority and commission from the chief priests,

13 At mid-day, O king, I saw in the way a light from heaven, above the brightness of the sun, shining round about me and them which journeyed with me.

14 And when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking unto me, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

15 And I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest.
16 But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister [b] and a witness [c] both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee;
17 Delivering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, unto [e] whom now I send thee;
18 To open [f] their eyes, and to turn [g] them from darkness to light, and from the power [i] of Satan unto God; that they may receive forgiveness [j] of sins, and inheritance [k] among them which are [l] sanctified, by faith [m] that is in me.
19 Whereupon, O king Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision:
20 But shewed [n] first unto them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do works [o] meet for repentance.
21 For these causes the Jews [p] caught me in the temple, and went about to kill me.
22 Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those which [q] the prophets and Moses did say should come:
23 That Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first [r] that should rise from the dead, and should shew light unto the people, and to the Gentiles.
24 And as he thus spake for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad.[t]
25 But he said, I am not mad, most noble Festus, but speak forth the words of truth and soberness.
26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speak freely: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him; for this thing was not done in a corner.
27 King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest.
28 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou [w] persuadest me to be a Christian.
29 And Paul said, I would [x] to God that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.
30 And when he had thus spoken, the king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them.
31 And when they were gone aside, they talked between themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death or of bonds.
32 Then said Agrippa unto Festus, This man might have been set at liberty, if he had not appealed unto Cesar

CHAP. XXVII.

AND when it was determined that we should sail into Italy, they delivered Paul [a] and certain other prisoners unto one named Julius, a centurion of Augustus' band.
2 And entering into a ship of Adramyttium, we launched, meaning to sail by the coasts of Asia; one Aristarcnus, [d] a Macedonian of Thessalonica, being with us
3 And the next day we touched at Sidon. And Julius courteously [h] entreated Paul, and gave him liberty to go unto his friends to refresh himself.
4 And when we had launched from thence, we sailed under Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.
5 And when we had sailed over the sea of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra, a city of Lycia.
6 And there the centurion found a ship of Alexandria sailing into Italy; and he put us therein.
7 And when we had sailed slowly many days, and scarce were come over against Cnidus, the wind not suffering us, we sailed under Crete, [1] over against Salmone;
8 And, hardly passing it, came unto a place which is called The fair havens, nigh whereunto was the city of Lasea.
9 Now when much time was spent, and when sailing was now dangerous, because the fast [2] was now already past, Paul admonished them,
10 And said unto them, Sirs, I perceive [z] that this voyage will be with [3] hurt and much damage, not only of the lading and ship, but also of our lives.
11 Nevertheless, the centurion [u] believed the master and the owner of the ship, more than those things which were spoken by Paul.
12 And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, the more part advised to depart thence also, if by any means they might attain to Phenice, and there to winter; which is an haven of Crete, [v] and lieth toward the south-west and north-west.
13 And when the south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, loosing [y] thence, they sailed close by Crete.
14 But not long after there [4] arose against it a tempestuous [z] wind, called Euroclydon.
15 And when the ship was caught, and could not bear up into the wind, we let her drive.
16 And running under a certain island which is called Clauda, we had much work to come by the boat;
17 Which when they had taken up, they used helps, undergirding the ship; and fearing lest they should fall [a] into the quicksands, strake sail, and so were driven.

18 And being exceedingly tossed [b] with a tempest, the next day they lightened the ship;

19 And the third day we cast out [c] with our own hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither [d] sun nor stars in many days appeared, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope [e] that we should be saved was then taken away.

21 But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the midst of them, and said, Sirs, ye should have hearkened [f] unto me, and not have loosed [g] from Crete, and to have gained this harm and loss.

22 And now [h] I exhort you to be of good cheer: for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, but of the ship.

23 For there stood by me this night [i] the angel [j] of God, whose [k] I am, and whom [m] I serve,

24 Saying, Fear not, Paul; thou must be brought before Cesar: and, lo, God hath given thee [n] all them that sail with thee.

25 Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer; for [p] I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast upon a certain island. [q]

27 But when the fourteenth night was come, as we were driven up and down in Adria, about midnight the shipmen deemed that they drew near to some country:

28 And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they sounded again, and found it fifteen fathoms.

29 Then fearing lest they should have fallen upon rocks, they cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished [v] for the day.

30 And as the shipmen were about to flee out of the ship, when they had let down the boat into the sea, under colour as though they would have cast anchors out of the foreship,

31 Paul said to the centurion and to the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be saved.

32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let her fall off.

33 And while the day was coming on, Paul besought them all to take meat, saying, This day is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried, and continued fasting, having taken nothing.

34 Wherefore I pray you to take some meat; for this [z] is for your health: for there [a] shall not an hair fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and [b] gave thanks to God in presence of them all: and when he had broken it, he began to eat.

36 Then were they all of good cheer, and they also took some meat.

37 And we were in all in the ship, two hundred threescore and sixteen souls.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the land: but they discovered a certain creek with a shore, into the which they were minded, if it were possible, to thrust in the ship.

40 And when they had [1] taken up the anchors, they committed themselves unto the sea, and loosed the rudder-bands, and hoisted up the mainsail to the wind, and made toward shore.

41 And falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground; and the forepart stuck fast, and remained unmoveable, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 And the soldiers' counsel [l] was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim out, and escape.

43 But the centurion, willing to save Paul, [o] kept them from their purpose; and commanded that they which could swim should cast themselves first into the sea, and get to land:

44 And the rest, some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the ship. And so [r] it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

AND when they were escaped, then they knew that the Island [s] was called Melita.

2 And the barbarous [t] people shewed us no little kindness: for they kindled a fire, and received us [u] every one, because of the present rain, and because of the cold.

3 And when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and fastened on his hand.

4 And when the barbarians saw the venomous beast hang on his hand, they said among themselves, No doubt [w] this man is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance suffereth not to live.

5 And he shook off the beast into the fire, and felt [x] no harm.

6 Howbeit, they looked when he should have swollen, or fallen down dead [y] suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and saw no harm come to him, they changed their minds, and said [z] that he was a god.

7 In the same quarters were possessions of the chief man of the island, whose name was Publius; who received us, and lodged us three days courteously.

8 And it came to pass, that the father of Publius lay sick of a fever, and of a bloody flux: to whom [a] Paul entered in, and prayed, and laid [c] his hands on him, and healed him.

9 So when this was done, others also, which had diseases in the island, came, and were healed:

10 Who also honoured [e] us with many honours; and when we departed, they laded us with such things [f] as were necessary.

11 And after three months we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the isle, whose sign was Castor and Pollux.

12 And landing at Syracuse, we tarried there three days.

13 And from thence we fetched a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day the south wind blew, and we came the next day to Puteoli;

14 Where we found brethren, and were desired to tarry with them seven days: and so we went toward Rome.

15 And from thence, when the brethren heard of us, they came [m] to meet us as far as Appii Forum, and the Three Taverns: whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage.[n]

16 And when we came to Rome, the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the guard: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himself [o] with a soldier that kept him.

17 And it came to pass, that after three days Paul called the chief of the Jews together: and when they were come together, he said unto them, Men and brethren, though [p] I have committed nothing against the people, or customs of our fathers, yet was I delivered [r] prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans:

18 Who, when [s] they had examined me, would have let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 But when the Jews spake against it, I was constrained to appeal [t] unto Cesar; not that I had aught to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore have I called for you, to see you, and to speak with you: because that for the hope [b] of Israel I am bound with this chain.[d]

21 And they said unto him, We neither received letters out of Judea concerning thee, neither any of the brethren that came shewed or spake any harm of thee.

22 But we desire to hear of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that every where [g] it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him into his lodging; [h] to whom he expounded [i] and testified the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both [j] out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophets, from morning till evening.

24 And some [k] believed the things which were spoken, and some believed not.

25 And when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word; Well spake the Holy Ghost by Esaias [l] the prophet unto our fathers,

26 Saying, Go unto this people, and say, Hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see, and not perceive;

27 For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.

28 Be it known therefore unto you, that the salvation of God is sent unto the Gentiles, [q] and that they will hear it.

29 And when he had said these words, the Jews departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.

30 And Paul dwelt two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in unto him,

31 Preaching [u] the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the ROMANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, a servant of [a] Jesus Christ, called [c] to be an apostle, separated [d] unto the gospel of God,

2 (Which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures,)

3 Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made [g] of the seed of David according to the flesh;

4 And [2] declared [h] to be the Son of God with power, according to the Spirit [i] of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead:

5 By whom we have received grace and apostleship, [1] for obedience [b] to the faith among all nations, for his name:

6 Among whom are ye also the called of Jesus Christ:

7 To all that be in Rome, beloved of God, called [c] to be saints: Grace [f] to you, and peace, from God our father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

8 First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith [j] is spoken of throughout the whole world

9 For God is my witness, whom [a] I serve with [1] my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing [b] I make mention of you always in my prayers;

10 Making request if by any means now at length I might have a prosperous journey by [c] the will of God to come unto you.

11 For [d] I long to see you, that [e] I may impart unto you some spiritual gift, to the end you may be established:

12 That is, that I may be comforted together with [4] you by the mutual [f] faith both of you and me.

13 Now I would not have you ignorant, brethren, that oftentimes I purposed to come unto you, (but was let hitherto,) that I might have some fruit [5] among you also, even as among other Gentiles.

14 I am debtor [g] both to the Greeks and to the Barbarians, both to the wise and to the unwise.

15 So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rome also.

16 For I am not ashamed [h] of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power [i] of God unto salvation, to every one that believeth; [j] to [k] the Jew first, and also to the Greek.

17 For therein [l] is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, [m] The just shall live by faith.

18 For the wrath [o] of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness, and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness:

19 Because that which may be known of God is manifest in [8] them; for [p] God hath shewed it unto them.

20 For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things [r] that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; [9] so that they are without excuse.

21 Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful, but became vain [s] in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened:

22 Professing themselves to be wise, they [t] became fools,

23 And changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image [u] made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and fourfooted beasts, and creeping things.

24 Wherefore God also gave [d] them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves:

25 Who changed the truth of God [f] into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more [11] than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen.

26 For this cause God gave them up unto vile [h] affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature:

27 And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the women, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompense of their error which was meet.

28 And even as they did not like [2] to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to [3] a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient;

29 Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers,

30 Backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,

31 Without understanding, covenantbreakers, without [6] natural affection, implacable, unmerciful:

32 Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but [7] have pleasure in them that do them.

CHAP. II.

THEREFORE thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for [m] wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest, doest the same things.

2 But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth, against them which commit such things.

3 And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?

4 Or despisest thou the riches [q] of his goodness and forbearance [s] and long-suffering, [t] not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth [u] thee to repentance?

5 But, after thy hardness and impenitent heart, treasurest [v] up unto thyself wrath, against the day of wrath, and [w] revelatio of the righteous judgment of God;

6 Who [y] will render to every man according to his deeds:

7 To them, who, by patient continuance in well doing, seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life:

8 But unto them that are [b] contentious, and [c] do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness; indignation and wrath,

9 Tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the [10] Gentile:

10 But glory, [e] honour, and peace, to every man that worketh good, to the Jew first, and also to the [10] Gentile:

11 For [f] there is no respect of persons with God.

12 For as many as have sinned without law, shall also perish without law: and as many as have sinned in the law, shall be judged by the law;

13 (For [b] not the hearers of the law are just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified.

14 For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law [c] unto themselves:

15 Which shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their [1] conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the [2] mean while accusing, or else excusing, one another;)

16 In the day when God shall judge the secrets [g] of men, by Jesus Christ, according to my [h] gospel.

17 Behold, thou [i] art called a Jew, and restest in the law, and makest thy boast of God,

18 And knowest [j] his will, and [3] approvest [k] the things that are more excellent, being instructed out of the law;

19 And art confident that thou thyself art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness,

20 An instructor of the foolish, a teacher of babes, which hast the form [m] of knowledge and of the truth in the law:

21 Thou [o], therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal?

22 Thou that sayest a man should not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, dost thou commit sacrilege?

23 Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonourest thou God?

24 For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, as it is written.[t]

25 For circumcision verily profiteth, if thou keep the law: but [u] if thou be a breaker of the law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision.

26 Therefore if [w] the uncircumcision keep the righteousness of the law, shall not his uncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not uncircumcision which is by nature, if it fulfil the law, [z] judge thee, who by the letter and circumcision dost transgress the law?

28 For he [a] is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision which is outward in the flesh:

29 But he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, [d] in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise [4] is not of men, but of God.

CHAP. III.

WHAT advantage then hath the Jew? or what profit is there of circumcision?

2 Much every way: chiefly, because that unto them [a] were committed the oracles of God.

3 For what, if some [e] did not believe? Shall their unbelief make the faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written, [d] That thou mightest be justified in thy sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged.

5 But if our unrighteousness commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unrighteous, who taketh vengeance? (I speak as a man.)

6 God forbid: for then how [f] shall God judge the world?

7 For if the truth of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory, why yet am I also judged as a sinner?

8 And not rather (as we be slanderously reported, and as some affirm that we say) Let [l] us do evil, that good may come? whose damnation is just.

9 What then? are we better than they? No, in no wise: for we have before proved [4] both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under sin;

10 As it is written, [n] There is none righteous, no, not one:

11 There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God.

12 They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that doeth good, no, not one.

13 Their [p] throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison [q] of asps is under their lips:

14 Whose mouth [r] is full of cursing and bitterness.

15 Their feet [s] are swift to shed blood:

16 Destruction and misery are in their ways:

17 And the way of peace have they not known:

18 There [v] is no fear of God before their eyes.

19 Now we know, that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law; that every [x] mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become [5] guilty before God.

20 Therefore [y] by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin.

21 But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law [b] and the prophets;

22 Even the righteousness of God, which is by faith [c] of Jesus Christ, unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference;

23 For all [f] have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;

24 Being justified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus:

25 Whom God hath [1] set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the [2] remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God;

26 To declare, I say, at this time, his righteousness: that [c] he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus.

27 Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? of works? Nay; but by the law of faith.

28 Therefore we conclude that [f] a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law.

29 Is he the God of the Jews only? is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also:

30 Seeing it is one God, which [h] shall justify the circumcision by faith, and uncircumcision through faith.

31 Do we then make void the law through [k] faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the law.

CHAP. IV.

WHAT shall we say then that Abraham, our father [m] as pertaining to the flesh, hath found?

2 For if Abraham were justified by works, he hath whereof to glory; but not [o] before God.

3 For what saith the Scripture? [p] Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness.

4 Now to him that worketh [r] is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt.

5 But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith [t] is counted for righteousness.

6 Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works,

7 Saying, [w] Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.

8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin.

9 Cometh this blessedness then upon the circumcision only, or upon the uncircumcision also? for we say that faith was reckoned to Abraham for righteousness.

10 How was it then reckoned? when he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision.

11 And [d] he received the sign of circumcision; a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had, yet being uncircumcised; that he might be the father [f] of all them that believe, though they be not circumcised; that righteousness might be imputed unto them also:

12 And the father of circumcision to them who are not of the circumcision only, but who also walk in the steps of that faith of our father Abraham, which he had, being yet uncircumcised.

13 For the promise, that [a] he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.

14 For if [b] they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect:

15 Because the law [d] worketh wrath: for where no [e] law is, there is no transgression.

16 Therefore it is of faith, that it might be by grace; to the end the promise might be sure to all the seed; not to that only which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of us all,

17 (As it is written, [g] I have made thee a father of many nations,) [3] before him whom he believed, even God, who quickeneth [i] the dead, and calleth those [j] things which be not as though they were.

18 Who against hope believed in hope, that he might become the father of many nations, according to that which was spoken, [l] So shall thy seed be.

19 And being not weak in faith, he considered not his own body now dead, when he was about an hundred years old, neither yet the deadness [n] of Sarah's womb:

20 He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God;

21 And being fully persuaded that what he had promised, he was able [q] also to perform.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness.

23 Now [s] it was not written for his sake alone, that it was imputed to him;

24 But for us [u] also, to whom it shall be imputed, if we believe [v] on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead;

25 Who was delivered [x] for our offences, and was raised [y] again for our justification.

CHAP. V.

THEREFORE [z] being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ:

2 By whom [a] also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice [b] in hope of the glory of God.

3 And not only so, but we glory [c] in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation worketh patience;

4 And patience, experience; and experience, hope;

5 And hope [d] maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost, [g] which is given unto us.

6 For when we were yet without strength, [4] in due [h] time Christ died for the ungodly.

7 For scarcely for a righteous man will one die: yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die.

8 But God commendeth his love to wards us, in that, while [a] we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.

9 Much more then, being now justified by his blood, [d] we shall be saved from [e] wrath through him.

10 For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much [f] more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by [h] his life.

11 And not only so, but we also joy [i] in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the [2] atonement.

12 Wherefore, as [k] by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, [3] for that all have sinned.

13 (For until the law, sin was in the world: but sin is not [n] imputed when there is no law.

14 Nevertheless, death reigned [o] from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not sinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression, who is the [r] figure of him that was to come:

15 But not as the offence, so also is the free gift. For if through the offence of one many be dead; much more the grace [u] of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many. [w]

16 And not as it was by one that sinned, so is the gift: for the judgment was by one to condemnation; but the free gift is of many [y] offences unto justification.

17 For if [5] by one man's offence death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance [z] of grace, and of the gift [a] of righteousness, shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ:)

18 Therefore, as [6] by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so [7] by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all [c] men unto justification of life.

19 For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous.

20 Moreover, [f] the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more [g] abound:

21 That as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace [h] reign, through righteousness, unto eternal life, by Jesus Christ our Lord.

CHAP. VI.

WHAT shall we say then? Shall [j] we continue in sin, that grace may abound?

2 God forbid. How shall we, that are dead [m] to sin, live any longer therein?

3 Know ye not, that so many of us as were [10] baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into [n] his death?

4 Therefore we are buried [o] with him by baptism into death; that like [q] as Christ was raised up from the dead by the [t] glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness [b] of life.

5 For if [c] we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection:

6 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body [g] of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin.

7 For [j] he that is dead is [1] freed from sin.

8 Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him:

9 Knowing that Christ, [l] being raised from the dead, dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him.

10 For in that he died, he died [m] unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God.

11 Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead [p] indeed unto sin, but alive [q] unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord.

12 Let [s] not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof.

13 Neither yield ye your members [t] as instruments [4] of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield [v] yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God.

14 For sin shall not have [x] dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace.

15 What then? Shall we sin, because we are not under the law, but under grace? God forbid.

16 Know ye not, that to whom ye [b] yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?

17 But God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin: but ye have obeyed from the heart that form [d] of [8] doctrine which was delivered you.

18 Being then made free [e] from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness.

19 I speak after the manner of men, because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity, unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness, unto holiness.

20 For when ye were the servants [i] of sin, ye were free [9] from righteousness.

21 What fruit [k] had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? for the end [l] of those things is death.

22 But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness; and the end, everlasting life.

23 For [p] the wages of sin is death; but the gift [r] of God is eternal life, through Jesus Christ our Lord

CHAP. VII.

KNOW ye not, brethren, (for I speak to them that know the law,) how that the law hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth?

2 For [b] the woman which hath an husband is bound by the law to her husband, so long as he liveth; but if the husband be dead, she is loosed from the law of her husband.

3 So then, if, while [f] her husband liveth, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adulteress: but if her husband be dead, she is free from that law; so that she is no adulteress, though she be married to another man.

4 Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law [l] by the body of Christ; that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit [m] unto God.

5 For when we were in [o] the flesh, the motions [2] of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members, to bring forth fruit [q] unto death.

6 But now we are delivered from the law, [3] that being dead wherein we were held; that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter.

7 What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not [v] known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, [5] except the law had said, [w] Thou shalt not covet.

8 But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For without the law, sin was dead.

9 For I was alive without the law once: but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died.

10 And the commandment, which was ordained to life, [b] I found to be unto death.

11 For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew me.

12 Wherefore the law [c] is holy; and the commandment holy, and just, and good.

13 Was then that which is good made death unto me? God forbid. But sin, that it might appear sin, working death in me by that which is good; that sin by the commandment might become exceeding sinful.

14 For we know that the law is spiritual; but I am carnal, sold [e] under sin.

15 For that which I do, I allow [8] not: for what I would, that do I not; but what I hate, that do I.

16 If then I do that which I would not, I consent unto the law, that it is good.

17 Now then it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know that in me, (that is, in my flesh) dwelleth no [i] good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not.

j Ga.5.18

19 For [1] the good that I would, I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do.

20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.

21 I find then a law, that when I would do good, evil is present [2] with me.

22 For I delight [d] in the law of God after the inward [4] man:

23 But I see another law in [5] my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity [h] to the law of sin which is in my members.

24 O [i] wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from [1] the body of this death? [j]

25 I [k] thank God, through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then, with the mind I myself serve the law of God, but with the flesh the law of sin.

CHAP. VIII.

THERE is, therefore, now no [n] condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk [p] not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

2 For the law of the Spirit of life [r] in Christ Jesus hath made me free [s] from the law of sin and death.

3 For what the law could not [t] do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God, sending his own Son [u] in the likeness of sinful flesh, and [4] for sin, condemned sin in the flesh:

4 That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk [x] not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

5 For they that are after the flesh [y] do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit, the things [z] of the Spirit.

6 For [6] to be carnally minded is death; [a] but [7] to be spiritually minded is life and peace:

7 Because [6] the carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be.

8 So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God.

9 But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell [d] in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his.

10 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness.

11 But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he [f] that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal [9] bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

12 Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not [5] to the flesh, to live after the flesh

13 For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify [h] the deeds of the body, ye shall live.

14 For as many as are led [j] by the Spirit of God, they are the Sons of God.

15 For ye have not received the Spirit of bondage [a] again, to fear; but [b] ye have received the Spirit of adoption, [c] whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

Digitized by Google

16 The Spirit itself beareth witness [d] with our spirit, that we are the children of God:

17 And if children, then heirs; [e] heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; [f] if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together.

18 For I reckon [h] that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us.

19 For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God.

20 For the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope;

21 Because [l] the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God.

22 For we know that [1] the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now.

23 And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the first-fruits [m] of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan [o] within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption [p] of our body.

24 For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen, is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope [3] for?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, then do we with patience wait for it.

26 Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but [s] the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.

27 And he [d] that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit because [4] he maketh intercession for the saints according [f] to the will of God.

28 And we know [g] that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose.

29 For whom he did foreknow, [j] he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren.

30 Moreover, whom he did predestinate, them he also called: [l] and whom he called, them he also justified: [m] and whom he justified, them he also glorified. [n]

31 What shall we then say to these things? If [o] God be for us, who can be against us?

32 He [p] that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?

33 Who [q] shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect? It [r] is God that justifieth.

34 Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us.

35 Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?

36 As it is written, [t] For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.

37 Nay, in [i] all these things we are more than conquerors, through him [j] that loved us.

38 For I am persuaded, that [k] neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

CHAP. IX.

I SAY the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience also bearing me witness in the Holy Ghost,

2 That I have great heaviness and continual sorrow in my heart.

3 For I [u] could wish that myself were accursed [2] from Christ for my brethren, my kinsmen according to the flesh:

4 Who are Israelites; to whom pertaineth the adoption, [q] and the glory, [r] and the [3] covenants, [s] and the giving of the law, [u] and the [v] service of God, and the promises; [w]

5 Whose are the fathers, [z] and of whom, [y] as concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is [z] over all, God blessed for ever. Amen.

6 Not as though the word of God hath taken [b] none effect. For [c] they are not all Israel which are of Israel:

7 Neither, because they are the seed of Abraham, are they all children: but, In [c] Isaac shall thy seed be called.

8 That is, they which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God: but the children [h] of the promise [4,e] are counted for the seed.

9 For this is the word of promise, At [i] this time will I come, and Sarah shall have a son.

10 And not only this; but when Rebecca [k] also had conceived by one, even by our father Isaac;

11 (For the children being not yet born, neither having done any good or evil, that the purpose of God according to election, might stand, not of works, but of him that calleth;)

12 It was said unto her, The [5] elder shall serve the [6] younger:

13 As it is written, [q] Jacob have I loved, but Esau have I hated.

14 What shall we say then? Is [r] there unrighteousness with God? God forbid.

15 For he saith to Moses, I [u] will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion.

16 So then it is not of him that willeth, nor of him that runneth, but of God that sheweth mercy.

17 For the Scripture saith [a] unto Pharaoh, Even for this same purpose have I raised thee up, that I might shew my power in thee, and that my name might be declared throughout all the earth.

18 Therefore hath he mercy on whom he will have mercy, and whom he will he hardeneth.

19 Thou wilt say then unto me, Why doth he yet find fault? for who [f] hath resisted his will?

20 Nay but, O man, who art thou that repliest [1] against God? Shall [g] the thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?

21 Hath not the potter [i] power over the clay, of the same lump to make one vessel unto honour, and another unto dishonour?

22 What [j] if God, willing to shew his wrath, and to make his power known, endured with much long-suffering the vessels [k] of wrath [2] fitted to destruction;

23 And that he might make known the riches [m] of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which [o] he had afore prepared unto glory,

24 Even us, whom he hath called, not of the Jews only, but also of the Gentiles?

25 As he saith also in Osee, [p] I will call them my people, which were not my people; and her beloved, which was not beloved.

26 And [r] it shall come to pass, that in the place where it was said unto them, Ye are not my people; there shall they be called the children of the living God.

27 Esaias also [w] crieth concerning Israel, Though the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, a remnant shall be saved.

28 For he will finish [3] the work, and cut it short in righteousness: because [z] a short work will the Lord make upon the earth.

29 And as Esaias said before, [b] Except the Lord of Sabaoth had left us a seed, we [c] had been as Sodoma, and been made like unto Gomorrha.

30 What shall we say then? that [h] the Gentiles, which followed not after righteousness, have attained to righteousness, even the righteousness [4] which is of faith.

31 But Israel, which [f] followed after the law of righteousness, hath not attained to the law of righteousness.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law: for they stumbled at that stumbling-stone;

33 As it is written, [i] Behold, I lay in Sion a stumbling-stone and rock of offence: and whosoever believeth on him shall not be [6] ashamed

CHAP. X.

BRETHREN, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved.

2 For I bear them record, that they have a zeal [b] of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For they being ignorant [c] of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God

4 For Christ is the end [d] of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth.

5 For Moses describeth [e] the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which doeth those things shall live by them.

6 But the righteousness which is of faith speaketh on this wise, Say [h] not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? (that is, to bring Christ down from above:)

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deep? (that is, to bring up Christ again from the dead.)

8 But what saith it? The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth, and in thy heart: that is, the word of faith which we preach;

9 That if [l] thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart [n] that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.

10 For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

11 For the Scripture saith, [q] Whosoever believeth on him shall not be ashamed.

12 For [r] there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for [t] the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him.

13 For [u] whosoever shall call [v] upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.

14 How then shall they call on him in [7] whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher?

15 And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, [g] How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 But [c] they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Esaias saith, [d] Lord, who hath believed [4] our [5] report?

17 So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.

18 But I say, Have they not heard? Yes, verily, their [s] sound went into all the earth, and their words unto the ends of the world.

19 But I say, Did not Israel know? First Moses saith, [k] I will provoke you to jealousy by them that are no people, and by a foolish [j] nation I will anger you.

20 But Esaias is very bold, and saith, [e] I was found of them that sought me not;

I was made manifest unto them that asked not after me.

21 But to Israel he saith, All day long I have stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people.

CHAP. XI.

I SAY then, Hath [b] God cast away his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.

2 God hath not cast away his people which he foreknew.[d] Wot ye not what the Scripture saith [1] of Elias? how he maketh intercession to God against Israel, [e] saying,

3 Lord, they have killed thy prophets, and digged down thine altars; and I am left alone, and they seek my life.

4 But what saith the answer of God unto him? I have reserved to myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed the knee to the image of Baal.

5 Even so [i] then at this present time also there is a remnant according to the election of grace.

6 And if by grace, [j] then is it no more of works: otherwise grace is no more grace. But if it be of works, then is it no more grace: otherwise work is no more work.

7 What then? Israel [k] hath not obtained that which he seeketh for; but the election hath obtained it, and the rest were [3] blinded.

8 (According as it is written, God hath given them the spirit of [4] slumber, [o] [p] eyes that they should not see, and ears that they should not hear) unto this day.

9 And David saith, Let [r] their table be made a snare, and a trap, and a stumbling-block, and a recompense unto them:

10 Let their eyes be darkened, that they may not see, and bow down their back always.

11 I say then, Have they stumbled that they should fall? God forbid: but rather through their fall salvation is come unto the Gentiles, [v] for to provoke them to jealousy.

12 Now if the fall of them be the riches of the world, and the [6] diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more their fulness?

13 For I speak to you Gentiles, inasmuch as I [x] am the apostle of the Gentiles, I magnify mine office;

14 If by any means I may provoke to emulation them which are my flesh, and might save [a] some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving of them be, but life from the dead?

16 For if [d] the first-fruit be holy, the lump is also holy: and if the root be holy, so are the branches.

17 And if some of the branches [f] be broken off, and thou, [g] being a wild olive-tree, wert graffed in [9] among them, and with them partakest of the root and fatness of the olive-tree;

18 Boast [a] not against the branches. But if thou boast, thou bearest not the root, but the root thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches were broken off, that I might be graffed in 20 Well; because of unbelief they were broken off; and thou standest by faith. Be not high-minded, but fear: [c]

21 For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee.

22 Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God; on them which fell, severity; but towards thee, goodness; if [f] thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou [g] also shalt be cut off.

23 And they also, if [h] they bide not still in unbelief, shall be graffed in: for God is able to graff them in again.

24 For if thou wert cut out of the olive-tree which is wild by nature, and wert graffed contrary to nature into a good olive-tree; how much more shall these, which be the natural branches, be graffed into their own olive-tree?

25 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits, that blindness [2] in part [l] is happened to Israel, until the fulness [m] of the Gentiles be come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, [n] There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob:

27 For [q] this is my covenant unto them, when I shall take away their sins.

28 As concerning the gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved [s] for the fathers' sakes.

29 For the gifts and calling of God are without [t] repentance.

30 For as ye in times past [u] have not believed [5] God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbelief:

31 Even so have these also now not believed, [5] that through your mercy they also may obtain mercy.

32 For God [w] hath [7] concluded them all in unbelief, that he might have mercy upon all.

33 O [y] the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable [z] are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!

34 For [b] who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor?

35 Or [c] who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again?

36 For [e] of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to [8] whom be glory for ever. Amen.

your bodies [a] a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.

2 And [d] be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove [e] what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God.

3 For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more [f] highly than he ought to think; but to [2] think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure [h] of faith.

4 For as we have many [i] members in one body, and all members have not the same office;

5 So we, being many, are one body [j] in Christ, and every one members one of another.

6 Having then gifts differing [l] according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith;

15 Rejoice [g] with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep.

16 Be [j] of the same mind one toward another. Mind [k] not high things, but condescend [7] to men of low estate. [m] Be not wise in your own conceits.

17 Recompense [p] to no man evil for evil. Provide [q] things honest in the sight of all men.

18 If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably [s] with all men.

19 Dearly beloved avenge [u] not yourselves; but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, [v] Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord.

20 Therefore if [w] thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.

CHAP. XIII.

LET every soul be subject [b] unto the higher powers. For there [c] is no power but of God: the powers that be are [1] ordained of God.

2 Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation.

3 For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? do [s] that which is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same:

4 For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil.

5 Wherefore [t] ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake.

6 For, for this cause pay ye tribute also: for they are God's ministers, attending continually upon this very thing

7 Render therefore to all [m] their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour.

8 Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for [p] he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.

9 For this, Thou [x] shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, [z] Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.

10 Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

11 And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake [d] out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.

12 The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us [h] therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put [i] on the armour of light.

13 Let us walk [6] honestly, [l] as in the day, not in rioting [n] and drunkenness, not in chambering [o] and wantonness, not in strife and envying.

14 But put [r] ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make [t] not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof.

CHAP. XIV.

HIM that is weak in the faith receive ye, but [8] not to doubtful disputations.

2 For one believeth that he may eat all things: another, who is weak, eateth herbs.

3 Let not him that eateth despise him that eateth not; and let not him which eateth not judge him that eateth; for God hath received him.

4 Who [y] art thou that judgest another man's servant? to his own master he stand eth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God [a] is able to make him stand.

Digitized by Google

5 One [b] man esteemeth one day above another: another esteemeth every day alike. Let every man be fully [2] persuaded in his own mind.

6 He that [3] regardeth the day, regardeth it unto the Lord; and he that regardeth not the day, to the Lord he doth not regard it. He that eateth, eateth to the Lord; for he giveth God thanks: and he that eateth not, to the Lord he eateth not; and giveth God thanks.

7 For [i] none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself.

8 For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.

9 For [k] to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living.

10 But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment-seat of Christ,

11 For it is written, [n] As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God.

12 So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God.

13 Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling-block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way.

14 I know, and am persuaded by the Lord Jesus, that there is nothing [5] unclean of itself: but to him that esteemeth any thing to be [5] unclean, to him it is unclean.

15 But if thy brother be grieved with thy meat, now walkest thou not [6] charitably. Destroy [v] not him with thy meat, for whom Christ died.

16 Let not then your good be evil spoken of.

17 For [x] the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, [z] and peace, [a] and joy [b] in the Holy Ghost.

18 For he that in these things serveth Christ, is acceptable to God, and approved of men.

19 Let [d] us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and [e] things wherewith one may edify another.

20 For meat destroy not the work of God. All things indeed are pure; [g] but it is [h] evil for that man who eateth with offence.

21 It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak.

22 Hast thou faith? have it to thyself before God. Happy [m] is he that condemneth not himself in that thing which he alloweth.

CHAP. XV.

WE then that are strong ought to [d] bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves.

2 Let every one of us please his neighbour [e] for his good to edification.

3 For even Christ [f] pleased not himself; but, as it is written, [g] The reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on me.

4 For whatsoever [h] things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope.

5 Now the God of patience and consolation grant you to be like-minded [j] one toward another, [4] according to Christ Jesus;

6 That ye may with one [l] mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

7 Wherefore receive ye one another, as Christ also received [m] us, to the glory of God.

8 Now I say that Jesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision for the truth of God, to confirm [o] the promises made unto the fathers;

9 And that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy; as it is written, [p] For this cause I will confess to thee among the Gentiles, and sing unto thy name.

10 And again he saith, [q] Rejoice, ye Gentiles, with his people.

11 And again, [r] Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles; and laud him, all ye people.

12 And again Esaias saith, [s] There shall be a root [t] of Jesse, and he that shall rise to reign over the Gentiles; in him shall the Gentiles trust.

13 Now the God of hope fill you with all [u] joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost.

14 And I myself also am persuaded [w] of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, [y] able also to admonish one another.

15 Nevertheless, brethren, I have written the more boldly unto you in some sort, as putting you in mind, because [c] of the grace that is given to me of God,

16 That I should be the minister of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, ministering the gospel of God, that the [7] offering [f] up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified [i] by the Holy Ghost.

17 I have therefore whereof I may glory [j] through Jesus Christ in those things [k] which pertain to God.

18 For I will not dare to speak of any of those things which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make [l] the Gentiles obedient, by word and deed,

19 Through mighty signs [n] and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God so that from Jerusalem, and round about unto Illyricum, I [a] have fully preached the gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so have I strived to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, [c] lest I should build upon another man's foundation:

21 But, as it is written, [d] To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see: and they that have not heard shall understand.

22 For which cause also I have been much [1] hindered [f] from coming to you;

23 But now having no more place in these parts, and having a great desire these many years to come unto you;

24 Whensoever I take my journey into Spain, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my journey, and to be [g] brought on my way thitherward by you, if first I be somewhat filled [3] with your company.

25 But now I go [h] unto Jerusalem, to minister unto the saints.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia [i] and Achaia to make a certain contribution for the poor saints which are at Jerusalem.

27 It hath pleased them, verily; and their debtors they are. For if the Gentiles have been made partakers of their spiritual things, their duty [k] is also to minister unto them in carnal things.

28 When, therefore, I have performed this, and have sealed to them this fruit, [m] I will come by you into Spain.

29 And I am sure that, when [n] I come unto you, I shall come in the fulness of the blessing of the gospel of Christ.

30 Now I beseech you, brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ's sake, and for the [q] love of the Spirit, that ye strive [t] together with me in your prayers to God for me;

31 That [v] I may be delivered from them that [4] do not believe in Judea; and that my service which I have for Jerusalem may be accepted of the saints;

32 That I may come unto you with joy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Now the God of peace [b] be with you all. Amen.

CHAP. XVI.

I COMMEND unto you Phebe our sister, which is a servant of the church which is at Cenchrea;

2 That ye receive [c] her in the Lord, as becometh saints, and that ye assist her in whatsoever business she hath need of you: for she hath been a succourer of many, and of myself also.

3 Greet Priscilla [g] and Aquila, my helpers in Christ Jesus:

4 Who have for my life laid down their own necks: unto whom not only I give thanks, but also all the churches of the Gentiles.

5 Likewise greet the church that is in their house.[b] Salute my well-beloved Epenetus, who is the first-fruits of Achaia unto Christ.

6 Greet Mary; who bestowed much labour on us.

7 Salute Andronicus and Junia, my kinsmen and my fellow-prisoners, who are of note among the apostles; who also were in [c] Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias, my beloved in the Lord.

9 Salute Urbane, our helper in Christ; and Stachys my beloved.

10 Salute Apelles, approved in Christ Salute them which are of Aristobulus's household.[2]

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greet them that be of the [2] household of Narcissus, which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, who labour in the Lord. Salute the beloved Persis, which laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus, chosen [j] in the Lord; and his mother and mine.

14 Salute Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus, and Julia, Nereus, and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an holy kiss.[l] The churches of Christ salute you.

17 Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions [o] and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid [p] them.

18 For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; [r] and by good words [t] and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple.

19 For your obedience is come [u] abroad unto all men. I am glad therefore on your behalf: but yet I would have you wise [w] unto that which is good, and [5] simple concerning evil.

20 And the [x] God of peace shall [6] bruise [y] Satan under your feet shortly.[z] The [a] grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

21 Timotheus my work-fellow, and Lucius, and Jason, and Sosipater, my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, who wrote this epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius [d] mine host, and of the whole church, saluteth you. Erastus [e] the chamberlain of the city saluteth you, and Quartus a brother.

24 The [f] grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

25 Now [h] to him that is of power to establish you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, (according to the revelation [i] of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began,

The First Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the CORINTHIANS

CHAP. I.

PAUL, called [a] to be an apostle of Jesus Christ through the will of God, and Sosthenes [c] our brother,

2 Unto the church of God which is at Corinth, [e] to them [f] that are sanctified [g] in Christ Jesus, called [i] to be saints, with all that in every place call [j] upon the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, both theirs and ours:

3 Grace [l] be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I thank [n] my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God which is given you by Jesus Christ;

5 That in every thing ye are enriched by him, in all utterance, [p] and in all knowledge;

6 Even as the testimony of Christ was confirmed in you.

7 So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting [s] for the [1] coming of our Lord Jesus Christ:

8 Who shall also confirm [u] you unto the end, that ye may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ:

9 God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship [v] of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.

10 Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, [x] that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no [2] divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.

11 For it hath been declared unto me of you, my brethren, by them which are of the house of Chloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 Now this I say, that every one of you saith, I am of Paul; and I of Apollos; [z] and I of Cephas; [b] and I of Christ.

13 Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you? or were ye baptized in the name of Paul?

14 I thank God that I baptized none of you but Crispus [h] and Gaius; [i]

15 Lest any should say that I had baptized in mine own name.

16 And I baptized also the household of Stephanas: [k] besides, I know not whether I baptized any other.

17 For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wisdom [m] of [3] words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect.

18 For the preaching of the cross is to them [b] that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power [d] of God.

19 For it is written, [h] I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent.

20 Where [k] is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish [m] the wisdom of this world?

21 For [o] after that, in the wisdom of God, the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe.

22 For the Jews require a sign, [q] and the Greeks seek after wisdom:

23 But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumbling-block, [r] and unto the Greeks foolishness;

24 But unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the [t] power of God, and the wisdom of God.

25 Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men; and the weakness of God is stronger than men.

26 For ye see your calling, brethren, how that not [w] many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called:

27 But God [y] hath chosen the foolish things of the world, to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world, to confound the things which are mighty;

28 And base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are;

29 That [a] no flesh should glory in his presence.

30 But of him are ye in [c] Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us [d] wisdom, and righteousness, [e] and sanctification, [f] and redemption: [g]

31 That, according as it is written, [j] He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord.

CHAP. II.

AND I, brethren, when I came to you, came not [l] with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God.

2 For I determined not to know any thing among you, save [a] Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

4 And my speech and my preaching was not with [1] enticing words of [d] man's wisdom, but in demonstration [e] of the Spirit and of power:

5 That your faith should not [2] stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

6 Howbeit we speak wisdom among them [i] that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world that come to [j] nought:

7 But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden [l] wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory:

8 Which none of the princes of this world knew: for [o] had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of Glory.

9 But, as it is written, [p] Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 But [r] God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep [t] things of God.

11 For what [u] man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so [v] the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have received, not [x] the spirit of the world, but the Spirit which is of God; that [z] we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.

13 Which things also we speak, not [a] in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual.

14 But the natural man receiveth [c] not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

15 But he [c] that is spiritual [6] judgeth all things, yet he himself is [7] judged of no man.

16 For who [h] hath known the mind of the Lord, that he [8] may instruct him? But we have [i] the mind of Christ.

CHAP. III.

AND I, brethren, could not speak unto you as [k] unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes [l] in Christ.

2 I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for hitherto [m] ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnal: for whereas [o] there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, [9] are ye not carnal, and walk [10] as men?

10 according to man.

4 For while one saith, I [b] am of Paul; and another, I am of Apollos; are ye not carnal?

5 Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers by whom ye believed, even [c] as the Lord gave to every man?

6 I have planted, Apollos watered; but God [f] gave the increase.

7 So then neither [g] is he that planteth any thing, neither he that watereth, but God that giveth the increase.

8 Now he that planteth and he that watereth are one: and every man [h] shall receive his own reward according to his own labour.

9 For we are labourers together [k] with God: ye are God's [3] husbandry, ye are God's building.[m]

10 According [n] to the grace of God which is given unto me, as a wise master-builder I have laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon.

11 For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, [q] which is Jesus Christ.

12 Now if any man build upon this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, stubble;

13 Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall [4] be revealed by fire; and the [s] fire shall try every man's work, of what sort it is.

14 If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward.

15 If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss: but he himself shall be saved; yet so [w] as by fire.

16 Know ye not that ye [y] are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man [5] defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are.

18 Let no man deceive himself. [b] If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God: for it is written, [d] He taketh the wise in their own craftiness.

20 And again, [f] The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain,

21 Therefore let [g] no man glory in men: for all things are yours;

22 Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours;

23 And ye [j] are Christ's; and Christ is God's.

CHAP. IV.

LET a man so account of us, as of the ministers [n] of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God.

2 Moreover, it is required in stewards, [p] that a man be found faithful.

3 But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged of you, or of man's

Digitized by Google

[1] judgment; yea, I judge not mine own self:

4 For I know nothing by myself; [a] yet am I not hereby justified: but he that judgeth me is the Lord.

5 Therefore judge [b] nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who [c] both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God.

6 And these things, brethren, I have in a figure transferred to myself and to Apollos for your sakes; that ye might learn in us not to think of men above that which is written, that no one of you be puffed up for one against another.

7 For who [3] maketh thee to differ from another? and what [h] hast thou that thou didst not receive? Now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?

8 Now ye are full, now ye are rich, [k] ye have reigned as kings without us: and I would to God ye did reign, that we also might reign with you.

9 For I think that God hath set forth us the [4] apostles last, as it were appointed to death: for we [o] are made a [5] spectacle unto the world, and to angels, and to men.

10 We are fools for Christ's sake, but ye are wise in Christ; we are weak, but ye are strong; ye are honourable, but we are despised.

11 Even unto this present hour we both hunger and thirst, and are naked, [s] and are buffeted, and have no certain dwelling-place;

12 And labour, [u] working with our own hands: being reviled, [v] we bless; being persecuted, we suffer it:

13 Being defamed, we entreat: we are made as the filth of the earth, and are the off-scouring [x] of all things unto this day.

14 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved sons [y] I warn you.

15 For though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers; for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the gospel.

16 Wherefore, I beseech you, be ye fol-[l]owers of me.

17 For this cause have I sent unto you Timotheus, who is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord, who shall bring you into remembrance of my ways which be in Christ, as I teach every-where in every church.

18 Now some are puffed up, as though I would not come to you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, if [e] the Lord will; and will know, not the speech of them which are puffed up, but [d] the power.

20 For the kingdom [e] of God is not in word, but in power.

21 What will ye? shall [f] I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the spirit of meekness?

CHAP. V.

IT is reported commonly that there is for nication among you, and such fornication as is not so much as named among the Gentiles, that [d] one should have his father's wife.

2 And ye are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, [e] that he that hath done this deed might be taken away from among you.

3 For I verily, as absent [f] in body, but present in spirit, have [2] judged already, as though I were present, concerning him that hath so done this deed;

4 In the name [g] of our Lord Jesus Christ, when ye are gathered together, and my spirit, with the power [i] of our Lord Jesus Christ,

5 To deliver [j] such an one unto Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that the [l] spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.

6 Your glorying [m] is not good. Know ye not that a little leaven [n] leaveneth the whole lump?

7 Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ [p] our passover is [6] sacrificed for us:

8 Therefore let us keep [7] the feast, [q] not with old leaven, neither with the [r] leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

9 I wrote unto you in an epistle [t] not to company with fornicators:

10 Yet not altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the covetous, or extortioners, or with idolaters; for then must ye needs go out of the world.

11 But now I have written unto you not to keep company, if [w] any man that is called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner; with such an one no not to eat.

12 For what have I to do to judge them also that are without? [z] do not ye judge them that are within?

13 But them that are without God judgeth. Therefore put away [a] from among yourselves that wicked person.

CHAP. VI.

DARE any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints?

2 Do ye not know that the saints [b] shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?

3 Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?

4 If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge

Digitized by Google

who are least esteemed in the church.

5 I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren?

6 But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers.

7 Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather take [b] wrong? why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded? [d]

8 Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud, and that your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived; neither [f] fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind,

10 Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God.

11 And such [h] were some of you; but ye are washed, [j] but ye are sanctified, [k] but ye are justified [l] in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not [1] expedient: all things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power [n] of any.

13 Meats [o] for the belly, and the belly for meats: but God shall destroy both it and them. Now the body is not for [p] fornication, but for the Lord, [q] and the Lord [r] for the body.

14 And God [s] hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power.

15 Know ye not that your bodies are the members [t] of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid!

16 What! know ye not that he which is joined to an harlot is one body? for two, [v] saith he, shall be one flesh.

17 But he that is joined unto the Lord is one [w] spirit.

18 Flee [y] fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body.

19 What! know ye not that your [a] body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not [d] your own?

20 For ye are bought [e] with a price: therefore glorify [f] God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's.

CHAP. VII.

NOW concerning the things whereof ye wrote unto me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband.

3 Let the [i] husband render unto the wife due benevolence: and likewise also the wife unto the husband.

4 The wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not power of his own body, but the wife.

5 Defraud ye not one the other, except it be [a] with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again, that [c] Satan tempt you not for your incontinency.

6 But I speak this by permission, and not of commandment.

7 For I would that all men were even as I myself. But [e] every man hath his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.

8 I say therefore to the unmarried and widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I.

9 But if they cannot contain, let [g] them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn.

10 And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let [i] not the wife depart from her husband:

11 But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 But to the rest speak I, not [m] the Lord: If any brother hath a wife that believeth not, and she be pleased to dwell with him, let him not put her away.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that believeth not, and if he be pleased to dwell with her, let her not leave him.

14 For the unbelieving husband is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband: else were your children unclean; but now [u] are they holy.

15 But if the unbelieving depart, let him depart. A brother or a sister is not under bondage in such cases: but God hath called [w] us [2] to peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt save [z] thy husband? or how [3] knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt save thy wife?

17 But as God hath distributed to every man, as [b] the Lord hath called every one, so let him walk. And [c] so ordain I in all churches.

18 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not become uncircumcised. Is any called in uncircumcision? [g] let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision [h] is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping [i] of the commandments of God.

20 Let every man abide [j] in the same calling wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a servant? care [k] not for it: but if thou mayest be made free use it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is [b] the Lord's [1] freeman: likewise also he that is called, being free, is [c] Christ's servant.

23 Ye are bought [f] with a price; be not ye the servants of men.

24 Brethren, let [g] every man, wherein he is called, therein abide with God.

25 Now concerning virgins I have no commandment [k] of the Lord, yet I give my judgment, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithful. [n]

26 I suppose therefore that this is good for the present [2] distress; I say, that [o] it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound unto a wife? seek not to be loosed. Art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife.

28 But and if thou marry, thou [r] hast not sinned; and if a virgin marry, she hath not sinned. Nevertheless such shall have trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 But this I say, brethren, the time [u] is short: it remaineth that both they that have wives be as though they had none;

30 And they that weep, as though they wept not; and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not; and they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that use this world, as not abusing it: for the fashion [x] of this world passeth away.

32 But I would have you without carefulness. He that is unmarried [z] careth for the things that [5] belong to the Lord, how he may please the Lord:

33 But he that is married careth for the things that are of the world, how he may please his wife.

34 There is difference also between a wife and a virgin. The unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body and in spirit: but she that is married [b] careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speak for your own profit; not that I may cast a snare upon you, but for that which is comely, and that ye may attend upon the Lord without distraction.

36 But if any man think that he behaveth himself uncomely toward his virgin, if she pass the flower of her age, and need so require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them marry.

37 Nevertheless he that standeth stedfast in his heart, having no necessity, but hath power over his own will, and hath so decreed in his heart that he will keep his virgin, doeth well.

38 So then, [g] he that giveth her in marriage doeth well; but he that giveth her not in marriage doeth better.

39 The wife [h] is bound by the law as long as her husband liveth; but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to be married to whom she will; only [a] in the Lord.

40 But she is happier if she so abide, after [d] my judgment: and I think [e] also that I have the Spirit of God

CHAP. VIII

NOW as touching things offered [h] unto idols, we know that we all have knowledge. [i] Knowledge [j] puffeth up, but charity [l] edifieth.

2 And if [m] any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man love God, the same is known [p] of him.

4 As concerning therefore the eating of those things that are offered in sacrifice unto idols, we know that an idol [q] is nothing in the world, and that there is none other [t] God but one.

5 For though there be that are [t] called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many and lords many,)

6 But to us [v] there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in [3] him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom [w] are all things, and we by him.

7 Howbeit there is not in every man that knowledge: for some, with conscience of the idol unto this hour, eat it as a thing offered unto an idol; and their conscience being weak is defiled.

8 But meat [y] commendeth us not to God: for neither if we eat, [4] are we the better; neither if we eat not, [6] are we the worse.

9 But take heed lest by any means this [7] liberty [a] of yours become a stumblingblock to them that are weak.

10 For if any man see thee which hast knowledge sit at meat in the idol's temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weak be [8] emboldened to eat those things which are offered to idols;

11 And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?

12 But [c] when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ.

13 Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest [d] I make my brother to offend.

CHAP. IX.

AM I not an apostle? am I not free? have I not seen [e] Jesus Christ our Lord? are not ye my work [f] in the Lord?

2 If I be not an apostle unto others, yet doubtless I am to you: for the seal of mine apostleship are ye in the Lord.

3 Mine answer to them that do examine me is this;

4 Have we not power to eat and to drink?

5 Have we not power to lead about a sister, a [9] wife, as well as other apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I only and Barnabas, have not we [a] power to forbear working?

7 Who goeth a warfare [b] any time at his own charges? who planteth [d] a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth [e] a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the flock?

8 Say I these things as a man? or saith not the law the same also?

9 For it is written [g] in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Doth God take care for oxen?

10 Or saith he it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: that he [i] that plougheth should plough in hope; and that he that thresheth in hope should be partaker of his hope.

11 If [k] we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?

12 If others be partakers of this power over you, are not we rather? Nevertheless [n] we have not used this power; but suffer all things, lest we should hinder the gospel of Christ.

13 Do ye not know, that they which minister about holy things [2] live of the things of the temple? and they [q] which wait at the altar are partakers with the altar?

14 Even so hath the Lord [r] ordained, that they [s] which preach the gospel should live of the gospel.

15 But I [u] have used none of these things: neither have I written these things, that it should be so done unto me: for [w] it were better for me to die than that any man should make my glorying void.

16 For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for [z] necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me if I preach not the gospel.

17 For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation [d] of the gospel is committed unto me.

18 What is my reward then? Verily that, when I preach the gospel, I may make the gospel of Christ without charge; [t]hat I abuse not my power in the gospel.

19 For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant [f] unto all, that I might gain the more.

20 And unto the Jews [g] I became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them that are under the law;

21 To them that are without law, as without law, (being not [j] without law to God, but under the law to Christ,) that I might gain them that are without law.

22 To the weak [l] became I as weak, that I might gain the weak; I [m] am made all things to all men, that [n] I might by all means save some 23 And this I do for the gospel's sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.

24 Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, [c] that ye may obtain

25 And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. [f]

26 I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air:

27 But I [h] keep under my body, and bring it into subjection; lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a cast-away.

CHAP. X.

MOREOVER, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under [j] the cloud, and [l] all passed through the sea;

2 And were all baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea;

3 And did all eat the same spiritual meat; [m]

4 And did all drink the same spiritual drink; [o] for they drank of that spiritual Rock that [1] followed them: and that Rock was Christ.

5 But with many of them God was not well pleased; for they were overthrown [p] in the wilderness.

6 Now these things were [3] our examples, to the intent we should not lust after evil things, as they [t] also lusted.

7 Neither be ye idolaters, as were some of them; as it is written, [v] The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.

8 Neither let us commit fornication, as some [x] of them committed, and fell in one day three and twenty thousand.

9 Neither let us tempt [y] Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed of serpents. [a]

10 Neither murmur ye, as some of them also murmured, [b] and were destroyed of the destroyer. [c]

11 Now all these things happened unto them for [4] ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come.

12 Wherefore [e] let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.

13 There hath no temptation taken you but [5] such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who [h] will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; [i] but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it.

14 Wherefore, my dearly beloved, [k] flee from idolatry.

15 I speak as to wise men; judge ye what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? the bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For we, being many, are one bread, and one body; for we are all partakers of that one bread.

18 Behold Israel after [a] the flesh: [b] are not they which eat of the sacrifices partakers of the altar?

19 What say I then? that the idol [d] is any thing? or that which is offered in sacrifice to idols is any thing?

20 But I say, that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, [f] and not to God: and I would not that ye should have fellowship with devils.

21 Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup [h] of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord's table, and of the table of devils.

22 Do we [i] provoke the Lord to jealousy? are we stronger than he?

23 All [j] things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but all things edify not.

24 Let [k] no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth.

25 Whatsoever [m] is sold in the shambles, that eat, asking no question for conscience sake:

26 For [n] the earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof.

27 If any of them that believe not bid you to a feast, and ye be disposed to go; whatsoever [o] is set before you, eat, asking no question for conscience sake.

28 But if any man say unto you, This is offered in sacrifice unto idols, eat not, [q] for his sake that shewed it, and for conscience sake: for [r] the earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof:

29 Conscience, I say, not thine own, but of the other: for why is my liberty judged of another man's conscience?

30 For if I by [4] grace be a partaker, why am I evil spoken of for that for which I give thanks? [u]

31 Whether [w] therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God.

32 Give [x] none offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the [7] Gentiles, nor to the church of God:

33 Even as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many that they may be saved.

CHAP. XI.

BE ye followers [z] of me, even as I also am of Christ.

2 Now I praise you, brethren, that [a] ye remember me in all things, and keep [c] the ordinances, [9] as I delivered them to you.

3 But I would have you know, that the head [e] of every man is Christ; [f] and the head of the woman is the man; [g] and the head of Christ is God.

4 Every man praying or prophesying, having his head covered, dishonoureth his head.

5 But every woman [h] that prayeth or prophesieth with her head uncovered, dishonoureth her head: for that is even all one as if she were shaven.

6 For if the woman be not covered, let her also be shorn: [c] but if it be a shame for a woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be covered.

7 For a man indeed ought not to cover his head, forasmuch as he is the image [e] and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 For [g] the man is not of the woman; but the woman of the man;

9 Neither was the man created for the woman, but the woman for the man.

10 For this cause ought the woman to have power [1] on her head, because of the angels.

11 Nevertheless, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man, in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, even so is the man also by the woman: but all [l] things of God.

13 Judge in yourselves: is it comely that a woman pray unto God uncovered?

14 Doth not even nature itself teach you, that if a man have long hair, it is a shame unto him?

15 But if a woman have long hair, it is a glory to her: for her hair is given her for a [2] covering.

16 But [p] if any man seem to be contentious, we have no such custom, neither the churches of God.

17 Now in this that I declare unto you I praise you not, that ye come together not for the better, but for the worse.

18 For first of all, when ye come together in the church, I hear [s] that there be divisions [3] among you; and I partly believe it.

19 For there must [t] be also [5] heresies among you, that [v] they which are approved may be made manifest among you.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, [6] this is not to eat the Lord's supper.

21 For in eating, every one taketh before other his own supper: and one is hungry, and [y] another is drunken.

22 What! have ye not houses to eat and to drink in? or despise ye the church of God, and shame them that [8] have not? What shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

23 For [b] I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, That the Lord Jesus, [d] the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread:

24 And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat; this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in [10] remembrance of me.

25 After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup,[1] ye do shew the Lord's death till he come.[c]

27 Wherefore, whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily,[e] shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord.

28 But let a man examine[f] himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh [3] damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body.

30 For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep.

31 For if[g] we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged.

32 But when we are judged, we[j] are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world.

33 Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eat, tarry one for another.

34 And if any man hunger, let him eat at home; that ye come not together unto condemnation.[4] And the rest will I set in order when I come.

CHAP. XII.

NOW concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant.

2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, carried away unto these dumb[l] idols, even as ye were led.

3 Wherefore I give you to understand, that no man[m] speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Jesus [6] accursed: and[n] that no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost.

4 Now there are diversities[o] of gifts, but the same Spirit.

5 And there are differences of [8] administrations, but the same Lord.

6 And there are diversities[p] of operations; but it is the same God which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit [7] withal.

8 For to one is given, by the Spirit,[s] the word of wisdom; [v] to another the word of knowledge,[x] by the same Spirit;

9 To another faith,[a] by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing,[d] by the same Spirit;

10 To another the working of miracles; to another prophesy; to another discerning of spirits, [c] to another divers kinds of tongues; [f] to another the interpretation of tongues:

11 But all these worketh that one and the self-same Spirit, dividing[i] to every man severally as he will.

12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body; so[a] also is Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are we all[b] baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles,[2] whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink[d] into one Spirit.

14 For the body is not one member, but many.

15 If the foot shall say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body; is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the ear shall say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body; is it therefore not of the body?

17 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But now hath God set[h] the members every one of them in the body as[i] it hath pleased him.

19 And if they were all one member, where were the body?

20 But now are they many members, yet but one body.

21 And the eye cannot say unto the hand, I have no need of thee: nor again, the head to the feet, I have no need of you.

22 Nay much more, those[k] members of the body which seem to be more feeble, are necessary:

23 And those members of the body which we think to be less honourable, upon these we [5] bestow more abundant honour; and our uncomely parts have more abundant comeliness.

24 For our comely parts have no need: but God hath tempered the body together, having given more abundant honour to that part which lacked:

25 That there should be no [7] schism in the body; but that the members should have the same care one for another.

26 And whether one member suffer, all the members suffer with it; or one member be honoured, all the members rejoice with it.

27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members[q] in particular.

28 And God hath set some in the church; first, apostles; [r] secondarily, prophets, [s] thirdly, teachers; after that, miracles, [w] then gifts of healings,[y] helps,[z] governments, [b] diversities [9] of tongues.[c]

29 Are all apostles? are all prophets? are all teachers? are all [10] workers of miracles?

30 Have all the gifts of healing? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret?

31 But covet[g] earnestly the best[h] gifts: and yet shew I unto you a more excellent way.

CHAP. XIII.

2 And though I have the gift of prophecy, [a] and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove [b] mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing. [c]

3 And though [c] I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though [f] I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.

4 Charity suffereth [g] long, and is kind; charity envieth [h] not; charity [3] vaunteth not itself, is not puffed [i] up,

5 Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not [j] her own, is not [k] easily provoked, thinketh no evil;

6 Rejoiceth [l] not in iniquity, but rejoiceth [4] in the truth;

7 Beareth [m] all things, believeth [n] all things, hopeth [o] all things, endureth [p] all things.

8 Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease; whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

9 For we know in part, [q] and we prophesy in part;

10 But [r] when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.

11 When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I [6] thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12 For now we see through a glass, [s] darkly; [7] but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.

13 And now abideth faith, [t] hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

CHAP. XIV.

FOLLOW after charity, and desire spiritual [z] gifts; but rather that ye may prophesy.

2 For he that speaketh in an unknown tongue, [a] speaketh not unto men, but unto God: for [c] no man [8] understandeth him; howbeit in the spirit he speaketh mysteries.

3 But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort.

4 He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself; but he that prophesieth edifieth the church.

5 I would that ye all spake with tongues, but rather that ye prophesied: for greater is he that prophesieth than he that speaketh with tongues, except he interpret, that the church may receive edifying. [j]

6 Now, brethren, if I come unto you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, except I shall speak to you either by revelation, [l] or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 And even things without life giving sound, whether pipe or harp, except they give a distinction in the [1] sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?

8 For if the trumpet [d] give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?

9 So likewise ye, except ye utter by the tongue words [2] easy to be understood, how shall it be known what is spoken? for ye shall speak into the air.

10 There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without signification.

11 Therefore if I know not the meaning of the voice, I shall be unto him that speaketh a barbarian; [m] and he that speaketh shall be a barbarian unto me.

12 Even so ye, forasmuch as ye are zealous of [5] spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the church.

13 Wherefore let him that speaketh in an unknown tongue, pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prayeth; but my understanding is unfruitful.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, [t] and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing [u] with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding [v] also.

16 Else, when thou shalt bless with the spirit, how shall he that occupieth the room of the unlearned, say Amen at thy giving [x] of thanks? seeing he understandeth not what thou sayest.

17 For thou verily givest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than ye all:

19 Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue.

20 Brethren, be not [b] children in understanding: howbeit in malice be [d] ye children, but in understanding be [9] men. [e]

21 In the law [f] it is written, [g] With men of other tongues and other lips will I speak unto this people; and yet for all that will they not hear me, saith the Lord.

22 Wherefore tongues are for a sign, [h] not to them [i] that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.

23 If therefore the whole church be come together into one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned or unbelievers, will they not say that ye are mad? [k]

24 But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlearned, he is convinced of all, he is judged of all

25 And thus are the secrets of his heart made manifest; and so, falling down on his face, he will worship God, and report that God is [a] in you of a truth.

26 How is it then, brethren? when ye come together, every one of you hath a psalm, hath a doctrine, [c] hath a tongue, hath a revelation, hath an interpretation. Let [e] all things be done unto edifying.

27 If any man speak in an unknown tongue, let it be by two, or at the most by three, and that by course; and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keep silence in the church; and let him speak to himself and to God.

29 Let [g] the prophets speak two or three, and let the other judge.

30 If any thing be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the [i] first hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may be comforted.

32 And the spirits [l] of the prophets are subject to the prophets.

33 For God is not the author of [2] confusion, but of peace, as [m] in all churches of the saints.

34 Let [n] your women keep silence in the churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak; but they are commanded to be [o] under obedience, as also saith [q] the law.

35 And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the church.

36 What! came the word of God out from you? or [t] came it unto you only?

37 If [v] any man think himself to be a prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things that I write unto you are the commandments of the Lord.

38 But if any be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 Wherefore, brethren, covet to prophesy, and forbid not to speak with tongues.

40 Let [z] all things be done decently and in order.

CHAP. XV.

MOREOVER, brethren, I [b] declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which [c] also ye have received, and wherein [e] ye stand:

2 By which also ye are saved, if [f] ye keep [3] in memory [4] what I preached unto you, unless [h] ye have believed in vain.

3 For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according [j] to the Scriptures;

4 And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according [l] to the Scriptures;

5 And that he was seen of [n] Cephas, then of the twelve:

6 After that, he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once; of whom the greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep.

7 After that, he was seen of James; then of all the apostles.

8 And last [b] of all he was seen of me also, as of [1] one born out of due time.

9 For I am the least [d] of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.

10 But by the grace of God I am what I am: and his grace which was bestowed upon me was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all: yet not I, [f] but the grace of God which was with me.

11 Therefore whether it were I or they, so we preach, and so ye believed.

12 Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how [h] say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 But if [j] there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen.

14 And if [k] Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain.

15 Yea, and we are found false witnesses of God; because we have testified of God that he raised up Christ: whom he raised not up, if so be that the dead rise not.

16 For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised:

17 And if Christ be not raised, your faith [p] is vain; ye are yet in your sins.

18 Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ, are perished.

19 If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we [r] are of all men most miserable.

20 But now is [s] Christ risen from the dead, and become the first-fruits [u] of them that slept.

21 For [w] since by man came death, [x] by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

23 But [y] every man in his own order, Christ the first-fruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming.

24 Then cometh the end, when he shall have delivered up the kingdom [a] to God, even the Father; when he shall have put down all rule and all authority and power.

25 For he [d] must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet.

26 The last enemy that shall be destroyed [g] is death.

27 For he [i] hath put all things under his feet. But when he saith, All things are put under him; it is manifest that he is excepted which did put all things under him.

28 And when all things shall be subdued [k] unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him [m] that put all things under him, that God may be all in all.

29 Else what shall they do which [o] are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not at all? why are they then baptized for the dead?

30 And why stand we in [a] jeopardy every hour?

31 I protest by [1] your rejoicing [d] which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I [f] die daily.

32 If [2] after the manner of men I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantageth it me, if the dead rise not? Let us [h] eat and drink, for to-morrow we die.

33 Be not deceived: evil [i] communications corrupt good manners.

34 Awake [j] to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I [k] speak this to your shame.

35 But some man will say, How [m] are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come?

36 Thou fool! that [q] which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die:

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare grain, it may chance of wheat, or of some other grain:

38 But God [u] giveth it a body as it hath pleased him, and to every seed his own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh: but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds.

40 There [w] are also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.

41 There is one glory of the sun, [y] and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars: for one star differeth from another star in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption.

43 It [b] is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power:

44 It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual [c] body.

45 And so it is written, [d] The first man Adam was made a living soul; the [e] last Adam was made a quickening spirit.

46 Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual.

47 The [g] first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lord from heaven.

48 As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.

49 And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also [m] bear the image of the heavenly.

50 Now this I say, brethren, that [n] flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.

51 Behold, I shew you a mystery: We [p] shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 In a moment, [b] in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the [c] trumpet shall sound, and the dead [c] shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal [g] must put on immortality.

54 So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death [l] is swallowed up in victory.

55 O [n] death, where is thy sting? O grave, [3] where is thy victory?

56 The [o] sting of death is sin; and [p] the strength of sin is the law.

57 But thanks [r] be to God, which giveth us the victory [s] through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Therefore, my beloved brethren, [t] be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord.

CHAP. XVI.

NOW concerning the collection for the saints, as [v] I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye.

2 Upon the first [x] day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I come, whomsoever [z] ye shall approve by your letters, them will I send to bring your [4] liberality unto Jerusalem.

4 And if it be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.

5 Now I will come unto you, [a] when I shall pass through Macedonia: for I do pass through Macedonia.

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, and winter with you, that ye may bring me on my journey whithersoever I go.

7 For I will not see you now by the way; but I trust to tarry a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 But I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost.

9 For a great door [f] and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries.[h]

10 Now if Timotheus [t] come, see that he may be with you without fear: for he worketh [j] the work of the Lord, as I also do.

11 Let no man therefore despise [k] him: but conduct [l] him forth in peace, that he may come unto me: for I look for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, [i] I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his will was not at all to come at this time; but he will come when he shall have convenient time.

13 Watch [q] ye, stand [r] fast in the faith, quit you like men, [s] be strong.[t]

14 Let [a] all your things be done with charity.

15 I beseech you, brethren, (ye know the house of Stephanas, that it is the [d] first-fruits of Achaia, and that they have addicted themselves to the ministry of the saints,)

16 That ye submit [e] yourselves unto such, and to every one that helpeth with us, and laboureth.

17 I am glad of the coming of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus: for that which was lacking [j] on your part they have supplied.

18 For they have refreshed my spirit and yours: therefore acknowledge [k] ye them that are such.

19 The churches of Asia salute you. Aquila [b] and Priscilla salute you much in the Lord, with the church [c] that is in their house.

20 All the brethren greet you. Greet ye one another with an holy kiss.

21 The salutation of me Paul with mine own hand.

22 If any man love [f] not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be anathema [g] maranatha.[h]

23 The grace [i] of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

24 My love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

The Second Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, an apostle [a] of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, unto the church of God which is at Corinth, with all the saints [b] which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace [d] be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed [f] be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort;

4 Who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God.

5 For as the sufferings [k] of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also aboundeth by Christ.

6 And whether we be afflicted, it is for [i] your consolation and salvation, which is [2] effectual in the enduring of the same sufferings which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation.

7 And our hope of you is stedfast, knowing, that as [l] ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 For we would not, brethren, have you ignorant of our trouble [n] which came to us in Asia, that we were pressed out of measure, above strength, insomuch that we despaired even of life:

9 But we had the [4] sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not trust [q] in ourselves, but in God which raiseth the dead:

10 Who delivered [s] us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver us;

11 Ye also helping [v] together by prayer for us, that for the gift bestowed upon us by the means of many persons, thanks may be given by many on our behalf.

12 For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not [c] with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of [e] God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward.

13 For we write none other things unto you than what ye read or acknowledge; and I trust ye shall acknowledge even to the end;

14 As also ye have acknowledged us in part, that [x] we are your rejoicing, even as ye also are ours in the day of the Lord Jesus.

15 And in this confidence I was minded to come unto you before, that ye might have a second [1] benefit;

16 And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia unto you, and of you to be brought on my [j] way toward Judea.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I use lightness? or the things that I purpose, do I purpose according [k] to the flesh, that with me there should be yea, yea, and nay, nay?

18 But as God is true, our [3] word toward you was not yea [m] and nay.

19 For the Son [o] of God, Jesus Christ who was preached among you by us, even by me and Silvanus and Timotheus, was not yea and nay, but in him was yea.

20 For all the promises of God in [p] him are yea, and in him amen, unto the glory of God by us.

21 Now he which stablisheth [r] us with you in Christ, and hath anointed [t] us, is God;

22 Who hath also sealed [u] us, and given the earnest of the Spirit [w] in our hearts

23 Moreover I call God for a record upon my soul, that, to spare you, I came not as yet unto Corinth.

24 Not for that we have [b] dominion over your faith, but are helpers of your joy: for by [d] faith ye stand.

CHAP. II.

BUT I determined this with myself, that I would not come again to you in heaviness.[f]

2 For if I make you sorry, who is he then that maketh me glad, but the same which is made sorry by me?

3 And I wrote this same unto you, lest, when I came, I should have sorrow from them of whom I ought to rejoice; having confidence in you all, that my joy is the joy of you all.

4 For out of much affliction and anguish of heart I wrote unto you with many tears; not that ye should be grieved, but that ye might know the love [o] which I have more abundantly unto you.

5 But if [q] any have caused grief, he hath not grieved me, [r] but in part: that I may not overcharge you all.

6 Sufficient to such a man is this [2] punishment, which was inflicted [t] of many.

7 So [u] that contrariwise ye ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one should be swallowed up with overmuch sorrow.

8 Wherefore I beseech you that ye would confirm your love toward him.

9 For to this end also did I write, that I might know the proof of you, whether ye be obedient [v] in all things.

10 To whom ye forgive any thing, I forgive also: for if I forgave any thing, to whom I forgave it, for your sakes forgave I it in the [3] person of Christ;

11 Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices.

12 Furthermore, when [y] I came to Troas to preach Christ's gospel, and a [z] door was opened unto me of the Lord,

13 I had no rest [b] in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother: but taking my leave of them, I went from thence into Macedonia.

14 Now thanks be unto God, [c] which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour [d] of his knowledge by us in every place.

15 For we are unto God a sweet savour of Christ, in them [h] that are saved, and in them that perish:

16 To [i] the one we are the savour of death unto death; and to the other the savour of life unto life. And who [m] is sufficient for these things?

17 For we are not as many, which corrupt [6] the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight [n] of God, speak we [7] in Christ.

CHAP. III.

DO we begin again to commend [a] ourselves? or need we, as some others, epistles [c] of commendation to you, or letters of commendation from you?

2 Ye [e] are our epistle, written in our hearts, known and read of all men:

3 Forasmuch as ye are manifestly declared to be the epistle of Christ ministered by us, written not with ink, but with the Spirit of the living God; not in tables of stone, [g] but [h] in fleshly tables of the heart.

4 And such trust have we through Christ to God-ward:

5 Not that we are sufficient of [i] ourselves to think any thing, as of ourselves; but [j] our sufficiency is of God;

6 Who also hath made us able [k] ministers of the New [l] Testament; not of the letter, [m] but of the spirit: for the [n] letter killeth, but [p] the spirit [1] giveth life.

7 But if the ministration of death, written and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not stedfastly behold the face of Moses for [s] the glory of his countenance; which glory was to be done away;

8 How shall not the ministration of the Spirit be rather glorious?

9 For if the ministration of condemnation be glory, much more doth the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory.

10 For even that which was made glorious had no glory in this respect, by reason of the glory that excelleth.

11 For if [w] that which is done away was glorious, much more that which remaineth is glorious.

12 Seeing then that we have such hope, we use great [4] plainness of speech:

13 And not as Moses, which put a vail over his face, that the children of Israel could not stedfastly look to the end [x] of that which is abolished:

14 But their minds were blinded; [a] for until this day remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the Old Testament: which vail is done away in Christ.

15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the vail is upon their heart.

16 Nevertheless, when it shall turn to the Lord, the vail shall be taken away. [c]

17 Now the Lord [f] is that Spirit: and where the [g] Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

18 But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass [j] the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same [k] image from [l] glory to glory, even as [5] by the Spirit of the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

THEREFORE, seeing we have this ministry, as we have received [o] mercy, we faint not;

Digitized by Google

A. D. 60.

2 But have renounced the hidden things of [1] dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully,[a] but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God.

3 But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them [d] that are lost:

4 In whom the god [e] of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image [g] of God, should shine unto them.

5 For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake.

6 For God, who commanded [j] the light to shine out of darkness, [2] hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

7 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency [m] of the power may be of God, and not of us.

8 We are troubled [n] on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not [4] in despair:

9 Persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed;

10 Always bearing [q] about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that [r] the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body.

11 For we which live are [u] alway delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh.

12 So then [w] death worketh in us, but life in you.

13 We having the same [z] spirit of faith, according as it is written, [z] I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak;

14 Knowing [b] that he which raised up the Lord Jesus, shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you.

15 For [c] all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace [f] might, through the thanksgiving of many, redound to the glory of God.

16 For which cause [g] we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward [h] man is renewed day by day.

17 For [i] our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory;

18 While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not [l] seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.

CHAP. V.

FOR we know, that if our earthly house of this tabernacle [o] were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house [p] not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

2 For in this we groan, [b] earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven:

3 If so be that being clothed we shall not be found naked.[c]

4 For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality [f] might be swallowed up of life.

5 Now he that hath wrought [h] us for the self-same thing, is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest [i] of the Spirit.

6 Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord;

7 (For [k] we walk by faith, not by sight:)

8 We are confident, I say, and [l] willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord.

9 Wherefore we [3] labour, that, whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him.

10 For [o] we must all appear before the judgment-seat of Christ; that every one may receive [p] the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.

11 Knowing therefore the terror [s] of the Lord, we persuade men; but [t] we are made manifest unto God, and I trust also are made manifest in your consciences.

12 For [v] we commend not ourselves again unto you, but give you occasion to glory on our behalf, that ye may have somewhat to answer them which glory in [5] appearance, and not in heart.

13 For whether we be beside [y] ourselves, it is to God: or whether we be sober, it is for your cause.

14 For the love of Christ [a] constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then [c] were all dead:

15 And that he died for all, that [d] they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.

16 Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more.

17 Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is [6] a new [j] creature: old things are passed away; behold, [k] all things are become new.

18 And all things are of God, who hath reconciled [m] us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation;

19 To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses [n] unto them; and hath [7] committed unto us the word of reconciliation.

20 Now then we are [a] ambassadors for Christ; as though God did beseech you by us, we pray you in Christ's stead, Be ye reconciled to God.

21 For [c] he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made [e] the righteousness of God in him.

CHAP. VI.

WE then, as workers [f] together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain.[h]

2 (For he saith,[i] I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succoured thee: behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.)

3 Giving no [l] offence in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed:

4 But in all things approving [1] ourselves as the ministers [n] of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses,

5 In stripes, [p] in imprisonments, [2] in tumults, in labours, in watchings, in fastings.

6 By pureness, by knowledge, by long-suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned,

7 By the word [r] of truth, by the [s] power of God, by the armour [t] of righteousness on the right hand and on the left,

8 By honour and dishonour, by evil report and good report: as deceivers,[v] and yet true;

9 As [w] unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and, behold, we live: [x] as chastened, and not killed;

10 As sorrowful, yet alway rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all [y] things.

11 O ye Corinthians, our mouth is open unto you, our [a] heart is enlarged.

12 Ye are not straitened in us, but ye are straitened in your own bowels.

13 Now for a recompense in the same, (I speak as unto my children,) be ye also enlarged.

14 Be [c] ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?

15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel?

16 And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye [m] are the temple of the living God; as God hath said,[n] I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

17 Wherefore [p] come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you,

18 And [q] will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.

CHAP. VII.

HAVING therefore these [b] promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse [d] ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

2 Receive us; we have wronged no man, we have corrupted no man,[g] we have defrauded no man.

3 I speak not this to condemn you; for I have said [j] before, that ye are in our hearts to die and live with you.

4 Great is my boldness of speech toward you, great [k] is my glorying of you: I am filled with comfort, I am exceeding joyful [m] in all our tribulation.

5 For, when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on every side; without [o] were fightings, within were fears.

6 Nevertheless God that comforteth those that are cast down, comforted us by the coming of Titus; [q]

7 And not by his coming only, but by the consolation wherewith he was comforted in you, when he told us your earnest desire, your mourning, your fervent mind toward me; so that I rejoiced the more.

8 For though I made you sorry with a letter, I do not repent, though I [u] did repent: for I perceive that the same epistle hath made you sorry, though it were but for a season.

9 Now I rejoice, not that ye were made sorry, but that ye sorrowed to repentance: for ye were made sorry,[3] after a godly manner, that ye might receive damage by us in nothing.

10 For godly sorrow [z] worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world [b] worketh death.

11 For behold this self-same thing, that ye sorrowed after a godly [c] sort, what carefulness [d] it wrought in you, yea, what clearing [f] of yourselves, yea, what indignation, [g] yea, what fear, [h] yea, what vehement desire, [i] yea, what zeal, yea, what revenge! [j] In all things ye have approved yourselves [k] to be clear in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote unto you, I did it not for his cause that had done the wrong, nor for his cause that suffered wrong, but that our care [l] for you in the sight of God might appear unto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted in your comfort: yea, and exceedingly the more joyed we for the joy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed [o] by you all.

14 For if I have boasted any thing to him of you, I am not ashamed; but as we spake all things to you in truth, even so our boasting, which I made before Titus, is found [n] truth.

15 And his [1] inward affection is more abundant toward you, whilst he remembereth the obedience of you all, how with fear [b] and trembling ye received him.

16 I rejoice, therefore, that I have confidence [d] in you in all things.

CHAP. VIII.

MOREOVER, brethren, we do you to wit of the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia; [f]

2 How that, in a great trial of affliction, the abundance of their joy and their deep [h] poverty abounded unto the riches of their [3] liberality.

3 For to their power (I bear record) yea, and beyond their power, they were willing of themselves;

4 Praying us with much entreaty that we would receive the gift, and take upon us the fellowship [i] of the ministering to the saints.

5 And this they did, not as we hoped, but first gave their ownselves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God.

6 Insomuch that we desired Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also finish in you the same [5] grace also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound [l] in every thing, in faith, and utterance, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love to us, see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 I speak not [n] by commandment, but by occasion of the forwardness of others, and to prove the sincerity of your love.

9 For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was [o] rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, [p] that ye through his poverty might be rich. [q]

10 And herein I give my advice: for this is expedient for you, who have begun before, not only to do, but also to be [6] forward a year ago.

11 Now therefore perform [s] the doing of it; that as there was a readiness to will, so there may be a performance also out of that which ye have.

12 For if [t] there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 For I mean not that other men be eased, and ye burdened:

14 But by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want, that their abundance also may be a supply for your want, that there may be equality:

15 As it is written, [w] He that had gathered much had nothing over; and he that had gathered little had no lack.

16 But thanks be to God, which put the same earnest care into the heart of Titus for you.

17 For indeed he accepted the exhortation; [z] but being more forward, of his own accord he went unto you.

18 And we have sent with him the brother, [a] whose praise is in the gospel throughout all the churches;

19 And not that only, but who was also chosen [c] of the churches to travel with us with this [2] grace, which is administered by us to [e] the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your ready mind:

20 Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this abundance which is administered by us:

21 Providing for honest [g] things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men.

22 And we have sent with them our brother, whom we have oftentimes proved diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, upon the great confidence which [4] I have in you.

23 Whether any do inquire of Titus, he is my partner and fellow-helper concerning you: or our brethren be inquired of, they are the messengers [j] of the churches, and the glory of Christ.

24 Wherefore shew ye to them, and before the churches, the proof of your love, and of our boasting [k] on your behalf.

CHAP. IX.

FOR as touching the ministering [m] to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you:

2 For I know the forwardness of your mind, for which I boast of you to them of Macedonia, that Achaia was ready a year ago; and your zeal hath provoked very many.

3 Yet have I sent the brethren, lest our boasting of you should be in vain in this behalf; that, as I said, ye may be ready:

4 Lest haply if they of Macedonia come with me, and find you unprepared, we (that we say not, ye) should be ashamed in this same confident boasting. [r]

5 Therefore I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren, that they would go before unto you, and make up beforehand your [7] bounty, [8] whereof ye had notice before, that the same might be ready, as a matter of bounty, and not as of covetousness.

6 But this I say, He [u] which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully.

7 Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not [v] grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful [w] giver.

8 And [y] God is able to make all grace abound toward you: that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work:

9 (As it is written, [z] He hath dispersed abroad; he hath given to the poor: his righteousness remaineth for ever.

10 Now he [b] that ministereth seed to the sower both minister bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits [a] of your righteousness;)

11 Being enriched in every thing to all bountifulness,[2] which [c] causeth through us thanksgiving to God.

12 For the administration of this service not only supplieth [d] the want of the saints, but is abundant also by many thanksgivings unto God,

13 Whiles by the experiment of this ministration they glorify [e] God for your professed subjection unto the gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution unto them, and unto all men;

14 And by their prayer for you, which long after you for the exceeding grace [g] of God in you.

15 Thanks [h] be unto God for his unspeakable gift.[i]

CHAP. X.

NOW I Paul myself beseech [j] you by the meekness and gentleness of Christ, who [6] in presence [l] am base among you, but being absent am bold toward you:

2 But I beseech you, that I may not be bold when I am present with that confidence, wherewith [n] I think to be bold against some, which [7] think of us as if we walked according to the flesh.

3 For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after [o] the flesh;

4 (For the weapons [q] of our warfare [r] are not carnal, but mighty [9] through [t] God to the pulling down [u] of strong holds;)

5 Casting down [10] imaginations,[v] and every high [w] thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity [x] every thought to [y] the obedience of Christ;

6 And having in a readiness to revenge all disobedience, when your obedience [a] is fulfilled.

7 Do ye look on things after the outward [c] appearance? If any man trust to himself that he is Christ's, let him of himself think this again, that, as he is Christ's, even so are we Christ's.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authority,[5] which the Lord hath given us for edification, [k] and not for your destruction, I should not be ashamed:

9 That I may not seem as if I would terrify you by letters.

10 For his letters,[12] say they, are weighty and powerful; but his bodily presence is weak, and his speech contemptible.

11 Let such an one think this, that, such as we are in word by letters when we are absent, such will we be also in deed when we are present.

12 For [k] we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, [1] are not wise.[b]

13 But we will not boast of things without our measure, but according to the measure of the [3] rule which God hath distributed to us, a measure to reach even unto you.

14 For we stretch not ourselves beyond our measure, as though we reached not unto you: for we are come as far as to you also in preaching the gospel of Christ:

15 Not boasting of things without our measure, that is, of [f] other men's labours; but having hope, when your faith is increased, that we shall be [4] enlarged by you according to our rule abundantly,

16 To preach the gospel in the regions beyond you, and not to boast in another man's line [5] of things made ready to our hand.

17 But [k] he that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord.

18 For not he that commendeth himself is approved, but [m] whom the Lord commendeth.

CHAP. XI.

WOULD to God ye could bear with me a little in my folly: and indeed bear [8] with me.

2 For I am [p] jealous over you with godly jealousy: for I have espoused you [p] to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin [s] to Christ.

3 But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ.

4 For if he that cometh preacheth another Jesus, whom we have not preached, or if ye receive another spirit, which ye have not received, or another [z] gospel, which ye have not accepted, ye might well bear [11] with him.

5 For I suppose I [b] was not a whit behind the very chiefest apostles.

6 But though [d] I be rude in speech, yet not [e] in knowledge; but we have been throughly made manifest [f] among you in all things.

7 Have I committed an offence in abasing myself that ye might be exalted, because I have preached to you the gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other churches, taking wages of them, to do you service.

9 And when I was present with you, and wanted, I [i] was chargeable to no man: for that which was lacking to me, the [j] brethren which came from Macedonia supplied: and in all things I have kept myself from being burdensome unto you, and so will I keep myself.

10 As the truth of Christ is in me,[13] no man shall stop me of this boasting in the regions of Achaia

11 Wherefore? because I love you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I do, that I will do, that I may cut off occasion from them [b] which desire occasion, that wherein they glory, they may be found even as we.

13 For such are false [c] apostles, deceitful [d] workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ.

14 And no marvel; for Satan [e] himself is transformed into an angel of light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end [g] shall be according to their works.

16 I say again, Let no man think me a fool; [h] if otherwise, yet as a fool [3] receive me, that I may boast myself a little.

17 That which I speak, I speak it [i] not after the Lord, but as it were foolishly, in this confidence [j] of boasting.

18 Seeing [l] that many glory after the flesh, I will glory also.

19 For ye suffer fools gladly, seeing ye yourselves are wise.

20 For ye suffer, if a man bring you into bondage, if a man devour you, if a man take of you, if a man exalt himself, if a man smite you on the face.

21 I speak as concerning reproach, as though we had been weak. Howbeit whereinsoever any is bold, (I speak foolishly,) I am bold also.

22 Are they Hebrews? so am I. Are they Israelites? so am I. Are they the seed of Abraham? so am I.

23 Are they ministers of Christ? (I speak as a fool) I am more; in labours [q] more abundant, in stripes [r] above measure, in prisons more frequent, in deaths [s] oft.

24 Of the Jews five times received I forty stripes [t] save one.

25 Thrice was I beaten [v] with rods, once was I [w] stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night [y] and a day I have been in the deep;

26 In journeyings often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils [z] by mine own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren;

27 In weariness and painfulness, in watchings [c] often, in hunger [d] and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness.

28 Beside those things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the care [f] of all the churches.

29 Who [h] is weak, and I am not weak? who is offended, and I burn not?

30 If I must needs glory, I will [i] glory of the things which concern mine infirmities.

31 The God [k] and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which [l] is blessed for evermore, knoweth [m] that I lie not.

32 In Damascus [a] the governor under Aretas the king kept the city of the Damascenes with a garrison, desirous to apprehend me:

33 And through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall, and escaped his hands.

CHAP. XII.

IT is not expedient for me doubtless to glory. [1] I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

2 I knew a man in [f] Christ about fourteen [2] years ago, (whether in the body I cannot tell; or whether out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth;) such an one caught up to the third heaven.

3 And I knew such a man, (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell God knoweth;)

4 How that he was caught up into paradise, [k] and heard unspeakable words, which it is not [4] lawful for a man to utter.

5 Of such an one will I glory: yet [m] of myself I will not glory, but in mine infirmities.

6 For though I would desire to glory, I shall not be a fool; for I will say the truth: but now I forbear, lest any man should think of me above that which he seeth me to be, or that he heareth of me.

7 And lest I should be exalted above measure through the abundance of the revelations, there was given to me a thorn [n] in the flesh, the [o] messenger of Satan, to buffet me, lest I should be exalted above measure.

8 For this [p] thing I besought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.

9 And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory [q] in my infirmities, that the power [s] of Christ may rest upon me.

10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

11 I am become a fool in glorying: ye have compelled me: for I ought to have been commended of you: for [a] in nothing am I behind the very chiefest apostles, though [b] I be nothing.

12 Truly the signs [c] of an apostle were wrought among you in all patience, in signs, and wonders, and mighty deeds.

13 For what is it wherein you were inferior to other churches, except it be that I [g] myself was not burdensome to you? forgive me this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come to you; and I will not be burdensome to you: for [j] I seek not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay up for the parents, but the parents for the children

15 And I will very gladly spend and be spent for [1] you; though the more abundantly I love you, the less I be loved.

16 But be it so, I did not burden you: nevertheless, being crafty, I caught you with guile.

17 Did I make a gain of you by any of them whom I sent unto you?

18 I desired Titus, [d] and with him I sent a brother: [e] Did Titus make a gain of you? walked we not in the same spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19 Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves [h] unto you? we speak before God in Christ: but we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

20 For I fear, lest, when [i] I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults:

21 And lest, when I come again, my God will humble [l] me among you, and that I shall bewail many which have sinned already, and have not repented [o] of the uncleanness, and fornication, [p] and lasciviousness which they have committed.

CHAP. XIII.

THIIS is the third time I am coming to you. In [s] the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word be established.

2 I told you before, and foretell you, as if I were present, the second time; and being absent now I write to them [w] which heretofore have sinned, and to all other, that, if I come again, I will not spare:

3 Since ye seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, which to you-ward is not weak, but is mighty [a] in you

4 For though [b] he was crucified through weakness, yet he liveth by the power of God. For we also are weak [2] in him, but we shall live with him by the power of God toward you.

5 Examine [c] yourselves whether ye be in the faith; prove your ownselves. Know ye not your ownselves, how that Jesus Christ [f] is in you, except ye be reprobates? [g]

6 But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.

7 Now I pray to God that ye do no evil; not that we should appear approved, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates.

8 For [j] we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad, when we are weak, and ye are strong: and this also we wish, even your perfection. [k]

10 Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness, [m] according [n] to the power which the Lord hath given me to edification, and not to destruction.

11 Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, [q] be of good comfort, be [r] of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.

12 Greet [t] one another with an holy kiss.

13 All the saints salute you.

14 The [u] grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the [v] communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen.

The second epistle to the Corinthians was written from Philippi, a city of Macedonia, by Titus and Lucas.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, an apostle, (not of men, neither by man, but [b] by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who [c] raised him from the dead;)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, unto the churches of Galatia: [e]

3 Grace [g] be to you, and peace, from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ,

4 Who gave [h] himself for our sins, that he might deliver us [j] from this present evil [l] world, according [m] to the will of God and our Father:

5 To whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

6 I marvel that ye are so soon removed [n] from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel:

7 Which [q] is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert [a] the gospel of Christ.

8 But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let [d] him be accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other [f] gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed.

10 For do I now persuade men, or God? or do I seek to [i] please men? for if I yet pleased men, I should not [k] be the servant of Christ.

11 But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me, is not after man.

12 For [o] I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation [p] of Jesus Christ.

13 For ye have heard of my conversation in time past in the Jews' religion, how that beyond measure I persecuted the church [a] of God, and wasted it;

14 And profited in the Jews' religion above many my [1] equals in mine own nation, being [c] more exceedingly zealous of the traditions [d] of my fathers.

15 But when it pleased God, [f] who separated me from my mother's womb, and called me by his grace,

16 To reveal [g] his Son in me, that [h] I might preach him among the heathen; immediately I conferred not with flesh and [j] blood:

17 Neither went I up to Jerusalem to them which were apostles before me; but I went into Arabia, and returned again unto Damascus.

18 Then [m] after three years I went [2] up to Jerusalem to see Peter, and abode with him fifteen days.

19 But other of the apostles saw I none, save James [n] the Lord's brother.

20 Now the things which I write unto you, behold, before God, I lie not.

21 Afterwards I [o] came into the regions of Syria and Cilicia;

22 And was unknown by face unto the churches [r] of Judea which were in Christ:

23 But they had heard [s] only, That he which persecuted us in times past, now preacheth the faith which once he destroyed.

24 And they glorified [u] God in me.

CHAP. II.

THEN, fourteen years after, [x] I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and took Titus with me also.

2 And I went up by revelation, and communicated unto them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles; but [3] privately to them which were of reputation, lest by any means I [a] should run, or had run, in vain.

3 But neither Titus, who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised:

4 And that because of false [b] brethren unawares brought in, who came in privily to spy out our liberty [e] which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage: [g]

5 To whom we gave place by subjection, no, not for an hour; that the truth of the gospel might continue with you.

6 But of those who seemed [j] to be somewhat, whatsoever they were, it maketh no matter to me: God [l] accepteth no man's person: for they who seemed to be somewhat, in conference added nothing to me;

7 But contrariwise, when they saw that the gospel of the uncircumcision was committed unto me, [o] as the gospel of the circumcision was unto Peter;

8 (For he that wrought effectually in Peter to the apostleship of the circumcision, the same was mighty in me toward the Gentiles;)

9 And when James, Cephas, and John, who seemed to be pillars, [b] perceived the grace [d] that was given unto me, they gave to me and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship; that we should go unto the heathen, and they unto the circumcision.

10 Only they would that we should remember the poor; the same which I [i] also was forward to do.

11 But when Peter was come to [k] Antioch, I withstood him to the face, because he was to be blamed.

12 For before that certain came from James, he did eat [l] with the Gentiles. but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

13 And the other Jews dissembled likewise with him; insomuch that Barnabas also was carried away with their dissimulation.

14 But when I saw that they walked not uprightly, according to the truth [p] of the gospel, I said unto Peter [q] before them all, If thou, being a Jew, livest after the manner of Gentiles, and not as do the Jews, why compellest thou the Gentiles to live as do the Jews?

15 We who are Jews by nature, and not sinners [t] of the Gentiles,

16 Knowing that [v] a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith [w] of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for [y] by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.

17 But if, while we seek to be justified by Christ, we [z] ourselves also are found sinners, is therefore Christ the minister of sin? God forbid.

18 For if I build again the things which I destroyed, I make myself a transgressor.

19 For I [c] through the law am dead to the law, that I might live [d] unto God.

20 I am crucified [f] with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in [h] me: and the life which I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself [i] for me.

21 I do not frustrate the grace of God: for if [k] righteousness come by the law, then Christ is dead in vain.

CHAP. III.

O FOOLISH [m] Galatians, who [n] hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, before whose eyes Jesus Christ hath been evidently set forth, crucified among you?

2 This only would I learn of you, Received [p] ye the Spirit by the works of the law, or [q] by the hearing of faith?

3 Are ye so foolish? having [a] begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect [b] by the flesh?

4 Have ye suffered so [1] many things in vain? [c] if it be yet in vain.

5 He therefore that ministereth [f] to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?

6 Even as Abraham [g] believed God, and it was [2] accounted to him for righteousness.

7 Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children [i] of Abraham.

8 And the Scripture, forseeing that God would justify [k] the heathen through faith, preached before the Gospel unto Abraham, saying,[m] In thee shall all nations be blessed.

9 So then [o] they which be of faith are blessed with faithful Abraham.

10 For as many as are of the works of the law, are under the curse: for it is written, [q] Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them.

11 But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident: for, The [s] just shall live by faith.

12 And the law [t] is not of faith: but, The [u] man that doeth them shall live in them.

13 Christ [v] hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written,[w] Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree:

14 That [x] the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Jesus Christ; that we might receive the promise [y] of the Spirit through faith.

15 Brethren, I speak after the manner of men; Though it be but a man's [4] covenant, yet if it be confirmed, no man disannulleth, or addeth thereto.

16 Now to Abraham [a] and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, And to seeds, as of many; but as of one, And to thy seed, which is Christ.

17 And this I say, That the covenant that was confirmed before of God in Christ, the law, which [b] was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 For if [c] the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promise: but God gave it to Abraham by promise.

19 Wherefore then serveth the law? [d] It was added because of transgressions, till the seed [e] should come to whom the promise was made; and it was ordained by angels [f] in the hand [g] of a mediator.

20 Now a mediator is not a mediator of one, but God [i] is one

21 Is the law then against [j] the promises of God? God forbid: for if [k] there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law.

22 But the Scripture hath concluded all [d] under sin, that the promise [e] by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe.

23 But before faith came, we were kept under the law, shut up unto the faith which should afterwards be revealed.

24 Wherefore the law [h] was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a school-master.

26 For ye are all the children [j] of God by faith in Christ Jesus.

27 For [l] as many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have put on Christ.

28 There is [n] neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus.

29 And if ye be Christ's, then [p] are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs [r] according to the promise.

CHAP. IV.

NOW I say, That the heir, as long as he is a child, differeth nothing from a servant, though he be Lord of all;

2 But is under tutors and governors until the time appointed of the father.

3 Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the [3] elements of the world:

4 But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law,

5 To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons.

6 And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit [z] of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.

8 Howbeit then when ye knew not God, ye did service unto them which by nature are no gods.

9 But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye [5] again to the weak and beggarly [6] elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?

10 Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years.

11 I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed upon you labour in vain.

12 Brethren, I beseech you, be as I am, for I am as ye are: ye have not injured me at all.

13 Ye know how through [k] infirmity of the flesh I preached the gospel unto you at the first:

14 And my temptation which was in my flesh ye despised not, nor rejected: but received me as an angel [a] of God, even as Christ [b] Jesus.

15 Where [1] is then the blessedness ye spake of? for I bear you record, that, if it had been possible, ye would have plucked out your own eyes, and have given them to me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?

17 They zealously affect you, but [i] not well; yea, they would exclude [3] you, that ye might affect them.

18 But it is good to be zealously affected always [j] in a good thing, and not only when I am present with you.

19 My [l] little children, of whom I travail in birth again until Christ be formed in you,

20 I desire to be present with you now, and to change my voice; for [4] I stand in doubt of you.

21 Tell me, ye that desire to be under the law, do ye not hear the law?

22 For it is written, That Abraham had two sons; the one [p] by a bond-maid, the other [q] by a free woman.

23 But he who was of the [r] bond-woman was born after the flesh; but he of the free woman was by promise.

24 Which things are an allegory: [u] for these are the two [5] covenants; the one from the mount [6] Sinai, [w] which gendereth to bondage, which is Agar.

25 For this Agar is mount Sinai in Arabia, and [7] answereth to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children.

26 But Jerusalem [y] which is above is free, which is the mother of us all.

27 For it is written, [a] Rejoice, thou barren that bearest not; break forth and cry, thou that travailest not; for the desolate hath many more children than she which hath an husband.

28 Now we, [c] brethren, as Isaac was, are the children of promise.

29 But as then he [g] that was born after the flesh, persecuted him that was born after the Spirit, even so [h] it is now.

30 Nevertheless what saith [i] the Scripture? Cast out the bond-woman and her son: for the son of the bond-woman shall not be heir with the son of the free woman.

31 So then, brethren, we are not children of the bond-woman, but of the free.

CHAP. V.

STAND [k] fast therefore in the [l] liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.

2 Behold, I Paul say unto you, That if ye be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testify again to every man that is circumcised, that he is a debtor to do the whole law.

4 Christ is become of no effect [e] unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law: ye are fallen [d] from grace.

5 For we through the Spirit wait [e] for the hope of righteousness [f] by faith.

6 For in Jesus Christ neither [g] circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which [h] worketh by love.

7 Ye did run well; who did [2] hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?

8 This persuasion cometh not of him that calleth you.

9 A little [k] leaven leaveneth the whole lump.

10 I have confidence in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you shall bear [m] his judgment, whosoever he be.

11 And I, brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why do I yet suffer persecution? [n] then is the offence [o] of the cross ceased.

12 I would they were even cut off which trouble you.

13 For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not [t] liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14 For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this, [v] Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.

15 But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another.

16 This I say then, Walk [z] in the Spirit, and [8] ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.

17 For [z] the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary [b] the one to the other; so that [c] ye cannot do the things that ye would.

18 But if [d] ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law.

19 Now the works of the flesh [f] are manifest; which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness,

20 Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies,

21 Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

22 But the fruit [j] of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith.

23 Meekness, temperance: against [m] such there is no law.

24 And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the [9] affections and lusts.

25 If [n] we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

26 Let [o] us not be desirous of vain glory,

CHAP. VI.

BRETHREN, [1] if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual restore [d] such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.

2 Bear [e] ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ.

3 For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself

4 But let every man prove [f] his own work, and hen shall he have rejoicing in himself [h] alone, and not in another:

5 For every man shall bear his own burden.

6 Let [j] him that is taught in the word communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things.

7 Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

8 For he that soweth to his [n] flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit, [p] shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.

9 And let [r] us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if [s] we faint not.

10 As we have therefore opportunity, [a] let us do good unto all [b] men, especially to them [c] who are of the household of faith.

11 Ye see how large a letter I have written unto you with mine own hand.

12 As many as desire to make a fair shew in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised; only lest they should suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.

13 For neither they themselves who are circumcised keep the law; but desire to have you circumcised, that they may glory in your flesh.

14 But [g] God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, [2] by whom the world is crucified [i] unto me, and I unto the world.

15 For [k] in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a [l] new creature.

16 And as many as walk according to this rule, peace [m] be on them, and mercy, and upon the Israel of God.

17 From henceforth let no man trouble me; for [o] I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.

18 Brethren, the [q] grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Unto the Galatians, written from Rome.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the EPHESIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the saints [b] which are at Ephesus, [c] and to the faithful [d] in Christ Jesus:

2 Grace [e] be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed [f] be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly [2] places in Christ:

4 According as he hath chosen [h] us in him before the foundation of the world that we should be holy, [i] and without blame before him in love.

5 Having predestinated [k] us unto the adoption [l] of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure [n] of his will,

6 To the praise [p] of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted [t] in the Beloved:

7 In whom [u] we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace;

8 Wherein he hath abounded toward us in all wisdom and prudence;

9 Having made known unto us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure which he hath [a] purposed in himself:

10 That in the dispensation of the fulness of times, he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in [1] heaven and which are on earth: even in him,

11 In whom also we have obtained an inheritance, [s] being predestinated according to the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will;

12 That we should be to the praise of his glory who first [3] trusted in Christ.

you the Spirit of wisdom [a] and revelation [1] in the knowledge of him:

18 The eyes [b] of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope [c] of his calling, and what the riches [d] of the glory of his inheritance in the saints,

19 And what is the exceeding greatness of his power [h] to us-ward who believe, according to the working [2] of his mighty power,

20 Which he wrought in Christ, when he [j] raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places,

21 Far [l] above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come;

22 And hath put [n] all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church,

23 Which is his body, [p] the fulness of him that filleth all in all.

CHAP. II.

AND you [s] hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins;

2 Wherein [v] in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince [x] of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children [z] of disobedience:

3 Among whom also we [b] all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the [4] desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature [c] the children of wrath, even as others.

4 But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us,

5 Even [f] when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by [5] grace [h] ye are saved;)

6 And hath raised [i] us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus;

7 That in the ages to come he might shew the exceeding riches of his grace, in his kindness [l] toward us through Christ Jesus.

8 For by grace [m] are ye saved through faith; [n] and that not [o] of yourselves; it is the gift of God:

9 Not of works, lest any man should boast.

10 For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which [p] God hath before [7] ordained that we should walk in them.

11 Wherefore remember, that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, who are called Uncircumcision by that which is called the Circumcision in the flesh made by hands;

12 That at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world:

13 But now, in Christ Jesus, ye who sometimes were far off, are made nigh by the blood [d] of Christ.

14 For he [f] is our peace, who hath made both [g] one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us;

15 Having abolished [i] in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace;

16 And that he might reconcile [k] both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity [3] thereby;

17 And came and preached peace to you [m] which were afar off and to them that were nigh.

18 For through [o] him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father.

19 Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow-citizens [q] with the saints, and of the household [r] of God;

20 And are built [t] upon the [u] foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief [w] corner-stone;

21 In whom all the building, fitly framed together, groweth unto an holy [y] temple in the Lord:

22 In whom ye also are builded [a] together for an habitation of God through the Spirit.

CHAP. III.

FOR this cause I Paul, the prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles,

2 (If ye have heard of the dispensation [d] of the grace [e] of God, which is given me to you-ward:

3 How that by revelation [g] he made known unto me the mystery; as I wrote afore [6] in few words,

4 Whereby, when ye read, ye may understand my knowledge in the mystery [j] of Christ;

5 Which in other ages was not [k] made known unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto the holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit;

6 That the Gentiles should be fellowheirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel;

7 Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual [q] working of his power.

8 Unto me, who am less [r] than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches [s] of Christ;

9 And to make all men see, what is the fellowship of the mystery, [t] which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by [u] Jesus Christ:

10 To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known, by the church, the manifold wisdom [b] of God,

11 According to the eternal [c] purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord:

12 In whom we have boldness [e] and access with confidence by the faith of him.

13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for you, which [g] is your glory.

14 For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named,

16 That he would grant you according to the riches [k] of his glory, to be [l] strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; [m]

17 That Christ may dwell [n] in your hearts by faith; that ye, being [o] rooted and grounded in love,

18 May be able to comprehend with all saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height;

19 And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness [q] of God.

20 Now [r] unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us,

21 Unto him be glory in the church by Christ Jesus, throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

CHAP. IV.

I THEREFORE, the prisoner [s] of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk [v] worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called.

2 With all lowliness [x] and meekness, with long-suffering, forbearing one another in love;

3 Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 There is one body and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling,

5 One Lord, one faith, one baptism,

6 One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all.

7 But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure [d] of the gift of Christ.

8 Wherefore he saith, [f] When he ascended up on high, he led [8] captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men.

9 (Now that he ascended, what is it but that he also descended first into the lower parts of the earth?

10 He that descended is the same also that ascended up far above all heavens, that he might [10] fill all things.)

11 And [k] he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers:

12 For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ:

13 Till we all come [1] in the unity [a] of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect [d] man, unto the measure of the [2] stature of the fulness of Christ:

14 That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried [f] about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;

15 But, [3] speaking the truth [h] in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, [i] even Christ:

16 From whom [j] the whole body fitly joined together, and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love.

17 This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind,

18 Having the understanding [p] darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the [4] blindness of their heart;

19 Who being past feeling, have [s] given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness.

20 But ye have not so learned Christ;

21 If so be that ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus:

22 That ye put [t] off, concerning the former conversation, the old [u] man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts;

23 And be renewed [w] in the spirit of your mind,

24 And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created [y] in righteousness and [6] true holiness.

25 Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth [z] with his neighbour: for we [a] are members one of another.

26 Be ye angry and sin not; let [b] not the sun go down upon your wrath:

27 Neither [c] give place to the devil.

28 Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let [e] him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to [7] give to him that needeth.

29 Let [g] no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good [9] to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers.

30 And grieve [h] not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed [i] unto the day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterness, [j] and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and [l] evil-speaking, be put away from you, with all malice:

32 And be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving [m] one another, even

CHAP. V.

BE ye therefore followers of God, as dear children;

2 And walk in love,[a] as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us, an offering and a sacrifice to God for a[b] sweet-smelling savour.

3 But fornication,[c] and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named[d] among you, as becometh saints;

4 Neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which[f] are not convenient; but rather giving of thanks.

5 For this ye know, that[h] no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who[j] is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God.

6 Let no man deceive[k] you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of[l] disobedience.

7 Be not ye therefore partakers with them.

8 For[m] ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light[o] in the Lord: walk as children[p] of light;

9 (For the fruit[r] of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth;)

10 Proving[s] what is acceptable unto the Lord.

11 And have[t] no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove[u] them.

12 For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things that are [2] reproved are made manifest[x] by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light.

14 Wherefore [3] he saith,[y] Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light.

15 See then that ye walk[z] circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise,

16 Redeeming the time, because the days are evil.[a]

17 Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what[c] the will of the Lord is.

18 And be not drunk[d] with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit;

19 Speaking to yourselves in[e] psalms and hymns, and spiritual songs, singing[f] and making melody in your[g] heart to the Lord;

20 Giving thanks[h] always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ;

21 Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God.

22 Wives,[i] submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord.

23 For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the Saviour of the body.

24 Therefore as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in every thing.

25 Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it;

26 That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing[e] of water by the word:

27 That he might present[g] it to himself a glorious church, not having spot,[i] or wrinkle, or any such thing but that it should be holy and without blemish.

28 So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies; he that loveth his wife loveth himself.

29 For no man ever yet hated his own flesh; but nourisheth and cherisheth it; even as the Lord the church:

30 For we are members[l] of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 For[n] this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two[q] shall be one flesh.

32 This is a great mystery: but I speak concerning Christ and the church.

33 Nevertheless, let every one of you in particular, so love his wife even as himself; and the wife see that she reverence her husband.

CHAP. VI.

CHILDREN,[v] obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right.

2 Honour[w] thy father and mother, (which is the first commandment with promise,)

3 That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth.

4 And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

5 Servants,[b] be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ.

6 Not with eye-service, as men-pleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart;

7 With good-will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men;

8 Knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

9 And ye masters, do the same things unto them,[4] forbearing threatening: knowing that [5] your Master also is in heaven; neither is there respect[j] of persons with him.

10 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

11 Put on the whole armour [b] of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

12 For we wrestle not against [1] flesh and blood, but against principalities, [d] against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against [4] spiritual wickedness in [5] high places.

13 Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and, having done [6] all, to stand.

14 Stand therefore, having your loins girt [h] about with truth, and having on the breast-plate of righteousness;

15 And your feet [i] shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace;

16 Above all, taking the shield of faith, [k] wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked.

17 And take the helmet [l] of salvation, and the sword [m] of the Spirit, which is the word of God:

18 Praying always [n] with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching [o] thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints;

19 And for [c] me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel,

20 For which I am an ambassador in bonds; [2] that [3] therein I may speak boldly, as I ought [c] to speak.

21 But that ye also may know my affairs, and how I do, Tychicus, [f] a beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall make known to you all things:

22 Whom [g] I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know our affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace [j] be to the brethren, and love with faith, from God the Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

24 Grace be with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ [7] in sincerity. Amen.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the PHILIPPIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL and Timotheus, the servants of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, [b] with the bishops and deacons;

2 Grace [c] be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 I thank my God upon every [2] remembrance of you,

4 Always in every prayer [d] of mine for you all making request with joy,

5 For your fellowship in the gospel, from the first day until now;

6 Being confident [e] of this very thing, that he [f] which hath begun a good [g] work in you will [5] perform it until the day [h] of Jesus Christ:

7 Even as it is meet for me to think this of you all, because [6] I have you in my heart; inasmuch as both in my bonds, and in the defence [i] and confirmation of the gospel, ye all are partakers [7] of my grace.

8 For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jesus Christ.

9 And this I pray, that your love may abound [l] yet more and more in knowledge and in all [8] judgment;

10 That [m] ye may [9] approve things that are [10] excellent; that ye may be [n] sincere and without offence till the day of Christ,

11 Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ unto the glory [o] and praise of God.

12 But I would ye should understand, brethren, that the things which happened unto me have fallen out rather unto the furtherance of the gospel;

13 So that my bonds [1] in Christ are manifest in all [3] the palace, and [4] in all other places;

14 And many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear.

15 Some indeed preach Christ even of envy and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one preach Christ of contention, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my bonds;

17 But the other of love, knowing that I am set for the defence of the gospel.

18 What then? notwithstanding every way, whether in pretence or in truth, Christ is preached; and I therein do rejoice, yea, and will rejoice.

19 For I know that this [j] shall turn to my salvation through [k] your prayer, and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ,

20 According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, [p] but that with all boldness, [p] as always, so now also, Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether [a] it be by life or by death.

21 For to me to live is Christ, and to die [b] is gain.

22 But if I live in the flesh, this is the fruit of my labour: yet what I shall choose I wot not.

23 For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire [d] to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better: [e]

24 Nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you.

25 And having this confidence, I know hat I shall abide and continue with you all, for your furtherance and joy of faith;

26 That your rejoicing may be more abundant in Jesus Christ for me, by my coming to you again.

27 Only [l] let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ; that, whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye [o] stand fast in one spirit, with one mind, striving [p] together for the faith of the gospel;

28 And in nothing terrified [r] by your adversaries: which [t] is to them an evident token of perdition, but [u] to you of salvation, and that of God.

29 For unto you it is given [v] in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake;

30 Having the same conflict which ye saw [x] in me, and now hear to be in me.

CHAP. II.

IF there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels [z] and mercies,

2 Fulfil [a] ye my joy, that ye be [b] like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.

3 Let nothing [c] be done through strife or vain glory; but in lowliness of mind let each [d] esteem other better than themselves.

4 Look not every man on his [f] own things, but every man also on the things of others.

5 Let this [i] mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus:

6 Who, being [j] in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equa. [k] with God;

7 But [l] made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant,[m] and was made in the [6] likeness of men:

8 And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself and became [n] obedient unto death, even the death of the cross.

9 Wherefore [o] God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name.

10 That at the name of Jesus every [p] knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth.

11 And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord,[c] to the glory of God the Father.

12 Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work [f] out your own salvation with fear [g] and trembling:

13 For it is God [h] which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure.

14 Do all things without murmurings and disputings; [j]

15 That ye may be blameless and [1] harmless, the sons [k] of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked [m] and perverse nation, among whom [2] ye shine as lights [n] in the world;

16 Holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, [q] neither laboured in vain.

17 Yea, and if I be [3] offered [s] upon the sacrifice and service of your faith, I joy, and rejoice with you all.

18 For the same cause also do ye joy, and rejoice with me.

19 [4] But I trust in the Lord Jesus to send Timotheus [w] shortly unto you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I have no man [5] like-minded, who will naturally care for your state.

21 For all seek their own, [y] not the things which are Jesus Christ's.

22 But ye know the proof of him, that, as a son with the father, he hath served with me in the gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send presently, so soon as I shall see how it will go with me.

24 But [e] I trust in the Lord that I also myself shall come shortly.

25 Yet I supposed it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, [g] my brother, and companion in labour, and fellow-soldier, [h] but your messenger, and he that ministered to my wants.

26 For he longed after you all, and was full of heaviness, because that ye had heard that he had been sick.

27 For indeed he was sick nigh unto death: but God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

28 I sent him therefore the more carefully, that, when ye see him again, ye may rejoice, and that I may be the less sorrowful.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness: and [7] hold such in reputation:

30 Because for the work of Christ he was nigh unto death, not regarding his life [p] to supply your lack of service toward me.

CHAP. III.

FINALLY, my brethren, rejoice [d] in the Lord. To write the same [e] things to you, to me indeed is not grievous, but for you it is safe.

2 Beware of dogs, [f] beware of [j] evil workers, beware of the [l] concision.

3 For we [n] are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh:

4 Though I might also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, I more:

5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrews; as touching the law, a Pharisee; [r]

6 Concerning zeal, [s] persecuting the church; touching the righteousness which is in the law, blameless. [t]

7 But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss [u] for Christ.

8 Yea, doubtless, and I count all things but loss for [v] the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have [x] suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ.

9 And be found in him, not having mine own [b] righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness [c] which is of God by faith:

10 That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the [e] fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death;

11 If by any means I might [h] attain unto the resurrection of the dead.

12 Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: [l] but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus.

13 Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting [q] those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before,

14 I press [r] toward the mark for the prize of the high [t] calling of God in Christ Jesus.

15 Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, [v] be thus [w] minded: and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you.

16 Nevertheless, whereto we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule, [x] let us mind the same thing.

17 Brethren be followers [z] together of me, and mark them which walk so, as ye have us [a] for an ensample.

18 (For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies [c] of the cross of Christ;

19 Whose end [f] is destruction, whose God [g] is their belly, and whose glory [h] is in their shame, who mind earthly things).

20 For our conversation [k] is in heaven; from whence also we look [m] for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ;

21 Who shall change [o] our vile body, that i may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working [p] whereby he is able even [q] to subdue all things unto himself.

CHAP. IV.

THEREFORE, my brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved.

2 I beseech Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of the same mind in the Lord,

3 And I entreat thee also, true yoke-fellow, help those women which laboured with me in the gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow-labourers, whose names are in the book of life.

4 Rejoice [w] in the Lord alway: and again I say, Rejoice.

5 Let your moderation [y] be known unto all men: The Lord [z] is at hand.

6 Be careful [a] for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your request be made known unto God:

7 And the peace [d] of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.

8 Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, [f] whatsoever things are [1] honest, [g] whatsoever things are just, [i] whatsoever things are pure, [j] whatsoever things are lovely, [k] whatsoever things are of good report; [m] if there be any virtue, [n] and if there be any praise, [o] think on these things.

9 Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God [p] of peace shall be with you.

10 But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me [2] hath flourished again; wherein ye were also careful, but ye lacked opportunity. [s]

11 Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. [u]

12 I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: every where, and in all things, I am instructed, both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need.

13 I can do all things through [y] Christ which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding, ye have well done that ye did communicate with my affliction.

15 Now, ye Philippians, know also, that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no [d] church communicated with me as concerning giving and receiving, but ye only.

16 For even in Thessalonica ye sent once and again unto my necessity.

17 Not because I desire a gift; but I desire fruit that may abound to your account.

18 But I [1] have all, and abound: I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things which were sent from you, an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice [a] acceptable, well-pleasing to God.

19 But my God shall supply [b] all your need, according to his riches [c] in glory by Christ Jesus.

20 Now [e] unto God and our Father be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

21 Salute every saint in Christ Jesus. The brethren which are with me greet you.

22 All the saints salute you, chiefly they that are of Cesar's household.

23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the COLOSSIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, [a] an apostle of Jesus Christ, by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother,

2 To the saints [c] and faithful brethren in Christ which are at Colosse: [e] Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 We [g] give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you,

4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which ye have to all the saints;

5 For the hope which is laid up [j] for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel.

6 Which is come unto you, as it is in all [m] the world; and bringeth [n] forth fruit as it doth also in you, since the day ye heard [op] of it, and knew the [q] grace of God in truth:

7 As ye also learned of [t] Epaphras our dear fellow-servant, who is [u] for you a faithful minister of Christ;

8 Who also declared unto us your love [u] in the Spirit.

9 For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will, [v] in all wisdom [w] and spiritual understanding; [y]

10 That ye might walk worthy [z] of the Lord unto all pleasing, [b] being [c] fruitful in every good work, and increasing [d] in the knowledge of God;

11 Strengthened [f] with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience [4] and long-suffering with joyfulness; [h]

12 Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet [j] to be partakers of the inheritance [k] of the saints in light

13 Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, [l] and hath translated us into the kingdom of [1] his dear Son;

14 In [b] whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins;

15 Who is the image [d] of the invisible God, the first-born of every creature:

16 For by him [f] were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by [h] him and for him:

17 And he is before [i] all things, and by him all things consist;

18 And he is the head [k] of the body, the church; who is the beginning, [l] the first-born from the dead; that [2] in all things he might have the preeminence.

19 For it pleased the Father that in him [o] should all fulness dwell;

20 And, [3] having made [r] peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven.

21 And you, that were sometime alienated, and enemies [4] in your mind [5] by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled,

22 In the body of his flesh through death, to present [z] you holy and unblameable and unreproveable in his sight;

23 If ye continue [a] in the faith grounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which ye have heard, and which was preached to every [6] creature which is under heaven; whereof I Paul am made a minister;

24 Who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the afflictions [i] of Christ in my flesh for his body's sake, which is the church;

25 Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, [r] to fulfil the word of God;

26 Even the mystery [a] which hath been hid from ages and from generations, but now [b] is made manifest to his saints:

27 To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ [4] in you, the [c] hope of glory:

28 Whom we preach, warning [f] every man, and teaching [h] every man in all wisdom; that [i] we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus:

29 Whereunto [k] I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily.

CHAP. II.

FOR I would that ye knew what great [7] conflict I have for you, and for them at Laodicea,[m] and for as many as have not seen my face in the flesh;

2 That their hearts might be comforted, being knit together in love,[n] and unto all riches of the full [o] assurance of understanding, to the acknowledgment of the mystery [p] of God, and of the Father, and of Christ;

3 In [9] whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

4 And this I say, lest any man should beguile [q] you with enticing words.

5 For though I be absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the Spirit, joying and beholding your order, and the stedfastness of your faith in Christ.

6 As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk [t] ye in him;

7 Rooted [u] and built up in him,[v] and stablished in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving.

8 Beware [a] lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the [12] rudiments of the world, and not after Christ:

9 For in him [c] dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily.

10 And ye are complete [d] in him, which is the head [e] of all principality and power;

11 In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision [f] made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ;

12 Buried [h] with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation [i] of God, who hath raised him from the dead.

13 And [j] you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses;

14 Blotting [l] out the hand-writing of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross;

15 And having [n] spoiled principalities and powers, he made a shew of them openly, triumphing over them in [1] it

16 Let no man therefore judge [c] you in [2] meat, or in drink, or in [3] respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days;

17 Which are a shadow [d] of things to come; but the body is of Christ.

18 Let [g] no man [5] beguile you of your reward,[6] in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding [j] into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind;

19 And not holding the Head,[l] from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God.

20 Wherefore, if ye be dead with Christ from the [8] rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances,

21 (Touch not; taste not; handle not,

22 Which all are to perish with the using;) after the commandments and doctrines of men?

23 Which things have indeed a shew of wisdom in will-worship, and humility, and [10] neglecting of the body; not in any honour to the satisfying of the flesh.

CHAP. III.

IF [s] ye then be risen [r] with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ [s] sitteth on the right hand of God.

2 Set your [11] affection on things above, not [w] on things on the earth.

3 For [x] ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God.

4 When [y] Christ, who is [z] our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory.

5 Mortify [b] therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry:

6 For which things' sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience:

7 In [g] the which ye also walked sometime, when ye lived in them.

8 But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth.

9 Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds;

10 And have put on the new man, which is renewed [k] in knowledge after the image of him that created him:

11 Where [m] there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all, and in all.

12 Put on therefore, as the elect of God holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering;

13 Forbearing [b] one another, and forgiving [c] one another, if any man have a quarrel [1] against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye.

14 And above all these things put on charity, [f] which is [g] the bond of perfectness.

15 And let the peace [h] of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful.

16 Let the word [i] of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms [k] and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord.

17 And whatsoever [l] ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.

18 Wives, [o] submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord.

19 Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them.

20 Children, [p] obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing unto the Lord.

21 Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.

22 Servants, [r] obey in all things your masters according to the flesh: not with eyeservice, as men-pleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God:

23 And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord and not unto men;

24 Knowing, that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ.

25 But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

CHAP. IV.

MASTERS, [w] give unto your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that ye also have a Master in heaven.

2 Continue [z] in prayer, and watch [a] in the same with thanksgiving;

3 Withal praying also for us, that God would open [d] unto us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in bonds:

4 That I may make it manifest, as I ought to speak.

5 Walk in wisdom [a] toward them that are without, redeeming the time.

6 Let your speech be alway with grace, seasoned [d] with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man.

7 All [e] my state shall Tychicus declare unto you, who is a beloved brother, and a faithful minister and fellow-servant in the Lord:

8 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that he might know your estate, and comfort your hearts;

9 With Onesimus, [j] a faithful and beloved brother, who is one of you. They shall make known unto you all things which are done here.

10 Aristarchus [m] my fellow-prisoner saluteth you, and Marcus, [n] sister's son to Barnabas (touching whom ye received commandments; if he come unto you, receive him;)

11 And Jesus, which is called Justus, who are of the circumcision. These only are my fellow-workers unto the kingdom of God, which have been a comfort unto me.

12 Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ, saluteth you, always labouring [2] fervently [q] for you in prayers, that ye may stand [s] perfect and [3] complete in all the will of God.

13 For I bear him record, that he hath a great zeal for you, and them that are in Laodicea and them in Hierapolis.

14 Luke, [t] the beloved physician, and Demas, greet you.

15 Salute the brethren which are in Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the [u] church which is in his house.

16 And when [v] this epistle is read among you, cause that it be read also in the church of the Laodiceans; and that ye likewise read the epistle from Laodicea.

17 And say to Archippus, [x] Take [y] heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfil it.

18 The salutation [b] by the hand of me Paul. Remember [c] my bonds. Grace be with you. Amen.

Written from Rome to the Colossians by Tychicus and Onesimus.

First Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, and Silvanus, [a] and Timotheus, unto the church of the [b] Thessalonians which is in God the Father and in the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace [f] be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers;

3 Remembering without ceasing your work [c] of faith, and labour [d] of love, and patience [e] of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father;

5 For our gospel came [a] not unto you in word only, but also in power, [c] and in the [d] Holy Ghost, and in much assurance; [e] as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake.

6 And ye became [f] followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy [h] of the Holy Ghost;

7 So that ye were ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and Achaia.

8 For from you sounded [j] out the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place [k] your faith to God-ward is spread abroad; so that we need not to speak any thing.

9 For they themselves shew of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God [m] from idols, to serve the living and true God;

10 And to wait [p] for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath [r] to come.

CHAP. II.

FOR yourselves, brethren, know our entrance in unto you, that it was not in vain:

2 But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated, as ye know, at Philippi, [s] we were [t] bold in our God to speak unto you the gospel of God with much contention.[w]

3 For our exhortation was not of deceit,[y] nor of uncleanness, nor in guile:

4 But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust [z] with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts.

5 For neither [b] at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness:

6 Nor of men [c] sought we glory, neither of you, nor yet of others, when we might have [3] been burdensome, [e] as the apostles of Christ.

7 But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children:

8 So, being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have [g] imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us.

9 For ye remember, brethren, our labour [k] and travail: for labouring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God.

10 Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and justly and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe:

11 As ye know how we exhorted, and comforted, and charged every one of you, as a father doth his children,

12 That ye would walk [o] worthy of God, who [b] hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.

13 For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not [g] as the word of men, but, as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh [i] also in you that believe.

14 For ye, brethren, became followers of the churches of God which in Judea are in Christ Jesus: for ye also have suffered like things of your own countrymen, even as they have of the Jews;

15 Who both killed the Lord Jesus and their [l] own prophets, and have [1] persecuted us; and they please not God, and are contrary to all men;

16 Forbidding [n] us to speak to the Gentiles that they might be saved, to fill [o] up their sins alway; for the wrath is come upon them to the uttermost.[q]

17 But we, brethren, being taken from you for a short time in presence, not in heart, endeavoured the more abundantly to see your face with great desire.

18 Wherefore we would have come unto you, even I Paul, once and again; but Satan hindered us.

19 For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of [2] rejoicing? Are not even ye in [u] the presence [v] of our Lord Jesus Christ at his [x] coming?

20 For ye are our glory and joy.

CHAP. III.

WHEREFORE when we could no longer forbear, we thought it good to be left at Athens alone;

2 And sent [a] Timotheus, our brother, and minister of God, and our fellow-labourer in the gospel of Christ, to establish you, and to comfort you concerning your faith;

3 That [d] no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we [f] are appointed thereunto.

4 For verily, when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulation; even as it came to pass, and ye know.

5 For this cause, when [h] I could no longer forbear, I sent to know your faith, lest [i] by some means the tempter have tempted you, and our labour [j] be in vain.

6 But now when Timotheus came from you unto us, and brought us good tidings of your faith and charity, and that ye have good remembrance of us always, desiring [l] greatly to see us, as we also to see you;

7 Therefore, brethren, we were comforted [m] over you, in all our affliction and distress, by your faith:

8 For now we live, if ye stand fast [n] in the Lord

9 For what thanks can we render to God again for you, for all the joy wherewith we joy for your sakes before our God;

10 Night and day praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might perfect [b] that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himself and our Father, and our Lord Jesus Christ, [1] direct our way unto you.

12 And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love [d] one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you:

13 To the end he may stablish your hearts [f] unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming [h] of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints:

CHAP. IV.

FURTHERMORE then we [3] beseech you, brethren, and [4] exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk [j] and to please God, so ye would abound [k] more and more.

2 For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus.

3 For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that [m] ye should abstain from fornication:

4 That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour;

5 Not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles [o] which know not God:

6 That no man go beyond and [5] defraud his brother in [6] any matter; because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified.

7 For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but [r] unto holiness.

8 He therefore that [7] despiseth, despiseth not man, but God, who hath also given unto us his holy Spirit.

9 But as touching brotherly love, ye need not that I write unto you; for ye yourselves are taught [u] of God to love one another.

10 And indeed ye do it toward all the brethren which are in all Macedonia: but we beseech you, brethren, that ye increase more and more:

11 And that ye study to be quiet, and to [w] do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you;

12 That ye may walk honestly [y] toward them that are without, and that ye may have lack of [9] nothing.

13 But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope.

14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so [e] them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.

15 For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive, and remain unto the coming of the Lord, shall not prevent them which are asleep.

16 For [a] the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: And the dead in Christ shall rise first: [c]

17 Then we which are alive and remain, shall be caught up together with them in [e] the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be [f] with the Lord.

18 Wherefore [2] comfort one another with these words.

CHAP. V.

BUT of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you.

2 For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh [i] as a thief in the night.

3 For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail [l] upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape.

4 But ye, [n] brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief.

5 Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness.

6 Therefore [p] let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. [q]

7 For they that sleep, sleep in the night; and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night.

8 But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breast-plate [s] of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation.

9 For God hath not appointed [t] us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ,

10 Who died for us, that, whether [v] we wake or sleep, we should live together with him.

11 Wherefore [8] comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do.

12 And we beseech you, brethren, to know them [z] which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you;

13 And to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. And be [z] at peace among yourselves.

14 Now we [10] exhort you, brethren, warn them that are [11] unruly, [a] comfort the feeble-minded, support the weak, [b] be patient [c] toward all men.

15 See that none render [d] evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow [f] that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men.

16 Rejoice [a] evermore.
17 Pray [c] without ceasing.
18 In [d] every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.
19 Quench [f] not the Spirit.

21 Prove [h] all things; hold [i] fast that which is good.
22 Abstain [j] from all appearance of evil.
23 And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly: and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless [b] unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.
24 Faithful is he [e] that calleth you, who also will do it.
25 Brethren, pray for us.
26 Greet all the brethren with an holy kiss.
27 I [1] charge you by the Lord, that this epistle be read unto all the holy brethren.
28 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

The Second Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, unto [a] the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.
2 Grace [b] unto you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.
3 We are bound to thank God always for you, brethren, as it is meet, because that your faith groweth exceedingly, and the charity of every one of you all toward each other aboundeth:
4 So that we ourselves glory [d] in you in the churches of God, for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye endure; [h]
5 Which is [j] a manifest token of the righteous judgment of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdom of God, for which ye also suffer: [k]
6 Seeing [1] it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you;
7 And to you who are troubled, [m] rest with us; when the Lord Jesus [n] shall be revealed from heaven with [2] his mighty angels,
8 In [p] flaming fire, [3] taking [q] vengeance on them that know [r] not God, and [s] that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ:
9 Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction [w] from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory [x] of his power;
10 When he shall come to be [y] glorified in his saints, and to be admired [z] in all them that believe (because our testimony among you was believed) in that day.
11 Wherefore also we pray always for you, that our God would [4] count you worthy [c] of this calling, and fulfil all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power;
12 That [f] the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

CHAP. II.

NOW we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our gathering together unto him,
2 That ye be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter, as from us, as [c] that the day of Christ is at hand.
3 Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except [c] there come a falling away first, and that man of sin [f] be revealed, the [g] son of perdition:
4 Who opposeth and exalteth [1] himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he, as God, sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God.
5 Remember ye not, that, when I was yet with you, I told you these things?
6 And now ye know what [1] withholdeth, that he might be revealed in his time.
7 For the mystery of iniquity doth already [o] work: only he who now letteth, will let, until he be taken out of the way.
8 And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall [t] consume with the spirit [u] of his mouth, and shall destroy [v] with the brightness of his coming.
9 Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan, with all power and signs and lying wonders,
10 And with all deceivableness [a] of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love [b] of the truth, that they might be saved.
11 And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, [d] that they should believe a lie:
12 That [e] they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness

13 But we [a] are bound to give thanks alway to God for you, brethren beloved of the Lord, because God hath from the beginning chosen [b] you to salvation through sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth;

14 Whereunto [c] he called you by our gospel, to the obtaining of the glory [d] of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and hold the traditions which ye have been taught, whether by word or our epistle.

16 Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God even our Father, which [e] hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope [i] through grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work.

CHAP. III.

FINALLY, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may [1] have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you:

2 And that we may be delivered from unreasonable [3] and wicked men: for all men have not faith.

3 But the Lord [m] is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep [o] you from evil.

4 And we have confidence [p] in the Lord touching you, that ye both do and will do the things which we command you.

5 And the Lord direct [r] your hearts into the love of God, and into the [5] patient waiting for Christ.

6 Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw [v] yourselves from every brother [w] that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which ye received of us.

7 For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you;

8 Neither did we eat any man's bread for nought; but wrought [d] with labour and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you:

9 Not because we have not power, [f] but to make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us.

10 For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that [h] if any would not work, neither should he eat.

11 For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies. [j]

12 Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, [k] and eat their own bread.

13 But ye, brethren, [2] be not [l] weary in well doing.

14 And if any man obey not our word by [4] this epistle, note that man, and have [m] no company with him, that he may be ashamed.

15 Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother. [q]

16 Now the Lord [r] of peace himself give you peace always by all means. The Lord be with you all.

17 The salutation [t] of Paul with mine own hand, which is the token in every epistle: so I write.

18 The [u] grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

The First Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to TIMOTHY.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, an apostle of Jesus Christ, [b] by the commandment of God our Saviour, and Lord Jesus Christ, which is our hope. [d]

2 Unto Timothy, [e] my own son [f] in the faith: Grace, [h] mercy, and peace, from God our Father and Jesus Christ our Lord.

3 As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, when I went [j] into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine,

4 Neither give heed [k] to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith; so do.

5 Now the end [l] of the commandment is charity, out of a pure [n] heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned:

6 From which some [1] having swerved, [a] have turned aside unto vain jangling;

7 Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding [c] neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm.

8 But we know that the law is good, [s] if a man use it lawfully;

9 Knowing this, that [i] the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers,

10 For whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound [m] doctrine;

11 According to the glorious gospel of the blessed [o] God, which [p] was committed to my trust.

12 And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled [a] me, for that he counted me faithful, [b] putting [c] me into the ministry;

13 Who was before [e] a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious: but I obtained mercy, because I did it ignorantly [f] in unbelief.

14 And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.

15 This is a faithful [g] saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came [h] into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief.

16 Howbeit for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might shew forth all long-suffering, for a pattern [j] to them which should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting.

17 Now unto the King [l] eternal, immortal, [m] invisible, [n] the only wise [o] God, be honour [p] and glory for ever and ever. Amen.

18 This charge I commit unto thee, son Timothy, according [r] to the prophecies which went before on thee, that thou by them mightest war a good warfare;

19 Holding [t] faith, and a good conscience, which some having put away, concerning faith have made shipwreck:

20 Of whom is Hymeneus and Alexander; whom I have delivered [u] unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme.

CHAP. II.

I EXHORT [4] therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men;

2 For kings, [b] and for all that are in authority: [5] that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty.

3 For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour;

4 Who [c] will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth.

5 For there is one [g] God, and one mediator [i] between God and men, the man Christ Jesus;

6 Who gave himself a ransom [j] for all, to [7] be testified in due time.

7 Whereunto I am ordained a preacher, and an apostle, (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not;) a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and verity.

8 I will therefore that men pray [m] everywhere, lifting up holy [n] hands, without wrath and doubting.

9 In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with [9] broidered hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array;

10 But (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works.

11 Let the woman [d] learn in silence with all subjection.

12 But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence.

13 For Adam was first formed, then Eve.

14 And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived, was in the transgression.

15 Notwithstanding she shall be saved in childbearing, if they continue in faith and charity and holiness with sobriety.

CHAP. III.

THIS is a true saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, [i] he desireth a good work.

2 A bishop [k] then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of [1] good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach:

3 Not [2] given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, [q] not a brawler, not covetous;

4 One that ruleth well [s] his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity:

5 (For if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?)

6 Not [3] a novice, lest being lifted up with pride [v] he fall into the condemnation of the devil. [w]

7 Moreover he must have a good report of them [z] which are without; lest he fall into reproach, and the snare [y] of the devil

8 Likewise must the deacons [z] be grave, not double-tongued, not [a] given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre;

9 Holding [c] the mystery [d] of the faith in a pure conscience.

10 And let these also first be proved then let them use the office of a deacon being found blameless.

11 Even so must their wives [f] be grave not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things

12 Let the deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling [k] their children and their own houses well.

13 For they that have [6] used the office of a deacon well, [k] purchase to themselves a good degree, and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

14 These things write I unto thee, hoping to come unto thee shortly:

15 But if I tarry long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house [o] of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and [8] ground of the truth,

16 And, without controversy, great is the mystery [p] of godliness: God was manifest [11] in the flesh, [q] justified in the Spirit, [r] seen of angels, [s] preached unto the Gentiles,[a] believed on [b] in the world, received up [c] into glory.

CHAP. IV.

NOW the Spirit speaketh expressly, that [d] in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits,[e] and doctrines of devils;

2 Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron;

3 Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats, which God hath created to be received [g] with thanksgiving of them which believe and know the truth.

4 For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving:

5 For it is sanctified by the word of God and prayer.

6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up [j] in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained.

7 But refuse profane and old wives' fables,[k] and exercise thyself rather unto godliness.

8 For bodily exercise profiteth [4] little: but godliness [l] is profitable unto all things, having promise [m] of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.

9 This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation.

10 For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe.

11 These things command and teach.

12 Let [o] no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.

13 Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.

14 Neglect [p] not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy,[r] with the laying on [s] of the hands of the presbytery.

15 Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear [6] to all.

16 Take heed [v] unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save [w] thyself, and them that hear thee.

CHAP. V.

REBUKE not an elder, but intreat him as a father; and the younger men as brethren;

2 The elder women as mothers; the younger as sisters, with all purity.

3 Honour widows that are widows indeed.[d]

4 But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to shew [8] piety at home, and to requite their parents: for that is good and acceptable before God.

5 Now she that is a widow indeed, and desolate, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 But she that liveth [1] in pleasure is dead [f] while she liveth.

7 And these things give in charge, that they may be blameless.

8 But if any provide not for his own, and specially [h] for those of his own house,[2] he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.

9 Let not a widow be [3] taken into the number under threescore years old, having been the wife of one man,

10 Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged [i] strangers, if she have washed the saints' feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work.

11 But the younger widows refuse: for when they have begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry;

12 Having damnation, because they have cast off their first faith.

13 And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house: and [n] not only idle, but tattlers also, and busy-bodies, speaking things which they ought not.

14 I will therefore that the younger women marry, bear children, guide the house, give none occasion to the adversary [5] to speak reproachfully.

15 For some are already turned aside after Satan.

16 If any man or woman that believeth have widows, let them relieve them, and let not the church be charged; that it may relieve them that are widows indeed.

17 Let [q] the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine.

18 For the scripture saith,[t] Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn: And,[u] The labourer is worthy of his reward.

19 Against an elder receive not an accusation, but [7] before two [x] or three witnesses.

20 Them that sin rebuke [y] before all, that [z] others also may fear.

21 I charge [a] thee before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect [b] angels, that thou observe these things without preferring [8] one [c] before another, doing nothing by partiality.

22 Lay hands [e] suddenly on no man, neither be partaker [f] of other men's sins: keep thyself pure.

23 Drink no longer water, but use a little

24 Some men's sins are open [b] beforehand, going before to judgment: and some men they follow after.

25 Likewise also the good works of some are manifest beforehand; and they that are otherwise cannot be hid.

CHAP. VI.

LET as many servants [f] as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the name of God and his doctrine be not blasphemed.

2 And they that have believing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren; but rather do them service, because they are [2] faithful and beloved, partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort.

3 If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome [m] words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according [o] to godliness,

4 He is proud, [3] knowing [r] nothing, but [4] doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings,

5 Perverse [6] disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such [u] withdraw thyself.

6 But godliness [v] with contentment is great gain.

7 For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain [w] we can carry nothing out.

8 And having food and raiment, let us be therewith content.[z]

9 But they that will [a] be rich, fall into temptation, and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition.

10 For [c] the love of money is the root of all evil; which while some coveted after, they have [8] erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows.

11 But thou, O man [e] of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness.

12 Fight [d] the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed [e] a good profession before many witnesses.

13 I give thee charge [g] in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ Jesus, who [h] before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good [1] confession;

14 That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukable, [i] until the appearing [j] of our Lord Jesus Christ:

15 Which in his times he shall shew, who is the blessed [k] and only Potentate, the [l] King of kings, and Lord of lords;

16 Who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which [n] no man can approach unto; whom [p] no man hath seen nor can see: to whom [q] be honour and power everlasting. Amen.

17 Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust [s] in [5] uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; [t]

18 That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing [7] to communicate;

19 Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay [x] hold on eternal life.

20 O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding [y] profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called:

21 Which some professing have [b] erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee. Amen.

The first to Timothy was written from Laodicea, which is the chiefest city of Phrygia Pacatiana.

The Second Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to TIMOTHY.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, according to the [b] promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,

2 To Timothy, my dearly beloved son: [c] Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 I thank God, whom I serve [e] from my forefathers with pure conscience, [f] that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day;

4 Greatly desiring [i] to see thee, being mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy;

5 When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith [k] that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother [a] Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also.

6 Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, [d] which is in thee by the putting on of my hands.

7 For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; [g] but of power, [h] and of love, and of a sound mind.

8 Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker [j] of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God;

9 Who hath saved [l] us, and called [m] us with an holy calling, not [a] according to our works, but according to his own purpose [c] and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus, before [d] the world began;

10 But is now made manifest [f] by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished [g] death, and hath brought life [h] and immortality to light through the gospel:

11 Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless [m] I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have [1] believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have [o] committed unto him against that day.

13 Hold fast [q] the form [r] of [s] sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.

14 That [u] good thing which was committed unto thee, keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us.

15 This thou knowest, that all [v] they which are in Asia be turned [w] away from me; of whom are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord give mercy unto the house of Onesiphorus; [z] for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chain.[a]

17 But when he was in Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord grant unto him that he may find mercy of the Lord in [e] that day: and in how many things he [f] ministered unto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

CHAP. II.

THOU therefore, my son, be [i] strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.

2 And the things that thou hast heard of me [4] among many witnesses, the same commit [m] thou to faithful men, who shall be able [n] to teach others also.

3 Thou therefore endure [p] hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth [q] entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier.

5 And if a man also strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully.

6 The husbandman [6] that laboureth must be first partaker of the fruits.

7 Consider [v] what I say; and the [w] Lord give thee understanding in all things.

8 Remember that Jesus Christ, [y] of the seed of David, was raised from the dead according to my gospel:

9 Wherein I suffer trouble, as an evildoer, even unto bonds; [a] but the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I endure all things for the [b] elect's sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.

11 It is a faithful saying: For if [e] we be dead with him, we shall also live with him:

12 If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: If we deny [i] him, he also will deny us:

13 If [j] we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he [k] cannot deny himself.

14 Of these things put [l] them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive [n] not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers.

15 Study [p] to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly [t] dividing the word of truth.

16 But shun profane and vain babblings; for they will increase unto more ungodliness:

17 And their word will eat as doth a canker: [2] of whom is Hymeneus and Philetus;

18 Who concerning the truth have erred, [x] saying, [y] That the resurrection is past already; and overthrow the faith of some.

19 Nevertheless the foundation [b] of God standeth [3] sure, having this seal, The Lord [c] knoweth them that are his. And, Let [d] every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity.

20 But in a great house there are not only vessels [g] of gold and of silver, but also of wood and of earth; and some to honour, and some to dishonour

21 If [k] a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared [j] unto every good work.

22 Flee [k] also youthful lusts: but [l] follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call [o] on the Lord out of a pure heart.

23 But foolish and unlearned questions [r] avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes.

24 And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, [5] patient,

25 In meekness [s] instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure [t] will give them repentance to the acknowledging [u] of the truth;

26 And that they may [7] recover themselves out of the snare [z] of the devil, who are taken [8] captive by him at his will

CHAP. III.

THIS know also, that [z] in the last days perilous times shall come.

2 For [b] men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blast phemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3 Without natural affection, truce-breakers, [1] false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good,

4 Traitors, [c] heady, high-minded, [d] lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God;

5 Having [f] a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

6 For of this sort are they which [k] creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts,

7 Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

8 Now as Jannes and Jambres [n] withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men [o] of corrupt minds, [3] reprobate concerning the faith.

9 But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as their's also was.

10 But thou hast [4] fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, longsuffering, charity, patience,

11 Persecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at Antioch, [r] at Iconium, [s] at Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all [t] the Lord delivered me.

12 Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.

13 But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being [v] deceived.

14 But continue [w] thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them;

15 And that from a child thou hast known the holy Scriptures, which [a] are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.

16 All [b] Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and [d] is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness;

17 That the man of God may be perfect, [f] throughly [6] furnished unto all good works.

CHAP. IV.

I CHARGE [g] thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge [h] the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom;

2 Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, [i] rebuke, exhort, with all long-suffering and doctrine.

3 For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears;

4 And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables. [a]

5 But watch thou in all things, [b] endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make [2] full proof [c] of thy ministry.

6 For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure [e] is at hand.

7 I have fought [h] a good fight, I have finished [i] my course, I have kept [j] the faith:

8 Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown [l] of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them [m] also that love his appearing.

9 Do thy diligence to come shortly unto me:

10 For Demas hath forsaken me, having loved [p] this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica; Crescens to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.

11 Only Luke is with me. Take Mark, and bring him with thee; for he is profitable to me for the ministry.

12 And Tychicus [q] have I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but especially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith did me much evil: the Lord [u] reward him according to his works:

15 Of whom be thou ware also; for he hath greatly withstood our [5] words.

16 At my first answer no man stood with me, but all [x] men forsook me: I pray God that it may not be laid [y] to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord [z] stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear: and I was delivered out of the mouth [c] of the lion.

18 And the Lord [e] shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

19 Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the household of Onesiphorus

20 Erastus abode at Corinth: but Trophimus have I left at Miletum sick.

21 Do thy diligence to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.

22 The Lord Jesus Christ be with thy spirit. Grace be with you. Amen.

The Epistle of PAUL to TITUS.

CHAP. I.

PAUL, a servant of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's elect, and the acknowledging [a] of the truth which [b] is after godliness;

2 [3] In hope of eternal life, which God, that [d] cannot lie, promised before [e] the world began;

3 But [f] hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, [g] which is committed unto me, according to the commandment of God our Saviour;

4 To Titus, mine own son [h] after the common faith: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ our Saviour.

5 For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest set in order [k] the things that are [6] wanting, and ordain [l] elders in every city as I had appointed thee:

6 If any be blameless, the husband of one wife, having faithful children, not accused of riot, or unruly.

7 For a bishop [n] must be blameless, as the steward of God; not self-willed, not soon angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre;

8 But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good [9] men, sober, just, holy, temperate;

9 Holding [t] fast the faithful word, [10] as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers.

10 For there are many unruly and vain talkers [w] and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision:

11 Whose mouths must be stopped; who subvert [b] whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake.

12 One [d] of themselves, even a prophet of their own, said, The Cretians are alway liars, evil beasts, slow bellies.

13 This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke [g] them sharply; that they may be sound in the faith, 14 Not giving heed to Jewish fables, [h] and commandments of men that turn from the truth.

15 Unto [j] the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled.

16 They profess [l] that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work [12] reprobate.

CHAP. II.

BUT speak thou the things which become sound doctrine:

2 That the aged [n] men be [13] sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience.

3 The aged women likewise, that they be in behaviour as becometh [1] holiness, not [2] false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things;

4 That they may teach the [c] young women to be [4] sober, to love their husbands, to love their children,

5 To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed.

6 Young men likewise exhort to be sober [5] minded:

7 In all things shewing thyself [d] a pattern of good works; in doctrine shewing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity,

8 Sound [j] speech that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you.

9 Exhort servants [m] to be obedient unto their own masters, and to please them well in all things; not [7] answering again;

10 Not purloining, but shewing all good fidelity; that [o] they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things.

11 For the grace [p] of God that bringeth salvation [8] hath appeared to all men,

12 Teaching us, that, denying [q] ungodliness and worldly lusts, [r] we [s] should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world;

13 Looking [u] for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing [v] of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ;

14 Who gave [x] himself for us, that he might redeem us from all [y] iniquity, and purify [z] unto himself a peculiar [a] people, zealous [c] of good works.

15 These things speak, and exhort; and rebuke with all authority. Let [e] no man despise thee.

CHAP. III.

PUT them in mind to be subject [f] to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work

2 To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, shewing all [i] meekness unto all men.

3 For we [k] ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another.

4 But after that the kindness and [11] love of God our Saviour toward man appeared,

5 Not [m] by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost,

6 Which he shed on us [14] abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour;

7 That, being justified [o] by his grace

we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.

8 This is a faithful saying; and these things I will that thou affirm constantly; that they which have believed in God might be careful [a] to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable unto men.

9 But [b] avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain.

10 A man that is an heretic, after the first and second admonition [d] reject;

11 Knowing that he that is such, is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself.

The Epistle of PAUL to PHILEMON.

PAUL, a prisoner [a] of Jesus Christ, and Timothy our brother, unto Philemon our dearly beloved, and fellow-labourer, [b]

2 And to our beloved Apphia, and Archippus [c] our fellow-soldier, and to the church [d] in thy house:

3 Grace [e] to you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I thank [h] my God, making mention of thee always in my prayers,

5 Hearing of thy love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all saints;

6 That [k] the communication of thy faith may become effectual [m] by the acknowledging of every [n] good thing which is in you in Christ Jesus.

7 For we have great joy and consolation in thy love, because the bowels of the saints are refreshed [o] by thee, brother.

8 Wherefore, though [p] I might be much bold in Christ to enjoin thee that which is convenient,

9 Yet for love's sake I rather beseech thee, being such an one as Paul the aged, and now also a prisoner of Jesus Christ;

10 I beseech thee for my son Onesimus, [s] whom I have begotten [v] in my bonds:

11 Which [w] in time past was to thee unprofitable, but now profitable to thee and to me:

12 Whom I have sent again: thou therefore receive him, that is, mine own bowels;

13 Whom I would have retained with me, that [c] in thy stead he might have ministered unto me in the bonds of the gospel:

14 But without thy mind would I do nothing; that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly. [d]

15 For [f] perhaps he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receive him for ever;

16 Not now as a servant, but above a servant, a brother [i] beloved, specially to me, but how much more unto thee, both in the flesh, [j] and in the Lord?

17 If thou count me therefore a partner, [l] receive him as myself.

18 If he hath wronged thee, or oweth thee ought, put that on mine account;

19 I Paul have written it with mine own hand, I will repay it: albeit I do not say to thee how thou owest unto me even thine own self besides.

20 Yea, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord: refresh [q] my bowels in the Lord.

21 Having confidence [r] in thy obedience I wrote unto thee, knowing that thou wilt also do more than I say.

22 But withal prepare me also a lodging: for I [t] trust that through [u] your prayers I shall be given unto you.

23 There salute thee Epaphras, [x] my fellow-prisoner in Christ Jesus.

24 Marcus, [y] Aristarchus, [z] Demas, [a] Lucas, my fellow-labourers.

25 The [b] grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the HEBREWS.

CHAP. I.

GOD, who [b] at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets,

2 Hath in these last days spoken [d] unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir [f] of all things, by whom [g] also he made the worlds;

3 Who [h] being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when [i] he had by himself purged our sins, sat down [j] on the right hand of the Majesty on high;

4 Being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they.

5 For unto which of the angels said he at any time, [l] Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, [m] I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son?

6 [3] And again, when he bringeth in the first-begotten into the world, he saith, And [o] let all the angels of God worship him.

7 And [4] of the angels he saith, [p] Who maketh his angels spirits, and his ministers a flame of fire.

8 But unto the Son he saith, [s] Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness [6] is the sceptre of thy kingdom:

9 Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.

10 And, [y] Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands:

11 They shall perish, but thou remainest: and they all shall wax old as doth a garment;

12 And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.

13 But to which of the angels said he at any time, [f] Sit on my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool?

14 Are they not all ministering [h] spirits, sent forth [i] to minister for them who shall be heirs [j] of salvation?

CHAP. II.

THEREFORE we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should [8] let them slip.

2 For if the word spoken by angels [l] was stedfast, and [m] every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward.

3 How [8] shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which [e] at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him;

4 God [e] also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and [1] gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?

5 For unto the angels hath he not put in subjection the world to come whereof we speak.

6 But one in a certain place testified, saying, [k] What is man, that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou visitest him?

7 Thou madest him [2] a little lower than the angels; thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the works of thy hands:

8 Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. For in that he put all in subjection under him, he left nothing that is not put under him. But [n] now we see not yet all things put under him.

9 But we see Jesus, who [q] was made a little lower than the angels, [5] for the suffering of death, crowned [r] with glory and honour; that he [t] by the grace of God should taste death for every man.

10 For it became [u] him, for [v] whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain [w] of their salvation [x] perfect through sufferings.

11 For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all [z] of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren;

12 Saying, [a] I will declare thy name unto my brethren; in the midst of the church will I sing praise unto thee.

13 And again, [b] I will put my trust in him. And again, [c] Behold I and the children which [d] God hath given me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he [e] also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death [g] he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil;

15 And deliver them who through [k] fear of death were all their life-time subject to bondage.

16 For verily [7] he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham.

17 Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful [n] and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God to make reconciliation for the sins of the people:

18 For in that he himself hath suffered, being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

CHAP. III.

WHEREFORE, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest [b] of our profession, Christ Jesus;

2 Who was faithful to him that [3] appointed him, as also Moses [c] was faithful in all his house.

3 For this man was counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he who hath builded [c] the house hath more honour than the house.

4 For every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God.

5 And Moses [g] verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, [h] for a testimony of [i] those things which were to be spoken after;

6 But Christ as a Son [j] over his own house; whose house [l] are we, if [m] we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end.

7 Wherefore (as the Holy Ghost saith, To-day [n] if ye will hear his voice,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the provocation, in the day of temptation in the wilderness;

9 When your fathers tempted me, proved me, and saw my works forty years.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that generation, and said, They do alway err in their heart; and they have not known my ways.

11 So I sware in my wrath, [8] They shall not enter into my rest.)

12 Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil [r] heart of unbelief, in departing [t] from the living God.

13 But exhort [u] one another daily, while it is called To-day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin.

14 For we are made partakers of Christ, if [w] we hold the beginning of our confidence stedfast unto the end;

15 While it is said, [z] To-day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts, as in the provocation.

16 For [b] some, when they had heard, did provoke: howbeit not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whom was he grieved forty years? was it not with them that had sinned, whose carcasses [c] fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whom sware [f] he that they should not enter into his rest, but to them that believed not?

19 So [h] we see that they could not enter in because of unbelief.

CHAP. IV

LET us [j] therefore fear, lest a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it.

2 For unto us was the gospel preached, as well as unto them: but the word preached [1] did not profit them, [2] not being mixed with faith in them that heard it.

3 For we which have believed do enter into rest; as he said, [a] As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, [d] And God did rest the seventh day from all his works

5 And in this place again, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter therein, and they [f] to whom [4] it was first preached entered not in because of unbelief:

7 Again, he limiteth a certain day, saying in David, To-day, after so long a time; (as it is said) [k] To-day, if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

8 For if [5] Jesus had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth therefore a [6] rest to the people of God.

10 For he that is entered into his rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, as God did from his.

11 Let [o] us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of [7] unbelief.

12 For the word [p] of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, [q] piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner [r] of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked [v] and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do.

14 Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed [x] into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold [y] fast our profession.

15 For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched [a] with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without [c] sin.

16 Let us therefore come boldly [d] unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

CHAP. V.

FOR every high priest taken from among men is ordained [e] for men in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins:

2 Who can [9] have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that are out of the way; for that he [i] himself also is compassed with infirmity.

3 And by reason hereof he ought, as for the people, so [a] also for himself, to offer for sins.

4 And [b] no man taketh this honour unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.[c]

5 So also Christ [e] glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, [f] Thou art my Son, to-day have I begotten thee.

6 As he saith also in another place, Thou [g] art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.

7 Who in the days of his flesh, when he had offered up prayers [j] and supplications, with strong crying and tears, unto him that was able [k] to save him from death, and was heard [1] in that he feared;

8 Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience [l] by the things which he suffered:

9 And [n] being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him;

10 Called of God an high priest [o] after the order of Melchisedec.

11 Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing ye are dull of hearing.

12 For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk,[t] and not of strong meat.

13 For every one that useth milk [3] is unskilful in the word of righteousness: for he is a babe.

14 But strong meat belongeth to them that are [4] of full age, even those who by reason of [5] use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.

CHAP. VI.

THEREFORE, [y] leaving [6] the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from [a] dead works, and of faith [b] toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptisms, [c] and of laying on [d] of hands, and of [e] resurrection of the dead, and of eternal judgment.

3 And this will we do, if [f] God permit.

4 For it is impossible [g] for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost,

5 And have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come,

6 If [h] they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame.

7 For the earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them [8] by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing [j] from God:

8 But that which beareth thorns [k] and briers is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing; whose end is to be burned.

9 But, beloved, we are persuaded better things of you, and things that accompany salvation, though we thus speak.

10 For [d] God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labour of love, which ye have shewed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister.

11 And we desire that every one of you do shew the same diligence to the [h] full assurance of hope unto the end:

12 That ye be not slothful, [i] but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises.

13 For when God made promise to Abraham, because he could swear by no greater, he sware by himself,

14 Saying, [m] Surely blessing I will bless thee, and multiplying I will multiply thee

15 And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.

16 For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath [p] for confirmation is to them an end of all strife.

17 Wherein God, willing more abundantly to shew unto the heirs [q] of promise the immutability [r] of his counsel, confirmed [2] it by an oath;

18 That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to [s] lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold [x] upon the hope set before us:

19 Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within [v] the veil;

20 Whither [w] the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.[z]

CHAP. VII.

FOR this Melchisedec, [z] king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him;

2 To whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all; first being by interpretation King of righteousness, and after that also King of Salem, which is, King of peace:

3 Without father, without mother, without [7] descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God, abideth a priest continually.

4 Now consider how great this man was unto whom even the patriarch Abraham gave the tenth of the spoils.

5 And verily they that are of the sons of Levi, who [i] receive the office of the priesthood, have a commandment to take tithes of the people according to the law, that is, of their brethren, though they come out of the loins of Abraham:

6 But he, whose [9] descent is not counted from them, received [l] tithes of Abraham and blessed him that had [a] the promises.

7 And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the better.
8 And here men that die receive tithes; but there he receiveth them, of whom [b] it is witnessed that he liveth.
9 And as I may so say, Levi also, who receiveth tithes, payed tithes in Abraham.
10 For he was yet in the loins of his father, when Melchisedec met him.
11 If [c] therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, (for under it the people received the law,) what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?
12 For the priesthood being changed, there is made of necessity a change also of the law.
13 For he of whom these things are spoken pertaineth to another tribe, of which no man gave attendance at the altar.
14 For it is evident [i] that our Lord sprang out of Juda; of which tribe Moses spake nothing concerning priesthood.
15 And it is yet far more evident: for that after the similitude of Melchisedec there ariseth another priest,
16 Who is made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life.
17 For he testifieth, [l] Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.
18 For there is verily a disannulling of the commandment going before, for the weakness [n] and unprofitableness thereof.
19 For the law [o] made nothing perfect, but [5] the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which [p] we draw nigh unto God.
20 And inasmuch as not without an oath he was made priest:
21 (For those priests were made without [6] an oath; but this with an oath by him that said unto him, [q] The Lord sware and will not repent, Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec:)
22 By so much was Jesus made a surety of a better [4] testament.
23 And they truly were many priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death:
24 But this man, because he continueth ever hath an [9] unchangeable [u] priesthood.
25 Wherefore he is able [v] also to save them [10] to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession [x] for them.
26 For such an high priest became us, who is holy, [y] harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens;
27 Who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first [a] for his own sins, and then for the people's: for this he did once, when he offered up himself.
28 For the law maketh men high priests which have infirmity; but the word of the oath, which was since the law, maketh the Son, who is [1] consecrated for evermore

CHAP. VIII.

NOW of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who [c] is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens;
2 A minister of [2] the sanctuary, [d] and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man.
3 For every high priest is ordained to offer gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it is of necessity that this man have somewhat also to offer. [f]
4 For if he were on earth, he should not be a priest, seeing that [3] there are priests that offer gifts according to the law:
5 Who serve unto the example and shadow [g] of heavenly things, as Moses was admonished of God when he was about to make the tabernacle: for, See, saith he, [h] that thou make all things according to the pattern shewed to thee in the mount.
6 But now hath he obtained a more excellent [j] ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better [4] covenant, which was established upon better promises.
7 For if [k] that first covenant had been faultless, then should no place have been sought for the second.
8 For finding fault with them, he [m] saith, Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah:
9 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.
